JUSTICE LURTON.

Supreme Court Jurist Dies Following Brief Illness.

Associate Justice Horace Harmon Lurton of the United States supreme court died suddenly at the Marlborough-Blenheim hotel in Atlantic City from heart disease, brought on by asthma. He was seventy years old. Shortly before his death he complained of feeling ill. Although his physician, Dr. Ruffin, who arrived from Washington, was immediately summoned, he died. His wife and son, Horace H. Lurton, Jr., of Nashville, were at his bedside. Mrs. Horace Vandeventer, a daughter, and her husband arrived from Knoxville, and other members of the family are expected tomorrow.

CARRANZA STOPS THE ADVANCE OF REBELS

All Generals Ordered to Delay Capital March.

El Paso, Tex., July 13.—Acting under orders said to have been issued by General Venustiano Carranza, all the Constitutionalist generals have halted their advance upon Mexico City, which was well under way by at least two of the big divisions of the rebel army.

At Guadalajara General Alaro Obregon is holding his forces in readiness to move upon Queretaro, which is expected to be the last point to offer serious resistance to the rebel advance upon the federal district. With every preparation made to continue the campaign, Obregon was ordered to await orders from Carranza and the reason assigned is that his men need rest.

At San Luis Potosi General Pablo Gonzales has the city surrounded and is reported eager to make an attack, but he has been ordered to wait for orders. From San Luis Potosi the way would be open for Gonzales to move quickly toward the federal district.

In the Chihuahua country General Villa's army remains inactive, but it is by reason of orders issued by Villa and not because of any order issued by Carranza.

The sudden halt of the Carranza forces just when the time appeared propitious for a quick and successful assault upon Huerta's capital is attributed by Villa men to a desire on the part of Carranza to make a new effort to get Villa to join in the general movement to the south. Villa's entire army now is in the vicinity of Chihuahua City and Villa is himself in Chihuahua City and preparing to come to Juarez. He shows no disposition to resume the offensive, and his attitude is said to be causing Carranza men much uneasiness. They fear he is planning some new move which may cause more trouble in Constitutionalist circles.

It is not believed on the border that the probability of Huerta leaving the country and turning over the government to Francisco Carbajal will make any material changes in the Constitutionalist program.

REDUCE WHISKY OUTPUT.

Distillers Find They Are Making It Faster Than It Is Drank.

Louisville, Ky., July 13.—More than half the distillers of Kentucky have agreed to join in a movement to reduce the 1914 output 20,000,000 gallons on account of large stocks and overproduction during the past five years. Ohio, Indiana and Illinois distillers also are said to be taking similar steps.

Distillers say statistics show that the consumption of whisky has increased from 20,000,000 gallons to 35,000,000 gallons in the last four years, and that in the same time the production has jumped from 20,000,000 to 46,000,000 gallons.

"The idea," said one distiller, "is to let the demand catch up with the production."

Zone Rates to Begin Oct. 1.

Washington, July 13.—As the result of conference between representatives of the transcontinental carriers and the interstate commerce commission the order of the commission fixing zone rates on transcontinental traffic and which were upheld by the supreme court recently will go into effect on Oct. 1, but not as comprehensively as originally directed.

TO SAVE CHILDREN.

"Courtrooms are crowded with boy and girl offenders because the public schools have failed in their duty. We must break up our antiquated school system to save children," declared M. P. E. Grosszman, of Plainfield the other day before the National Education Association in session in St. Paul, Minn. This is an interesting admission from the public school system itself, going to indicate the realization on the part of an ever increasing number of public educators of the need for changes in the schoolrooms to better fit children—both boys and girls—for good citizenship.

The public schools, being the chief agency of public concern for children, must feel the blame for those boys and girls who go wrong. The schools must answer why there is need for juvenile courts and the answer is given by an educator himself that the schools have failed in their duty. Here is the acknowledgement that the public schools must train in citizenhsip.

The schools, admit educators, must give Civic Education. They must train boys—and girls as well—to become good citizens. They must teach the duties, responsibilities and opportunities of citizenship. This cannot be done by solely academic courses, nor is it possible in full measure by vocational instruction or by continuation schools. It cannot be accomplished even by moral education, although that will fill one part of the bill. There is no other way than by actual courses in civic education.

The school system is coming to realize its relation to society and to the community. It is ready to assume this duty if the public provides the interest necessary. Children have always secured a large share of their fitness or unfitness for life in the school. If unfitness has been the outcome even in a few cases, it is time to break up the old system and as the educator says, "save children."

Cities here and there are beginning to take up civic education and adapt it to local conditions to train children in a non-partisan manner for useful, responsible and intelligent transaction and practice of citizenship. But a more general application of the subject in the public school curriculum is essential if children are to be saved. When the children are saved, it will not be necessary to worry about the cities, the towns, the counties, states and nation.

Wouldn't it be a wise move for the Common Council to make a new contract with the Plainfield-Union Water Company. Considerable time has elapsed since the city expended thousands of dollars investigating water supplies and its right to purchase the local company's plant. Each decision of the court has been in favor of the company, and it is the belief that the present Council would be unanimously upheld if it made a new water contract. From time to time the company has installed hydrants at the request of the city, but the latter has been reminded that there is no contract between the municipality and the corporation.

The extreme warm weather of the past few days has only emphasized the urgent need of the City Union of the King's Daughters for additional funds with which to carry on its summer work. There are many people of means in the city and borough who will doubtless want to share in this most worthy charity. Contributions sent to the Daily Press will be acknowledged and the money will be forwarded to the King's Daughters.

The inability of some present-day office-holders to think and act for themselves, being easily swayed by some hidden influence, has a tendency to shake the confidence of the people, perhaps more than anything else. Strong courage of conviction is admired by both friend and foe, but the man who is afraid to act because he may hurt someone's feelings sooner or later becomes a human minus.

The West End Civic Association has shown the true progressive spirit in deciding to provide band concerts as a means of entertainment for the people in the western end of the city. Plainfield is big enough to have two weekly concerts, and it would not be surprising to hear of the Netherwood Residents' Association undertaking a similar proposition.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart will, it is said, name a police captain to succeed Christian Frederickson, at tonight's meeting of the Common Council. This should not be surprising information for everyone agrees that His Honor has had ample time to think the matter over and reach a decision.

Now that Mayor Percy H. Stewart has appointed a dog-catcher it is expected that there will be a noticeable absence of stray canines on the public streets. The presence of such an official should also tend to secure a more strict observance of the law on the part of dog owners.

It has been suggested that, inasmuch as the thoroughfare is now used for that purpose, the Mayor and Common Council officially designate East and West Front street as a speedway for automobiles.

What has become of the proposed auto-bus ordinance which found its way to the Common Council through the committee on public affairs only to be withdrawn?

Members of the Council who intend seeking a renomination this fall will have an opportunity to explain the reasons for the big jump in the tax rates.

Watchung.

The Watchung Athletic Association was defeated by the Netherwood Athletic Club, Saturday, by the close score of 11 to 9 in eleven innings.

A number of Watchungites and Plainfielders enjoyed the picnic supper and dance given by the Ladies' Auxiliary, of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society, Saturday evening. The picnicers enjoyed their suppers out of doors and later went into the prettily decorated "Town Hall" where dancing and games were enjoyed until a late hour. Music was furnished by Miss Marguerite Walsh, of Plainfield.

Kenneth and Guy Rendall, of Jersey City, entertained a number of their friends at a week-end house party at their bungalow at Burnhead Lake.

The monthly meeting of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society will be held this evening in the society's rooms in the Improvement Hall. After the meeting there will be an hour of old time songs by the young people.

Great excitement was caused in Watchung, yesterday afternoon, when it we reported that a little three-year-old child belonging to a family by the name of Pasch on Washington Rock road had wandered supposedly into the woods and was lost. A searching party was organized and after a few hours' search the little wanderer was found.

Mrs. Werkele and family, of Elizabeth, have opened their bungalow in "World's Ending," as has also Mrs. Binger.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac P. Runyon, of Plainfield, are occupying their summer home on Mountain Boulevard.

Harold W. Schenck preached two interesting sermons yesterday, in the Mary E Wilson Memorial Union church, to a large congregation of people. Special music was enjoyed in the evening. Miss Elsie Schmidt was the soloist.

ORANGEMEN PARADE.

Belfast, July 13—Five thousand Orangemen headed by Sir Edward Carson paraded today. There was no violence an the Catholic and Protestant factions were orderly during the entire meeting which followed the turnout.

WILL NAME McREYNOLDS.

Washington, July 13.—Attorney-General McReynolds will be named to the Supreme Court bench to succeed the late Associate Justice Lurton and Secretary of War Garrison will be transferred to the head of the Department of Justice. This was a persistent report today in circles close to the White House. Who will be offered the portfolio of war has not been determined yet.

LEAVES FOR HOME.

Washington, July 13.—Major-Gen. Tanaka, Japanese military expert, who has been banqueted here, left today for home. His objective points in the United States will be Niagara Falls first and he may stop at Chicago and Denver on his way to San Francisco, where he will sail for Japan.

ALLEGES FRAUD.

Buffalo, July 13.—Alleging fraud, E. R. Humpage today asked the Federal Court for a receiver for the U. S. Light and Heating Company. Another allegation is that the company gave stock of Edmund Neley, of Niagara Falls, for Neley patent rights, which are claimed to be worthless.

SEEKS INVESTIGATION.

Washington, July 13—Senator Poindexter, of Washington, today introduced a resolution providing for an investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the alleged connection of Paul M. Warburg with the Rock Island and Chicago and Alton deals.

ANNUAL OUTING TO BE A BIG AFFAIR

Camp Rams Horn Will Be Invaded by Delegation of Fifty Plainfielders.

For the purpose of arranging for the annual outing of the Reminiscent Club to Lake Hopatcong, next Sunday, Henry Wierenga, one of the members, visited the lake yesterday and completed the details for the monster outing. It is expected that a delegation of fifty enthusiastic members will make the trip, the object of which will be Halsey Island, one of the beauty spots of the popular New Jersey fresh water resort. Headquarters for the day will be established at Camp Ramshorn, conducted by Thomas M. Muir, of this city, who is one of the well-known workers in the organization.

The trip will be made by rail and an elaborate program of amusement is on tap for those who take advantage of the yearly "stag" outing. Entertainment of a varied nature is included in the program and several special features have been planned. Among the latter is a banquet to be given at noon at Camp Ramshorn. The proprietor of the camp will be the host for this all important part of the day's trip and it goes without saying that the Plainfielders will be given the best that can be produced in the culinary department.

Fishing, bathing, boating and dancing will be side features. Lee's dancing pavilion at Nolan's Point has been experimenting with Sunday dancing and its success has been apparent during the last two weeks.

THIRD OUTING TO SHORE.

The members of the First Presbyterian, Park Avenue Baptist and New Market Seventh-Day Baptist Sunday-schools, will enjoy their outing to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove next Thursday. The train will leave the North Avenue station in two sections and returning will leave Asbury Park at 6:40 p. m.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Mayor Harry W. Evans, of Westfield, has decided to seek a renomination on the Republican ticket. He was elected to office two years ago and his administration, it is said, has the endorsement of both Democrats and Republicans.

John J. Carty, of New street, is being mentioned as a candidate for Common Council from the Fourth ward.

Frederick G. Thomas, of Somerville, who has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for State Senator, it is understood, has the backing of Governor Fielder.

Walter C. Linbarger, of North Plainfield, true to his promise, will not engage in politics this fall. Walter has a reason. For many years he helped to roll up a majority for the Democratic ticket in Somerset county.

Former Mayor G. W. V. Moy in conversation with a reporter for The Daily Press, today, denied the report that he intends to seek the Congressional or any other nomination on the Progressive ticket this fall. He said that he had not been approached on the subject and had not consented to run for office.

FLOWER AND FRUIT GUILD.

The monthly business session of the Plainfield Flower and Fruit Guild will be held tomorrow evening at the Friends' meeting-house on Watchung avenue. The general public is invited to attend this meeting and become acquainted with the work as it is being carried on. A committee will receive flowers this afternoon and tomorrow morning at the usual hours at the W. C. T. U. rooms, the flowers to be distributed to the shut-ins and sick of the city.

FOURTH VICTIM RECOVERING.

James Galligan, a ten-year-old boy of South Plainfield, who was painfully injured about the eyes by the premature explosion of a quantity of gun powder on July 4, is fast recovering the use of his eyesight and the bandages over the optics were removed today. He is still confined to Muhlenberg Hospital, but hopes are now entertained for his complete recovery.

MANAGEMENT WORST IN RAILROAD HISTORY

Washington, July 13—The Interstate Commerce Commission sent to the Senate today its report on the recent investigation of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company. The report declares that the former management of the New Haven was one of the worst in the history of railroading in the United States. The New Haven directors are held criminally liable and financially responsible for $70,000,000 lost in the mismanagement of the road's affairs according to the report. It is inconceivable, said the report, that these wrongs could have gone on without interference if the members of the board of directors had been true to the faith they owed the stockholders. A number of directors appear in many instances to have voted without knowledge and to have approved the expenditure of many millions without information.

CARMAN CASE UP TO GRAND JURY

Prosecution Ready to Produce Celia Coleman.

DETECTIVES SEEK DOMESTIC

Housemaid Will Tell All Facts That She Has—Her Story Regarded as Hinge Upon Which an Indictment Hangs—Bail Offered For Woman.

Freeport, N. Y., July 13.—Detectives employed by George M. Levy swarmed through Freeport and the adjacent towns searching for some trace of Celia Coleman, the missing Carman maid, while others were engaged in behalf of District Attorney Smith in running down stories tending to discredit the testimony of Elwood T. Bardes, whose story of seeing a woman outside the Carman house is the strongest evidence which the prosecution has so far put forward.

George M. Levy, counsel for Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, was still furious at the disappearance of the maid, which he charges to District Attorney Smith. He telephoned to the district attorney asking if Mr. Smith knew where she was. The district attorney replied he did not, but that he was able to say he was sure she would be present next Tuesday at the grand jury inquiry into the death of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey.

Efforts are to be made this week to have Mrs. Carman released on bail. A wealthy man living at Bayshore telephoned to Dr. Carman that if bail was fixed for Mrs. Carman he had $50,000 in real estate to give as part of the bond and that other wealthy men he knew would join him in this. Dr. Carman said the offer came from a man he had never met or heard of before.

Roland Lamb, chief of police, was asked if he knew what would be done in case of bail being fixed. Mr. Lamb is not only chief of police, but is president of the village of Freeport, head of the biggest real estate company here and also president of the local street railroad company. There was a shortage of motormen here yesterday, and Mr. Lamb, while he was playing tennis, learned one was needed. He left the game, put on a motorman's coat and hat and, still in his tennis trousers, began to run a car down to the beach and back.

"No Release on Bail."

"I don't think they can successfully apply for bail for Mrs. Carman," he said between stops for passengers. "They certainly can't if she should be indicted on a charge of murder. Probably no move of this kind will be made anyhow until after the examination a week from Tuesday."

It is the general belief here that Celia Coleman is to be the star witness for the prosecution. Mr. Levy, however, declared that she would not.

"That girl is the strongest witness for the defense," he declares. "She certainly has not changed her testimony that Mrs. Carman did not come downstairs again after donning her kimono until after the shooting. If the girl had changed this there would surely have been a statement from the district attorney, and he has not given out a single word to that effect. We heard she had been taken to Westbury, but when our men got there she was gone."

Dr. Carman and Levy have a strong suspicion that efforts have been made to install a dictograph in the physician's home. For this reason the physician and Levy do all the consulting at the lawyer's office, and when they talk about the case with other members of the family the conferences are all held out in the driveway or on the lawn of the Carman house.

The secret of the identity of the eyewitness which Mr. Smith is reported to have found was closely guarded by the district attorney. All he said was:

"I may tell you that my witness is not under arrest, but is under observation and will be available for my use at any time. As a matter of fact, I may tell you we have several new witnesses who have strengthened our case."

AIRMAN BLAMES GOETHALS.

Says Colonel Told Him He Could Photograph Canal Forts.

San Francisco, July 13.—The defense of Charles K. Field, editor of Sunset Magazine, and of the three others accused with him of having disclosed military pictures of Panama canal fortifications, will be that the pictures were taken and the aeroplane flight across the isthmus was made with the permission of Colonel George W. Goethals. This was announced when the men appeared before a United States commissioner.

Mr. Field, Robert Fowler, an aviator; Riley E. Scott, author of the article, and Ray Dubem, a moving picture man, were arrested yesterday by order of the war department, acting through John W. Preston, United States attorney here. They were released on their own recognizance.

"Colonel Goethals not only gave his permission," said Fowler, "but he wished us the best of luck and said he hoped the pictures would turn out well."

17 HURLED INTO FLAMES.

Rails Spread Under Crowded Locomotive—Three Are Dead.

Tacoma, Wash., July 13.—Three men were burned to death and fourteen painfully injured when they tried to run the gantlet of a mill fire here trying to save a few loaded lumber cars. The cars, drawn by a switch engine, were being pulled out of the yard of the Comly Mill company when the heated rails spread. The engine and tender, on which the men were riding, were thrown into the seething flames.

The dead are Earl Carpenter, inspector of the Tamco Railway and Power company; C. O. Westcott, foreman of the switching crew, and Gencil Gabriel, a student, seventeen years old. The fire destroyed the Comly plant and the plant of the Bismarck Mill company.

FISH TO HAVE NEW TRIAL.

Boston, July 13.—The United States court of appeals granted a new trial to Captain John A. Fish of New York, who was sentenced to five years' imprisonment on the charge of burning his yacht, the Senta, at Edgartown in 1910 to obtain $15,000 insurance.

The court of appeals ruled that testimony given at the trial relating to the burning of another yacht and an automobile owned by Fish previous to the destruction of the Senta was irrelevant and prejudicial.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

"SPORTDOM TIPS"

SEEN AND HEARD AT THE PETS' GAME.

Many there were at Saturday's game who marveled at the improvement "Hub" Stine and George Townley showed in their playing as compared with their performances here as schoolboys. Both were clever while tossing the horsehide on the sand-lots, but they have taken a big jump since entering collegiate circles.

The effects of "Rabbit" Maranville's coaching were plainly visible on the North Plainfielders. What the Springfield collegians learned from the wonderful little Boston Brave was injected into the fight against Westfield and the result was evident from the start. Considerable advice passed back and forth between these chums and their "dope" generail panned out pretty nearly correct.

In the second round when "Hub" Stine picked up a bat to face Ortlieb Townley warned him to "step up" on the Westfielder's wide outcurve. Stine took one pretty good sized step and the result was a home run.

In Harold Schenck, Manager McDonald, of the Westfield crew, has a find. Many there are who are still wondering why Ernie Dorflinger did not retain the little outfielder for the Pets and we are led to believe that this is one of the local pilot's rare mistakes. But then all great managers have been known to err.

The absence of the scoreboard in back of first base was noted in Saturday's game. So that's where the score went to last Saturday morning. Following the Dunellen game we had considerable difficulty in locating a box score. Some ardent village fan evidently had designs on keeping the railroaders' downfall out of the paper.

Between tennis and baseball Parker Field is a pretty lively place Saturday afternoons. Those who find little interest in the National pastime while away their time under the scorching rays of Old Sol wielding a tennis racquet.

Somebody appears to be experimenting on an opposition to Sunday golf at the end of the Arlington avenue trolley line. That Sunday baseball stunt looks like a pretty healthy opponent.

Now "whaddayathink" of that North Plainfield all star aggregation? Well experience is a teacher, and some people get a whole lot of satisfaction out of that, at any rate.

Something ought to be done about that left field fence at Parker Field. It has become such a convenient place for home run clouts that all of the local merchants have been scared out of offering rewards for the four seekers. Why not keep an extra fielder in the adjacent lot?

One Westfield man planted the ball over the left field wall only to have it declared a foul. Pretty tough, that.

And the clouter just happened to be the second base protector whose father sat on a Westfield bench with a "V" note in his hand for the son if he knocked a homer. But the boy fanned out.

Local fans have had the idea that Matty the second has been a wonderful drawing card here this season. We didn't happen to notice him on the field Saturday and the audience appeared to be about normal. In fact there was a slight increase in Parker Field's "calling list" Saturday.

Bob Bogardus and his Dunellen youngsters have returned from the wilds of Flemington with the annual reports on the condition of crops. It's some trip, but oh my!

HILLMAN SCORES POINTS FOR TROPHY

Returns Lowest Card in Competition at Park Golf Club.

The weekly competition for the President's cup was the only event at the Park Golf Club Saturday. There was a large field out and the competition for points was keen. J. Fred Hillman won the first three points while C. J. Hand and O. B. Hill divided two points and H. E. Blazier secured the remaining point. These cards were returned:

J. Fred Hillman, 103, 25-78; C. J. Hand, 98, 18-80; O. B. Hill, 104, 24-80; H. E. Blazier, 94, 12-82; N. A. Miller 104, 20-84; Harry G. DeMeza, 105, 20-85; Royle T. Phillips, 98, 12-86; H. H. Woodland, 94, 8-86; J. A. Wilson, 107, 20-87; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 98, 8-90.

J. Fred Hillman, 9; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 8; Royle T. Philips, 8; J. V. Beekman, 5½; O. B. Hill, 4; W. H. Nischwitz, 3½; C. J. Hand, 3; H. L. Moodey, 2½; F. W. Thompson, 2; W. E. Lough, 2; R. V. Carpenter, 2; H. H. Woodland, 1½; Samuel Townsend, 1; H. E. Blazier, 1.

LOCAL COPS WILL GO TO ELIZABETH

Plainfielders Planning Auspicious Invasion of the Union County Seat.

Automobiles have been secured to take the Plainfield policemen's baseball team and a large crowd of rooters to Elizabeth Wednesday afternoon where they are due to lineup against the cops of that place. In the previous battle the Elizabetheans won by a score of 12 to 9 and the locals are hot on the trail of Father Revenge.

The bluecoats from this city have been putting in extra practice sessions and anticipate little difficulty in trimming their previous conquerors. The Betsytowners will be the hosts Wednesday and a large Plainfield delegation is expected to accompany the local minions of the law. When Elizabeth came to Plainfield the Union county seat guardians were accompanied by a host or rooters who made things lively at Parker Field.

Jack Fritts will probably start on the mound for the locals with Connie McCarthy behind the bat. For Elizabeth "Hank" Brennan will be the rifle pit artist.

INITIAL PLAY FOR THE SUMMER CUP

Low Scores Returned in Competition at Country Club.

The chief attraction at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, was the initial play for the Summer cup, the competition continuing until August 29. The player making the three best average 18 holes net scores on Saturdays will win the cup. These cards were returned Saturday:

Harry Williams, 96, 26-70; J. R. Evans, 92, 20-72; C. B. Morgan, 80, 7-73; H. W. Rapalje, 88, 15-73; L. G. Carman, 85, 12-73; T. S. Wheeler, 90, 16-74; H. E. Moore, 98, 23-75; L. H. Gates, 98, 23-75; W. Lester Glenney, 81, 5-76; D. O. Rogers, 86, 10-76.

There was also a sweepstakes event in which these scores were posted:

A. W. Ransome, 99, 26-73; L. S. Church, 86, 7-75; H. E. Moore, 98, 23-75; L. H. Gates, 98, 23-75; D. O. Rogers, 86, 10-76; Harry Williams, 104, 26-78; W. W. Coriell, 103, 25-78.

BASEBALL NOTES

The slump of the Cincinnati Reds has fattered up the batting averages of the I-told-you-so guys.

Dan O'Neill, ex-manager of the Springfield (Mass.) club, has been engaged to pilot the Hartford team of the Eastern Association.

If the Phillies could produce as good pitching as they do batting the Quaker City bunch would brush aside everything in the National League.

Harry Lord, who gave the White Sox the slip while the team was in Washington, is playing with a semi-professional team in Maine.

The White Sox-Giants world tour seems to be bearing fruit. New Zealand has taken up baseball with a league of twelve clubs for a starter.

It is said that $55,000 rental is the fancy sum paid the New York Giants by the New York Americans for the use of the Polo Grounds.

After Hank O'Day's Cubs had been tagged hopelessly out of the National League race the team took a brace and started to burn up the old circuit.

Ever since the Naps walloped the stuffing out of the Senators in the series at Cleveland the Griffithites have bumped into all sorts of trouble.

The pennant race in the American League has tightened up all along the line and the world's champion Athletics will have to go some in order to repeat.

Pitcher Johnny Enzman, who goes from the Newark club to the Brooklyn Superbas, has been one of the top-notch flingers in the International League for the last two years.

"Slim" Salee, of the Cardinals, objects to the top bunk in a sleeping car. "Slim" avows and declares that he will jump to the Feds if an upper berth is slipped him while traveling with the Cards.

In six consecutive games against the Giants "Rabbit" Maranville, shortstop of the Boston Braves, had 46 chances and accepted 43 of them. Accepting a fraction over 7 chances a game is some shortstopping.

Russ Ford may be "all in" according to the dope published by Frank Chance, but the work of the former Yankee pitcher with the Buffalo Feds doesn't show it. Ford's fine pitching is one of the big cards on the Fed circuit.

WITH THE BOXERS

John Willie, the Chicago heavyweight, who has been out of the game for some time, has got the "come back" germ in his system.

From all accounts the recent London bout in which Bomb. Wells defeated Colin Bel was a "ham" fight from first to last.

Up steps Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and says as how he wants a mix with Tommy Burns, the bout to take place in Australia.

Willie Beecher, the New York lightweight, has been matched to box Joe Azevedo in San Francisco on Labor Day.

SPRINGFIELD COLLEGE TWINS LEAD PLAINFIELD TO A NOTABLE VICTORY

Herbert Stine and George Townley the Central Figures in Pets' Commedanble Verdict Annexed at the Expense of the Mt. Ararat Crew—Losers were headed by the Veteran George Ortlieb—Stine's Homer and Townley's Twin Sacker Are Features—Cle ver Fielding Work by the Winners.

Bill Coyle Made a Pretty Steal of Second.

"Hub" Stine's circuit clout over the left field fence at Parker Field looked like a mountain to the Plainfield Pets in their game with the Westfield aggregation Saturday afternoon, until his college chum,

"Hub" Stine Lifted One Over the Fence in the Second.

George Townley, came through with a two-bagger in the fifth that started a batting rally and gave the locals a 5 to 0 decision. While his teammates were participating in a run harvest at the expense of "Germany" George Ortlieb and his Mt. Ararat error manufacturers, little George was twirling air tight ball and disposing of the visitors in one, two, three style. The smallest man on the diamond in stature, Townley was easily the biggest and most conspicuous in the victory. Until the seventh but one hit was garnered from his delivery and that was of the scratchy variety, going through "Perc" Harney at the keystone sack. In the stretch stanza, the pitcher with the foreign alias, banged out Westfield's only clean smash of the contest, a neat single to the left field territory, after Townley had previously retired him via the strikeout route. On the other hand, the Pets also experienced some difficulty in warming up to Orty's wide outcurve and fadeaway. But six hits could be annexed during the afternoon and the Springfield twins, Stine and Townley, came in for their big share, getting a homer and a two-bagger respectively.

It was plainly a Plainfield day and the two local performers who have suddenly sprung into prominence, were destined to shine. Stine in the right garden and Townley on the mound, were central figures on the playing field and their every movement was watched with interest by the home fans. Each got his share of the enthusiastic rooting that contests with Westfield always produce and their entrance into semi-professoional ball could hardly be more auspicious than it was Saturday. The previous week they did their "feeling" and against Westfield went into the fray with a confidence that was worthy of veterans.

The Westfield crew invaded Plainfield territory with an army of first class ballists, who were marshaled to Parker Field by no less a personage than our old friend and pitching wonder of forty years ago, George Ortlieb. "Gawge" hangs his hat in the little hamlet of Westfield and the fans from "the old home town" expected the prodigy to "put it all over" the Plainfield "Gawge." In fact Mt. Ararat rooters wagered some real shekels that "Germany" Ortlieb would prove to be Townley's nemisis, but the Waterloo part of the program was treated to a rude jolt. Ortlieb failed to find the inexperienced and nervous youth he expected as an opponent. Instead he was confronted by a youngster full of confidence and still fuller of the finer points in curvology and judgment. While it is true that the Westfield infielders made some costly miscues behind the veteran rifle pit celebrity, it is also true that Plainfield's swatters garnered their safeties at opportune moments and none of the six clouts were wasted.

"Germany" Ortlieb Replaced Cowperthwaite on Westfield's Firing Line

Behind Townley the players garbed in Queen City regalia performed in a gilt-edged fashion and it is safe to say that the locals gave their prettiest exhibition of fielding of the year. Coyle, Mullin, Dixon and Harney pulled off some fielding stunts that edged on the phenomenal phase and they were all given some excellent opportunities to show their mettle during the nine innings of battling. In the field the trio of guardians also came in for their share of the laurel gathering. Stewart was credited with a pair of beautiful catches in deep left and Dorman also bagged a couple of clever ones.

In Westfield's fold a Plainfield boy was the main figure. Harold Schenck, once a Trinity Sunday school performer in the Bible Class League, then a Plainfield Pet, but more recently a Rutgers College outfield protector, held down the left garden for the villagers. Schenck puled to earth some balls that were ticketed for circuit clouts during the game and his wonderful feats secured a big ovation for him, even from the Plainfield rooting section.

A finer day for a contest of this importance could not be ordered up. The teams batted on even ground and all were satisfied at the conclusion that the home nine was the stronger of the two. Some there were who would admit that young Townley could show the veteran Ortlieb a thing or two in the flinging line, while others contended that the Westfielder had an off day. Whether Orty was on or off he certainly was over shadowed by his youthful rival and we will have to be shown in order to be convinced that Townley is not the better of the two. Plainfield has won twice this year from Westfield and the two aggregations are not likely to meet again this season:

DUNELLEN LOST AT FLEMINGTON

Pitching a stellar article of ball for seven innings, McFadden, twirling for the Dunellen team at Flemington, Saturday afternoon, eased up in the eighth long enough for the home team to score six tallies and win a decisive victory by the score of 10 to 3. The game was tight and well played throughout, the home team playing errorless ball and the Dunellenites being guilty of four misplays. McFadden and Lott both pitched fine ball and the latter received great support.

The visitors started off with a run in the first inning and blanked their opponents in their half of the initial round. Victorsen drew a pass and Dunning bunted up the first base line. Alberts sacrificed and Victorsen went to third base and he scored when Wall singled. Both teams were blanked in the second and the Dunellen team scored again in the third. Victorsen was hit by a pitched ball and went to second on a sacrifice. Alberts hit a long one to centre field and Victorsen crossed the plate for the second time. The home team got to McFadden in the third and tied the score on two doubles and a single. They scored two more in the next stanza on two hits and two errors. The visitors were blanked until the sixth, when Wall poled a long one into centre for a triple and scored waile Montross was being thrown out at first. The eighth inning saw the score standing four to three in favor of the home team. The Flemington batters then hit the ball hard for six hits and six runs. The Dunellen batters could do nothing in their half of the ninth.

JOE RIVERS vs. FRANK RUSSELL.

El Paso, Tex., July 13—The sport-loving element on both sides of the border is looking forward to a treat tomorrow night, when "Mexican Joe" Rivers and Frankie Russell are to come together for a ten-round bout before a local club. The two are regarded as evenly matched and as they are reported in the best of condition a fast and interesting contest is anticipated.

MONROE WINS GAME AND THEN FORFEITS

Score Easy Victory Over Hope Chapel But Lose Game for Violations.

The Hope Chapel baseball team lost to the Monroe Avenue nine last Saturday by the score of 10 to 2 and then won the game by forfeit because the Monroe team in some way violated the constitution of the league. They were winners at all times in the contert and clouted the ball for eight safeties. Brick, who was on the mound for the Monroe team, held his opponents at bay throughout and was always there in the pinches.

The home team started in the first inning to score and batted two across the plate. In the third round each team pulled one over and the seventh was the downfall of the chapelites. Their opponents fell on Schott's delivery for five clean hits in a row for a total of seven runs. Hope scored once in the eighth but could not get near their rivals score.

PLAINFIELD TEAM WINS GOOD GAME

Opening Sunday Game on Woodland Field a Victory for the Local Team.

Tommy Mullin proved to be a hero in the Plainfield-St. Peters' baseball game on Woodland avenue, yesterday afternoon. The game was fast and the scoring close for the first seven innings, the score being 4 to 3 at the end of that round. With two on in the eighth Mullin hit one far into centre field and landed on third base. Two runners crossed the plate, which gave the local team confidence and then they hit the ball hard for more tallies.

Harney pitched fine ball and was effective in the pinches. He was also given good support, the locals only making three erros. Jim Nash was on the receiving end for Plainfield. The home team batted the ball hard in the first part of the game, getting two runs before their opponents scored. The visitors came back in the fourth and tied the score by two hits and a couple of errors. Mullin's hit in the eighth was too much for the visitors and they could not score in their half of the ninth. Hayes, who did the twirling for the New Brunswick aggregation, made three hits and Grimes was the best swatter for the locals, getting two.

SAURER TEAM WINS AN EXCITING GAME

Y. M. A., of Bound Brook, Defeated in a Fast game at That Place.

The Saurer baseball team, Saturday afternoon, defeated the Y. M. A. team, at Bound Brook, by the score of 6 to 4. Conshay was in rare form and held his own against Mathews, the home twirler. The home team scored in the first and third innings and in the latter part of the game the local team scored its runs in pairs.

For the Saurer team, Dixon and Harrimen each poled out a brace of safeties, while the Mathews brothers were the main stickers for the home club.

DENVER BRAVES HIT HARD AND DEFEAT PARK TEAM

The Denver Braves, made of North Plainfield stars and alumni, met the Park Avenue Baptist team on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, and took the large end of an 8 to 6 score. The game was well played and heavy hitting was the feature of the game. The Braves scored all their runs in the first five innings and Denny held his opponents to six scattered hits. Walsh was the whole show for the church boys and Abrams' triple was a feature for the winners:

LOCAL MAN BREAKS HOPATCONG RECORD

Bruce Conlin Completes Raccoon Island Swimming Course in New Time.

In a match race against Walter Saitta, of the Narrows A. C., of Brooklyn, at Lake Hopatcong, yesterday, Bruce Conlin, of this city, came out in the lead at the finish of the 3.1 miles and incidentally smashed the record for the Racoon Island course. The event was contested under ideal water conditions and the winner negotiated the distance in one hour and twenty-five minutes, beating the old mark by nine minutes.

Conlin, who is a student at Columbia University and a former Plainfield High School athlete, led from the start and finished in good form. The start and finish marks were established at the Hollywood Hotel and the course led around the well known island.

The former record, held by Fredrico Jeni, was established in 1910. At that time the course was covered in one hour and thirty-four minutes. Conlin's performance has revived considerable interest in long distance racing at the resort and several other marathon swimmers are contemplating taking a crack at the record established yesterday.

VANDEVENTER TEAM LOSE COUNTY TITLE

In the final match of the doubles tennis championship of Union county, last Saturday afternoon, Philip and Ludlow VanDeventer, of this city, were defeated by Lindsay Dunham and Harold Throckmorton, of Woodbridge, on the courts of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club. The match was the hardest of the tournament, it taking five sets to decide the winners of the title.

The local boys started off on the defense and lost the first set 6-4. The games were even at four all and then the winners took two straight. After becoming warmed up to their game the local boys played like a machine and tied matter up by winning the second set 6-3. The third set was the hardest of the match and Woodbridge won the set 6-4.

Knowing that the fourth set was their last chance the Plainfielders played like demons and it was only after the game had gone to deuce that they won out by the score of 7-5. In the deciding set the brothers fell down and lost the championship by a score of 6-2. All of the players were in fine form and gave the large crowd of spectators a fine exhibition of tennis. Throckmorton is the State singles interscholastic champion.

BIG LEAGUE "UMPS" LOSING SUPREMACY

Their Word Was Once Law on the Ball Field, But Now That Time Has Past.

New York, July 11—Are the umpires in the American and National Leagues losing their control over the players on the ball field? Recent developments in the big yard indicate that such may be the case.

Time was, not so very long ago, when the word of the umpire was regarded as law. But not so this season. Not on your photo while you wait. The lid seems to be off on "getting" the arbiter, and the players are going to it while on the high speed.

It is not to be inferred that major league baseball today is marked by the rowdyism that characterized the game fifteen or twenty years ago. But if the rough stuff that is being pulled now is not checked by the powers that be, the spectators may soon be treated to a revival of the old "knock-down-and-drag-out" stunts of yore.

Whether the activity of the Federal League has imbued the old league players with a spirt approaching mutinous independence is an interesting question. One thing is certain, however, and that is that before the Feds took the field the big league players, with few exceptions, gave more attention to playing ball and less time to wrangling than they do today. Continual disputes between players and umpires now seem to be the order of the day.

A peculiar angle to this "start something" policy on the part of the players is that the subs and rookies in the dug-outs are the worst offenders. The bird who is just breaking into the game sits on the fence and starts to bawl out the umpire. The regulars become innoculated with the umpire-baiting germ and soon the whole works is up in the air. Soon "his ump" is surrounded by a mob of howling and gestulating players and half a dozen of them must be chased from the lot before peace is restored. The direct result of this wholesale canning of players is that one or both of the contesting teams is weakened and the game thereafter assumes the odor of a large hunk of cheese.

No one connected with baseball seems able to give an adequate explanation of the unusual strife that has prevailed on the diamond this season. And everyone appears equally at a loss to suggest a remedy. The system of fining a player appears to have little or no effect. Mr. Player comes right back for more spouting and more fines. And the umpires are not slow in slapping on a fine, either.

In a game at St. Louis recently the reserve players on the Pittsburgh bench roasted Umpire Klem to a turn. Klem warned them several times. When they persisted in the demonstration he fined nine of them $10 each and ordered them from the grounds.

Several days before the incident in St. Louis five of the Cincinatti Reds and one member of the Cubs were chased by the umpire in a game at Chicago. And to add to the excitement of the Chicago affair a fist fight was started between a Cub and a Red, but unfortunately the mixup was stopped before serious damage was done.

Another example of the strenuous manner in which our national game is being played in 1914 occurred recently in Washington. It was nothing more or less than a forfeited game. Baseball fans had forgotten that there ever was such a thing as a forfeited game in big league circles, but they were wised up a bit by the action of the Washington Senators in refusing to play the Athletics and forfeiting the game.

Some critics are inclined to lay all of the blame for this present-day rough stuff to incompetent umpiring, but this is illogical. The umpires in both the American and National Leagues are capable baseball officials. Moreover, their work this season is fully up to the standard of previous years. The most of the arbiters are veterans in the business and if they were backed up by the moguls as they should be, then rowdyism in the big yard would be out of fashion in jig time.

Unless the club owners and managers get busy enforcing the discipline, another year may witness the good old game played with Company X of the National Guard on hand ready to suppress the riots.

"CANADIAN" A. C. WILL PLAY BALL ALL SEASON

The "Canadian" A. C., which played under the name of the Denver Braves, Saturday, has organized and will play ball for the rest of the summer months. Carrol Taylor, who is managing the team, would like to hear from all independent teams in this city and vicinity for Saturday games.

The team will be composed of borough High School stars, past and present, and will use Hyde Oval as its home grounds. Address all communications to C. C. Taylor, 25 Fairview avenue.

Wallingford In His Prime

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

CHAPTER XVI.

Anything to Oblige.

AT 8:45 the telephone rang—once, twice, thrice. Dismally lamenting, Wallingford upon that third long, discordant, insistent call dragged his numbly protesting avoirdupois out of bed, commenting fiercely upon the curious fact that civilized man has made himself an accursed slave to that jangling twin bell.

The hotel reporter of the afternoon Jorum wished to see Mr. Wallingford upon business of the most pressing nature. He failed, however.

"Nearly 9," returned Wallingford wearily.

"Church opens some place around breakfast time, doesn't it?"

"Eleven o'clock. I wish you'd keep still."

"Call a boy for me, won't you, Jim?"

Wallingford groaned and turned back to the telephone and gave the desired order.

"What do you want with a boy in the middle of the night?" he demanded.

"I'm going to church," insisted Blackie. "Wake me up when the boy comes, won't you?"

The reply of J. Rufus to that request was inarticulate as he shuffled painfully back to bed. He had just cast off his slippers when the telephone bell rang. The gently flowing Venetian lace curtain of his own open window brushed his face. He pushed it aside. The bell rang. The curtain gently brushed his face. He dashed it aside. The bell rang and rang. The curtain slapped him. He grabbed that curtain with both hands and jerked it out by the roots.

"Well, what is it?" demanded Wallingford.

"This is Charley Jackson," snapped an equally aggravated voice in the telephone. "Say, Wallingford, you upset the canary seed when you gave out that interview to the Record. I thought you knew the first principles, anyhow."

"I got home as sober as a judge!" indignantly denied Jackson. "I never get pickled, and if I did I wouldn't even talk with my fingers."

Wallingford's own judgment corroborated that. "The damage is done, though," he concluded. "From what you say about keeping Collop and Tunnison in the dark, you won't need to show that thousand to the boys, so you might as well bring it back."

"I don't know where it is," Jackson promptly informed him. "I hid it. Say! It bores me to sleep, anyhow, and I think I'll take an eye opener and dress and come right up to see you. We'll cook up some kind of a mess."

Wallingford, turning resignedly away from the telephone, glared suddenly in the direction of the pink bedroom. "What in the name of heaven do you call that noise?" he implored.

"I am singing," returned Blackie—"singing one of those sweet, soothing old church hymns which come back to me out of my happy childhood days; only I get the darned thing tangled up in the second line with a slice out of my big song hit in 'The Lama's Goat,' and I have to start all over again every time. That's what may make it seem a shade similar to itself, but even the attempt is uplifting. You ought to try it, Jim. Suppose you take the bass, and I'll sing it with you. Now! One, two, three! Ready, sing!"

Wallingford was able to chuckle at last, as Blackie's clear voice in all gravity began upon the good old church hymn and he looked into the pink bedroom. Blackie's eyes were wide open, but he had not moved a muscle otherwise. The door bell rang.

"That's my boy," stated Blackie. "Let him in, Jim, and tell him to fill the tub with cold water and stuff the buttons in my stiffest shirt, and lay out my gray cravat and a straight collar, and shine my button shoes and get my shaving kit ready, and hang fresh linen in the bathroom and bring me a cigarette and a match, and do any other little thing you may think of. Aw, hum!" and he yawned in prodigious comfort.

Wallingford jerked open the door. "Now you start and I'll tell you what I want while you're going," he directed the grinningly expectant boy who stood there. "I want some strong coffee, two prairie oysters and this morning's Record and I don't want you to tell that you'll send a waiter to find out what I want."

"The waiter's almost starting with the coffee now," the boy briskly assured him and was gone.

"I begin to feel better," observed Wallingford, heading for the sideboard. "That's the only satisfactory interview I've had this morning. Have a drink of something, Blackie?"

"Not me," virtuously asserted Mr. Daw. "Tobacco shall not stain my lips nor rum defile my breath. I can't remember the rest of it, but it had to end in death, for that's the only word that rimes with it. Appropriate, too, Jimmy, for everything ends in death, or did when I went to church. Those happy, happy boyhood days. Why, J. Rufus"—

The rest of his speech was drowned in the rush of cold water in the bath tub. Wallingford, making swift preparations for his own bath and a shave, was presently aware of agonized calls from the still recumbent Blackie and stepped to the door, brush in hand, where he could hear above the rush of the water.

"Now what do you want?" he asked.

"I want a boy of my own," complained Blackie. "You used mine."

For answer to that Wallingford snatched the covers from Blackie, pulled that gentleman into the middle of the floor and daubed his face with lather.

"My other eye might be jealous, but it isn't," remarked Blackie good naturedly and with one eye screwed shut rushed for the bathroom, where, without taking the trouble to remove his pajamas, he plunged into Wallingford's half filled tub. Thereupon, after clearing his eye, he proceeded to remove his sleeping garments.

Wallingford and Blackie were both fully dressed and in their right minds upon the arrival of Charley Jackson, who had put on his laugh with his clothes. Mr. Jackson vociferously insisted that Blackie change to a white apron and get busy, but Blackie declined, with great haughtiness, and bade both gentlemen goodby.

"To church, I told you," retorted Blackie. "The deep toned bells are ringing. I cannot stay away. I spurn the hosts of evil, which pester me to stay. Brethren, please sing." And he solemnly departed, looking anxiously for any possible flecks of dust upon his silk hat.

"Well, the polls are closed," regretfully announced Jackson. "Collop and Tunnison both called me up since I phoned to you, and enough opposition has developed to put the breaks on a cyclone. I paid three dry goods bills at the same store with that $1,000 or I'd give it back."

"If you succeeded in that on Sunday morning you're entitled to the reward," returned Wallingford, with a laugh, refusing the two $500's which the other reluctantly proffered him. "You acted in good faith, Jackson."

"Thanks!" exclaimed Jackson in astonishment, stuffing the bills hastily back into his pocket and laughing heartily with both cheeks. "I wish you'd tell me how you get these."

"I have a friend who works in the mint," explained Wallingford suavely. "I'm rather glad this deal is off anyhow. I hope you fare better in your county courthouse scheme than we did in the park thing."

Mr. Jackson stopped laughing. "There are all sorts of rumors about that courthouse," he declared earnestly.

"They're all alike," Wallingford rejoined, feeling sure of his ground. "The only difference in the rumors is in the name of the alderman who is to be the goat and buy it in his own name and turn it into a restaurant, with beer hall and dance hall attachments. The tide of the rumors seems to set strongest in the direction of Charley Jackson."

"I wish it would stay there," confessed Mr. Jackson. "Courthouse square is the swellest location in this town for a free and easy joint under friendly police suspicion."

"That listens very musically," acknowledged Wallingford. "Why don't you grab it?"

"Nobody dares," regretted Mr. Jackson. "If we could put the thing off till after the campaign it would be all right, but the church element in this town is so strong that a mere little thing like turning the courthouse into a human pickle factory might swing the campaign."

"I don't see who that would hurt," objected Wallingford. "You all stay in year after year, no matter which way the election goes."

"It's a point of honor," explained Mr. Jackson promptly. "Everybody's fussy about being on the winning side, like quitting with the most chips in a parlor poker game where the white ones are sold by the pound."

"Why don't you get a stranger to buy it for you?"

"Where would you find a stranger who would submit to being chained to the floor till after the campaign is over?" demanded Jackson wearily. "Show me that stranger and I'll slip him this thousand."

"Pass it over," invited Wallingford.

"I spoke too quick," hedged Jackson, pressing his hand over his pocket. "I'd rather arrange to hand over ten thousand out of the purchase price of the courthouse. Besides that, you know, Wallingford, the stranger oughtn't to be too strange."

"There's no danger," Wallingford reassured him. "I'll do it for you," and he was very careless about it. "You furnish me the money to bid in the property for you and I'll give you a secret bill of sale for it. You can go right ahead with your alterations in my name if you like. When the campaign is over I'll transfer the deed to any name you say. If I tried to sell the property the sale would have to be recorded and your bill of sale would invalidate it."

"That's very kind of you," asserted Mr. Jackson, "but you're not working for your health."

"No, I have too much health now," retorted Wallingford, adroitly repeating Jackson's answer to a similar remark. "I ought to charge you the local 20 per cent, but if you'll make me a present of that $10,000 you mentioned and another one like it I'll be satisfied. What's the property worth?"

"Four hundred thousand; but good, handy political experts ought to be able to bring it home for two."

"The only difficulty I see," observed Wallingford with knitted brows, "is that some private interest may overbid you. That property is too valuable to be overlooked as an investment."

"If any private individual has the nerve to put in a bid for that property my county commissioners will throw it out because it wasn't written in green ink, or because the bidder has a mole on his neck," avowed Mr. Jackson indifferently. "They're so used to that here that nobody will kick."

"Jim, we've been overlooking a bet," he declared. "I never felt so calm and peaceful in my life."

He was very much in earnest about it. The religion that has withstood the assault of scoffers for nineteen centuries had impressed him with its sheer weight and, though his words seemed uncouth, his tone was seriously respectful.

"I'm glad you enjoyed yourself," said Wallingford. "You should go to church oftener. You need it."

"I'm going," asserted Blackie decisively. "You'll see Uncle Horace seated in the pew reserved for well dressed strangers on every Sunday morning until I get back home; then you'll see him with a season ticket for some place about row 9."

Wallingford, rather glad to be away for a moment from the train of calculation that the visit of Charley Jackson had set in motion, lent himself to the smiling consideration of Blackie's new development.

"What will Violet Bonnie say?" he wanted to know.

"I don't know if she ever tried it, but she'd fall for it like a Guinea bootblack to a grand opera ticket. In the first place, she buys from twelve to fifteen hats a year and she'd be tickled into giggle fits with a new line of competition. In the second place, she's as strong for music as I am. It isn't fashionable in our set to be dippy over high brow music, but every once in a while we slip away to Carnegie hall and wonder what it's about and love some of it till it gasps. I heard pipe organ stuff today that made me feel like a balloon and if I could have found a friendly shoulder I'd have sniffled. In the third place she'd be plumb pitachio about this right hand of fellowship surprise that they spring on distinguished strangers."

"Call the wagon," interrupted Wallingford. "You're in Dutch on that last bet. They skip women. They're willing to take chances on a burglar, but they have to insist upon knowing all about a lady."

"I don't see why," indignantly objected Blackie. "Violet Bonnie has always made good wherever she was put and she's as fussy a dresser as any of them."

"That doesn't make women love each other," laughed Wallingford. "I'm glad they made you feel like the guest of honor, though. How did it happen? Did you make a speech?"

"I helped sing," admitted Blackie, "but, outside of that, I kept my mouth so shut that it aches yet, except once in a while when I caught up with an 'A-a-a-ahmen.' I lapped over one and said it alone, but nobody giggled. I never saw such a polite bunch in my life, but, at that, I don't see why they don't have a better road map for the prayer book, so a stranger could chauffeur his way around without having all the natives offer him assistance. I watched one real sweet faced old lady for my guide, but, darn her, she got up in the wrong place."

"You must have picked out a church with as fussy a service as seven garcons and a head waiter making a Suzette pancake," observed Wallingford, chuckling. "You should have chosen an easier one to begin on. Who sent you there?"

"The pipe organ," answered Blackie earnestly. "It was the rattiest looking church in town from the outside, but the inside, so high and dim and quivering with stillness, made me afraid. Say, Jim, I'm against the corrupt political system in this town."

"So am I," agreed Wallingford heartily. "I'd like to hand it a jolt."

"I'm helping," stated Blackie, with happy self approbation. "Do you know what the political thieves and outcasts are trying to do in this town? They are trying to steal the courthouse and turn it into a den of infamy. My church is going to save the city from its shame. We raised a fund of nearly $300,000 today to buy Courthouse square, and another day's hustling will give us enough. As soon as we get that we're going to start another subscription list to build the finest cathedral in the middle west on the site that was to have been turned into a common dive that would sap the manhood and womanhood of every young person who passed beneath the shadow of its walls."

His adoption of the morning's pulpit phrases was entirely unconscious. An habitual enthusiast, his partisanship here was absolutely without a question.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

It is predicted that simple lines in blouses will continue to be popular during the summer. The small flowered and figured cottons are used for blouse purposes as well as plain materials, voiles, crepes and sheer linens. One of the newest fads from Paris is to have collar and cuffs on a thin figured blouse, of white pique; often there is a shaped, vest-like girdle of this pique too to bring about the long-wasted effect which is so much desired just now.

This blouse, No. 8254, has a full-length raglan sleeve, which may also be cut off at elbow length if desired, and oddly pointed collar and a straight closing front. The flowered crepe or voiles could be used to advantage with this design and the collar would be most effective in pique.

Size 36 requires 2 yards of 36-inch material. Pattern come in seven sizes, 30 to 42.

Be sure to give right size measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing fifteen cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

NEEDLEWORK

By MARGARET LAWRENCE

Thousand-flower-stitch is one of the simplest of embroidery stitches, as each petal of the flower is made with one stitch from the center of the flower to the end of the petal. The work should be done with very heavy mercerized cotton or rope silk, and the center of the flowers may be filled in with French knots.

The simple 18-inch wreath, 14611, is appropriate for use on a pillow or between-meals mat of linen or rep. The leaves may be carried out in solid embroidery or lazy-daisy-stitch in a number of shades of green, and the flowers in the delicate aster colors. A flower worked in black, scattered occasionally through the wreath, lends character to the design.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied for 15 cents.

Some Cookery Suggestions

ABOUT ARTICHOKES.

DINNER.
Chicken Consomme With Rice.
Roast Ribs of Lamb, Mint Sauce.
Buttered String Beans.
Mashed Potatoes.
Artichoke Salad.
Peach Ice Cream.
Lady Fingers. Coffee.

ARTICHOKES are a vegetable which may be used to vary the bill of fare in many appetizing forms. Jerusalem artichokes may be used as a salad or pickled. They also may be boiled in salted water and served with white sauce. Artichokes, boiled, are often served with drawn butter.

Served With Sauce.

Artichokes With Hollandaise Sauce.—Trim stalks and outside leaves of artichokes and wash; tie up tight in pieces of cotton cloth (this is to prevent leaves from falling apart while boiling); boil in plenty of water to which add some lemon juice and a pinch of baking soda; boil until tender (about forty or fifty minutes). When done untie bags, partly open up the center leaves and with a spoon remove fibrous substance. Serve on napkin with butter or hollandaise sauce on side.

If artichokes are to be served as a salad let them get cold before removing fibrous substance. Serve with French dressing or vinaigrette.

Artichoke Salad.—Boil six artichokes, separate the "fonds" from the leaves and cut into small pieces. Put in a salad bowl with an equal quantity of asparagus points that have been cooked in salted water. Take a handful of salted almonds, chop them fine, pound them with the juice of two lemons and half a pint of cream, salt and pepper and pour over the salad. A little mayonnaise may be added to the salad, but it is more delicate in flavor without it.

They Are Delicious Stuffed.

Artichokes Stuffed With Chicken.—Take preserved or fresh artichoke bottoms, fill with chicken forcemeat. Put them into a saucepan with a little butter and place them in the oven to cook the forcemeat. Take them out, arrange on a dish and serve with a little beef extract poured over them.

Stuffed Artichokes.—Boil the artichokes and pull the leaves apart, but do not break from the heart. Then insert between them a dressing made as follows: Chop together some green onion, a little garlic, some grated bread, Italian cheese, red pepper, thyme, etc. Then stand each artichoke in a pan, pour over it a small bottle of olive oil, set in the oven to warm up, dipping up every bit of the oil into the artichokes.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Snails Give a Real Dance.

The Snails Stood Out of Their Shells.

DADDY had a story to tell the children which he knew would surprise them very much, and he asked them if they would like to hear it.

"What is it going to be about?" inquired Evelyn.

"Well, the other night the snails had a dance," answered daddy.

"A dance!" cried Jack and Evelyn together. "That is funny to think of the snails having a dance. Do tell us all about it, daddy."

"Of course you know," said daddy, "that people can give dances and not dance themselves. They can just stand up and look very fine and say 'How do you do?' to all the guests or 'You'll find some ice cream in the next room.' So the snails didn't see why they couldn't give a dance just like that."

"Well, that's not so funny, then," said Jack. "I did think it was mighty funny, though, to think of snails dancing or even thinking of it."

"But it was pretty bright of them to be able to give a dance and not to exert themselves at all. Don't you think so?"

"Yes," said Evelyn; "that certainly was pretty smart of them."

"You see it was this way," continued daddy. "All the little creatures in the woods had been giving parties. The snails had been invited to just ever so many. In fact, they had been much too gay to suit themselves, for sometimes it was a long walk—or crawl, I should say—to get to the party.

"But they knew that it was the proper thing not to accept too many invitations until they gave one themselves. So they decided that the best thing they could do was to give a dance.

"Lazy creatures can always think of the best and easiest way to be lazy, and the reason the snails decided that they would give a dance was because they could do less at a dance than at anything else.

"They knew the other animals would so enjoy the dancing that they would quite forget about them until the time to go, and then they would simply tell the snails that they had had 'a wonderful time' and leave.

"The snails engaged the lizards to make the ice cream and to serve it through the evening, so they didn't even have that bother, and they told the lizards they could eat all they wanted if they would do this.

"All the snails had to do was to stand as far out of their shells as they could get and say 'Good evening' and 'Must you go?'

"For several days they practiced these little speeches just before napping time, which comes every half hour in the snail world."

"How could they keep awake through the dance?" asked Evelyn.

"They didn't," said daddy. "They took delicious little snoozes and were not noticed because the dancing was being so thoroughly enjoyed."

MOTHER KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Family Outing Ends Tragically Near Vineland.

OTHER CASUALTIES IN STATE

Lad, Seized With Cramps, Drowns at New Brunswick—Boy Dives to His Death at Paterson—Bather Drowns In Passaic River—Cyclist Is Badly Hurt at Mays Landing.

Vineland, N. J., July 13.—A holiday trip taken by James Orr of 3516 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, and his family ended tragically when the automobile in which they were riding turned over near Buena. Mrs. Orr was killed, and the father and four children—Helen, sixteen years old; Mildred, thirteen; Ethel, nine, and Walter, three, were brought to the hospital here. The children were cut and bruised, and Mr. Orr was dazed by an injury to his head.

Seized With Cramps; Drowns.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 13.—Raymond Martin, ten years old, of 101 Senior street was drowned in the Raritan river near Highland Park. With several companions he was swimming near the Albany street bridge when he was seized with cramps. The body was recovered.

Boy Dives to Death In Lake.

Paterson, N. J., July 13.—William Moore, sixteen years old, who was graduated from the Paterson high school last month, was drowned while diving in Greenwood lake. Forty or fifty bathers at Hikers' camp joined in and recovered the body.

Bather In Passaic River Drowns.

Paterson, N. J., July 13.—Frank Nureelzer, twenty-seven years old, of Cedar Grove was drowned in the Passaic river. He was seized by cramps and sank before other bathers could reach him. His body was found.

Thrown From Motorcycle.

Mays Landing, N. J., July 13.—Harry McClure of Philadelphia was thrown from his motorcycle while passing through here on his way from Atlantic City and was painfully hurt.

Pinned Under Auto an Hour.

Mays Landing, N. J., July 13.—H. B. Clark of Philadelphia and his chauffeur, James Youelle, were pinned under an automobile for more than an hour while a number of machines passed by without noticing the overturned car at the foot of a twenty foot embankment. The chauffeur regained consciousness and shouted for help. Youelle may have internal injuries.

SEX HYGIENE COURSE LOST.

Attempt to Have Lectures In Newark Normal School Fails.

Trenton, N. J., July 13.—A resolution to permit the principal of the Newark Normal school to establish a course of lectures on sex hygiene at the next session developed a lively discussion and much opposition at the meeting of the state board of education. It was defeated by a vote of 5 to 1.

Melvin A. Rice of Red Bank introduced the resolution in reporting for the advisory committee of the board. Mr. Murray declared there was no demand for the teachers to be trained along this line and that if the Newark school was to have it the Trenton and Montclair institutions should also be given the privilege of such a course.

RAN AWAY TO SEE MOTHER.

She Was Ill and Four Children In Asylum Grieved For Her.

Orange, N. J., July 13.—Homesick in the Orphans' home, two little girls and two little boys, all members of one family, ran away from the institution in order to see their mother, who is seriously ill in the Memorial hospital.

A week ago Mrs. Thomas O'Brien was taken to the hospital and her husband, unable to care for the little ones, sent them to the orphan asylum. Eleven-year-old Helen grieved constantly for her mother, and her sister, Margaret, nine, Thomas, six, and Patrick, 4 years old, shared her longings.

BRIEF STATE ITEMS.

Jerome Jarvis, ten years old, son of John Jarvis of Kearny, injured his right hand on the Fourth of July, but little attention was paid to the wound. The lad died from lockjaw.

Frank Schuler, a locomotive engineer, of Jersey City fell dead by his engine at the Communipaw terminal, near that city. Heart trouble and the heat are believed to have caused his death.

The Jersey City police have arrested five men in connection with the shooting Saturday night of Harry Carbino while he was taking tickets at the ball of the Pequod club at Grand View hall.

Burned about the back and arms by a carboy of acid, Lawrence Bathe of Newark is in the City hospital in a critical condition. He was employed at the plant of Butterworth & Judson, manufacturers of chemicals.

The Pennsylvania railroad's fire brigade, composed of employees of the Market street (Newark) station, did good work in checking a serious fire in Kelly & Co.'s storage warehouse at New Jersey Railroad avenue and Mechanic street.

WILLIAM SULZER.

Asserting he has eight planks in his platform, ex-Governor William Sulzer has announced his candidacy for governor of New York this fall. He contends: First, get the grafters; second, stop the stealing; third, take care of the taxpayers; fourth, give labor a lift and every man a square deal; fifth, prevent the pollution of the courts of justice; sixth, promote social justice, the general welfare and all progressive legislation; seventh, get equal rights for all and special privileges for none; eighth, free speech, free press, free public schools and the perpetuity of our free institutions.

GREEK ENVOY ASSAILS BALKAN WAR REPORT

Carnegie Probers Accused of Distorting Facts.

Washington, July 13.—In an official statement issued here attacking the motives and methods of the Carnegie peace foundation's investigations of the atrocities of the Balkan wars Alexander Vouros, charge d'affaires here for Greece, asserts that the recent publication of the commission's full report and findings has intensified instead of allayed the Greek conviction that the investigators were prejudiced against Greeks and acted in reality as special pleaders for Bulgaria.

In the statement the Carnegie commission is accused of distorting a telegram of King Constantine with "evident maliciousness," of being "under the influence of the Bulgarian propaganda," and suggests that the mission may have "allowed itself to be imposed upon by special interests."

The particular complaint of Mr. Vouros in discussing the report of the commission is that it lays upon Greece responsibility for outrages for which Greeks were in no way guilty and tries to emphasize any accusations brought against the Greeks, but on the other hand attempts either to deny in toto or to find reason for minimizing notorious Bulgarian atrocities.

"The evident intention to whitewash Bulgaria is manifest to the reader from the beginning to the end of the report," says Mr. Vouros.

"For instance, on page 99 the report says, 'The main facts on which we must insist is that the Greek army inaugurated the second war by deliberate burning of a Bulgarian town.'"

SAVE ALL ON THE INVERMORE

Coast Vessel Submerged In Brig Harbor After the Rescues.

St. John's, N. F., July 13.—All the passengers of the coast steamer Invermore, which struck on the rocks near Brig Harbor point, were landed safely. The steamer filled rapidly after striking and was resting on the rocks with only her top deck above water.

The Invermore struck while trying to avoid the heavy ice north of the strait of Belle Isle. She left here on July 4 to go as far north as the ice would permit. She carried a heavy freight cargo and many passengers, most of them Labrador fishermen and planters who were bound north for the summer.

The steamship Kyle, with divers and wrecking gear, was sent from here to Brig Harbor because the officers of the Invermore believed there was some chance of floating the vessel.

TO EARN $100,000 A YEAR.

"Do Things That Others Don't Do," Says Steinmetz.

Schenectady, N. Y., July 13.—"To earn $100,000 a year do things other people don't do," said Dr. Charles Proteus Steinmetz of the General Electric company of Schenectady in an interview. Dr. Steinmetz's salary runs into six figures. Dr. Steinmetz said that under Socialism he would not want $100,000 a year because "society would then take care of every human want of all of us." Dr. Steinmetz remarked:

"The government of the United States is not efficient. What corporation would remove its president every four years?"

NOTICE TO ABSENT DEFENDANTS.

In Chancery of New Jersey.

To William M. Harrison, Ella Harrison, Sarah Idell Smith and Louis Morrell, Jr.

By virtue of an order of the court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof in a cause wherein J. Clark Prall is complainant and William M. Harrison and Ella Harrison and others are defendants. You are required to plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the fourth day of August next or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by William M. Harrison and wife to J. Clark Prall, dated May 7th, 1909, on lands in the town of Westfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, and you William M. Harrison and Ella Harrison are made defendants because you own said lands and made and executed said Mortgage, and you Sarah Idell Smith are made a party because you hold or now hold a mortgage on said lands and premises, and you Louis Morrell, Jr., are made a party because you held a lien claim on the building on said property and claim some interest in the lands it is alleged. CAN YOU USE $1,000.?

This is a question that can be readily answered by most of us, but the problem of how to obtain $1,000 is not so easily solved.

We offer a solution: Open an installment bond account with us; deposit $25 monthly and at the end of 38 months we will pay you $1,005.50, all you have paid in, plus 4 per cent. interest.

If $25 monthly is too large, pay less, the result will be proportionate. Circulars on request.

OPPOSE PLANS FOR STREET PAVE

MACADAM PREFERRED

Property-owners on West Third street, between Plainfield avenue and Liberty street, in a communication to the Common Council at its adjourned meeting, last night, protested against the proposed plan to lay a brick pavement on that thoroughfare between the points named. They complained that taxes are high enough at present and they do not feel like being compelled to go to any additional expense, believing that a good macadam roadbed would be more satisfactory. The matter was referred to the street committee.

The street committee plans to lay a brick pavement on West Third street, in response to a petition from other property-owners on that street, it being pointed out that such an improvement is greatly needed.

The city's sewer plans were approved by the State Board of Health, notification of the fact being received in a communication. The form of contract between William C. Smith and the city for the improvements at fire headquarters was received and filed. The contractor will make the improvements at a cost to the city of $170.

Francis J. Kiss, of Leland avenue, was appointed a special policeman by Mayor Percy H. Stewart, to serve for one year. The appointment was confirmed by the Council as was also the appointment of Edgar Donnelly as poundkeeper for the city.

A resolution offered by Mr. Blatz and adopted, provided that two weeks' notice be given in the customary way that the Council would meet Monday evening, August 3, to receive bids for permanent street improvements. Mr. Blatz also called up on third reading the ordinance providing for the opening of Spooner avenue. It was adopted and the work will be undertaken soon.

Councilmen Richard A. Claybrook, Leighton Calkins and A. D. Edgar were the absentees at last night's meeting. Mr. Claybrook is at Hot Springs, Va.; Mr. Calkins is enjoying an automobile trip through the New England States, while Mr. Edgar was called to South Jersey on railroad business. It is not unlikely that the Council will meet again before August 3.

HORSE RAN AWAY AFTER AUTOMOBILE HIT WAGON

An automobile driven by Alden Rusch, of Flemington, crashed into the front wheel of a light runabout owned by a farmer from Watchung on Park avenue, near the juncture of Fifth street, at 8 o'clock this morning. The horse attached to the vehicle took fright and proceeded at breakneck speed down Park avenue toward Front street. The aged driver hung on to the reins but was unable to bring the frightened horse to a stop. Near Fourth street Patrolman Frank Sweeney leaped out of a crowd and catching the bridle of the animal swerved it to one side of the thoroughfare. The equine had been dragging the light vehicle for over a block on three wheels and the driver had a narrow escape from being tossed to the hard roadbed.

The accident was of an unavoidable nature and Rusch stopped his car as soon as it happened. Berries, which the farmer was bringing to market in the runabout, were scattered over the road at the point where the mishap occurred and the wagon was considerably damaged. Rusch is a chauffeur for W. F. Higgins, of 1026 Prospect avenue.

R. R. ENGINEERS MAY STRIKE.

Chicago, Ill., July 14.—An ultimatum in the wage dispute between 55,000 engineers and firemen of the ninety-eight railroads west of Chicago and their employers was scheduled to be presented today to the managers of the roads. A gigantic strike, which will tie up 148,000 miles of road, is imminent unless an agreement is reached, according to the union officers. Virtually all lines west of Chicago, the Illinois Central and lines in Canada west of Fort William, except the Canadian Grand Trunk Pacific, are affected.

—Until further notice, the Rothberg store on West Front street, next door to Proctor's theatre, will close at 6 p. m., and will also close all day on Thursdays during the month of August.—Adv. ***

TROPHY NIGHT AT THE ELKS' CLUB

Prizes for the Bowling Tourney Will Be Awarded at Dollar Dinner.

Two of the handsomest silver loving cups ever presented for athletic competition of any kind in this city are now on exhibition in Leo Slonim's jewelry store on West Front street, and will be awarded to the successful winners at the entertainment planned for the members of the Elks' Club bowling tournament in the clubhouse on Watchung avenue tonight. Elaborate preparations have been made for the event by the leaders of the organization, President Francis J. Blatz and Secretary V. W. Nash, Jr.

A dollar dinner will be the leading feature, at which time the trophies will be presented by President Blatz and received by Frank Smith on behalf of the Elks' Club. They will be placed in the trophy room of the clubhouse. William N. Runyon will be the toastmaster at the dinner and speeches will be made by the team captains and others prominent in the organization. Music will be furnished by Paroubek's orchestra.

John J. Campbell's team took first place in the league championship and the members of the victorious aggregation, besides the leader, are Walter Vail Orrin H. Simons, Thomas Mellick and Howard Woolston. The second place winner was captained by Jacob E. Waldorf and was composed of the following pinners, Charles Woolston, Charles H. Dunham, Charles Swalm and Jacob Blimm. Prizes will also be awarded for high individual and team scores and high individual averages in each of the classes. There will be several booby awards made.

AWARD CONTRACT TO CAMDEN CONCERN

Kelley-McFeeley Co. Get Contract for Building Addition to Sewers.

The contract for the building of the addition to the main sanitary sewer in the West End, was awarded at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, to Kelley-McFeeley Company, of Camden, its bid being $32,000. This was done in accordance with a resolution offered by Councilman Francis J. Blatz, chairman of the street committee, after the DeNapoli & Torelli Construction Company, of Hackensack, whose bid was $26,896.86, was withdrawn.

The Hackensack concern stated that when it submitted its bid it was under the impression that it could use a trenching machine, but when it was found that this was impossible, it decided that the work could not be done for the figure presented. Accordingly the bid was returned and the contract awarded to the Camden concern, which is one of the largest in the State.

The Plainfield bidders for the work were all pretty close. Charles A. Peterson bid $33,000, Burke & Bonham bid $34,100 and Mobus & Co. bid $34,700. T. Foster Callahan, of Elizabeth, bid $32,200, $300 higher than the Camden firm.

CRAIG-A-LEA LODGE CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

Craig-a-lea Lodge, No. 43, Daughters of Scotia, celebrated its second anniversary last evening, entertaining members of Clan McKenzie, O. S. C., as the guests of honor. Reports of various officers indicated that the lodge was in a prosperous condition, and had a membership at present of over fifty.

Several State officers were present and addressed the local lodge on fraternal topics. Among these were Grand Chief Daughter Catherine Mitchell, Grand Deputy Mary Kennedy, Grand Conductor Mrs. McAlphine and staff, all of Newark. Chief Daughter Mrs. Francis Anderson, of the local lodge, presided and made remarks appropriate to the occasion. After the formal meeting, Miss Hilda Story, John Lidgate and John Donaldson sang a number of solos, while Miss Elizabeth Doig, of this city, and Mrs. Nealson, of Newark, recited. Miss Story was installed as pianist, and Mrs. George Laird, as outer guardian, during the course of the evening.

K. OF C. TONIGHT.

Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, will meet tonight at their club rooms on West Front street. This lodge is now meeting on the second and fourth Tuesdays instead of Wednesdays, as previously.

LOCAL MEN GIVE SCOUTS A BOOST

This Phase of Boys' Work Placed on a Firmer Basis in Plainfield.

CELEBRATION PLANNED

New Council Members Elected at Rally Meeting Held Last Night—Honor System is Adopted Here—Badges of Merit for Leaders.

Boy scout work was not only saved to this city last night, but it received a decided impetus. The meeting called by President William N. Runyon taxed the seating capacity of the Y. M. C. A. parlor. The scout council was reorganized, a court of honor was appointed, and plans were considered for furthering the scout movement here. A committee was appointed to plan for the patrol championship competition to be held in September and another was selected to take part in the rally of all local members when the honor scouts are presented with their merit badges earned in scout work since the movement started here.

The new council has a present membership of twenty-one, eight of whom were members of the original council. Efforts are to be made to increase this membership so as to make the body completely representative of the city.

The original council members present last night were Judge William N. Runyon, president; T. A. Davis, secretary pro tem; Dr. H. D. Corbusier, Leroy H. Gates (proxy), William D. Murray, A. D. Beers, Fire Chief T. O. Doane, Samuel Rothberg, Frederick A. Martin and John Leal. These men were elected to membership; Clarence E. Bond, D. S. Dunavan, the Rev. Edward S. Ralston, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church; L. M. Leek, Howard S. Satterfield, F. K. Anderson, president of the Plainfield High School Alumni Association; E. A. Millard, E. K. Powlison, A. P. Palmer, J. H. Blanchard and J. W. Oughiltree. Former council members unable to be present last night are invited to continue their membership.

W. D. Murray, Frederick A. Martin, L. M. Leek, A. D. Beers, John Leal, Dr. H. D. Corbusier, Deputy Commissioner A. V. Searing, Jr., and Commissioner Allen E. Beals were appointed members of the court of honor and recommended to the National Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of America that merit badges in the subjects named be awarded at once to the following local scouts:

Assistant Scoutmaster W. A. W. Thompsen, Troop 5, printing, photography, carpentry, firemanship, pathfinding, handicraft, electricity, cycling, craftsmanship, chemistry, public health and personal health; Leader Charles E. Rice, Troop 5, Eagles, personal health, public health, astronomy, pathfinding, civics, business and firemanship; Colin Millard, engineering squad, Troop 5, craftsmanship, carpentry, civics and firemanship; Thomas P. Fitch, first aid squad, Troop 5, personal health, public health, firemanship, swimming and business; Assistant Scoutmaster Alfred T. Seal, Troop 9, surveying, swimming, personal health, public health and firemanship, and Harold Zeek, musicians' patrol, Troop 5, firemanship, personal health, swimming and public health.

A. D. Beers was made chairman of the field day committee which meets Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. to list the competitive events that the various scout patrols will compete in for the Paul R. Collier championship pennant now held by Wolf Patrol, John Causbrook, leader, of Troop 5. The field day will probably be in September.

President Runyon, Dr. Corbusier and the commissioners were selected to co-operate with the council as a whole to bring in additional members to the council and to endeavor to find men to serve as scoutmasters for Troop 8, of Crescent Avenue church, and Troop 10, of Trinity Reformed church. The next council meeting will be on Monday evening, August 10.

CHARLES H. LINE TAKES CHARGE OF BIG CAMPAIGN

Charles H. Line, of this city, has entered upon his new duties as membership and social secretary of the Providence, R. I., Y. M. C. A. Mr. Line is well known in this city, having graduated from the Plainfield High School in the class of 1910 and from the Springfield Y. M. C. A. Training School in the class of 1913. He took a post-graduate course at the latter institution last year.

Prior to entering college Mr. Line was assistant physical director of the local association, of which he has been a member for the past nine years. Entering upon his new duties the local man will be in charge of a $500,000 building campaign which has just been launched in Providence.

HUSBAND'S WILL UNKNOWN TO HER

Known to New Jersey Authorities as Mrs. Josephine Robson Bollard She is Now Trying to Reclaim Estate.

Rivaling in interest the strangest tale of fiction, the unravelling of a mystery centered about a last will and testament was started in the Court of Chancery in Elizabeth, yesterday. The court has appointed Francis J. Blatz, of this city, guardian for the interests of one Mrs. Josephine Robson in one of the most puzzling suits in the history of the Union county courts.

With the discharge of Mrs. Josephine Robson from the State Hospital at Trenton last Saturday, in which she has been an inmate for one year, the attack on the will of the late Joseph Robson, of Rahway, was launched. When the testator died in May last he left large bequests to one John M. Flomerfelt but failed to mention the name of his wife in the document. Inasmuch as Flomerfelt is no relative of the deceased, Mrs. Robson has started her fight to get possession of what she thinks rightfully belongs to her. The beneficiary of the will contends that Robson represented himself as being a single man and declares that the woman who has suddenly made her advent into the case is an imposter. Letters written by the late Robson to the woman while she was an inmate of the asylum, however, bear the name of Mrs. Josephine Robson Bollard, and these will be offered as evidence when the case is heard. Statistics show that she was committed to the State institution by her husband under the name of Mrs. Josephine Bollard and indications are that he was at that time making an effort to disclaim relationship. After her dismissal from the hospital Mrs. Robson went to Rahway and was surprised to learn of the terms of the will. Completely dumbfounded by her husband's efforts to eliminate her from her share of the estate, the woman appealed to old friends in Rahway, where she lived for eleven years, and was welcomed with open arms. Several pieces of property in Rahway deeded under the name of Joseph Robson are claimed by Mrs. Robson, inasmuch as she agreed while living with the testator to have her husband take entire charge of the property. This property, together with the residue from other holdings, is left to Flomerfelt.

According to the woman she was married to Robson in Roxbury, Mass., and lived with him as man and wife for eleven years prior to her commitment to the State Hospital. She has always been known in the Union county town as Mrs. Joseph Robson and found it easy to gain recognizance when she returned last Saturday. Considerable sentiment has been wrought up in Rahway over the affair and a number of prominent residents of that place have taken up the fight in her behalf. Robson, a retired sea captain, died last May at an advanced age, while the woman who has made her sudden appearance in the case, is about thirty years of age. The appeal has been made by Mr. Blatz to the Court of Chancery and Judge James C. Connolly will set a date for the hearing.

BAR ROOM THE WATERLOO OF MAD DOG IN BOROUGH

Residents and pedestrians who happened to be in the vicinity of Park place and Somerset street, this morning, were treated to a mad dog scare and confusion reigned for nearly a half hour in that section. Apparently suffering from the rabies the canine made a general nuisance of itself by snapping at passersby and attempting to climb trees that loomed up in its path.

The animal's course led to the bar room of a Somerset street hotel and after futile attempts to tap several barrels of the amber fluid with its teeth left the place in disgust. Chief Weiss, of the North Plainfield police department, had been located by this time and when he saw the rumpus the dog was creating he decided to shoot it. The animal belonged to Wenzel F. Ryshaw, of Somerset street.

UNIFORMED RANK TO MEET.

Crescent Company, No. 12, Knights of Pythias, will meet tomorrow evening at Flannery Hall, East Third street. Matters of importance will be presented to the gathering, and a full attendance of the membership is desired. Matters pertaining to the Memorial Day recently observed will be discussed to some extent.

PLAYGROUNDS ARE POPULAR CENTERS

ATTENDANCE FIGURES

All Four of the Recreation Parks Equipped for the Special Work Which They Promote—Many Individual Classes Organized.

Over five hundred children of this city are entertained daily in the four public playgrounds that are run under the auspices of the Public Recreation Commission. The grounds are modernly equipped in every respect and a continuous program is in operation. The grounds are open for two hours and a half in the morning and three hours in the afternoon. On the whole there is a larger attendance in the afternoon than in the morning. The centers are located in the Bryant, Franklin, Irving and St. Mary school yards and are in charge of competent supervisors.

The Irving playground is supervised by Miss Ruth Wean, who is assisted by Miss Maude Mair. The attendance at this place is as large as any of the centers. An average of two hundred children visit this place both morning and afternoon and are accomplishing much work in the basketry and the folk dancing classes. There is plenty of apparatus work at that place and the children are kept busy in the sand pits, swings and slides.

The St. Mary's playground, which is smaller than the other three, has an attendance of over two hundred daily. These children are in charge of Miss Helen George, of the borough, and although there is not much room for equipment, the children are entertained in about the same manner as in the other places. The main feature is basketry and raffia work for the girls and the boys have athletic competition. The smallest of the children are entertained in swings and sand boxes.

Miss Frances B. Nischwitz is in charge of the Franklin School yard and has over two hundred youngsters a day in her care. The girls make various kinds of caps, aprons, bags and kimonas. These will all be shown at the annual exhibit that takes place next month. In the morning the children use the apparatus and play baseball, basketball and other athletic games. The afternoon is devoted to more quiet work such as basketry and raffia work. The children make picture frames, baskets and other useful articles. The boys have relay races and miniature athletic meets.

The Bryant School has about two hundred and fifty children a day and is in charge of Miss Harriet Moe. The same work is carried on there that is done in the other yards and the apparatus is in use at all times. The folk dancing class has made much progress during the past week and the members expect to make a fine showing at the annual exhibit. There is also a class in reed work and basketry. The boys play baseball in an adjourning lot and basketball in the school yard. The small children are kept interested in the sand boxes and swings.

All the supervisors are preparing for the annual exhibition that takes place at Parker Field on Saturday, August 22. All of the work that has been done this year will be shown to the public at that time.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE MEETING.

Mrs. Sherman B. Joost, president of the Plainfield Branch of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, will be among the speakers at an anti-suffrage meeting to be held at Quogue, L. I., tomorrow afternoon. Miss Mahon will preside and Miss Grace Buttfield will also speak. A number of women from this city are planning to attend.

POULTRY ASS'N TO MEET.

The New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement will meet tomorrow evening at Firemen's Hall, at which time several matters of importance will be presented by the board of trustees. Further plans for the poultry show to be held at Newark this fall will be made at this gathering. No lecture will be given at this meeting.

DR. CARMAN TELLS STORY.

Mineola, L. I., July 14.—Dr. Edwin Carman today took the stand before the Nassau County Grand Jury without being asked to sign a waiver of immunity and told his story of the murder of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey in his office at Freeport on June 30. Mrs. Carman is now in jail here charged with the murder.

BOY STRUCK BY CAR TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Youth Was Riding Bicycle on South Avenue When Run Over by Automobile.

While driving his car east on South avenue, this morning, Otto H. Oppenheimer, of 1042 Myrtle avenue, ran over twelve-year-old Victor Chamberlain, of 1322 South avenue, necessitating the victim's removal to Muhlenberg Hospital. According to Oppenheimer, he was running his car at a slow rate of speed near Leland avenue, when the youth, who was riding a bicycle, came out from behind an automobile truck which was traveling west at the time.

The front portion of the machine struck the light bicycle and hurled the rider to the macadam roadbed. The right fore wheel of the car passed over the boy's leg rendering him unconscious. Alonzo Terry happened to be in the immediate vicinity when the mishap occurred and assisted Oppenheimer in placing the boy in the automobile and he was hurried to the hospital.

At the hospital this afternoon, it was learned that the victim was suffering from a compound fracture of the left ankle and will be confined to the institution for some time. He was also scratched about the face and arms.

Oppenheimer gave himself up to the police immediately after the accident and later visited the boy's parents, offering to do all in his power for the victim. Bystanders exonerate the driver from blame in the matter and it is the concensus of opinion that carelessness on the part of the boy was responsible for the affair.

CITY PURCHASES AN AUTO ENGINE

Bid of Nott Company is Accepted by the Common Council.

The Common Council, at its adjourned meeting, last night, through a resolution offered by Councilman Charles C. Graves, chairman of the fire committee, accepted bid No. 4, from the Nott Fire Engine Company, to furnish the city with an automobile engine. The price is $8,000. The new engine, which will be stationed in the Netherwood section, is practically a duplicate of the one at headquarters with the exception that it will have a chemical equipment. The capacity will be the same.

The Mayor and clerk were authorized to sign the contracts for the purchase of the new appartus. Its delivery will probably be made within sixty days, it requiring that time to build the engine. Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed is to approve the contract, the form of which is to be the same as in the case of the purchase of the first auto engine. This engine will give the Netherwood section ample protection in case of fire and can also be used in other parts of the city when needed.

GIVEN UNTIL SATURDAY TO GET DOG LICENSE

Eight citizens of the borough were hailed before Recorder Fred Hand in the borough court for being delinquent in securing licenses for their dogs. Sentence was suspended in all cases with the single exception of A. G. Sachs, of Harrison avenue, who refused to take out a license because of his anticipation of getting rid of the canine. A fine of $5 was hung over his head pending his securing a license before Saturday of this week. The others arraigned on a similar charge included Samuel Harlin, of Duer street; John Ammerman, of Duer street; Mrs. George Hartfelder, of Whitewood avenue; Leon M. Livingston, of Grove street; Mr. Drover, of Wilson avenue; Louis Jackson and John Robinson, of Grove street.

Theodore Wilson, of Harmony street, was arraigned before the same court on the charge of disorderly conduct, having used indecent language which could be heard for a considerable distance around his home. His son alleged that he was also beating his mother. While being put under arrest, Wilson resisted to some extent by attempting to strike at Officer Pope. A fine of $5 was imposed.

—Never has a more inviting display of fresh vegetables been made at Neuman Brothers' market than at the present time. Corn, green beans, peas, celery, lettuce, egg plant, summer squash and cucumbers are among the articles offered.—Adv. ***

FLYNN IS MADE POLICE CAPTAIN

Mayor Stewart Promotes Detective Sergeant to Vacancy in Department.

THE COUNCIL CONFIRMS

Amendment to Police Ordinance Proposed Abolishing Office of Roundsman and Substituting Four Sergeants.

Detective-Sergeant John J. Flynn was made captain of police at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, being appointed by Mayor Percy H. Stewart and confirmed by the Common Council without a dissenting vote. The fact that the Mayor intended to fill the vacancy in the police department caused by the retirement of Christian Frederickson on June 1 last, became known yesterday afternoon, when His Honor made the announcement in reply to a question put to him by a reporter for The Daily Press. However, at that time he did not state whose name he would send to the Council.

It was expected that the appointment would be made a week ago last night, but for some unexplained reason, the Mayor did not act, much to the surprise of the Council. Why the matter was deferred for a week is not known.

Captain Flynn will continue to do the kind of work in which he has been engaged since his appointment as a detective-sergeant on March 25, 1907, but of course, will have the advanced rank of captain. It is proposed by the Police Board to re-arrange matters at headquarters so that there will always be a superior officer on duty there, day and night.

Captain Flynn, who has made an excellent record as a policeman, was first appointed a special officer on February 6, 1893, and was assigned to regular duty on July 10, 1894. On February 1, 1897, he was made a roundsman and on March 25, 1907, was appointed a detective-sergeant, which position he has filled creditably ever since. As detective-sergeant he drew a salary of $1,300 a year, but with his advancement to captain he will receive $1,350. The change becomes effective at once.

Following the appointment of Captain Flynn, last night, the Police Board, through Councilman Juan A. Babcock, introduced an amendment to the ordinance defining the duties of the police, which was read for information. It will be taken up later with a view to making some desirable changes, which Mr. Babcock said, last night, has the approval of Police Chief Kiely.

The amendment to the ordinance proposes the abolishment of the office of roundsmen, and substituting four sergeants, to be known as first, second, third and fourth sergeants. This will permit a sergeant to be on duty at headquarters both day and night, while the others will be assigned to outside work.

In the changes proposed, as suggested by President George S. Clay of the Council the sergeants would alternate in doing day and night duty throughout the year. If these changes are made, it will be necessary to appoint a fourth man from the ranks as a sergeant, the other three being Sergeant Higgins and Roundsman Andrew Saffron and Charles Flynn. This would mean an increase of $50 for the roundsmen and a similar increase for the patrolman who is advanced to the position of sergeant. It is understood that in nearly every police department the office of roundsman is being abolished and the

Frank Bowlby, of Washington avenue, is still puzzled as to the origin of the fire which destroyed his tool-house early yesterday morning. Mr. Bowlby hardly tainks that anybody was mean enough to set it purposely on fire. The tool-house stood in the rear of Mr. Bowlby's house about a couple of feet from the Second street pavement and it is possible that the fire may have been caused by the lighted cigar or cigarette butt of some careless passerby. Then, again, there may have been some combustible material like sawdust or rags in the building. Mr. Bowlby does not know as yet whether there is any insurance on the building or not. He said he had it insured when he moved away from the borough four years ago and he does not know whether it has run out or not. Those who were brought out on the street by the ringing of the fire-bell are all commenting about the speed to the fire made by the fire truck drawn by a team from the Park Hotel Stables with John Hill driving. They made the trip from the firehouse to the Bowlby place in three minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stautsman, of Prospect avenue, entertained out-of-town visitors over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. George Voehl, of Washington avenue, entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Kulp, of Plainfield, and daughter, Frances, of Sayreville; John Voehl, of Bayonne, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Conklin, of Brooklyn, over the week-end.

Richard Pennock, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Pennock, left this morning for Belmar, where he will be one of the life guards stationed at Sanderson's pier until over Labor Day.

Joseph G. Tetlow, the North avenue plumber, says that unless he has an accounting with the Central Railroad, incident to the accident of about three weeks ago at the Washington avenue crossing, in which his wagon was smashed to splinters, before long, that he will take the matter to court.

W. A. Sale, a new driver hired by Smith, was proceeding through the streets of Brooklyn, Wednesday, in one of Smith's large trucks, when he was obliged to stop the machine on account of a trolley car which was ahead of him stopping to let off passengers. After the passengers had all alighted and everything was clear he started the truck before the motorman of the car had turned his power on, and in so doing he violated a rigidly enforced law and was arrested. When arraigned before Justice Nash, in one of the Brooklyn District Courts, the next day, Sale was fined the limit, $25, which Mr. Smith, of course, paid.

There will be a meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian church after a short prayer service tomorrow evening.

Miss Lillian Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, of New Market road, departed Saturday for Baltimore, where she will spend her summer vacation with her grandparents.

Gerome S. DuMont, of Penfield place, is back in the borough after a long absence. He is looking fine, having gained fully fifteen pounds in weight.

Theodore W. Day, Jr., of North avenue, who went to Budd's Lake about a month ago to convalesce from a protracted attack of rheumatism and was seized while there, with another attack on account of the prevailing damp weather, is mending rapidly again and is expected home on Saturday.

Bob Fitzsimmons dropped in the blacksmith shop of Collector Isaac J. Stites, yesterday morning, and made one of the horseshoes for which he is famous. The shoe, when completed, was about three times the size of an ordinary shoe and was made out of inch and a half iron. It took him about three-quarters of an hour to complete the job. Fitz generally gives the shoes away as souvenirs.

George F. Post, of New Market road, is back of a movement to organize a fire department to be located on the south side of town. Mr. Post's contention is that the south side of the town is growing rapidly and with every new house that goes up the liability of a fire breaking out increases just so much. He claims that in the event of a fire breaking out at night in any one of the houses located in the territory, from the heart of the southern section to the New Market line, that by the time that the members of the only fire department that we have have congregated at the fire-house, got their apparatus out and arrived on the scene of the conflagration that the fire will have gained such headway that it will be impossible to save the place it may happen to be. Mr. Post's proposition is meeting with the hearty endorsement of all whom he has thus far approached. Among those who are actively assisting Mr. Post in bringing the matter to a head are Walter S. Craig, Frank Smalley, of the firm of Smalley Brothers, and William T. Piddington, Jr., who prior to his taking up his residence in this borough, was one of the veterans of the New Market red shirt brigade. The matter has progressed so far, in fact, that a meeting will in all probability be called before the end of the month in the borough hall to discuss ways and means of raising sufficient funds to buy a lot, erect a firehouse and purchase all necessary fire equipment. In places of the size of Dunellen, which have two departments, there has been keen rivalry and many thrilling races to see which would be the first upon the scene of the fire, resulting in highly efficient service.

Another attempt will be made tomorrow evening by the Crescent Tennis Club to hold their novelty dance on their Madison avenue courts. The place will be lighted with Japanese lanterns and music will be furnished by Emanuel Apperts' victrola.

NEW PROVIDENCE GIRL AND BOY MISSING SINCE JULY 1

New Providence, July 14—Miss Emma Lockwood, the twenty-two-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mary Lockwood, of Springfield avenue, the West End, has been missing from home since July 1. Also missing since that date is Nicholas Amodeo, the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Amodeo, of Berkeley Heights.

Her health affected by grief, Mrs. Lockwood, accompanied by another daughter, Miss Mamie Lockwood, left Sunday afternoon for the Adirondacks. Mr. and Mrs. William Scheidermann, the latter the eldest daughter of Mrs. Lockwood, are at the Lockwood home during her absence.

Mrs. Scheidermann said, Sunday night, the only word that had been received from the missing girl was on a postcard, which said she "was in New York State and was happy."

"I met Emma and Nick going for the 11:55 train at Murray Hill on the day they disappeared and asked them where they were going," Mrs. Scheidermann said; "they said they were going to Coney Island. I told them they could not get to Coney Island until late and that they could not spend any time there if they expected to return that day, and they replied that if they could not make Coney Island they would stop off at Newark and go to the theatre.

"That is all I know. My mother received a postcard from Emma saying she was in New York State. I have a sister living in Troy, Mrs. Ira Fleming, and Mamie went to Troy to see if Emma was there, but Mrs. Fleming had gone to Niagara Falls. Mamie returned and has now taken mamma to the Adirondacks for a rest. I do not know whether Emma is dead or alive, married or single."

Mrs. Amodeo said she had heard her boy was ill among strangers, but she could not find him. She said Nicholas had been to New York but twice, and never alone, and that as far as she knew he had but $2 when he left home.

Previous to the disappearance of her son, Mrs. Amodeo said, she noticed he was paying attention to Miss Lockwood and she had gone to the girl and asked her to discourage the boy. Mrs. Amodeo said Miss Lockwood and her sister Mamie had told her they regarded Nicholas merely as a younger brother.

PROTEST IS FILED AGAINST TALBOT

Bergenfield Citizens Object to "Kissing Principal."

OPPOSED TO HIS SERVICES

Last Clause of Resolution is to Effect That It Be Filed With County Superintendent "to Impress Upon Him Gravity of Case and Necessity of Prompt Action."

Hackensack, N. J., July 14.—H. A. Baldwick, William R. Jones, John A. Smith and William G. Trabold, a committee of Bergenfield citizens appointed at a recent mass meeting in that borough, waited upon County Superintendent of Schools B. C. Wooster at Hackensack and filed with him resolutions protesting against the action of the board of education in engaging Lafayette Talbot as supervising principal for Bergenfield next year.

The resolutions in part follow:

Whereas the said Professor Talbot after a fair and impartial hearing before the board of education of Hoboken was dismissed as principal of school No. 8 for conduct unbecoming a teacher; and

Whereas the Bergenfield board of education has indicated its intention that Professor Talbot shall assume the position of principal in charge of the Bergenfield schools on Sept. 7 unless the state commissioner should sustain the Hoboken board's action at the appeal which will not now occur until after Professor Talbot's contract has been entered into; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, in mass meeting assembled, do hereby condemn the act of the Bergenfield board of education in signing said contract with Professor Talbot while he was under the charges, and we protest against his assuming charge here as principal until he is vindicated of the charges.

The last clause is to the effect that the resolutions be filed with the county superintendent "to impress upon him the gravity of the case and the necessity for prompt and definite action."

Mr. Talbot was dismissed by the Hoboken school board on a charge of kissing a scrubwoman. He denies the charge and the state board will hear his appeal Sept. 11.

ARRESTED AS BOY'S SLAYER.

Farmer Taken When Offering Sympathy to Youth's Family.

Riverside, N. J., July 14.—Edward Murphy, a farmer, who discovered the murder of Herman Fisher, seventeen years old, who was shot as he was on his way home from his sweetheart's house at Taylor's Station early Sunday morning, was arrested while offering sympathy to the youth's family on suspicion of having committed the crime. Another man who was jealous of the boy's attention to Miss Ida Wilhelm, eighteen years old, may be arrested soon.

Murphy is married, but does not live with his wife. A ten gauge shotgun, such as was used to murder Fisher, was found hidden in Murphy's barn, with a pair of shoes which fitted the footprints found near the place of the crime.

DISLOCATES JAW YAWNING.

Rushed to Hospital, Where Physicians Put Bones Back In Place.

Camden, N. J., July 14.—After Albert Seymour, 813 Market street, had yawned he found he could not close his mouth. He was taken to the Cooper hospital, where it was learned that his jawbones were dislocated. The physicians managed to get the bones back into place, and Seymour was sent home.

Seymour was sitting in his home reading a newspaper when he yawned. When his mouth failed to close he summoned members of his family. Then he was removed to the hospital.

SEEKS TO PROVE HIS SANITY.

Col. Orleman, Declared Incompetent, Will Fight to Regain Big Estate.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 14.—Colonel Louis H. Orleman, U. S. A., retired, who was pronounced of unsound mind by a jury in Atlantic City three years ago, said that he will institute proceedings against his son and daughters to regain the control of his $150,000 estate.

Colonel Orelman, who had a splendid civil war record and had been the proprietor of military academies along the Hudson river and Peekskill and Kingston, will begin his legal battle before Judge Cole in Atlantic City.

DISOBEYED MOTHER; KILLED.

Boy Walks Along Railroad Tracks and Is Run Down by Train.

Newark, N. J., July 14.—Disobeying his mother, Frederick Lind, aged nine, of 149½ Pennsylvania avenue walked along the Pennsylvania railroad with two companions on their way to the park to play and was killed by a train.

His chums ran away after the accident, and the body was later identified at Holle's morgue by his two sisters, who went looking for him when he did not return for supper.

LEARN TO SWIM.

Every Monday morning the newspapers contain accounts of the dozens of accidental deaths at the various beaches adjacent to New York. In every other big city, the same story of drownings is told to people living nearby. In chronicling these accidents, not a day passes that the accounts do not say that some of them would not have occurred if the victims had been able to swim.

Water has a great attraction for all persons, especially for the young. In some this attraction is overcome by their fear, and therefore they seldom go near any body of water or large stream. These miss many pleasures because of their fears; but they also avoid risking their lives. Many others who are less timid seek recreation by the side of streams and lakes and ponds. A large number of these are utterly unable to swim. Few of them realize the dangers to which they expose themselves until some friend has met with misfortune in the water.

Danger could be reduced to a minimum if all would learn to swim. It is those who can not swim that swell the list of the drowned in reports of accidents on the water. Those who can swim are usually picked up by rescuers. Ability to swim is a protection against accidental death which all should possess. Those who are reared in the country usually learn to swim in early youth. It is part of their summer sport. The creek, the millpond and the "swimming hole" are their swimming schools. In the city we lack the opportunities in this line that our friends in the country possess; but even we need not pass through life in danger of drowning whenever we may find ourselves in water of more than of wading depth.

The Young Men's Christian Association offers excellent opportunities for many of our men to learn to swim. It is planned to throw open the pool in the new High School to the public and swimming lessons can be taken there. Many spend the summer, or part of the summer, in the country where swimming places are accessible. We can not say that we have done our full duty to our boys and girls until we have taught them to swim, even though we may be put to some inconvenience to provide them with the opportunity to learn.

The elevation of Detective Sergeant John J. Flynn to the captaincy by appointment of the Mayor is in keeping with the civil service theory, and justly rewards a man who has faithfully served the people of the city in minor positions in the police department. As has been pointed out in this newspaper several times, Flynn's record, without casting any reflection on any of the other officers, entitled him to the promotion. All sorts of vague rumors as to what the police board would do have been heard about town, but as is usually the case that body and the mayor have solved the matter to the general satisfaction of the public.

Sergeant Higgins, who was the other candidate for the place, is also an efficient and painstaking officer. He has many friends who wished to see him elevated and his turn will soon come as the department grows. He has done valuable work and he will continue to do so as the years go by. While there is a question as to whether the sergeant or the detective sergeant is the ranking officer, there should be no doubt about the matter, for in practically every department in the country the plainclothes man ranks next to the captain. Higgins is too good a man to be kept in uniform and his ability should be recognized by the police board definitely stating that the detective sergeant ranks the office of sergeant, and Higgins should be given the place if he wants it.

The West End Civic Association has become an important factor in the life of Plainfield, and is probably the liveliest body of the kind in the city. The idea of weekly band concerts, sponsored by this organization, is a splendid one and they are to be commended in their efforts. Several years ago open-air programs were introduced in Plainfield, and while they lasted were well patronized. The Dutch Arms Band of Trinity Reformed church has given two concerts this season and several thousand people were present. The city is fortunate in having a band of the calibre of the church organization, and their popularity was publicly attested by the approval given every selection rendered.

"Once a booster, always a booster." If you don't believe it give it a trial. That's the way the East Second street sage sizes up the situation, and he says that trial packages of boost powder can be secured at the meeting of any of our civic organizations. If you carefully follow directions, he adds, you will be glad to give a "before and after" picture, as well as your testimony for "Plainfield's Famous Anti-Grouch Powder."

PROTESTS AGAINST CHINESE LAUNDRIES

Appearing before the Business Men's Association at its meeting, last night, George Lunger and William Harding, representatives of the organized labor unions in this city, protested against the alleged manner in which the Chinese laundries of the city are being conducted by the respective proprietors at the present time. Acting as spokesman, Mr. Harding urged the business men, who are members of the association, to take steps to secure some action on the part of the Board of Health in this direction and to bring about a betterment of conditions.

It was brought out during the deliberation on the subject that the Chinese do their sleeping, eating and washing in a small amount of floor space. Mr. Harding assured the co-operation of the local labor unions in the matter and also guaranteed the support of the unions in the proposed holiday closing idea for merchants during the month of August.

Numerous other civic questions of a minor nature were discussed at the meeting of the merchants, last night, among which was the advisability of conducting another "Dollar Day" in Plainfield, September 2, and a "Fashion Show" the latter part of September or the first part of October. Both of these propositions were referred to special committees which will make reports at the next meeting of the organization.

RIOT IS THREATENED.

Trenton, N. J., July 14.—Officials of the State prison today are taking every precaution to prevent a repetition of the trouble of yesterday afternoon when 300 convicts started a riot when going from the workshops to their cells. Before order was restored one of the keepers was so badly beaten that he was sent to the hospital for treatment. This is the second outbreak since the law abolishing prison labor went into effect on July 1.

CROKER COMING HERE.

London, July 14—Richard Croker confirmed the report that he would visit New York this fall, but at the same time denied that his visit to America was for the purpose of aiding the fight to oust Charles F. Murphy from the leadership of Tammany Hall. He also declared that he would take absolutely no part in New York political affairs.

PLANS ARE APPROVED FOR RECONSTRUCTION

Improvements to Somerset School Will Be Made During the Summer.

Plans for the remodeling of the Somerset School were received by the North Plainfield Board of Education at a special meeting, last night, from Architect Charles Smith. These specifications were endorsed by the Board and the reconstruction work will be started immediately. It is planned to complete the remodeling during the summer recess of the schools and have everything in readiness for the opening of the building in September.

Bills that have accumulated during the month were ordered paid and the Board found it necessary to borrow $2,000 to meet current expenses. Bonds have been advertised for sale for the improvements of the Somerset School.

A resolution was adopted last night to make all bills due in the district clerk's office on the tenth of each month. This is a resolution that is passed annually, but considerable difficulty has been met in enforcing it. The matter of collecting and considering the plans and specifications for the new schoolhouse to be erected on Harrison avenue was placed in the hands of the building and grounds committee. The details of the erection of this new structure will be inquired into by the members of the committee and a report will be presented at the next session of the body.

CIVIC ASS'N PLANS FOR BAND CONCERTS

Weekly Entertainments of Popular Sort to Be Given in West End.

The executive committee of the West End Civic Association at a meeting, last night, practically completed arrangements for weekly band concerts to be given during the summer. The place selected for the entertainment is at what is known as Stelle's woods, considered an ideal spot, because there is plenty of room, and traffic will not be interfered with as would be the case if the concerts were given in the centre of the city.

It was suggested to the committee that the nominal fee of five cents be charged all but children which will go toward meeting the expense attached to the project. It is proposed to engage the Dutch Arms Band, which has been making such excellent progress this year. The night upon which the concert will be given each week will be determined a little later.

As a further attraction the committee has arranged with The Ritz for the refreshment privileges, the idea being to afford patrons an opportunity to secure refreshments at popular prices. Since the announcement of the plan for weekly entertainments the committee has received assurances of the hearty support of the people in the West End of the city.

RECEIVES OFFER OF POSITION IN CHINA

Charles Ham, Chinese Laundryman, Will Enter Service of New Republic.

Charles Ham, the Chinese laundryman, of Somerset street, who has resided here for a number of years, left for his native home, yesterday, in response to a letter offering him a political office in the Republic. It is not known what office has been offered to the former Plainfielder, in fact he did not know himself when he started on his long journey, but he said that if he found the job a paying one he would remain across the water.

Charlie possesses an excellent education, which he obtained since coming to this country several years ago, and he has been quick to adopt English customs. He heartily approves of the new form of government adopted by his country and no doubt because of his progressive ideas he has been chosen for an office in his native country.

HUERTA SAYS HE WILL NOT RESIGN

However, the Exodus of His Officials Has Actually Begun.

Vera Cruz, July 14—If Huerta intended to resign within the next few days, he has reconsidered his decision according to refugees who have arrived here. They declared that Huerta in introducing his new Secretary of State, Francisco Garbajal, to the Senate, Saturday, the dictator said that he would not resign. The announcement that the gap on the railroad would be repaired is believed by many to mean that Huerta will come here. It is probable, however, the reconstruction is due to the need of imports in the capitol, including the ingredients for making gunpowder.

Washington, July 14.—The Exodus of the Huerta officials from Mexico appears to have actually begun. The State Department today received word that General Joaquin Maas, who was in command of the Mexican forces at Vera Cruz when the United States forces took the city; his nephew, Co. Mario Maas; Querido Moheno, Adolpho de la Lama and Roberto Esteva Ruiz had sailed from Vera Cruz for the United States. The destination of the distinguished Mexican refugees was not given in the dispatches.

The departure of the delegation of Huerta supporters is accepted here as indicating the flight of General Huerta himself.

TWO HOLDUPS NEAR SOUTH PLAINFIELD

A tall, dark man who is known to be a good runner, has been making the clump of bushes near the Plainfield Country Club road on Park avenue, his headquarters during the past two weeks and has waylaid two carriages without getting caught. On Saturday night, July 4, two men were held up in that section and stripped of suitcases filled with wearing apparel. The highwayman had an accomplice in the bushes and after passing the goods over to his companion, escaped himself. When the victims notified the authorities in South Plainfield the robbers had made good their escape and no trace of them was found.

Last Saturday night two men hired a carriage from a local livery stable and while enroute to South Plainfield station were held up at the same place on Park avenue. The highwayman appeared to be alone on this occasion, however, and when he found that the two men in the carriage were ready for a fight he started on a dead run toward the Lehigh Valley Railroad. The men in the carriage gave chase but the holdup man soon eluded them by cutting across fields.

This point in the road has become known to those who make night trips to South Plainfield and considerable anxiety is felt in passing the point. It is especially dark at that place and the wooded roadside affords an excellent place for the outlaws to disappear in.

NEW FLYING RECORD.

Leipsic, Germany, July 14.—The German aviator Oelrichs today set a new altitude record by rising in his biplane to a height of 7,500 metres or approximately 24,606 feet. The previous record was 21,654 feet.

MISS GOLDSTEIN IS GIVEN A SURPRISE

Large Company of Friends Gather at Her Home in the Borough.

Miss Martha Goldstein, who celebrated the sixteenth anniversary of her birthday on Sunday, was given a surprise party by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Goldstein at the home on Grove street. The affair was arranged by the Misses Lena Bender, Ida Bulk, Anna Zwick and Ida Velinsky. They took Miss Goldstein to Cranford in the morning supposedly on a picnic and when the party returned in the afternoon found a large company of friends gathered in the rear yard of her home.

During Miss Goldstein's absence a large platform was placed on the lawn and the yard was attractively decorated in national colors. A table was also arranged and forty guests sat down to dinner. Miss Goldstein received many gifts. After the repast there were games, speeches and dancing.

The guests included the following: The Misses Pauline Goldstein, Fannie Jacobowitz, Jennie Goldberg, Pauline Rubin, Anna Stern, Anna Garfinkle, Freida Aronowitz, of New York; Ida Klein, of Republic, Pa.; Mamie Klein, of Brooklyn; Jennie and Gertrude Goldberger and Fannie Goldberger, of Yonkers; Lena Bender, Ida Bulk, Ida Velinsky, Anna, Lena and Gusta Zwick, Anna Freedman, Dorothy Augenblick, Lena, Carrie and Fannie Goldstein and Mrs. Jennie Goldstein, of Plainfield; Dr. Carl Weiser, of Orange; Samuel Klein, Fred Wahlet, William Teifenwerth, of Brooklyn; Harry Goldstein, of the Bronx; Eddie Goldberger, of Yonkers; Harry Freedman, Morris Velinsky, Charles and Morris Goldstein, of Plainfield.

TWELVE DELINQUENTS.

Collector George Brown, of the borough, makes the report today that the work in connection with the collection of delinquent poll taxes has been about completed by Marshal George Pope. Only twelve delinquents remain out of a possible three hundred.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

To the officers and members of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage and its branches: Many statements not only unfair to the suffrage workers of this State, but misleading as to the facts they purport to give, having recently been made by persons representing your association, either in public meeting or in the press, we desire to take this method of asking whether the executive board of your organization authorizes such unfair statements as those detailed and replied to below. Because we deprecate the practice of Mrs. G. D. Goodwin, Miss Mary McKeon, Miss R. A. Lawrence and others of attributing all sorts of inflammatory statements to a "leading Suffragist," "a prominent suffrage worker," etc., at least one name is attached to each statement mentioned below, although they have all been repeated many times by many anti-suffrage speakers in many part of the State.

1. Suffragists are working for Feminism and Socialism—

Speaking before the Legislature last winter and also at meetings in Trenton, Elizabeth, Plainfield and other places, Mrs. O. D. Oliphant stated that, "In a list of publications issued by the National Suffrage Association an article entitled 'Bondwomen,' by Dora Marsden, is specially recommended for reading by being given three stars of praise, this being the highest number of stars of praise given to any publication." She went on to say that "Bondwomen" advocated economic independence for wives and mothers as well as for other women, making the deduction that Suffragists favor children being raised in institutions while their mothers follow business or professional careers.

As a matter of fact the list of publications referred to is not published by the National Suffrage Association, but by the College Equal Suffrage League (which is plainly stated on its cover) and was compiled at the request of the president of the league who is also president of Bryn Mawr College, Miss M. Carey Thomas. It is not a list of recommended suffrage literature, but a bibliography including all books, plays, pamphlets and magazine articles contained in the Congressional Library of the United States in Washington which refer in any way to the advancement of women, and contains practically everything written on both sides of the woman question from Plato's Republic, 380 B. C. to the present day.

From one to seven stars appear before all books which, in the opinion of the editor, state the case they present in a clear and lucid manner. Over seventy books mentioned in this bibliography are given from four to seven stars.

Mrs. Oliphant also quoted extensively from W. L. George, blandly ignoring the fact that both he and Miss Marsden are Anti-Suffragists. They are anarchists and are as much opposed to votes for men as to votes for women. Miss Emma Goldman is another distinguished Anti-Suffragist in the same class, but it would be fairer to hold the Anti-Suffragists responsible for their utterances than it is to connect the Suffragists with them, for all three of them have both written and spoken against woman suffrage.

In her report at the annual meeting of the Anti-Suffrage Association, in Trenton, May 11, Mrs. Lowthorp, State chairman of literature, said, as quoted in the papers:

"Now comes the demand for the ballot, for the right to sit on juries, for the right to do military duty, for the right to hasten the day of Socialism if they can, the right, if they see fit, to overthrow the system of marriage and abolish the home as it now stands and the family as a unit in the community. That in 1914 is the demand of a growing faction of the suffrage party. That is what the much-used word 'Feminism' means. There is no getting away from the fact that woman suffrage and Socialism are indissolubly linked. It is a state of affairs recognized by every serious student of political and social conditions today. All Socialists favor woman suffrage because they know what it means to their cause."

These are very sweeping assertions. The truth is that no faction of any of the suffrage organizations is working for such ends, or has the slightest desire or wish for such social changes. The fact that thousands of women have been voting for from twenty to forty years in the Western States and that no such evil results have been brought about would go far to convince "serious students" that they are not the natural results of votes for women.

Many Socialists are in favor of women suffrage, as are also many Republicans, Democrats, Progressives and Prohibitionists. Woman suffrage is not the special property of any political party. It is also a fact that many Socialists are not in favor of votes for women because the record of the women voters shows that they are not apt to be ultra-conservative rather than radical. In the elections of 1912, Milwaukee elected seven Socialist candidates, the highest number elected in any American city, and also gave the largest majority against woman suffrage of any city voting on the question.

2. Married women will lose their present privileges when they get the vote—

Mrs. A. F. Jamieson, in an Anti-Suffrage symposium recently published in the Newark Evening News, stated that married women will lose the privileges which the law gives them when they get the political rights they are seeking, and added that an amendment had been made to the suffrage bill in New York State last year removing all special privileges from married women in the event of their obtaining the suffrage. She went on to say that if the Suffragists knew anything of legislative procedure they would know that an amendment would be passed before the main motion to which it had been moved.

In regard to this, Mrs. Catt, who is in charge of the legislative activities of the Suffragists in New York State, writes:

"A bill was introduced by an Anti-Suffrage member to the effect stated, viz., to remove all the so-called privileges of the married women after the suffrage bill was passed. It was of course, lost in committee, and was only a piece of bluff. N. B. It was a separate bill and not an amendment, so that the reflection upon women's lack of knowledge of legislative procedure was without foundation."

3. Mormon support—

Speaking at Jobstown a few weeks ago, Mrs. Oliphant said it was no wonder that Suffragists were hopeful of accomplishing a good deal at Washington, as they could count upon the votes of "thirty-two Senators elected by the Mormon votes of the equal suffrage States." Rather peculiar figures, considering that women only have a voice in the election of Senators in nine States, with two Senators apiece. And since when have California, Colorado and Kansas, to name the three largest equal suffrage States, been considered Mormon States?

4. Most women are opposed to suffrage—

Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Breese and others have repeatedly stated that only ten per cent. of the women of the country want the vote and that ninety per cent. are opposed to woman suffrage.

The dictionaries define a Suffragist as one who either has or desires to obtain the right to vote. Over four million women are now entitled to vote for President of the United States. These women constitute twenty per cent. of the women of the country of voting age, and if we add to them the millions of enrolled Suffragists in the non-suffrage States, thirty to thirty-five per cent. will be a modest estimate of the woman Suffragists of the country.

Mrs. Oliphant stated at Jobstown, after I had given out statistics of suffrage growth in New Jersey, that having written to our association and asked the number of its members, and having received no reply, she intended to go on quoting the figures which I had stated were incorrect. I have had the files in our office searched and there is no such letter among them. Miss Laura Osgood, of the Plainfield Anti-Suffrage organization, asked me for figures as to our membership which I gave here several months ago. I am glad to state for the benefit of Mrs. Oliphant that we now have over thirteen thousand members, organizations covering ninety cities and towns and enrolled Suffragists in over four thousand cities, towns, townships and boroughs throughout the State. These figures do not include the fifty or more branches of the Women's Political Union of New Jersey, or the Equal Franchise Society with thousands of members.

MRS. E. F. FEICKERT,
President N. J. Woman Suffrage Association.

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

In view of the discussion now going on in Plainfield concerning the hours of closing business houses, the following quoted from this week's "Survey" seems apropos. I have never read anything on the subject so clear and convincing and would suggest that everyone interested in the matter give it their thoughtful consideration.

REV. CORTLANDT H. MALLERY.

An employer's reasons for closing evenings:

Although in New York, Chicago and Philadelphia some retail stores employing only men close at 6 p. m. on Saturday—at 1 o'clock in summer—an early closing movement for men is practically unknown in smaller cities. In fact, many of them have still to achieve a free Saturday evening for women.

In Buffalo, however, with an alert Consumers' League and an active union of retail clerks, the Saturday half holiday for women has been achieved. And now C. A. Weed & Company, men's clothiers employing only men, have begun closing at 6 o'clock on Saturday. Their reasons for it, as given in display advertisements in the Buffalo newspapers, make interesting reading. "No man has a right to climb to success over his brother's bones," they say.

"The heads of this firm, who engage in no strenuous labor but merely oversee the work of others, are themselves weary and mentally tired at 6 o'clock. What, then, must be the condition of the men who do the work? Personal observation has proved to us that they are close to the point of exhaustion, and when that point is passed, the work of the doctor begins.

"Employers, therefore, are in large measure responsible for many of the physical ills and resultant misfortunes of their employes. Human nature can stand just so much. When it is pushed to the extreme, it balks. And as a rule when employes get sick, they not only lose their salaries but use up their surplus in medicines.

"The actual responsibility of the employer may cease with the payment of salaries, but his moral obligations to those who help him succeed include not only sanitary work conditions but such working hours as the human system can stand comfortably.

"It is almost impossible to estimate the amount of good that would come from a general 6 o'clock closing movement. We ourselves feel so keenly on the subject and we are so confident we are doing right that nothing on earth can pry open our doors after 6 o'clock Saturday night, no matter if every other retail clothing establishment in Buffalo keeps open till midnight and does a land-office business."

Editor Plaineld Daily Press:

The denials from Suffragists of any connection between suffrage and Socialism are often and loudly heard, despite the fact, among other proofs, that Socialists work for suffrage and march in suffrage parades, on one occasion, at least, bearing a banner inscribed "One Million Socialists Work and Vote for Woman Suffrage."

This banner was photographed in the parade in Washington, March 3, 1913, and the photograph is retained as undeniable evidence of its presence there.

Today we are enlightened by a list of a few of the changes to be demanded in the State Constitution, as specified by the New York State Socialists, in convention at Rochester.

Among these is "Woman suffrage and the right of every inhabitant to suffrage after one year's residence in this country, and the declaration of his intention to become a citizen."

Other demands—and be it remembered they are to be made by the advocates and promoters of woman suffrage—are as follows:

"Adoption of the initiative, referendum and recall, including the recall of judges."

These are "but a few of the demands to be made," but surely they will suffice to prove the class of companions we find at every turn associated with "votes for women."

FRENCH NATIONAL HOLIDAY.

Paris, July 14—The French national fete, marking the anniversary of the fall of the Bastile, was celebrated today throughout the country in the traditional manner. As in former years the leading event of the day was the grand military review at Longchamps, which was attended by President Poincare and the ministers of State. All the theatres of Paris gave free performances this afternoon, and there were concerts in all the parks. Under the auspices of the patriotic organizations the Strausbourg statue in the Place de la Concorde and other national memorials in the capitol were decorated with flowers.

BUILDING M'G'RS IN SESSION.

Duluth, Minn., July 14—Duluth is entertaining for three days the seventh annual national convention of building managers. Owners and superintendents of large buildings in many of the leading cities of the country are in attendance. The subjects scheduled for discussion at the convention include efficiency in office buildings, the care of apartment buildings, office building bonds, income tax law, fire prevention, workingmen's compensation and the valuation of properties.

MEDAL OF HONOR MEN.

Atlantic City, July 14—One of the most notable gatherings of men seen at this resort in a long time—men who have been officially recognized by Congress for acts of heroism during the Civil War, the Spanish War and at other times—assembled here today for the opening session of the twenty-fourth annual convention of the Army and Navy Medal of Honor Legion. Tomorrow, officers will be elected, and there will be a banquet, at which several prominent military and naval men will be among the speakers.

MRS. WAKEFIELD'S 2ND TRIAL.

New Haven, Conn., July 14—The case of Mrs. Bessie Wakefield, charged with the murder of her husband, William O. Wakefield, came up for its second trial in the Criminal Superior Court here today. At her previous trial, Mrs. Wakefield was convicted of first degree murder and was sentenced to die on March 4 last, with James Plew, who was adjudged guilty of Wakefield's murder. Plew was executed, but the Supreme Court granted the appeal of Mrs. Wakefield for a new trial.

ALIEINST CONGRESS IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Ill., July 14—Mental diseases in all their various phases are to be discussed at a congress of alienists and neurologists which assembled in this city today under the auspices of the Chicago Medical Society. The congress will continue four days. The attendance embraces delegates appointed by the governors of nearly all the States, among them being many medical men of national reputation.

GOOD GAME FOR LOCAL FANS PROMISED NEXT SUNDAY

The St. Anthony's baseball team, of Perth Amboy, will be the attraction at the Woodland avenue field next Sunday afternoon. Manager McDonough will have practically the same lineup as last Sunday, but will send his team out for revenge for the defeat the locals received when these teams met earlier in the season.

The local nine has been greatly strengthened since then and will give the visitors a good run for the victory. The local fans can be sure of as good a game as was put up last Sunday.

CANADIANS TO PLAY MONROE.

The "Canadian" A. C. baseball team, a newly organized club of the borough, will play the Monroe avenue team on the latter's grounds next Saturday afternoon. Manager Carol Taylor is arranging a fine schedule for the team, which includes several trips out of town. He would like to hear from managers of local independent teams.

GEORGE ORTLIEB TO PLAY WITH ASBURY PARK TEAM

George "Germany" Ortleib, of Westfield, one of the best known baseball players in this vicinity, has signed a contract to play with Andy Coakley's Asbury Park team in the Atlantic League. Coakley has seen Ortleib perform on many occasions and thinks that he has the goods in him.

Ortleib has played with several of the teams around here, having pitched for Plainfield, Westfield and Dunellen. Last Saturday he pitched for Westfield against the Pets, but was given poor support and lost. Ortleib has wanted to play with a league team for some time, but has had a hard time signing. He will join the "Sea Gulls" some time this week.

WHAT A NEWARK WRITER THINKS OF FIVE-MILER

The Newark Evening News has the following to say of Robert Singerling, winner of the five-mile road race held in connection with the Parker Field meet here on July 4:

"If Robert Singerling, of this city, continues to improve as a long-distance runner at the pace that has marked his recent advancement, the Tabs' athlete will soon attract wide attention. He is serious about his future, too, and that has accounted for his present success. Singerling, however, is but a youngster and since athletic sharps have advised boys not to go too deeply into distance work, lest it sap their strength too soon, Robert may ease off real heavy work for a season or so. The Newarker displayed a flash of his speed in the five-mile road race July 4 at Plainfield, which he won by such a wide margin that he was dressed in his street clothes and watching at the finish when the second and third men came home.

SWIM RECORD FOR SCHOOLGIRL.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—Miss Louise Debus, a local High School girl, swimming under the auspices of the Philadelphia Turngemende, Sunday, broke the best authentic record for women over the five-mile course in the Schuylkill River. Miss Debus covered the distance, which is in dead water, in two hours and forty-eight minutes. She used the double over-arm stroke until the finish, when she spurted for one-quarter mile with the crawl stroke. Ten-year old Florence McLoughlin swam nine and a half miles in the Delaware River, Sunday, in three hours, twenty-two minutes and twenty-five seconds. She used the under-arm side and over-arm stroke.

CARPENTIER FAVORED.

London July 14.—With the arrival in London yesterday of the first of ten special excursions from Paris, bringing French men and women, all eager to back their idol, Georges Carpentier, additional stimulus was given to the sale of seats for the white heavyweight championship contest at Olympia, Thursday night, and odds dropped from even money to 5 to 4 with Gunboat Smith on the short end.

NEW DIRT TRACK RECORD.

Portland, Ore., July 14.—Percy F. Barnes, of Seattle, driving in the Rose City Speedway Automobile races, made a new world's record for twenty-five miles, Sunday, over a dirt track, doing the distance in 22 minutes 7 1-5 seconds. The former record, 22 minutes 26 3-5 seconds, was made by Disbrow at San Jose dirt track April 14, 1912.

HELD ANNUAL OUTING AND ATHLETIC MEET

Jefferson Democratic Club Enjoy Open Air Party Sunday at Scotch Plains.

The first annual outing of the Jefferson Democratic Club was held at Scotch Plains, Sunday afternoon and evening. About a hundred members and friends of the organization attended and a fine time was enjoyed by all. A picnic dinner was served. During the afternoon an athletic meet was conducted and many of the men took part. The feature of the day was a tug-of-war between the married and the single men, which proved to be both exciting and close. The single men pulled the benedicts over the line the first time, but lost out on the second tug. The deciding tug lasted for several minutes and it was only after constant pulling that the single men won. Ten teams competed in the quoit contest.

The married men were easily victorious in the baseball game that proved to be a comedy of errors. J. H. Flynn, won a panama hat for the most number of points scored in the meet. The events, the winners and prizes follow:

440-yard dash (open)—First, F. Laskoski; second, W. Sutton; prize, box of cigars. Shot put (open)—First, M. Griffin; second, D. Scott; prize, razor. Running broad jump (closed)—First, P. Culliney; second, B. Scott; prize, pair of shoes. Quoits (closed)—First, Shea and Laskoski; second, Strapp and F. Cullen. Running hop, step and jump (open)—First, J. Cullen; second, Newman, of Jersey City; prize, box of cigars. 100-yard dash (open)—First, F. McElhone; second, W. Sutton; prize, six pair of hose. Standing hop, step and jump—First, M. O'Connor; second, E. Strapp; prize, silk necktie.

The tug-of-war teams were composed of the following men: Married, Coleman, anchor; T. McDonald, E. Strapp, P. McCloskey; single, M. Griffin, anchor; M. O'Connor, P. Driscoll and F. McElhone.

ROD AND REEL

Wecquahic Park Lake, Newark, is a popular fishing ground at present. The mess that three men landed there yesterday amounted to one bass, weighing two and one-half pounds, six catfish and six eels.

Large sea bass are plentiful at the Cholera fishing banks. One angler landed twenty-five in one day, some of them weighing as much as four pounds.

Catfish and sunfish are the main biters at Lake Hopatcong at the present time. Very few large chatches have been recorded.

A party of men went out in a boat at Morgan Station, Sunday, and made a nice catch of weakfish. They had nineteen big ones to their credit as well as some blue claw crabs.

Good weafishing reports continue to come from Raritan Bay points. Several big catches have been made there recently. Practically all of the fish bite on the last half of the flood tide There is very little doing on the ebb tide, and it is almost a waste of time to fish before the young flood starts in. Shedder crabs are giving the best results.

Fishing for tarpon, striped bass, channel bass and other big game fish has its peculiarities as well as uncertainties. Often the tarpon fishermen are compelled to wait around for weeks in Florida before they can induce the fish to bite, and frequently some newcomer will have the luck to hook into one of the big fish almost the first day he arrives.

LOCAL ANGLERS LANDED BIG CATCH OF WEAKFISH

A local fishing party, composed of Edward Bayer, "Rube" Vickers, Edward Totten, Frank Sprague and Raymond Terry, made a big catch of weakfish at Princess Bay over the week-end. One of the party had a new rod in his possession and had the misfortune to lose it on his first trip.

While angling for the weaks he hooked a shark estimated to have weighed in the vicinity of 200 pounds and after considerable reconnoitering was forced to relinquish his hold on the rod. The party found weakfish running well off the Staten Island shore and were well pleased with the results of their day's outing.

LOCAL COPS AT ELIZABETH.

The local policeman's baseball team will go to Elizabeth tomorrow afternoon by automobile to play the team of that place. This is the second game between these teams, the first one going to the Elizabethans by a large score. The locals are confident of victory tomorrow and are sure that a third game will be necessary to decide the series.

Y. M. H. A. TO PLAY PASSAIC.

The Plainfield Y. M. H. A. baseball team will play the Passaic Y. M. H. A. team at that place next Sunday. The local aggregation, under the name of the Plainfield A. A., has been playing good ball this year and has downed some of the fast teams in this vicinity. They will probably make the trip by automobiles.

BIG GAME IN CAPITAL.

Washington, July 14.—The plan to hold the next football game between West Point and Annapolis on polo field in Potomac Park, Washington, has been given new impetus by the approval of Secretary of War Garrison and the prospects is now bright for the staging of the big game in the capital.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Since it became known that Councilman Cornelius VanHerwerden would not be a candidate for re-nomination for the office he now holds in the Second Ward, three prominent men have been mentioned for the honors among the Republicans of that ward, namely, J. Henry Crane, of East Fifth street; Charles W. Eoff, of Franklin place, and Harry C. Runyon, of the same street. Mr. Crane has announced that he is "in the hands of his friends." He is a lawyer by profession and associated with the activities of the First Baptist church. Mr. Runyon has not fully considered the question, and declined to make a statement at this time. He is also a lawyer, a member of the Jr. O. U. A. M., and the Park Avenue Baptist church. Mr. Eoff is a retired business man and is of the independent type of Republican. He is well versed in civic matters and is in a position to give the necessary time to fill the office.

City Judge William J. DeMeza declares that he has no intention of seeking an Assembly nomination this fall. The rumor reached Plainfield from the county seat, which by the way, is the source of much political gossip just now, but Judge DeMeza declines to enter the race.

Patrick J. Melvin, of East Second street, this morning announced his candidacy for the councilmanic nomination in the First Ward this fall on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Melvin is a well known business man of the city, and has lived in Plainfield practically all his life. He is well versed on civic matters and in all probability will be endorsed for the position he seeks by his party.

The Democratic Club is arranging for its next meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, when the preliminary plans for the fall campaign as discussed at the last session will be considered at length. The members of the club are anxious for a full attendance at that time.

DR. CARMAN MUST WAIVE IMMUNITY

To Take Stand Before Grand Jury This Week.

HINT AT CONCEALING CRIME

Freeport, N. Y., July 14.—If Dr. Carman takes the stand before the grand jury on Wednesday or Thursday he will be asked first to sign a waiver of immunity.

Before Mrs. Ida Powell, sister of Dr. Carman, takes the stand before the grand jury, she will be asked to sign a similar waiver.

District Attorney Smith decided upon these two moves after he had spent a long time considering his theory of the crime and the lack of knowledge displayed at the coroner's inquest by the husband and sister of Mrs. Florence Carman, now in Mineola jail accused of having murdered Mrs. Louise Bailey.

The district attorney's decision to ask for these waivers was formed after a study of the statutes which hold that a person who conceals a crime or refuses to testify fully as to his knowledge of a crime is guilty in the same degree as the active criminal. The application of the law shows that if Mrs. Carman is being shielded from the consequences of the murder, which the state alleges she committed, the person who is shielding her is as guilty of the crime as she is.

Auto New Clew.

Information concerning the direction of an automobile ride that Dr. Carman took alone on the night of the murder was sought eagerly by District Attorney Smith. In the scurry of the police after they had been called into the case the movements of Dr. Carman at the time seemed to have escaped them.

Now it is established that at 11 o'clock that night, while most of the detectives were following the bloodhounds sent on the trail of a supposed fugitive, who was believed to be the slayer, Dr. Carman took his automobile out alone.

He had previously looked well to its mechanism, being particular about its lights, before making his run. Where he went is one of the mysteries that, linked together, make the killing of Mrs. Bailey most difficult of solution. It had been the general belief that Dr. Carman's first auto ride after the shooting was taken on the following morning. In the extensive examination he has undergone he has denied, among other things, that he took a 38 caliber revolver from the house with him when he took that ride.

Mr. Smith said that he had decided definitely to call Mrs. Carman as a witness before the grand jury, if the jurors cared to hear her story. If she was heard, he said, it would not be before Thursday. She would have to waive immunity before testifying.

Counts on Maid's Story.

In the so called "amplifications" of the story of Celia Coleman, the kitchen maid in the home of Dr. Edwin Carman, District Attorney Smith has found, he believes, the most effective means of clearing up the hazy circumstances surrounding the murder of Mrs. Bailey.

From the pressure that can be brought to bear, with new details from the negro girl's narrative, the prosecutor thinks that a new statement may be forthcoming from Dr. Carman and possibly from his wife, Mrs. Florence Carman, now in the county jail at Mineola on the charge of causing the death of Mrs. Bailey in the doctor's office on the evening of June 30.

MRS. NELMS MAKES APPEAL.

Asks Shriners and Clubwomen to Find Her Daughters.

Atlanta, Ga., July 14.—In her search for her two missing daughters, Mrs. Eloise Dennis and Miss Beatrice Nelms, Mrs. W. J. Nelms issued appeals to Shriners and clubwomen to make a nation wide search for them. Their father was a Shriner.

That Attorney Innes of Portland, Me., got money from Mrs. Dennis under a promise of marriage was charged by Mrs. Nelms. She said Innes had a wife living and deserted Mrs. Dennis, leaving her penniless.

MISS VAIL WEDS RUSSELL HUSTON

Couple Quietly Married This Afternoon by Rev. J. Y. Broek.

Miss Anna Dunham Vail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Vail, of Elmwood place, was quietly wedded this afternoon to Russell C. Huston, son of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Huston, of East Seventh street, by Rev. John Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church, at the home of the officiating clergyman. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Vail, and Miss Mildred Lewin, while the groom was attended by his brother, David B. Huston, and Howard C. Hoff. The bride was dressed in a white broadcloth traveling gown and wore a white picture hat to match. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, which was attended by only members of the immediate family.

After a honeymoon through Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Huston will reside at 430 East Seventh street. The bride was formerly employed by the Spicer Manufacturing Company, while Mr. Huston holds a responsible position with the First National Bank.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS MARY CAMPBELL

Rev. and Mrs. Richard T. Campbell, of Rockview avenue, North Plainfield, announced today the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Waugh Campbell, to Charles Ernest Cooke, of Notting Hill, Belfast, Ireland. The announcement comes as the culmination of a brief courtship started when Mr. Cooke stopped off in this city in May while on a business trip around the world. He left for his home in Belfast last month, the recent trip being his first to America.

Although no definite date has been set for the wedding it was said at the Campbel home this afternoon that it would take place at the North Plainfield home in the spring. The couple will reside in Belfast where the groom is engaged in business.

ASSAULT ON CAPITAL PLANNED BY REBELS

Generals Are Now Preparing For Final Battle.

El Paso, July 14.—Fighting is going on at San Luis Potosi, capital of the Mexican state of the same name. In other parts of Mexico perfect quiet remains, according to advices to Constitutionalist headquarters here. The evacuation of Guaymas, Sonora's chief seaport, reported last week by the Constitutionalists as an accomplished fact, is reported again as under way. Huerta troops are said to be shipping on transports for movement to Mexico City to help the government to make a last stand against the rebel forces from the north.

Pancho Villa and his troops are still in the northern part of Mexico, inactive, waiting it is expected for the men to recuperate and for Carranza to supply them with ammunition. General Alvaro Obregon and his rebel troops are reported resting at Guadalajara, after their victory over the federals in the Jalisco capital.

The explanation is that Villa and Obregon will rest while General Gonzales and his force is attacking San Luis Potosi. Meantime ammunition will be imported by Carranza. With the fall of San Luis Potosi, Villa is to return south with his forces, and Obregon is to begin moving south also from Guadalajara. The three armies, commanded by Gonzales, Villa and Obregon, are then to advance in a fanlight formation against Mexico City. There they expect the Huerta troops to make their final stand at Queratare or Celaya, although the rebel commanders have been advised that Huerta is making heroic preparations to defend Mexico City. Mines are being placed in every direction around the Mexican capital, and artillery is being placed in advantageous positions also.

104 AT MEDICINE HAT.

Home of Cold Weather Experiences Quite Some Heat.

Chicago, July 14.—The west and middle west have encountered another day of temperatures reaching toward 100. Reports showed three deaths due to the Sunday heat wave in the Mississippi valley and a number of drownings. Medicine Hat, home of the coldest weather, saw the mercury ascend to 104, and twelve cities sweltered at 100 or above. In fifty-six cities the temperature was above 90.

Kansas was the heat center. Concordia reported 108 degrees, Clay Center 106, and throughout the state temperatures of more than 100 were general.

WILL PROSECUTE N. H. DIRECTORS

Matter Now In Hands of Attorney General McReynolds.

BOARD'S NEGLECT CRIMINAL

"Former Management of the Road the Most Glaring Instance of Maladministration," Says Report of Interstate Commerce Commission.

CONDEMNED ACTS OF NEW HAVEN BOARD.

The interstate commerce commission in its report of its investigation of the financial transactions of the New Haven railroad finds:

That the conduct of the road's financial operations presents "one of the most glaring instances of maladministration in all the history of American railroading."

That this maladministration resulted in an absolute loss of $65,871,299.

That the road's directors were guilty of gross dereliction of duty and of a breach of trust that was "morally wrong and criminal in its fruits."

That the downward movement of Boston and Maine stock did not begin until the Mellen-Morgan-Rockefeller management was forced upon it.

Washington, July 14.—In one of the hardest reports ever handed down by a government bureau the interstate commerce commission held the directors of the old management of the New Haven railroad criminally negligent and subject to prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust and other laws.

The commission has put the matter of criminal proceedings to Attorney General McReynolds by referring to him a complete record of the testimony taken before the committee. The commission also has called the attention of Attorney Whitman and the prosecuting officers in Massachusetts and Rhode Island to possible violations of state laws.

The commission estimates that between $70,000,000 and $90,000,000 has been lost to the New Haven stockholders through waste and impairment of values under the old management. It expresses the opinion that a part at least of this amount should be recovered from the individual directors and others.

"The result of our research into the financial workings of the former management of the New Haven," says the report, "has been to disclose one of the most glaring instances of maladministration revealed in all the history of American railroads."

The commission finds that the late J. P. Morgan and Charles H. Mellen dominated the affairs of the New Haven road and that the other members of the board of directors subordinated themselves to the will of these two. The commission refers repeatedly, however, to the New Haven directorate and officers as the "Mellen-Morgan Rockefeller management."

Directors Involved.

The New Haven directorate so harshly attacked by the commission was made up as follows:

William Rockefeller, Charles F. Booker, Edwin Milner, William Skinner, D. Newton Barnes, Charles S. Mellen, Robert W. Taft, James S. Elton, James S. Hemingway, A. Heaton Robertson, Frederick P. Brewster, Henry K. McHarg, Alexander Cochrane, John L. Billard, George F. Baker, T. Dewitt Cuyler, Theodore N. Vail, Edward Milligan, Francis H. Maxwell, Sidney W. Winslow, Samuel Rea, Laurence Minot, Morton F. Plant, D. M. Warner, the late J. P. Morgan and John D. Pratt.

Of the individual responsibility of the New Haven directors the commission's report says:

"It is inconceivable that these wrongs could have gone on without interference if the members of the board of directors had been true to the faith they owed the stockholders. A number of directors appear in many instances to have voted without knowledge and to have approved the expenditure of many millions without information. According to testimony, they merely approved what had been done by some committee or by some officer of the company. The directors' minutes reveal that it was largely a body of ratification and not authorization, which the law intended a board of directors should be. None of the directors would have been as careless in the handling of his own money as the evidence demonstrates they were with the money of other people. The directors actively or passively acquiesced in the efforts of the Mellen-Morgan-Rockefeller regime to extend the domination of this corporation over the whole transportation field in New England.

"If these directors who were faithless to their stewardship were held responsible in the courts and at the bar of public opinion for the failure to do those things they should have done the lesson to directors who do not direct would be very salutary."

Detroit Has $400,000 Storm.

Detroit, Mich., July 14.—Street railway service was disrupted, telephone and light wires were blown down, several buildings were destroyed by fire and police and fire signal boxes were burned out in an electrical storm which swept Detroit and vicinity, doing damage estimated at $400,000.

Certified Pure Natural Ice

Dr. W. T. Sedgwick, says:—

"The principal physiological effect of ice in water is that of a powerful and, when one is habituated to it, a most agreeable stimulus; and I have never seen or heard of any good evidence that this stimulus is harmful. On the contrary, I firmly believe that a more extensive use of ice water as a satisfying, yet harmless, beverage and stimulant, would go far to diminish in hot weather the demand for more harmful stimulants."

WILL CELEBRATE FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Jamestown, N. Y., July 14.—Elaborate preparations are being made for the celebration during the first week of August of the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the Chautauqua Assembly. The celebration will last an entire week and will be devoted largely to a review of the history of the famous movement and all that it has accomplished during the forty years of its existence. The anniversary sermon will be preached by Bishop John H. Vincent, one of the founders of the Chautauqua movement. Other speakers will be Rev. William H. Boocock, of Buffalo; Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut, of Newark, N. J., and Melville E. Stone and Edward Howard Griggs, of New York.

No other educational movement in modern times has compared in originality and in phenomenal success with that which is known as the Chautauqua Assembly. It started modestly forty years ago this summer, and for a time had its day of small things. For many years now it has been an influence of tremendous power in the education and religious life of America.

Ohio was the birthplace of the Chautauqua idea. The originators were the Rev. Dr. J. H. Vincent, who was then the Sunday-school secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and his intimate friend, Lewis Miller, a leading and wealthy citizen of Akron, O. Mr. Miller had long been an active Sunday-school worker and had used his large fortune generously for that cause. Dr. Vincent used to spend much time at Mr. Miller's house, and between them the idea of a place of summer resort of Sunday-school workers was evolved.

They wanted a sort of vacation place where work and recreation might be combined, and it was Mr. Miller who suggested the utilization of the Methodistic camp-meeting idea. Looking about for a place in which to start their work they found at Fair Point, on the western shore of Lake Chautauqua, in Western New York, what seemed to them an ideal location. The region was already noted as a somewhat popular summer resort, and had a few summer hotels and cottages. At Fair Point there was already an old-fashioned Methodist camp-meeting ground, and this the promoters of the new enterprise proceeded to utilize.

The first meetings, which were nothing more than a Sunday-school camp-meeting, in which the addresses and services were confined exclusively to Sunday-school subjects, were eminently successful. The next year measures were taken to enlarge the scope of the enterprise. The National Sunday-school Association bought the entire eighty acres at Fair Point, and immediately began to erect buildings and make other improvements. The money of Mr. Miller was liberally given for the cause and other wealthy and generous Methodists came forward with contributions.

The second year of the assembly saw an average daily attendance of nearly 6,000. On one day when President Grant visited the grounds 30,000 people were present. New features were established, such as church congress, reform council, and scientific congress. Before long the assembly was divided into several different departments, ecclesiastic, philanthropic, scientific, biblical, and Sunday-school. Representative men of all religious denominations and of many phases of intellectual thought, eminent in the pulpit, on the platform, and in educational work, were engaged year after year to lecture and to teach. From the outset in every department, and particularly in that of biblical instruction, specialists of the highest reputation were engaged. Secular instruction was not neglected and in nearly all branches pertaining to liberal education instruction was given scarcely inferior to that of the best colleges. In fact, Chautauqua very soon became more of a summer university than a mere school or assembly. It was in effect an advanced school of specialists.

In the early days of the institution the duration of annual convocation was only two weeks. Now, however, the sessions are held for two months of each year—July and August. The assembly has long since been incorporated and is managed by a board of trustees. The little village has blossomed out into a flourishing town, with many handsome public buildings, mammoth assembly halls, a notable museum, library and other features of advanced city life. The organization maintains its own great publishing plant, where newspapers and periodicals are printed and tens of thousands of text books issued for the use of Chautauqua students the world over. In late years Chautauqua assemblies, many of them rivaling the parent assembly in size and the scope of their work, have been established in every section of the country.

The North Plainfield Township Improvement Society held its monthly meeting in the rooms, last evening. Dr. Richard Moldenke was in the chair. Five names were proposed for membership to be accepted at the next meeting. After the meeting adjourned the members enjoyed an hour of old time songs rendered by Miss Nora Koons. Miss Saidie Holt presided at the piano. After the selections Miss Nora M. Koons and Miss Elsie F. Schmidt sang a duet, "Loch Lomond." Refreshments were then served by the women, after which the floor was cleared and dancing continued until a late hour.

Harold W. Schenck will be the leader of the mid-week service this evening in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church.

CHAPTER XVII.

Blackie's Donations.

"YOU must have heard some sermon," said Wallingford, smiling.

"There wasn't any sermon," denied Blackie. "There was just a plain talk from a good, strong, white haired man that I'd be proud to clink glasses with any day. He had a smile on him that would make a bulldog purr. He was a regular man, Jim; and before he got through telling that congregation what it had to do women were shedding their diamonds and men were slipping carfare into their fob pockets. They sent the subscription lists around four times, and every time it didn't foot up enough we heard from that preacher. Why, Jim, he could make you put a red band on your hat and pound a Salvation Army drum. By the way, I put you down for $1,000."

"You what?"

"One thousand bones. You'd better put it there than waste it on a bonehead waiter. You needn't look so fussed up about it either. I didn't compromise your name. I just signed you up as 'A Friend.'"

"I'm glad you feel perfectly at home with 'Friend's' money. Since you insisted on spending it, however, you might just as well have used my name so I could get the benefit of it. Why didn't you?"

"Because this is no place for a flash. I only put myself down as 'A Lay Member.'"

"Did you donate too?"

"Well, Jim, you could scarcely call it a donation. I didn't have but that $200 you gave me last night. I felt like a piker. By the way, while I think of it, you'd better hand me that $1,000 now before we spend it. I am to meet with the committee this afternoon at 3."

"Make it plain to them this afternoon," directed Wallingford. "They probably know it already. When they seem the surest of that, you suggest that if they'll be very quiet about it you think you can dig up a plan by which they can buy that property for less than $400,000."

"I just signed you up as 'A Friend.'"

* * * * * * *

Mr. Collop, a man with a perpetually upturned nose, who wore both hands in his coat pockets when he walked and in his trousers pockets when he stood still; Mr. Tunnison, a particularly bony faced man with squinty blue eyes; Mr. Peal, whose face was hidden when he opened his mouth, and Charley Jackson, all busy city and county lawmakers and guardians of the public welfare, were guests of Spender Wallingford that afternoon. For one hour they talked and laughed and told funny stories and admired Wallingford's prodigal hospitality. Suddenly in the midst of a laugh Wallingford leaned forward and said:

"Now, gentlemen, let's talk turkey. If you want me to stay here and bid in Courthouse square next Saturday I'll do it and do no other business here. If you don't, say so, and I'll look after my own affairs. This town has to pay me for stopping off here, and I'd just as lief you'd do it as anybody."

"Of course it would never do for us to give you a check that you could indorse over to the county in our presence," suggested Mr. Peal.

"Scarcely," returned Wallingford with a smile, but looking at the hissing glances of the gentlemen rather than into their eyes, which was not a comfortable sign. "You would have to give me the $220,000 in currency, which I would then deposit in any local bank you might select. Against that deposit I would draw my certified check in favor of the county for $200,000 and would accompany my bid with that certified check, as required by your well tamed county commission. It's all very simple, gentlemen."

If he had tried to be nonchalant and indifferent he was failing miserably, for there was a distinct note of eagerness in his tone. They all noticed it.

"Yes," admitted Mr. Collop, "I suppose we could go right with you to the bank and watch you deposit our money and get your certified check."

"I don't think I'd like that," objected Wallingford. "I should not care to be guarded as if I were a thief. If you propose to humiliate me by this surveillance I shall withdraw from the project entirely."

They did not like that. No reliable person in the city would lend his name to a deliberate steal of such magnitude.

"We don't question your integrity, Wallingford," hastily interposed Charley Jackson, who was distressed between shielding his own interests and protecting the feelings of the man who had given him a valuable thousand dollars. "You see, we merely don't know you. Why couldn't you make it all right by giving us some good references or guarantors?"

"Gentlemen, this style of humiliation has gone quite far enough," asserted Mr. Wallingford, with a sudden flare of indignation. "I have permitted you to insinuate against my honesty and to insult every finer feeling that I have, and all for a possible paltry $20,000. Gentlemen, I positively decline to allow you to trust me with your money. If I purchase the county courthouse for you it must be with my own funds, and you must pay me interest upon the money in addition to the bonus that I am to receive in case the deal is put entirely through."

"Oh, that won't be necessary!" Jackson hurriedly stated in the interest of peace. "We'll cook up some way to make it pleasant for you and safe for us."

"That is the last straw," declared Wallingford, now furious. "I have told you the only way in which I will purchase Courthouse square—with my own money!"

Mr. Collop cleared his already clear throat. "It seems to me that Mr. Wallingford is pursuing the only course that he could pursue after he has been so grossly insulted," he announced with much apparent relief. "I, for one, apologize and move that we allow him to conduct the negotiations in his own way."

They all gladly apologized to Mr. Wallingford and consented to allow him to furnish the money. Mr. Collop, however, with professional caution, found another topic to discuss.

"Of course Mr. Wallingford will give us a written agreement to transfer a clear title and deed for the courthouse to us upon demand, for $220,000," he remarked, as if this were a trifling detail.

Wallingford gave up in despair. "Does nobody ever take anybody's word in this town?" he disgustedly wanted to know. "Yes, I'll give you your agreement, but it will mention $225,000 and interest at 12 per cent from the time I invest my money until the deed is transferred to you!"

They beat him down to $222,000.

Wallingford was more casually interested in Blackie's church affiliations.

"Well, deacon," he pleasantly observed upon Blackie's return, "are you still enthusiastic about prefering a sacred edifice to a den of infamy on Courthouse square?"

"I'm so keen for it that I hate ragtime music," responded Blackie. "I think it's the preacher man that's got my goat. His name is Maikem, and when that gent grabs me by the hook and calls me Brother Daw I want to run out and carry a trunk for him. Am I in on this half million dollars that you're out to make?"

"It will mention $225,000 and interest."

"You're always in for some of it, aren't you?" demanded Wallingford. "I thought you said you had enough money?"

"I thought we had," returned Blackie thoughtfully, "but now I want to build a church of my own back home and hire this boy for head preacher. I'd be a better man."

"Still plenty of money in sight down there, is there?" inquired Wallingford.

"That's the least of our troubles," Blackie informed him, with an extremely worried air. "The wet blanket brigade tried to capture the convention this afternoon. They have been hearing things since the morning service, and they came back to the committee meeting with the idea that the best all their fussing would do would be to make the corrupt political thieves in this town pay more for their hive of vice. They were almost in favor of passing back the contributions, but my old pal Maikem and your Uncle Horace hurrahed awhile and got them to come on, boys. We quit, dippy with enthusiasm."

"Congratulations," said Wallingford, with a chuckle. "Blackie, do you suppose this bunch of good men would stoop to a little—er—well, say, not trickery, but diplomacy, to save Courthouse square from the hands of the wicked?"

"Well," stated Blackie slowly and weighing his words carefully, "if there's to be any dirty work you'd better fool them. Let me do it."

Spender Wallingford hired a touring car and a chauffeur for a week and put in his time entertaining Charley Jackson and his friends of the county commission and the aldermanic board, appearing as a jovial, smiling, chuckling, pink faced host of impressive appearance, attractive personality and faultless garb. There was not a man in that crowd who had not been bred in suspicion and fostered in distrust, yet by the end of the week they grew to like Wallingford as much as he disliked them.

"You ought to try it, Jim," urged Blackie as they dressed on Saturday morning. "Of course, I know myself too well to think I'll stick, but it does me a lot of good while it lasts. I'm as contented as a deaf and dumb actor playing leads in a moving picture company."

"Go to it," encouraged Wallingford, a trifle covetously. "It's the one thing I never tried, but from its effect on you I think I might like it."

The gentlemen who were to turn the courthouse into a fashionable cafe for willing workers had an early and an earnest conference with the gentleman who was to own the courthouse until after the election, and Wallingford gave them a written agreement to sell the courthouse to them on demand at a stipulated figure. Thereupon Wallingford gave them two more drinks and a cigar and excused himself, immediately afterward holding another important conference and making a visit to the bank. From there he rushed to the county auditor's office, where he displayed his certified check to Charley Jackson and his quiveringly interested colleagues, deposited his check with his sealed bid and smoked a quiet cigar while he waited the few minutes between then and 11 o'clock, at which time the bids were to be opened.

Strangely enough, Wallingford encountered no opposition from Dr. Maikem's church, which did not put in a bid at all, but there were three other offers higher than his own, it transpired at 11:05. However, there was some question as to the certification of one of the checks, and one of the offers was not made in the exact form prescribed, and the third one was not addressed to the proper authority, so Wallingford, not at all to his surprise, but somewhat to his relief, for he had suspected a trick of some sort even at the last, was announced as the lucky contestant.

Wallingford, attended by the happy gentlemen who intended to cater to the city's elite and recherche millhands, clerks and ward workers, walked across the hall to the county recorder's office, where Courthouse square was duly and formally deeded and transferred to J. Rufus Wallingford, his heirs, administrators and assigns forever.

"The buyer buys a drink," proclaimed Charley Jackson jovially, slapping the lucky purchaser with affectionate proprietorship upon the broad back. "Wallingford, I bet that's the first time you ever owned a courthouse."

"It is," admitted Wallingford, chuckling. "Get off of my property." And he bundled them into his automobile and rushed them to a barroom that they were not in the habit of patronizing. He ordered and paid for a generous array of bottles; then, excusing himself for a few minutes, he rushed back to the courthouse, where, while frantic subofficials telephoned wildly but vainly, to all Charley Jackson's usual haunts, the courthouse fancier duly, formally and firmly deeded and transferred Courthouse square to the Rev. Maikem's church, its heirs, administrators and assigns forever.

The ecstatic Blackie Daw was the most interested witness to this commendable transaction, and to him Wallingford delivered the good deed.

"Hustle right down with this and get the balance of the money," he crisply directed. "Meanwhile I'll go up to the hotel and settle our bill. Then I'll meet you in the back room of that delirium tremens factory across from the depot. It won't be safe to stay in this town when our uplift work is known."

"What's the matter with this town that you want to leave it so quick?" demanded Blackie. "You're not afraid of that bunch of pikers I hope. They're afraid to kill you for fear that they might lose the election. I'm going to stay and go to church tomorrow. Why, Jim, they're arranging a special service on account of this, and you'll never hear such music in a thousand years on Broadway. I look for them to burst the pipe organ."

"Excuse me," laughed Wallingford, with a shake of his head. "I don't like Josef's cooking any more. Hurry on with that document. We want that $175,000. We may need it to get out of jail."

Blackie, already started, stopped abruptly. "There isn't anything they could pinch us for, is there, Jim? I wouldn't like to be arrested in this town."

"Rest easy," chuckled Wallingford. "The only thing they could turn the key on us for would be general principles, and we haven't many of them."

"There's no way they could invalidate this deed, is there, or make it look shady? I wouldn't like that in this town."

"It's as clean as a trousseau," Wallingford reassured him. "The agreement I gave Jackson's crowd this morning was antedated by the one I gave your committee, and besides, I wrote it myself. It mentions no consideration whatever."

Wallingford was strapping the last piece of luggage when Blackie returned, his face beaming with beatific happiness.

"Jimmy, we've turned the best trick of our lives!" he exulted, shaking Wallingford's hand in the vigor of emotional joy. "I didn't have time to consult you, but the idea was so big that I knew you'd be in with it. We don't have a chance like this every day, Jim, so I grabbed it while it was hot. I donated the whole kitty to the building fund."

Wallingford sat down. "Will you say that louder?" he demanded. "I'm a little feeble."

"I just told them to keep the change," said Blackie, with a wave of his hand. "Of course I made the donation in your name and mine, both. There was no need of keeping under cover any more, now that it's all over. You should have seen Colonel Maikem. He nearly did a head spin. You know what he did, Jim? He just blinked his eyes a minute, and then, all at once, he slipped down, real quiet, by a chair," and Blackie hastily wiped his eyes and looked at his handkerchief in surprise.

"Oh, I forgot!" continued Blackie, reaching in his pocket. "They compelled me to take back $15,000 to cover expenses. I donated my half to the building fund in the name of Violet Bonnie, but here's yours."

Wallingford looked at him in stupefaction as he mechanically took the check; then he started laughing.

"I've a big notion to go to church with you tomorrow," he said.

By Alice Gibson

8252

A simple one-piece dress is shown in No. 8252. It displays, however, a number of the latest style features, among them a novel collar and raglan sleeve; the skirt is plaited in at the top with narrow stitched tucks. It is an excellent model for crepe, ratine, flowered voile or any of the other novelty cottons. To have collar, cuffs and belt of a contrasting color or material would be attractive: for instance, if a flowered crepe is used in the frock, these may be of plain voile in a color that repeats the predominant note in the figure. These cottons average 38 to 40 inches in width and are priced from about 50 cents a yard and up. To copy this design in size 36, 5½ yards of 36-inch material is required.

Pattern comes in seven sizes, 34 to 46.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

VARIETY WITH LETTUCE.

LETTUCE may be used in a great variety of ways other than in salads. It may be cooked and served as an entree if preferred. Do not throw away the large green leaves of lettuce. They may be used, shredded, in a salad, as a garnish, in a vegetable soup or boiled, and hashed with spinach or dandelion greens.

Novel Recipe.

Lettuce Salad.—Cut off the stalks from two heads of lettuce, pick off all the decayed leaves, break the tender green leaves apart one by one and remove the thick veins; put the lettuce into cold water, rinse well and lay it in ice water for one-half hour. Shortly before serving drain the lettuce in a colander; then put it in a napkin, shake well and lay it in a salad dish. Next prepare the following salad dressing: For two large heads of salad put six tablespoonfuls of oil in a small bowl, add one teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of white pepper and six tablespoonfuls of white vinegar; stir this to a creamy sauce, pour it over the lettuce, sprinkle over a little shaved ice and serve.

Good Picnic Sandwiches.

Lettuce and Chopped Ham Sandwiches.—Pound half a cupful each of chopped ham and chicken or veal and ham; add two teaspoonfuls celery salt, half teaspoonful paprika, a teaspoonful anchovy paste and four tablespoonfuls mayonnaise. Mix thoroughly. Cut crust from slices of stale bread, spread with butter lightly, then with the meat preparation. Have ready some heart of lettuce leaves seasoned with French dressing. Put one leaf on a slice of the prepared bread. Cover lettuce with second slice of prepared bread. Press together and serve at once.

Stewed Lettuce.—Trim off the outside leaves of some heads of lettuce, blanch in boiling water, rinse in cold water and tie together in pairs, the lettuce tops together. Line a saucepan with buttered paper, put in the lettuces with a few herbs, a half cupful of chopped onions, season and cover with stock. When boiling reduce the heat and let the whole simmer for two hours. Now take out the lettuces, untie and place on a hot dish. Reduce the liquor in which they were cooked, strain through a sieve and pour over. Serve hot.

Oh, Such Dreams as They Were!

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Bad Dreams That Happen Under Bedclothes.

DADDY had always told both Jack and Evelyn that they must never put the sheets or blankets over their heads after they went to bed, for it was very dangerous, and they might get suffocated in their sleep that way.

He had heard a story about a little child who really did have a pretty bad time of it once just because she had the habit of covering up her head after she went to bed and then falling asleep that way.

"You know, children, I have always told you how dangerous I thought it was to cover up your heads in bed?" said daddy.

"Yes," both the children quickly replied.

"Well," continued he, "today I was told a story which I certainly must tell to you.

"There was once a little girl who used to cover her head when she went to bed. Her daddy had often told her that he thought it was very dangerous and that people could get into the habit of doing it.

"She used to do it a great deal, but after she got to sleep at night her daddy would always pull the sheets off her head.

"And then came the dreams. Oh, such dreams as they were! Awful creatures came to her, shook their fists and told her what a bad little girl she was. She was so frightened, and she felt as if she had been glued to something and could not run away from the awful creatures.

"Then the creatures began playing ball with her, and she could hardly catch her breath, they seemed to be throwing her so very, very quickly.

"Oh, it got to be really dreadful! The awful creatures did just as they wanted with her. They played ball with her, and she always seemed to be underneath, having all the breath knocked out of her body and panting for breath without being able to help herself, when suddenly a lovely cool fairy seemed to come and take all these awful creatures off and to leave her in peace.

"She was very, very tired from her wretched time, but once more she felt like a little girl instead of a hunted, tortured sort of animal.

"The next morning she told her daddy of what had happened. She assured him, too, that she would never again pull the sheets over her head, for she had never had such a dreadful night in all her life. And, too, the fairies were not always around. They might be having a party any night, for fairies must play sometimes, although they do so much good too."

IRA NELSON MORRIS.

The senate in executive session confirmed the nomination of Ira Nelson Morris of Chicago for minister to Sweden. Senator Hamilton Lewis moved the executive session. Mr. Morris was his candidate. The senator from Illinois took some comfort from the fact that the Morris nomination went along more smoothly than his last recommendation for diplomatic honors, Henry N. Pindell. There was a chance suggestion about the possibility of Mr. Morris being close to the beef trust, but Senator Lewis promptly gave his man a clean bill and demonstrated to the satisfaction of his colleagues that Mr. Morris was free from trust affiliations.

CALL FOR WARBURG AS BALANCE WHEEL

Think Reserve Board Should Have a Stabilizer.

Washington, July 14. — Among conservatives of both the Democratic and Republican parties there is an earnest desire to have Paul M. Warburg of New York confirmed as a member of the federal reserve board. It is frequently said that the three selections that have been confirmed by the senate are not men sufficiently well known to command instant and reassuring attention, while the two ex officio members of the board, Mr. McAdoo, the secretary of the treasury, and Mr. Williams, the comptroller of the currency, have their critics on both sides of the chamber.

The feeling of uncertainty regarding the possible course to be followed by Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Williams is directed chiefly against Mr. Williams. The fear seems to be that unless men of high financial standing and great personal experience are included in the board's membership Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Williams will dominate its policy and that Mr. Williams will be its active director, because he will be able to devote more time to it than will the secretary of the treasury.

This view was expressed by a distinguished Republican senator, who is personally very favorable to Mr. Warburg's appointment.

But there is practically no disposition on the part of the senate to attempt to modify the attitude of the commitee on banking and currency in its insistence that Mr. Warburg submit himself to examination.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.—Adv.

CAN YOU USE $1,000.?

This is a question that can be readily answered by most of us, but the problem of how to obtain $1,000 is not so easily solved.

We offer a solution: Open an installment bond account with us; deposit $25 monthly and at the end of 38 months we will pay you $1,005.50, all you have paid in, plus 4 per cent. interest.

CLOSING AFFAIR FOR ELK TEAMS

Fitting Finale on Fine Season of Bowling on Organization's New Alleys.

TWO SILVER TROPHIES

First to Be Placed in New Home—Other Awards Made—William N. Runyon Acts as Toastmaster and Members Are Speakers.

A fitting finale was placed on the initial season of club bowling by the Elks in the new home on Watchung avenue, last night, when the closing celebration and presentation of prizes was conducted by the members. The dollar dinner held in conjunction with the auspicious event was largely attended and enthusiasm reigned supreme throughout the evening.

Acting in the capacity of toastmaster, former City Judge William N. Runyon was at his best and his contribution to the evening's entertainment was a large and well appreciated one. A committee led by President Francis J. Blatz and Secretary V. W. Nash, Jr., of the Elks' Club bowling organization, laid elaborate plans for the entertainment of the bowlers and their friends and the program was a thoroughly enjoyable one. Mirth and music comprised the evening's entertainment and a number of short after dinner speeches were made by prominent members of the organization.

Following the dinner two handsome silver loving cups awarded to the first and second teams to finish in the league race during the season just closed were presented to the lodge by Captain John J. Campbell, of the winning quintet, and Captain J. E. Waldorf, of the runner-up combination. They were received on behalf of the lodge by Frank Smith. In his speech of acceptance Mr. Smith emphasized the fact that these were the first trophies ever presented to the organization for athletic competition and are the first ornament of this nature to be added to the furnishings of the handsome new structure. He spoke of the closeness of the race for first place honors and outlined the good results coming from the league, particularly the keen rivalry and good sportsmanship which the league has promoted.

Francis J. Blatz, president of the league, and Chauncey Stout, were also received as after dinner talkers and both commented briefly on the manner in which the organization was conducted and expressed a desire that it might be made a permanent fixture in the routine of work being carried on by the Elks.

The prizes were awarded as follows:

Individual Average Prizes:

175 class—First, won by Jacob E. Waldorf, average 194.8—A custom-made shirt by Woolston & Hoyt. Second, a box of cigars by Eisenlohr Bros.—Won by V. W. Nash, Jr., average 180.6.

High individual score—A Bates-Street shirt by Mr. Osmun (Men's Shop)—Won by Walter Vail, score 247.

JOHN H. CAPSTICK WILL ENTER RACE

Formally Announces His Candidacy for Congressional Nomination Today.

John H. Capstick, of Montville, Morris county, today announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress at the primary election to be held in the Fifth district, comprising the counties of Union and Morris, on Tuesday, September 22. This announcement is sure to enliven the approaching campaign in this district.

"While it is my intention to make a thorough canvass of the district during the next two months," says Mr. Capstick, "for the purpose of informing the voters as to my belief and position regarding the vital questions of the day, I realize that there are many whom I cannot reach in person, and I therefore purpose the setting forth of my political doctrines and beliefs from time to time in the various newspapers of the district."

Others who are likely to enter the Congressional race are former Representative Charles N. Fowler and former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman. The latter is just now abroad, and before going away he did not commit himself as to his candidacy. It is reasonably certain, however, that Mr. Fowler will seek the nomination at the primary in the fall.

SETS FREE AUTOIST POLICE SAID DRUNK

Despite the testimony of the policeman who made the arrest and the captain of the precinct, who was present, Sanford G. Robinson, formerly of Plainfield, now a salesman of 50 Montgomery street, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., accused of being intoxicated while in charge of an automobile, was found not guilty by Judge Hahn in the First Precinct Court, Newark, yesterday. Robinson was arrested in Clinton avenue, Newark, last Wednesday by Patrolman Fine, after he had collided with a wagon. He was held in $1,000 bail for trial.

Fine testified that Robinson appeared very excited at the time of his arrest and acted like a man under the influence of liquor. Captain Michael J. Ryan declared on the stand that when Robinson was brought to the station house he staggered, and in his opinion was drunk. James Jackson, colored, who was driving the wagon into which Robinson ran his machine, also testified that the latter appeared to be intoxicated.

Robinson declared that he had but one drink of beer on the day of his arrest and said that he was excited and nervous because of the collision and was not drunk. William Carick, of 406 Clinton avenue, Newark, who said he was an eye-witness of the accident, testified that Robinson appeared to be sober at the time and added that he was a bit nervous.

City Judge William G. DeMeza, counsel for Robinson, called Mrs. Robinson to testify to the sobriety of her husband, and Police Captain John J. Flynn, who knew the defendant all his life, was also called as a character witness.

In deciding the case Judge Hahn declared that there was a reasonable doubt in his mind as to whether the accused was intoxicated while in charge of the automobile. He suggested that hereafter when a prisoner is brought into the station house on a similar charge a physician be called to make an examination.

ANOTHER BAND CONCERT.

The Dutch Arms Band of Trinity Reformed church has completed plans for another free public concert to be given Thursday night, July 23, at East Front and Church streets. This will be the third of the series of concerts to be given by this organization. Whether these concerts are continued throughout the remainder of the summer will depend on the support accorded by the public. The band will play at the harvest home of the Methodist church, of Whitehouse, tomorrow evening.

COURT DAY CHANGED.

Following the application made by a number of local lawyers, the District Court day has been changed from Thursday to Wednesday. This will give the lawyers an opportunity to practise in the Elizabeth District Court on Thursdays.

CO. K MEMBERS READY FOR CAMP

Local Guardsmen Ordered to Report at Sea Girt Saturday, July 25.

SOME NEW FEATURES

State Has Added Several Interesting Pieces of Equipment to the Camp—Newark and Paterson Troops Will Open the Season.

Preparations are being made for the opening of the New Jersey National Guard camp at Seat Girt, next Saturday, when the First Regiment, from Newark, and the Fifth Regiment, of Paterson, will pitch their tents. Company K, of this city, has received orders to be ready to move to Sea Girt, July 25, and the local guardsmen will be in camp at the shore for one week. Captain Charles Peterson is planning a side hiking trip for the local soldier boys which will comprise the better part of two days.

Superintendent William Cramer, who is in charge of the reservation at Sea Girt, has a large force of workmen under him and is keeping them to their work from early morning until night. The tented city will stretch over a large area, owing to two regiments being encamped at once, and it is expected that a record for visitors will be made next week.

Brigade headquarters will be located in the usual place, just south of the bend in the camp drive and on a line with the tents of the staff officers and the cottage of Quartermaster-General C. Edward Murray. The instruction officers will also be quartered in this line. The tents have been put up by the camp workmen.

The officers of Governor Fielder's staff will have their tents in the customary place, between the executive mansion and the quartermaster-general's cottage. The newspaper and telegraph tents will be placed on the camp drive just west of the brigade headquarters.

The work of erecting the sanitary cooking tents was commenced last week. These tents are a unique creation, as they provide absolute ventilation for the cooking apartments without danger from infection from flies or other insects. They are shaped like the ordinary tents, but are merely frames, built of stout lumber and covered over with a wire of mesh fine enough to prevent access of any vermin. A common tent wing covers the roof.

There is one cook tent to each regimental company, the officers eating in the main mess hall south of the camp proper. They are all strung along the drive end of the company streets and are always a source of entertainment, with their negro cooks and cooking devices, for the throngs that swarm into the camp.

Detraining from their special trains at the Sea Girt station, about 2:30 Saturday afternoon, the troops will form in a solid formation and march to camp. In passing the executive mansion they will be greeted by Governor Fielder and his staff from the veranda of the Little White House.

The tentage and camp equipment will all be brought by special train and the troops will themselves do the work of pitching camp. There is always a merry rivalry between the regiments in the speed with which the camps can be made and the fact that there will be two regiments here at the same time will stimulate interest in the race.

Owing to their late arrival and the time to be consumed in making camp, there will be no drills on Saturday. They will be out for the customary drills and parade on Sunday and dress parade will be witnessed by Governor Fielder and his staff as usual.

While the maneuver work for the week has been pretty thoroughly decided upon at a conference of the officers and instructors will be called probably on Saturday or Sunday night for the purpose of perfecting plans for the entire week.

Of course the big maneuver over the ground of the historic battle of Monmouth will be the big problem of the whole week. This will call for a two days' bivouac in the vicinity of Tennent, where will be fought over again the bloody fray of the revolution. How the troops are to be divided has not been determined, but it is likely that the regiments will oppose each other technically.

On Monday night Governor Fielder will entertain the superior officers and the members of his staff at dinner in the Little White House, as has been the custom in the past.

While there appears to be a mixup in the date for the visit of Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison, Governor Fielder has arranged to enter-

PRODUCE DEALERS WILL COVER WARES

Defendants in the District Court Agree to Conform With the Law.

Six local grocers and produce dealers were hailed before Judge Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., in the District Court, this morning, to answer to charges preferred against them by Health Officer Randolph Chandler, of the local Board of Health. According to the local authorities those appearing in court had violated the State law relative to the protection of foodstuffs from dust and flies while being exposed for sale.

Many of the merchants contended today that the only articles they had for sale on the stands in exposed places were potatoes, beans, peas, onions and cucumbers, which require peeling before eating. The cases were settled satisfactorily this morning, when the counsels for the various defendants got together and agreed to have their clients conform with the law in the future and cooperate with the Board of Health in this matter.

MOY ENDORSED BY PROGRESSIVE BODY

Former Mayor May Run for State Senate This Fall.

Elizabeth, July 15—The Progressive County Executive Committee met here last night, and held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting, all part of the county being represented. J. A. Hopkins, a member of the State committee from Morris county, was present and reviewed the candidates for Congress. After a lengthy conference on this subject, the Union county committee decided to support Charles W. Ennis for the nomination for the lower house, and ex-Mayor George W. V. Moy, of Plainfield, their original choice for Congressional honors, for the State Senatorship.

This action will undoubtedly simplify matters for the Progressives at their primaries on September 22, reducing the possibility of factional differences to a minimum. The remainder of the county ticket suggested for the suport of the party is as follows: For sheriff, William Reichard, of Elizabeth; for county clerk, Fred Tygard, of Westfield; for registrar, Harwood Fish, of Roselle Park; for members of the Assembly, Romane Berry, of Summit, W. Lincoln Phillips, of Roselle Park, and William D. Jones, of Elizabeth. The next meeting of the committee will be held August 3, at which time reports of the State gathering at Asbury Park to be held July 29 and 30 will be received.

Mr. Moy in discussing his probable candidacy for State Senator, today, said that he does not want to enter the race this fall, preferring that someone else seek the honors. He would not commit himself as to whether he would allow his name to go before the fall primary. Recently, it is said, there has developed a strong sentiment for Mr. Moy as a mayoralty candidate to succeed Percy H. Stewart, but when questioned about that, he said that he had not made up his mind whether he would seek the nomination or not.

SETTLEMENT PUTS AN END TO SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Although reports have been circulated recently to the effect that a suit is pending against John F. McMurray, of Globe street, Newark, for injuries said to have been sustained by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fleese, of Dunellen, in an automobile mixup at the latter place in the early part of June, it was learned today that Robert Newton Crane, counsel for the plaintiffs, had made a satisfactory settlement with the defendant and that civil action was dropped several weeks ago.

According to Fleese, the Newark man ran into him with an automobile near Taylor's Hotel, Dunellen, while running the machine recklessly, causing serious injuries. The amount asked for was $1,000. Papers in the case were filed in the Middlesex county courts, but all legal action was abandoned when the counsel brought a mutual agreement between the parties concerned.

YOUNG WOMEN'S PICNIC.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will be entertained at a picnic to be held at the home of Miss Elizabeth Nash, of Watchung. A pleasant day has been arranged for the guests of the occasion.

DUNELLEN IS A HUSTLING BORO

Marked Increase in Population Noted in Past Five Years.

LAND IS DEVELOPED

The steady growth of the borough of Dunellen during the past five years is a source of much gratification to the residents of that hustling community, which now has a population of nearly five thousand. It was just five years ago that a building boom reached Dunellen. At the time it was predicted that it would be short-lived, but it has continued and is now apparently gaining much strength.

The general depression in business has not been felt as much in the borough as in many other nearby towns. The boom in Dunellen was given by the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company when it offered for sale its entire holdings along the New Jersey Central at a low figure. The company owned a large tract of unimproved land and the prices at which it was offered were so attractive that within a few months the entire tract was disposed of and since then has been in course of improvement.

Lots which today are selling at $500 were sold five years ago for $175 and $200 and the summer of 1909 saw the conservative village in the midst of a real estate boom. The property was quickly taken up with the result that the prices advanced rapidly until in the spring of 1910 the realty values on unimproved lots were doubled those of the previous year. Edward Maurer, of Madison avenue, purchased about 300 lots situated in different parts of the borough and the prices at which he held his lots bad a tendency to advance the prices on adjoining land.

The disposal of the land company's holdings was responsible for the birth of one real estate company and the rapid extension of another which had been formed a short time before the boom started. These two companies have constructed numerous houses and improved large tracts of land, the development being of a high character. In a growth of this character it is difficult to point out any one agency as having proved more important than another and yet it is the belief that the First National Bank stands out as one of the big achievements.

The bank opened its doors in 1907 and while it immediately appeared to fill a long felt want in the business community, yet it was not until the years following 1909 that it came to occupy the present indispensable position. As the town developed and the industries expanded additional credit was required by the local merchants to meet the growing demands and it was in the ability to meet these requirements that the value of the bank was fully realized and appreciated.

The many houses which were erected by the building companies and placed on the market brought an influx of new blood to the borough and did much to awaken the older inhabitants from that lethargy occasioned by the previous years of building stagnation. The newer citizens were largely instrumental in the organization of a Board of Trade which has been one of the greatest influences for advancement that the borough has. This Board has done a great work in advertising the town and has proved a consistent supporter of all projects which are for the best interests of the municipality. Its Fourth of July celebration of this year was one of the most successful ever given.

During the five year period a free public library has been organized and with its well filled shelves of carefully selected books been productive of much pleasure and profit to the citizens. The borough has a most efficient Council for a governing body, whose idea of enocomy is not to see how little can be spent in municipal improvements, but to see that one hundred cents of value is received for every dollar expended and the result of this high standard of efficient economy is evidenced in the low tax rate which prevails. The citizens appreciate the time and loyalty devoted by the Mayor and Council.

The remarkable changes in the borough in the past five years is clearly shown in the transformation of great fields of brush into attractive residential sections, adding to the beauty of the town as a place of residence. The picturesque homes with spacious lawns and wide macadamized streets are ever an attraction. The public schools are under competent instructors, sanitary sewers are soon to be a reality and when this is accomplished Dunellen will be well able to care for its increasing population.

ACCIDENT VICTIM GETS $350 VERDICT

Ernest Mantz Affects Settlement Through His Counsel, Robert Newton Crane.

A judgment for $350 was given to Ernest Mantz, of North Plainfield, by Judge Walter L. Hetfield, in the District Court, this morning, against the Elizabeth Hardware Company. Mantz, through his counsel, Robert Newton Crane, asked for damages for injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident near Elizabeth.

The plaintiff was riding in tandem fashion on a machine operated by Henry Dresselt, of Lincoln place, when the light vehicle collided with a truck owned by the hardware company. It was alleged that the truck failed to display the required tail lights and the collision was assigned to this cause. Dresselt and Mantz were both thrown heavily to the roadbed and were later removed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Elizabeth, where they were patients for over a week.

Neither of the victims has fully recovered from the effects of the accident and Mantz displayed a lameness in court this morning, said to have been caused by the mishap in Elizabeth. The firm made a settlement with Dresselt but would not recognize Mantz' claims because of his minority.

LABOR UNIONS PLAN A BIG DEMONSTRATION

It is Expected That 5,000 Men Will Parade Here on Sept. 7.

What is expected will be the largest labor demonstration ever given here, is being planned by the affiliated labor unions of this city, which have an approximate membership of 3,000 men of various crafts. A special committee is already at work on the details for the affair which is to take the form of a parade. This committee will have a special meeting at the Trades Council rooms Friday evening, at which time further plans will be discussed at length.

From present indications it is believed that fully 5,000 union labor men from this as well as other points in North Jersey, representing the many organized crafts, will be in line. Six bands have already been engaged, with a possibility of others being added to the list shortly. Efforts will also be made to have the local police and fire departments represented in the parade. A reviewing stand is to be erected, sufficiently large to accommodate the officials of both Plainfield and the borough. Special attention is being given by the committee in charge to fun-provoking novelties. A picnic will be a feature. Further plans for the day will be announced following the committee meeting of Friday evening.

KNIGHTS' EXCURSION IS ANNOUNCED FOR AUGUST 6

The date for the annual excursion of the Knights of Columbus to Asbury Park is Thursday, August 6, and Watchung Council is now making active preparations for the big event. The committee in charge is very busy with a view, is possible, of making this year's affair the best in the history of the council.

The manner in which the Knights conduct their excursions has elicited considerable favorable comment for each individual member takes it upon himself to see that those who join in the outing, particularly children, are carefully looked after. At the stations here and at Asbury Park, committees are located along the tracks to personally see that every safeguard is provided. Everybody that goes on this outing is assured of a good time.

TO HOLD A PICNIC.

The children who took part in the Memorial Day exercises at Reform Hall, are requested to meet at that place tomorrow morning at 9:30 in order to attend the picnic to be held at 602 West Front street. The children will take their lunches. Should the weather prove inclement, the affair will be held Friday.

TRYING OUT THE MACHINE.

Patrolmen Roy Martin and Charles Wicht are trying out the new motorcycle at police headquarters and several of the other officers are also due to receive a course of instruction in how to handle the new feature designed for running down automobilists who attempt to evade the speed laws.

COURT IN ERROR, BACKES DECIDES

Administration of Carney Estate Must Be Next of Kin.

UPSETS FORMER ACTION

However, Vice-Chancellor Directs That Jacob Shurtz Shall Sell Printing Plant on July 30 as Previously Ordered.

Trenton, July 15—Vice-Chancellor Backes, as vice-ordinary in the Prerogative Court, yesterday, reversed the action of the Somerset County Orphans' Court in appointing Prison Inspector Jacob Shurtz as administrator of the estate of the late David J. Carney, who published a weekly newspaper and ran a printing establishment at North Plainfield.

The Vice-Chancellor held that the statute requires that an administrator shall be the next of kin and that the Somerset court erred in refusing to appoint Carney's brother as adminsitrator.

When the matter of the appointment of an administrator was up in the Somerset county court, Winfield S. Angleman, as counsel, sought to have Andrew Carney, a brother of the deceased, named, but this was opposed by William A. Coddington, who represented several creditors, and Jacob Shurtz, of Somerville, was appointed to administer the estate, which includes a printing plant operated by Mr. Carney during his lifetime.

The decision of Vice-Chancellor Backes while coming as a surprise to the creditors, upon investigation, today, disclosed the fact that Mr. Shurtz has been directed by the court to follow out the original order and sell the printing plant formerly conducted by Mr. Carney, on Thursday, July 30. The decision of yesterday states that Mr. Shurtz shall not be hampered in this work as the result of the reversal of the lower court's action, and that he is to go on with the sale as directed by the previous order.

Andrew Carney, brother of the late David J. Carney, therefore becomes the administrator of the estate according to the latest decision of the Vice-Chancellor, who explains that the law provides that the next of kin shall be named.

CHARGES CHINAMAN WITH STEALING HIS SWEATER

Patrick Lennon, of 303 West Second street, appeared before Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city court, this morning, as complainant against Jim Lee, a Chinese laundry proprietor with a place of business at 316 Park avenue. According to Lennon, the Chinaman refused to give him a sweater which he said he left there to have cleaned last week.

Contradictory evidence was given in the case by the complainant and defendant, and Judge DeMeza set the hearing over until tomorrow morning when an interpreter will be in court. According to the Chinaman, Lennon threw him down a flight of stairs and assaulted him.

TWO EXCURSIONS TO ASBURY PARK TOMORROW

There will be two large excursions leaving this section for Asbury Park and Ocean Grove tomorrow. The annual trip of the Sunday-schools of the First Presbyterian, Congregational and Park Avenue Baptist churches, of this city, and the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of New Market, will leave in two sections, from Dunellen at 8:04 and the North Avenue station, Plainfield, at 8:15.

The thirty-third annual excursion of the "Big Eight," composed of the Episcopal, Baptist, Methodist and Willow Grove Sundays-schools, of Fanwood, and the First Presbyterian, Branch Mills, Mountainside, and Methodist church Sunday-schools of Westfield, will leave Fanwood at 8:15 and Westfield at 8:25.

ANNUAL CLAMBAKE.

The second annual clambake and shore dinner under the auspices of the Hall Printing Press Mutual Aid Society, of Dunellen, will be held at Kreischwville, Staten Island, Saturday, August 8. Arrangements have been completed to have several trolley cars leave the Dunellen car barns at 7 o'clock in the morning. A special committee of the society is making the plans for the entertainment of the excursionists.

The thirty-third annual excursion to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, composed of four Sunday-schools from this place and four from Westfield, will leave here tomorrow morning at 8:15 and 8:25 from Westfield.

TenEyck Beardsley, of the borough, has purchased an automobile.

The reception given Rev. J. Madison Hare, of the Baptist church, last evening, was attended by about one hundred people, members of the Baptist, Episcopal and Methodist churches. Mr. Hare made an address, telling of his plans of work for the welfare of the parish. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion and the affair was a success largely owing to the efforts of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, who had the matter in charge.

FIRM FOUNDATION.

Nothing Can Undermine It in Plainfield.

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit, and they cannot be blamed, for so many have been humbugged in the past. The experience of hundreds of Plainfield residents, expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation here.

A. K. Mattis, 127 West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was troubled for years by a dull backache and pains in my head. I believe that it was due in a great measure to a bad fall I had. Nothing seemed to help me and when I read of the good work Doan's Kidney Pills were doing in similar cases, I got a supply at Randolph's Drug Store. They drove away the aches and pains and gave proof of their merit. I confirm the endorsement I gave Doan's Kidney Pills when they cured me a few years ago. The cure has been permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Mattis had. Foster Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

An adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Common Council will be held in the Borough Hall on next Wednesday evening, July 21.

The annual picnic of the Ladies' Aid Society, of the Presbyterian church, to Chimney Rock, which was to have been held today, was postponed on account of the weather until tomorrow.

Cashier A. J. Hamley, of the local bank, who has been ill with bronchitis, is improving rapidly and is expected to be able to leave his home on the first clear day.

The inclemency of the weather resulted in the meeting of the Piscataway Taxpayers' Association in the New Market school being only slimly attended last evening. A delegation of the residents along the river road were present and presented a petition protesting against the stringing of telephone lines along that thoroughfare. There was considerable opposition to the present proposition of erecting a school to cost as much as $20,000 at South Plainfield. The final consensus of opinion seemed to be that the matter of erecting a school there at any figure should be allowed to rest for the time being.

The Hall Printing Press Mutual Aid Society will have a clam bake and shore dinner at Kreischewville, S. I., on Saturday, August 8.

REMARKABLE CASE OF ERVIN POPE

For the Eighth Time Has Heard His Death Warrant Read.

Anniston, Ala., July 15—Probably without a parallel in the annals of American courts is the remarkable case of Ervin Pope, the Alabama negro who has just appeared in court and for the eighth time listened to the reading of the death warrant and heard the date set for his execution. For five years the negro has been in jail under conviction for the murder of J. B. McClurkin, a white man living near the town of Oxford. He has been convicted and sentenced to hang five times; the case has been before the Supreme Court and reversed four times, and eight different days have been set for the execution. Through it all the negro's nerve has never been shaken. From the day of his arrest he has maintained his innocence of the crime charged against him and has expressed confidence in his ultimate acquittal.

The murder of McClurkin occurred on the night of April 19, 1909. About midnight the victim was awakened by the noise of someone robbing his cotton gin. He got up, saddled his mule and followed the robber's wagon toward Oxford. The next morning his body was found horribly mutilated in a cotton patch on the edge of the town. In an alley in a negro settlement he had evidenly been hit in the head with a heavy club, and his skull beaten in with a large stone.

Ervin Pope lived in the town of Oxford about a mile from where the body was found. He owned a little farm in the country and also ran a little restaurant in town. It was proved that on the afternoon preceding the murder Pope was at the mill owned and operated by McClurkin and had exchanged corn for meal. The principal witness for the State was a negro, John Body, in front of whose door the murder was committed. Body testified that on the night of the murder he was awakened by the sound of screams and blows in the alley. He claimed to have gone to the door, opened it and looked out, and swore that he saw two men struggling, and heard a voice say, "Ervin, Ervin." A blacksmith testified that he discovered the track of a wagon leading from the scene of the murder to Pope's house. Later a pair of shoes said to show traces of blood were found in an out-house in Pope's yard. On this evidence, all of it circumstantial, the negro was tried and convicted.

John Body, the negro in front of whose house the murder was committed, was arrested and held on suspicion. After Pope's conviction, Body was released. He immediately abandoned his crop and family and ran off, and all trace of him has been lost. The State and the defense have both made efforts to find him, but they have failed.

The lawyers for Pope have contended from the start that Body was the guilty man. Their theory is based on the seeming improbability of Body's story; on the fact that the murder was in front of Body's door; that the club with which McClurkin was killed came from a wood pile in Body's yard; that the murderer had taken pains to drag the body away from Body's door; that Pope had no one-horse wagon, while Body had a wagon which exactly corresponded to the tracks found at the scene of the crime; that barefoot tracks were found at the scene of the murder, as if Body had gotten out of bed and committed the murder; and that the cotton seed which was stolen from McClurkin's gin on the right of the killing was found in an out-house just back of Body's home.

At the first trial the court permitted a negro witness to describe his own conduct and actions as proof that Pope was guilty. The Supreme Court held that this was an unfair and improper way to proceed against the accused and ordered a new trial. The second appeal was granted on the ground that the defendant had a right to have Body's guilt considered by the jury, and that the State could not introduce illegal evidence to clear Body. By a singular accident, the court repeated at the third trial the identical error it had committed at the second trial and this resulted in the third reversal of the conviction. The verdict found at the fourth trial was reversed by the Supreme Court on a point of law. On the fifth trial Pope was again convicted and sentenced to hang. The Supreme Court has now handed down a decision affirming the verdict of the trial court. Nothing short of executive clemency or the discovery of new evidence tending to prove his innocence can now save Pope from the gallows. He is under sentence to be executed on the twenty-first day of next month.

SEEK BOYS OFF FOR 'FRISCO IN ONE-CYLINDER MACHINE

Westfield, July 15—The local police are trying to find three boys, William Titus, Bert Irving and Wallace Bush, who left town Saturday with the avowed intention of going to San Francisco in a one-cylinder automobile which they had purchased from Horace Martin for $40. The oldest of the trio, Titus, who is about seventeen, has a license to drive a car.

The friends of the boys heard them talking of the contemplated trip, but they did not take it seriously for they did not consider they would get very far with the machine they had. The boys took aboard a store of provisions Saturday and started. When they did not return home or send back any word their friends became anxious and asked the police to try to locate them.

TAPS FROM THE GAVEL.

Lodges scheduled to meet tonight are as follows. Plainfield Aerie, F. O. E., at Eagle Hall; Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., at the Babcock buiding; Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., at K. of P. Hall; Royal Council, No. 77, O. U. A. M., at Coward Hall.

Freedom Castle, No. 42, K. of G. E., entertained a large number of brothers from New Brunswick Castle, No. 71, at the session last evening, the Middlesex county fraternity men making the trip to this city by trolley. Several speeches on fraternal topics were made, and refreshments were served late in the evening. After the business session of the local castle their recently elected officers were installed by Deputy B. Turton and his official staff.

Plainfield Lodge, B. P. O. E., will not meet tonight, their next scheduled meeting occurring August 12.

GOVERNOR'S DAY AT SEA GIRT.

Trenton, July 15—Governor Fielder has set aside July 24, July 31 and August 7 as Governor's days at the Sea Girt camp. On July 24 troops from Essex will be in camp, and invitations will be sent out by the Governor to persons in the county to be in attendance on that day. Lindley M. Garrison, Secretary of War, will review the troops and on July 31 Brigadier-General A. L. Mills will be in camp. It is the intention of the Governor to invite persons from various counties on days when their regiments will be in camp.

OBSERVE PEACE CENTENARY.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 15—Under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity a notable celebration was held here today in honor of the completion of a century of peace among English-speaking nations. The participants in the celebration included official representatives of the Masonic lodges of England, Ireland and Scotland, the various States of the Union and the Provinces of Canada.

IOWA REPUBLICANS MEET.

Des Moines, Ia., July 15—More than one thousand delegates were in their seats when the Republican State convention was called to order here today. The convention, which probably will continue in session over tomorrow, will complete the State ticket by making nominations for places not filled by the primary, and will adopt a platform for the coming campaign.

SEEK ASBURY PARK POSITION.

Asbury Park, July 15—Applications for the superintendency of the Asbury Park schools, left vacant by the resignation of Dr. Fred S. Shepard, were made public yesterday. In all twenty-five applications from educators of this State and other nearby States are on file. It is probable the local Board of Education will meet some time this week to consider the applications and perhaps to make a choice. Among the applications were the following from North Jersey: Matthew C. Hamilton, principal Grove Street School, Irvington; L. O. Deyo, school principal, Roselle Park; W. A. Ackerman, superintendent Somerville schools; Julius W. Winslow, principal Normal and Training School, Elizabeth.

ANNUAL EXCURSION TOMORROW

The third excursion of the season to go to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove from this city will leave tomorrow morning. The Sunday-schools that will be represented are the First Presbyterian, Congregational, Park Avenue Baptist and New Market Seventh-Day Baptist. A committee of twelve men from the three local schools will have charge of the outing. The trains will leave the North Avenue station at 8:15 in two sections, and returning will leave Asbury Park at 6:40. It is expected that this will be the largest of the year thus far.

MOTORCYCLISTS GATHER.

St. Louis, Mo., July 15—Hundreds of devotees of the motorcycle have gathered in St. Louis for the annual national convention of the Federation of American Motorcyclists, which was opened today and will continue through the remainder of the week. In addition to the daily business sessions the convention program provides for a series of motorcycle races on the local track.

ENGLAND BEAT FRANCE.

Wimbledon, England, July 15.—The English tennis team yesterday won the second round of the eliminatory matches in the Davis cup tournament, defeating France.

NAVAL PAY DIRECTOR RETIRES.

Washington, D. C., July 15—Following more than twenty years of active service, Pay Director William W. Gait was placed on the retired list of the navy today by operation of the age limit.

REGREATION NOTES

Lincoln School is to be opened on Thursday nights as a general reading and social room to the people of that section of the city. The latest papers and magazines are to be found there and there will also be games. A good piano occupies one corner of the room and will be the source of much good entertainment along with the musical instruments that some of the interested people of that end of town have already volunteered to bring in. There is every reason to believe that this night will prove a most entertaining and enjoyable one to all the people who will get together and help the evenings to pass in a good social fashion. Miss Morris, the new director of recreation work, will have charge of the evening.

The folk dancing class will meet tonight in the Bryant School at 8:15. At the meeting last Wednesday night there were nearly forty present, but as the majority were boys the club would like to have a few more girls come out tonight, and even the numbers up.

The Civic Club will meet as usual in the Stillman School at 8:15 tonight, with R. Story Roland as leader.

READY FOR CAMP

ARREST MRS. CRAVEN.

New Orleans, July 15—Mrs. Charles C. Craven, widow of Charles Craven, a notorious cracksman and train robber, was arrested here today in connection with the whereabouts of $54,000 in money and $16,000 in gems, believed to be buried in the outskirts of Savannah, Ga. "You may torture me and kill me, but I will never reveal the hiding place of the money and jewels," said the woman when questioned by the police. The tone of the woman was boastful and seemed to feel she had a right to the ill gotten wealth.

HARMONICON WINS.

OFFICIALS PUZZLED OVER PRESS REPORTS

Lack of Confirmation is Giving the Administration Much Concern.

Washington, July 15.—Officials of the administration are puzzled today because of the lack of official confirmation of press reports of the departure of the family of Gen. Huerta from Mexico City. Lenkthy telegraphic reports from the Brazilian Minister in Mexico City were received late last night and early today, but none contained any hint of the leaving of the families of officials, or the intended abdication of Huerta and General Blanquet.

In spite of the failure to hear officially of the movement from the Mexican capital, it is generally believed that many reports are well founded. The fact that Mrs. Huerta and Mrs. Blanquet, and others reported to have fled on a special train last night are supposed to have quietly boarded the train five miles outside the city probably is the reason for the evident ignorance of their departure.

It was also suggested today by officials of the State Department that Minister Cardozo was unable to communicate intelligence of the departure of Huerta's family because of the strict censorship being maintianed over all dispatches. It is believed that if they actually have left the first news of an official nature to reach Washington will be from Consul Canada at Vera Cruz on the arrival of the special train there.

MAKE YOURS A PUBLIC SERVICE STORE

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in their daily newspapers because they are finding it a distinct part of the service they expect their newspapers to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers a demand for it sets in right away.

They are going to turn to the store that lets them know it has the article. That store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.

Co-operate with the manufacturers who come into the newspapers of your town to exploit their goods and you will be building business for yourself.

ACTION AGAINST N. H. IS DELAYED

Will Wait For Road Directors' Decision.

MORE FRICTION INTERFERES

Department of Justice Won't Take Cue From Commerce Board—Commission Is Preparing Data For State and County Law Officers.

FRICTION DELAYS ACTION AGAINST NEW HAVEN.

More friction and ill feeling have developed among federal officials in the New Haven case as the result of the interstate commerce commission's report.

The indications are that the department of justice will not take the cue from the commission. The department's position is that the commission has presented no facts that were not known by the department before the inquiry.

Washington, July 15.—Developments indicated that the interstate commerce commission's report on the New Haven road and the obvious intention of the commissioners to put the alleged violation of law squarely up to the department of justice have not promoted good feeling between the two departments of the government.

A considerable breach between the commission and the department of justice was made at the time the New Haven officers were summoned as witnesses because of the department complaint that immunity might result from the testimony.

There is little doubt that the department of justice will take up the question of criminal prosecution under the Sherman law as soon as the directors of the New Haven decide whether or not they will carry out the voluntary dissolution agreement. The decision will be reached on Thursday.

The department of justice officials, however, showed a distinct disposition to belittle the testimony which the interstate commerce commission announced had been sent to the department.

Helped the Commission.

At the department it was represented that all the facts obtained by the commission were in the hands of the department of justice before the commission's inquiry began and that the department had furnished considerable material to the commission.

Attorney General McReynolds was out of town and no formal comment was forthcoming from the department. As the result of the likelihood that Mr. McReynolds will be chosen for the United States supreme court seat left vacant by the death of Justice Lurton, it was said that Joseph W. Folk, who conducted the New Haven inquiry, would be a candidate for the cabinet place with the special program of prosecuting the New Haven officials.

At the interstate commerce commission preparations were going forward to furnish the prosecuting attorneys of several states with the detailed testimony on which criminal action might possibly be based by them.

The commission declined to give out the names of the state officials to whom the testimony would be sent, but it was intimated that the district attorney of Westchester country already is considering possible action with the grand jury on certain phases of the so called Westchester transaction.

It is known that the attorney generals of New York, Massachusetts and Rhode Island will receive copies of the testimony and also the county prosecuting officers in some of these states.

Recovery of Losses.

The commission, of course, can take no action in reference to the filing of stockholders' suits to recover money from the directors and others, but the commission will be glad to aid any movement that is undertaken in that direction.

It is possible that the use of New Haven stock to bring about the changes in the Westchester franchise and the expenditure of money in connection with the obtaining of leases in New York may be called to the attention of District Attorney Whitman.

The commission in its report charged flatly that operations carried on by the New England Investment and Security company showed operations in violation of the Massachusetts law and a violation of the injunction of the highest court of the state. This will be called to the attention of the attorney general of Massachusetts.

CROKER COMING AGAIN.

Says Visit Isn't Political, and He Isn't After Murphy's Scalp.

London, July 15.—Richard Croker, former Tammany chief, confirms the report that he is going to America this fall, but according to what he said he is not returning for the purpose of starting a fight to dethrone Charles F. Murphy from the leadership of Tammany Hall.

Speaking over the long distance telephone from his home in Glencairn, Ireland, Mr. Croker said he was going to New York this fall, but added emphatically that he would not take any part in the political affairs of that city.

THE FLYING BOAT.

The news that the flying boat America, which threatens to fly and swim across the Atlantic Ocean via the shortest vessel route, has met with an accident that has damaged her mechanism so much that more time will be needed to put her in shape again, is not surprising. It is quite likely the America will meet with other mishaps before she finally leaves her native land behind and steers for the shores of the old world. And she is likely to meet with some accidents on the way over that may be more serious than the ordinary accidents to ocean liners.

In fact there are many who will be surprized if the Atlantic Ocean itself may not need to be remodeled more or less to allow the America to make a successful trip.

There is no doubt that traveling to Europe through the air will be one of the commonplaces of the next few years, but it is expecting too much to hope that the very first boat that makes the attempt will be successful. And yet it is possible that these men may be the ones to get the only black bean in a barrel of white ones—they may make a completely successful trip and open the way for aerial travel between the old and new worlds.

Whether the America does or does not make this trip with success it is certain that she is about to open the door for that mode of travel and that the next few years will see flying boats making regular trip for those who are in a hurry to get across and are willing to pay for the fun. The flying boat is now where the first automobile was only a very few years ago.

Plainfield Democrats seem to think that this is a pretty good year to seek office, for the men who are mentioned for various county places are taking the matter seriously, much more seriously in fact than has been the case for some years. It has been the universal complaint among members of that party especially, that Elizabeth members of the faith have gobbled up practically all of the offices, and this year a determined effort is to be made by the faithful to try to get some of the plums for other sections of the county. Here in Plainfield we have Mayor Stewart, who undoubtedly will be the Democratic candidate for State Senator; Fred Endress, whose friends are urging him to run for sheriff; John Owens, who will probably seek nomination for the county clerkship, and F. Otto Linke, who is seeking the nomination for Assembly. Certainly with men such as these, who have been faithful to the party through thick and thin, Plainfield should at least secure some recognition in the parceling out of the nominations by the powers-that-be in the party.

It is indeed gratifying to learn that the splendid work being done through the Boy Scouts for the boys of Plainfield is to be continued. Any organization formed to make "manly men" is a credit to the community, and the great success of the movement thus far, coupled with the backing that will be given by the new scout council, assures a splendid future for the work in this city. The organization is fortunate in having such a competent man at the head as Scoutmaster Allen E. Beals.

"Signatures to letters in the correspondence column," says the Camden Post Telegram, "show that 'Constant Reader,' 'Pro Bona Publico, and 'Veritas' still live. A rather ingenious novelty is that of a writer who drops into sarcasm, and then signs himself 'Percy Flage.'" A better plan is to insist that the writers sign their names for publication. That has been the rule with The Daily Press for many years, and the letters come along just as rapidly as ever, but not from the cowards.

Another piece of motor-driven apparatus has been ordered for the Plainfield fire department, to be stationed in the Netherwood section of the city, where there is a crying need for better protection. Just as fast as the money can be appropriated, without boosting the tax rate too much, every piece of horse-drawn aparatus in the city should be replaced with motor vehicles.

The high tax rate epidemic seems to have reached some of the other communities in the State. We in Plainfield think that a rate of $2.12 or more is pretty stiff, but what about New Brunswick, where they expect it to reach $2.70? No matter how high the figure goes here, there is always a horrible example to refer to.

With nearly one-third of the population of New Jersey, a total of over 700,000 people, under commission rule, and not one community seeking a return to the old mayor and council method, a pretty good idea can be gained of the advantages brought about by the change.

If Plainfield does not resemble Pohpack on Sunday when that Thursday closing goes into effect for the month of August, we miss our guess.

The police departments' new motorcycle has come, but in spite of that fact the speeding automobilists continue to come and go unmolested.

FORCE ASKS BOARD FOR REMUNERATION

Freeholders Will Investigate Borough Man's Claims Against Somerset Co.

Charles Force, of North Plainfield, appeared before the Somerset County Board of Freeholders at its monthly meeting held in Somerville, yesterday, in the interest of a bill which he had previously presented for damages to his automobile sustained while crossing a bridge in Bedminster township.

The bridge was on a little frequented highway, and the timbers supporting the roadway had been washed out by high water, according to Mr. Force's statement. The approaches and planking of the bridge looked satisfactory, but in crossing, the latter gave way, allowing the car to drop down and breaking a universal. Some difficulty was experienced in ascertaining just what Mr. Force's financial loss had been, and no action was taken by the Board.

Considerable discussion was caused over the completion of the new Manville road and a committee was appointed to indicate to the contractors where additional excavations are to be made, and an effort will be made to enlist the aid of the State in the proposition. The report from Thomas P. Gallagher, inspector of weights and measures, was presented showing 333 visits. The Freeholders yesterday decided to purchase a road sweeper for use on the county roads. Freeholder Kirch, of North Plainfield, reported that the Washington avenue line bridge, in the borough, had been sold, in conjunction with the Union County Board for $200.

SAY CITY SHOULD PROVIDE A FUND

Believed That Stray Dogs Should Be Properly Killed and Buried.

There has been considerable adverse comment recently regarding the provisions of the ordinance governing dogs and the fact that when a dog is impounded by the official dog-catcher there seems to be a conflict between the proclamation issued by the Mayor and the reading of the ordinance. The proclamation provides that a dog shall be detained for thirty-six hours and if not claimed will be killed, while the ordinance provides for a four days' detention.

In discussing the matter today a prominent citizen expressed the opinion that inasmuch as the city charges a license of $2.50 for every dog that in itself should provide a sufficient fund to properly care for canines that are picked up and have to be disposed of, after the proper fees are deducted.

Under the present ruling after fees are collected the balance of the $2.50 goes to the police department, and yet, this citizen remarked, when there is a case of a dog to be disposed of, the first one notified is the S. P. C. A., which organization does not get one penny from the city for this work. It was further commented upon that the city will not even provide for burying a dog after it is shot.

ASBURY PARK PAYS HIGH TO STOP LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Asbury Park, July 15—How Asbury Park gets after the venders of liquor and beer came out Monday night at the Common Council meeting, when $1,150 was received, and after discussion, ordered paid.

The detective agency gets a certain commission, figured to be between $50 and $100 for every conviction of a "speakeasy" proprietor.

Mayor William A. Berry said the city did not lose money because the fines collected, which are never less than $100 for each case, now go into the city treasury, instead of to the county, as heretofore.

Councilman T. J. Winckler took exception to the Mayor's explanation. "If queried, for the money that is in it why not sell high licenses?"

SHAMROCK IV. READY.

Gosport, Eng., July 15.—Everything is in shape for the sailing on Saturday of the Shamrock IV. Her compasses have been adjusted, her ketch rig fitted and the yacht Erin is awaiting to steam across to the United States to allow the Shamrock IV. to race for the Americas Cup.

SWIMMING ENGLISH CHANNEL.

Boulogne, France, July 15—Jabez Wolffe, English amateur, started on his tenth attempt to swim the English Channel today. He started at Cape Grisnez, and reached mid-channel in six hours. A carrier pigeon brought in word that Wolffe was swimming strong.

NO FURTHER REPORT.

Washington, July 15.—No report other than the statement that the Gunboat Princeton had struck a reef in Samoan waters has been received at the Navy Department. The accident is declared to be of small importance.

JOSEPH RAMSEY, JR., APPEARS BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE

Washington, July 15.—Joseph Ramsey, Jr. former president of the Wabash and Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad, was a witness before the House Committee on Foreign and Interstate Commerce today into the inquiry of the Wabash and Pittsburg Co. He named the original syndicate members as Andrew Carnegie, George Gould and Myron T. Herrick, each of whom contributed $5,000,000. Afterwards James Hazen Hyde became syndicate manager. The syndicate consolidated three roads into the Terminal Co. and bought the Pittsburgh Railroad and Coal Co., which owned the Pittsburgh West Side Belt Line Co. and 15,000 acres of coal land. The ownership of the Belt Line was of great strategic value, he said. The witness said the Wabash, Pittsburgh Terminal Co. had a contract for twenty-five per cent. of the Carnegie Steel Co. amounting to over 16,000,000 tons the first year.

FORMER PASTORS TO PREACH.

Two former local Baptist pastors will occupy the pulpits of their former charges in this city, Sunday, August 2. Rev. A. E. Finn, of Rochester, Pa., will preach at the Park Avenue Baptist church on that date, while Rev. Dr. John A. Chambliss, of Chattanooga, Tenn., will preach at the First Baptist church. The latter will also preach at the union service in the evening of that day, when the service is to be held at the First church.

REFUSES TO TALK.

Washington, July 15.—Attorney General McReynolds returned today from New York, but refused flatly to discuss the Governments' intentions with regard to the New Haven. He did not deny that during his visit he was in conference with United States Attorney Marshall with reference to future action in the case. The Attorney General refused to comment on the report of the I. C. C. on the New Haven road.

AMATEUR GOLF TOURNEY.

Newton, Mass., July 15—Francis Quimet and ninety-one other golfers started in the State amateur golf championship tournament today on the links of the Braeburn Country Club. Among the entrants were three former State champions, John G. Anderson, A. G. Lockwood and Percival Gilbert.

DANCE FOR CHARITY.

An entertainment and dance will be held this evening at Columbus Hall when an evening of fun will be given by local and professional talent, the proceeds of the occasion to be used for the benefit of St. Mary's church, Stony Hill. A full orchestra will furnish music for the dancing.

DOUBT HUERTA'S DEPARTURE.

Washington, July 15.—Secretary of War Garrison does not take a serious view of the reported departure of General Huerta today. He compared the daily recurring reports to the farewell tours of the Mexican President.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 70 degrees; 11 a. m., 79 degrees; 1 p. m., 83 degrees.

PARTIAL LIST OF ELECTION DATES

Union County Election Board Meets to Organize on August 4.

With local and county politics rising with the July heat, it may be well for citizens to become familiar with the schedule of events as provided for by the Geran act, a partial list of which follows. The official season for politics will open August 4, when the County Election Board will organize at the courthouse at Elizabeth, after which preparations for the primary and election days will follow in quick succession. August 28 will be the last day for filing the petitions endorsing candidates for county offices. Petitions endorsing candidates for Congress must be filed with the Secretary of State by August 23, or thirty days before the primary election, although it is probable that, as the date falls on Sunday, the time be extended to August 24. September 2 is the date prescribed by the law as the final day for the filing of petitions endorsing candidates for the New Jersey Legislature, both Senate and Assembly. Candidates for local offices must also file their petitions on this date. The registry days this year occur September 8, September 22 and October 20, the second named date being primary day as well. Election day falls on Tuesday, November 3.

ITALIAN GALLANT HAD TO PAY A FINE OF $5

Because he administered a trouncing with a good sized club to Willie Simon, a sixteen-year-old youth, at Terrill road and East Seventh street, Lewis Lussi, a husky Italian youth, was hailed before Recorder Sheelen in the Fanwood court, last night, and sentenced to pay a fine of $5 or serve twenty days in the county jail. He elected to pay the fine.

The same case was heard in the city court last week, but evidence showed that the alleged offense was committed over the city line and the complaint was dismissed. Another warrant was sworn out by Simon and the Italian was apprehended by Marshal Logan, last night. The trouble centered about a girl who was in Simon's company at the time and the Italian sought to belittle the rival suitor with his slurring remarks.

POLITICAL NOTES.

David L. Coleman, an active member of the West End Civic Association, and a resident of the Fourth Ward, has about decided to enter the Councilmanic race this year and will seek the nomination on the Democratic ticket.

United States Senator James E. Martine is announced as one of the speakers at a mass meting to be held in New York, Friday night, at which Amos Pinchot will preside. The Colorado mine situation will be discussed. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has been invited to attend.

Business interests may prevent Mayor Percy H. Stewart from entering the State Senatorial race this fall, according to an announcement in yesterday's Elizabeth Journal, and until he knows whether he can adjust his affairs he will not commit himself.

Friends of Congressman Eugene Kinkead were disappointed when he did not arrive at Jersey City this week, when his answer on the shrievalty situation was expected. He is being urged to enter the race on the ground that it will prove of assistance to him in his candidacy for United States Senator to succeed James E. Martine.

Former Freeholder Pierson's candidacy for the Democratic Congressional nomination in the Fifth District, was endorsed by the Plainfield West End Association at the monthly meeting held at an outing at a grove in Fanwood township. His petition was circulated among the three-score members present and according to reports only three declined to sign.

A boom for John F. Connolly, of Plainfield, as a Democratic candidate for county clerk, has been launched by his friends. It is believed that John P. Owens, who was mentioned last week as the Queen City Democrats' candidate, has declined to make the run, preferring to continue his law practice and discharge the duties of inheritance tax appraiser for the county, to which place he was appointed several months ago by Governor Fielder. Mr. Connolly is a member of the city and county Democratic committees and for some time was secretary of the Plainfield Democratic Club. He is looked upon as one of the stalwarts of the party in Plainfield.

CLOSED ALL DAY THURSDAY DURING MONTH OF AUGUST

THE GAS RANGE PROVIDES IDEAL SUMMER SERVICE.

Meals must be cooked in summer and the problem is to get the necessary service and avoid unnecessary heat.

With a Gas Range there is no fuel wasted in building or preparing fires, as with coal ranges, which fuel costs money and simply overheats the house without doing any good.

If you have a Gas Range you create no unnecessary heat. You have the fire only when you want to use it and just where you want to use it. You have the fuel at hand ALL THE TIME, too, without fussing or filling or bothering about the supply.

Those who remain at home during the summer can materially increase their comforts by using a Gas Range for cooking in preference to any other service.

It's the cleanest, coolest, most comfortable way to cook and with 90 CENT GAS it is very economical.

We have ranges of all good types and at prices to suit every pocketbook. A small payment down will put a Gas Range in your home.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE FIFTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT OF NEW JERSEY

I respectfully beg leave to announce my candidacy for Republican nomination for member of the House of Representatives, at the Primary Election to be held in the Fifth Congressional District comprising the Counties of Union and Morris, on Tuesday, September 22nd, 1914.

While it is my intention to make a thorough canvass of the District during the next two months, for the purpose of informing the voters as to my belief and position regarding the vital questions of the day, I realize that there are many whom I cannot reach in person, and I therefore purpose the setting forth of my political doctrines and beliefs from time to time in the various newspapers of the District.

Welcoming the co-operation and support of all who believe in the Republican party, both for its deeds of accomplishment and for its promise as the great factor in the country's future welfare, I am,

Respectfully,
JOHN H. CAPSTICK.

Montville, N. J.,
July 15, 1914.

BASEBALL NOTES

Tris Speaker, who has been one of the leading clean-up wallopers for several years, has found the climb into the .300 division a hard one this season.

The Chicago White Sox are a great home team this season. Of the 39 games played on their own lot the Sox have won 28 and lost 11.

Chillicothe is leading and Paris is trailing in the Ohio State League race. It always was a considerable distance between Chillicothe and Paris.

Manager Herzog, of the Reds, and Maisel, of the Yankees, are leading the National and American Leagues, respectively, in the art of base-stealing.

Charley Carr's "come back" stunt looks to be the genuine article. The former American Leaguer is killing the ball and putting up a fine game at first for the Indianapolis Feds.

Lange, Fisk and McGuire, the trio of speedy pitchers with the Chifeds, are all Chicago sand-lotters and no one of the three ever played in regulation company before this season.

Pitcher Martin, who was tried out by the Boston Red Sox last season, recently pitched and won both ends of a double-header for the Beaumont, Texas, team.

Manager John McGraw now picks the Chicago Cubs as the one team able to put up a real fight against the Giants for the National League pennant.

Since joining the St. Louis Feds, Dave Davenport, the former Cincinnati pitcher, has been knocked off the mound five times in succession. The Feds certainly have a squad of wicked hitters.

Jake Daubert has put the crusher on the report that he has a hankering for Manager Robinson's job. The Brooklyn first sacker declares he has no desire to pilot a team so long as he is able to play every day.

Shortstop Jimmy McAuley, of the Waterloo Central Association team, has been purchased by the Pittsburgh Pirates. As a fellow named Wagner is doing fairly well at short for the Pirates it is likely that James will do the most of his shortstopping on the bench.

Joe Rivers will meet Johnny Tillman in a 20-round wrangle at Vernon on July 17.

A Milwaukee promoter is angling for a Sailor Petroskey-Bob Moha bout to take place in the Cream City next month.

Eddie McGoorty claims that Jimmy Clabby jumped into the foul that lost him (McGoorty) the recent fight in Australia.

ROD AND REEL

The trout fishing season ends in this State today. The season has not been a very successful one, when the number or size of fish is considered. Last fall and early in the winter the State Fish and Game Commission stocked a number of the better known streams in the northern section of the State with small fry, as well as trout that ran over the legal limit of six inches. Most of the nearby streams were fished out long before the season was well under way. In one instance an angler fished a little known stream just this side of Greenwood Lake and together with a companion caught probably seventy trout in three miles of brook. Of these, more than sixty had to be put back into the water because they were under size. In consequence, the fish died. Had the law made it compulsory for the angler to take the first numerical limit of fish he caught, whether undersize or not, that would have ended the day's fishing and would, perhaps, have left some of the trout to grow to more than the legal size for next season's fishing. It seems like a waste of the State's money to stock streams and then permit the anglers to fish them before the trout have reached full size.

The weakfish are still with us and one of the finest places for boats to anchor is near the boundary beacon off Seidler's Beach, or at the black buoy that marks the South Amboy channel, just east of the coal docks of South Amboy. Another good place is just off the pound nets at Belford.

"What a pity there isn't some law to keep the purse netters out of Raritan Bay," is something that hundreds of fishermen say every day. Just as soon as a few bluefish enter the bay a swarm of power boats appear and never stop until every fish is netted. These fishermen have all of the lower bay and the ocean to work in, but they take delight in setting their nets right around a school of blues, where a dozen rod-and-line men are catching a few. The pound net men wonder why the rod-and-line men appeal to the Legislature for protection, and this is one of the reasons.

The fishermen of the Highlands and Water Witch are getting some fine big weakfish these days. There are several well-known fishing spots down that way, but any old spot where the water is deep enough will produce results. Some of the wise chaps are fishing between the island and Sandy Rook Reservation and the big fish that are landed there surprise even the old-timers.

East winds are still coming, much to the displeasure of the salt water fisherman. We do not remember when there was such a season of unfavorable weather and the best of the prognostigators have fallen down in their art. Deep sea fishing seems to hold on better than many experts thought possible, and, if we could get a spell of settled weather, there would be no end to the fish that would be caught from the fishing boats.

The writer frequently gets letters asking him about shedder crabs for bait, and they all seem to leave the impression that the writers don't know how to cut a crab to the best advantage. In fact, one chap said that when he put a crab on the hook it couldn't be seen and that crabs were expensive when a whole one had to be baited each time. The writer gets eight and ten baits from a crab, according to the size. The claws will give two, the bodies four and the back covering the lungs and the apron, two. This doesn't make the bait expensive and frequently two or more fish can be caught on one bait.

LEADERS DROP BACK IN BOWLING LEAGUE

Pinning at the Dunellen Presbyterian Alleys Getting Brisk.

By losing two of the four contests played in the Presbyterian two-team bowling league of Dunellen, last night, the Vail-Johnson team dropped from a first place tie to the second rung in the standing of the teams. All of the three teams that took part in the contests last night won two and lost two, making the standings for the evening .500 all around. The pinning of Mrs. Vail and Miss Alice Apgar was the feature of the evening, each getting a score of 111 in one game. In her second match with the Stryker-Eckerson duo, Miss Apgar made two strikes and one spare in the first three frames and at the end of the fifth round was bowling 150. She dropped off in the latter part of the match.

In the individual standing, Mrs. Fred Vail went from first place to second, while Mrs. Dice, who was idle last night, took the lead with 824 points in eight games for an average of 103. Mrs. Vail dropped from 106 to 101. All of the participants of last night's contest pinned well and the team high score for the night was 192, made by Miss Luella Stryker and Mrs. F. Eckerson, in the first match of the evening.

The score and standings follow:

Standing of the Teams.

Team	W.	L.	P.C.

ALTITUDE RECORD GONE AGAIN

Leipsic, July 15.—Aviator Heinrich Oelerich broke the world's altitude record, ascending 25,000 feet in his biplane.

This is the second time within five days that the altitude record has been boosted. On July 9 Aviator Otto Linnekogl, in a monoplane at Johannisthal, attained a height of 21,654 feet.

Last week Aviator Boehm, at Johannisthal, shattered the duration record, remaining aloft twenty-four hours.

TO RACE SEVEN DAYS.

Windsor, Ont., July 15—Under the auspices of the Windsor Jockey Club a seven-day race meeting was inaugurated here today under conditions that promise one of the most successful meetings here in recent years. Practically all of the best horses that have been campaigning over the Canadian circuit this summer are entered for the various events that make up the week's program.

LONG BALL GAME.

New Haven, Conn., July 15.—The New Haven and Hartford baseball clubs, in the Eastern Association, battled for twenty-three innings, yesterday, the Hartford team finally winning by a score of 2 to 1. The game lasted for four hours.

"SPORTDOM TIPS"

It might be well for some of those young aspirants to athletic honors in Plainfield to give the performances of those Jefferson Democratic Club competitors the "O. C." Participating in the annual field and track meet of the organization at Scotch Plains, Sunday afternoon, the members, many of whom were stiffened and rusty owing to inactivity along this line, hung up some records which may well be the source of envy by the younger blood.

A Newark writer opines that Robert Singerling, who won the five-mile event at Parker Field, July 4, was dressed and on the track when the second man finished. Inasmuch as the second runner to cross the tape finished several yards in back of the Newarker we might suggest that the same writer credit Singerling with a record for quick dressing.

This is the kind of weather that makes the sportsman take to cover, everybody's looking for something to counteract the effects of the prolonged acquaintance with Old Sol but up to date we have been one of the unfortunates. Unless a revival is started in the local sporting world before long we have every reason to believe that the disinterest will become so deeply rooted that it will take a season or two to start things going again.

We venture to remark that Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the Plainfield Pets, will retain "Hub" Stine and George Townley, the Springfield twins, for further use throughout the summer months. That's what we call patronizing home talent.

Thus far this season we have seen no reason why the stands at Parker Field need enlarging. Last year agitation was started for an addition to the present seating capacity but we would have a job filling any new places this year.

Why the lack of interest in that tennis tourney proposed by the Y. M. C. A.? An event of this nature would go a long way toward awakening the sporting world just at the present time.

GATHERING OF OSTEOPATHS.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 15—Two weeks hence there is to assemble in this city the largest gathering of osteopathic physicians and surgeons ever held in the world. The occasion is the international conference of practitioners of the osteopathic school. Officially it is known as the eighteenth annual convention of the American Osteopathic Association. Three thousand delegates are expected. The sessions will be held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. Each afternoon of the convention there will be a clinical convention of the technique of osteopathic treatment in charge of Dr. J. R. McDougall, of Chicago. The operators will include Dr. G. W. Reid, of Worcester, Mass.; Dr. C. E. Farnum, of Newport, R. I., and Dr. D. K. Byrkit, of Boston. Surgical clinics will be held in the dispensary of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy. Neurological clinics will be given at the Philadelphia Hospital, which is one of the largest institutions of its kind in the country. The concluding day of the convention will be devoted exclusively to the consideration of nerves and mental diseases.

NEW PROVIDENCE PRINCIPAL.

New Providence, July 15—John D. Edwards, of Northfield, N. Y., was engaged as principal of the borough schools for the next school year at a special meeting of the Board of Education, Monday night. Mr. Edwards is a graduate of the New York State Normal School and of Union College. He has had twelve years of teaching experience and comes here from Mendham, where he finished the last school year as principal. Mr. Edwards was selected from a large number of applicants. He was present at the meeting and is prepared to take up his duties at an early date. Mr. Edwards is the third principal here in the last two months. Francis M. Burdick, who was principal for two years, resigned at the end of the last school year and was succeeded by John O. Appler, of Belleville, who, several weeks after accepting the position, resigned.

SEE JONES VICTORY AFTER SENATE CLASH

Majority of Four Predicted After Secret Debate.

Washington, July 15.—The opening guns in the fight between the president and members of the senate over the confirmation of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago for the federal reserve board were fired.

For four hours the senate in executive session discussed the nomination. At the close of the debate the president's supporters were predicting that Jones would be confirmed by at least a majority of four.

The matter came up in the senate unexpectedly when Senator Hitchcock rose in open senate and asked unanimous consent for the printing of Mr. Jones' testimony, taken by the banking and currency committee, and the report for and against the nomination and to remove the seal of secrecy therefrom.

"If that matter is to be brought up now I have only to say that the senator from Nebraska or some other senator has already made public all or nearly all of the statements made by Mr. Jones before the committee, and it has been published in the newspapers," said Senator Stone, glaring at Chairman Hitchcock.

"If we are to consider this matter I suggest that it ought to be taken up behind closed doors," added Senator Stone.

"I second the motion," suggested Senator Kern, whereupon the vice president ordered that the galleries be cleared and the doors closed. It was soon learned that even the executive clerks, who usually attend executive sessions, had been asked to retire. But this order was rescinded later, and the clerks were called in.

During the four hours the senate was plunged into an acrimonious debate, in which charges of bad faith were bandied back and forth by Democratic senators. Senator Blair Lee of Maryland, a Democratic member of the banking and currency committee, charged that Acting Chairman Hitchcock had given out the substance of Mr. Jones' statements before the committee without instructions from the committee.

SAYS LIPTON IS INNOCENT.

Attorney General Asserts He Had No Part In Canteen Scandal.

London, July 15.—The attorney general, replying to a question by Sir Arthur Harkham in the house of commons, said that there was no evidence before him to warrant the criminal prosecution of Sir Thomas Lipton in connection with the army canteen scandals in which army officers and employees of Lipton's, Ltd., were convicted. The attorney general said that proceedings already had been undertaken in the cases of all against whom there was evidence.

The reply was applauded, and cheers were given for the Shamrock IV. in its attempt to lift the America's cup.

DEFENSE HIT BY STORY OF MAID

Saw Mrs. Carman Enter House After Murder.

GRAND JURY STARTS PROBE

"I Am Innocent," Asserts Prisoner In Statement Issued From Cell—Begs Her Friends to Keep Their Faith In Her For Awhile.

Freeport, N. Y., July 15.—Celia Coleman, negro maid in the home of Dr. Edwin Carman two weeks ago when Mrs. Louise Bailey was shot and killed there, has told her "amplified" story to the grand jury. In the opinion of those who have followed the case closely it spells indictment for Mrs. Florence Carman, wife of the physician, who is locked in Mineola jail charged with murder.

The essential part of the maid's testimony as related to the grand jury at Mineola is that she was in the kitchen of the Carman home at the time of the shooting, that she heard the fatal shot and the commotion in the doctor's office which followed and that while she stood stock still in the kitchen, too frightened to move, Mrs. Carman came rushing in from the rear yard.

Mrs. Carman was breathless and excited, the maid said. She did not see a revolver, but she not only saw Mrs. Carman, but spoke to her, and Mrs. Carman answered.

Previously she had denied that she had seen her after the murder until she got a glimpse of her more than an hour later in her room upstairs.

Celia Coleman is being kept under cover here awaiting to be called as a witness before the grand jury, which has began its investigation of the case. District Attorney Smith would say nothing when asked about the details of her new statement.

Word was received here, however, from William J. Burns, whose detectives have been keeping close watch on the girl, that she had made "a complete confession," and that her new story cleared up whatever there remained of the mystery.

What Mrs. Carman Says.

Mrs. Carman's statement, made in the county jail and given out by her attorney, follows:

"I only ask that the public suspend judgment upon me until the entire truth regarding the murder of poor Mrs. Bailey is known. I am satisfied that the truth will come out when I am exonerated, for neither Dr. Carman nor myself will rest until the murderer is captured.

"The public seems to take much delight in thinking me a woman of iron nerve, when as a matter of fact I am really crushed under this terrible charge. It is a terrible punishment that has been meted out to me for the suspicion that I permitted to cloud the love that I hold for my husband.

"My little baby has been sent to the home of strangers, my mother is lying at the point of death, my father is a broken old man, and my sister, Mrs. Ida Powell, has been accused of forsaking me. How untruthful this insinuation about Ida is can only be realized by one who witnessed her pitiable collapse after my arrest.

"I cannot understand why everything said by me, by my husband or by any one else connected with me has been so distorted. All I ask of any one is fair play. I am innocent.

Still Finds Comfort.

"Still there is comfort to be gleaned from my position. Never have my husband and myself been so closely united. Never before have I known what real friendship is. I have been overcome by messages of sympathy that have been sent to me by friends and acquaintances everywhere.

"I was not jealous of my husband. I installed the dictograph to set at rest the statements made by certain people about him.

"Poor Mrs. Duryea (Mrs. Bailey's mother), my heart goes out to her. I have seen it in the papers that she wishes to have one look at me. Surely the authorities can arrange it so that this grain of comfort can be given to the poor old lady. There is nothing that I would not do to soften her grief."

3 GIRLS DROWNED WADING.

Tuberculosis Patients Step Into Deep Hole While Paddling.

Westfield, Mass., July 15.—Three young girls, patients at the State Tuberculosis hospital, were drowned while in wading in the Westfield river in company with about twenty other patients.

The drowned were Fannie Gold, fourteen, and Bella D. Steinburg, fifteen, of Boston, and Annie E. Linehan, thirteen, of Chelsea.

The girls, who were accompanied by a nurse, were wading about when four of the party stepped into a hole about six feet deep. One of the number could swim and reached shore safely. The other three drowned before help came.

Denver, July 15.—Raymond Benjamin of Napa, Cal., was elected grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks by acclamation.

—If you have a really desirable house or apartment to rent, your "ad" will constitute GOOD NEWS to some anxious people in this city.

ATT'Y GEN. M'REYNOLDS.

Prosecution of New Haven Directors Is Now In His Hands.

That one of the effects of the New Haven report will be to widen the breach between the interstate commerce commission and the department of justice is indicated at Washington. When inquiries of "What are you going to do about it?" were made at the department of justice inquirers were referred to Attorney General McReynolds' letter to Senator Norris last January, in which he declared that "there was no law under which the department could prosecute the New Haven directors for improvident or dishonest use of the stockholders' money."

RIVAL CONFESSES MURDER OF YOUTH

Police Obtain Full Confession From Murphy.

Mount Holly, N. J., July 15.—A complete confession of the horrible details surrounding the murder of Herman Fisher near the home of his sweetheart, Ida Wilhelm, at New Albany, shortly before midnight on Saturday has been made by Edgar Murphy, who was arrested on suspicion by County Detective Parker and Deputy Sheriff Fleetwood, and all mystery connected with the brutal crime has been removed.

This confession was made at the county jail in the presence of the officers named, County Prosecutor Atkinson and Sheriff Jordan, and it came at the close of their complete investigation of the crime and a rigid examination of Murphy. The officers to whom the credit for closing the case is due were satisfied yesterday that they had the murderer of young Fisher, but it was not until today, when their investigation was finished, that they were able to show Murphy how he had lied to them and confronted him with facts and circumstances which he could not deny.

The state was well fortified with direct evidence for the ordeal to which Murphy was subjected, and when he saw nothing could be gained by his further denial of the facts he broke down and made a clean breast of the heartless crime.

Prosecutor Atkinson would not give the details of the statement, but he has the cold facts in his possession for use when occasion demands.

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Quick Profits.

"HORSE poker might cheer you up some, Jim," advised Blackie Daw compassionately. "Horses, cows and dogs that we see out of this side of the car in the next ten minutes, each count one; white horses, five; cats, ten; goats, fifteen; cat on a roof, fifty; elephants and crocodiles, 100, and a man drinking whisky out of a red jug, 150. We each put down a number in advance, and the one coming nearest to the actual count wins two bits."

Wallingford turned from the scenery good naturedly enough. "We can't afford to be reckless with our quarters," he returned with a laugh. "I'd even be afraid to pass one backward and forward at the ends of four bets, for fear we might drop it."

"You're so fussy about money," complained Blackie and sang quite cheerfully:

"A stingy man once had a cent.
He couldn't die till it was spent.
He never drank nor ate nor bet,
And so the grouch is living yet."

Wallingford, who had been almost morose, now chuckled comfortably, and Blackie, glad to see the big round face of J. Rufus turn its usual jovial pinkness, grinned in gratification.

"I am glad I took vocal lessons in my youth," he confided. "A cultivated voice is such a great comfort."

"To the possessor, possibly," admitted Wallingford. "Blackie, I've never been able to figure out whether you're cheerful or just foolish. We're so near broke that I dread to have the porter brush our hats, and we don't know where we're going to get out next dollar. Yet you chirrup away as if you hadn't a care in the world."

"I haven't," serenely asserted Blackie. "That's up to you. I have faith in you, Jimmy.

"The miser man was full of sin.
St. Peter would not let him in.
His soul was lost beyond recall,
So he refused to die at all."

"Don't look," warned Wallingford, touching Blackie on the knee and laughing again to conceal his serious interest. "Three chairs behind you, on the other side of the car, is a persimmon faced man with a reckless necktie. When you get a chance look and see if we owe him anything."

Blackie presently looked around as if to take an idle survey of the car, and the man whom Wallingford had described immediately nodded energetically.

"He looks worse when he smiles," decided Blackie. "Rest easy about him though, Jim. I never knew anybody who looked like that. I sleep too well."

"He knows us all right," decided Wallingford with a frown. "Let's go back to the smoker. I don't feel strong enough to wrestle with anybody who ever invested money with us."

They found the smoking compartment deserted, and Wallingford, lighting a strong cigar, resumed his gloomy occupation of looking out the window.

"I believe this is Mr. Wallingford and Mr. Daw," piped a shrill voice, and Wallingford knew, without turning that the persimmon faced man had followed them. He looked around with his happiest smile.

"They tell me I look a lot like him," he confessed. "You have the advantage of me, however."

"I never met you personally," acknowledged the stranger, "but I've seen you often. I'm E. P. Steele of Cinderburg."

Blackie, looking past the man's back at Wallingford, reached as if for the bell cord, but grinned. A man from Cinderburg might or might not be a serious menace, but in any event he was discomforting.

"Oh, yes, Cinderburg!" observed Wallingford, with every indication of pleasure. "Live little city that."

"Yes, it is," agreed the man, "in spite of the jolt you gave it. You certainly did teach them a quick lesson in high finance. That was the smoothest bit of work ever pulled off in our town."

His tone and his expression were most admiring, for which reason Wallingford disliked him intensely.

"I conducted an entirely legitimate business enterprise," he insisted, with great dignity. "The Bang sun engine was a wonderful idea, and it was not my fault that Mr. Bang was unable to perfect his invention. If he had done his share I would have made him a millionaire."

"Ed Bang's working in the washing machine factory now at $18 a week and trying to pay off his debts. Your company may have been a legitimate one, Mr. Wallingford, but everybody in Cinderburg votes the other way. You should have seen what the papers said about you after you left. They said you were the cleverest grafter and the most enjoyable thief now at large. They said that to be robbed by you was a pleasure and that to know you was a liberal education in burglary."

"The nasty things," objected Mr. Daw. "Why, Mr. Steele, I have known Mr. Wallingford for years, and look at me."

The man did look at him and a little enviously. "I wish I'd had your opportunities," he stated. "I've dressed like our friend Wallingford, and I've tried to follow his methods, but I seem to have missed a number on the combination somewhere."

"Didn't they pinch you for either attempt?" demanded Blackie.

"They don't pinch a sucker," declared Mr. Steele ruefully. "I lost money every time I tried to turn a trick. Once I got beat up, and twice I was robbed by strictly legal methods. I started out of Cinderburg three months ago with $50,000, and now I have only $5,000. I'm a failure even as a crook."

"I knew you were mistaken in my methods," reproved Wallingford, "for I make it a rule to play so straight that I stay absolutely within the law."

The man looked unconvinced. "I wish you'd take my remaining $5,000 and show me how it's done," he suggested.

"I'll take the bet," said he calmly. "Give me your $5,000, and I'll turn a business deal with it, and I'll give you an equal share with me in the proceeds."

"Do you mean it?" inquired Steele eagerly.

"Give me your $5,000," repeated Wallingford, holding out his hand.

"Well, I haven't over a couple of hundred in cash with me," regretted Mr. Steele, "but I'll give you a check on the Cinderburg Commercial bank," and he whipped out his check book in a hurry lest Wallingford might change his mind. "Where are we going to operate?"

"Cinderburg!" repeated Steele in astonishment. "Why, you couldn't sell $20 gold pieces for 10 cents in that town, and the first crooked move you'd make they'd hang you."

"I don't intend to make a crooked move," declared Wallingford. "Cinderburg and you have an entirely erroneous impression of me, and I shall make it a point of honor to remove that impression."

He expanded his broad chest and held his head proudly.

"You mean that you intend to start a straight business, with no trick about it?" Mr. Steele wanted to know, retaining the check that he had been about to pass to Wallingford.

"Exactly that," replied J. Rufus firmly.

"Not with my $5,000," objected Mr. Steele, shaking his head. "I'm looking for quick profits."

"With your $5,000!" insisted Mr. Wallingford, removing the check gracefully from Mr. Steele's fingers and putting it in his pocket.

Mr. Morley of the Commercial bank was presiding at the wicket during the luncheon hour of his paying teller when the broad shoulders and cheery features of J. Rufus Wallingford, with Steele just behind him, loomed suddenly before him. Mr. Morley's mouth popped open, and his long white fingers trembled. Why, here in the very flesh was the man who had sold him worthless stock to the amount of thousands of dollars and had gone away with the money. And yet it was Mr. Morley and not Mr. Wallingford who was now nervous.

"Why, hello, Morley!" said the latter gentleman, his round face beaming with pleasure. "It's been a long time since I saw you, but you're looking as spry as ever. How's business?"

"Very fair indeed," hesitated Mr. Morley. "I—I never expected to see you again."

"Why not?" demanded Wallingford, laughing. "We both have money."

Mr. Morley winced painfully. "I have no more for investment in untried schemes," he hastened to state.

"Nothing venture, nothing gain," quoted Wallingford cheerfully, shoving his check under the window.

Mr. Morley looked at that check and blinked. He turned it over. It was properly indorsed. He held that Wallingford owed him something like $20,000, that J. Rufus had robbed him outright of that much, and here was $5,000 of the money in his own aching fingers!

"Is this by way of restitution?" he asked, assuming his severest Bible class expression.

"No, cash," Wallingford gayly informed him, chuckling. "Large bills, please."

Mr. Morley, peering out at Steele, developed another virtuous idea.

"I suppose you know that this closes your account, Mr. Steele," he advised.

"To the penny," agreed Mr. Steele.

"Have you had value received for this?"

"Almost," asserted Mr. Steele. "I've had at least $5,000 worth of promises."

"Then I must warn you against this man Wallingford," went on Mr. Morley, shaking with indignation. "I cannot definitely state that he is a robber and a thief, but I am quite positive, from my own experience, that his commercial transactions are likely to be highly unprofitable to any one but himself."

"I've had at least $5,000 worth of promises."

"That's what I'm banking on," replied Mr. Steele with an anxious laugh.

"I'll take $1,000 in hundreds and the balance in five hundreds," gently insinuated Mr. Wallingford.

Mr. Morley hesitated, then mechanically he pushed the money under the wicket, and Mr. Wallingford thanked him.

"By George, it's like coming back home to see you!" commented Wallingford heartily. "Come over to the New Auditorium tonight, Morley, and have dinner with us. I'm going to call a meeting of the Bang Sun Engine company, and we'll have a talk over old times."

Mr. Morley looked at Mr. Wallingford with a return of his stupefaction. There actually stood the man, still in the flesh, with $5,000 of a fellow citizen's money, unearned, in his pocket, his face beaming with cordial good will and good cheer! Somewhere, down in the depths of his ashen anatomy Mr. Morley found an unexpected drop of humor and he actually smiled.

"By golly, I'll come!" he said.

Mr. Steele was lost in profound hero worship as they rejoined Blackie in the cab.

"That's one of the tricks I couldn't get," he confessed to Blackie. "I often succeeded in making men smile, but they wouldn't come to my parties."

"Every little giggle has a meaning all its own," said Blackie softly.

At the New Auditorium, Steele tried lesson No. 1. "Why, hello, Candie!" he exclaimed, rushing up to the dapper clerk. He smiled broadly and pushed out his chest and, beaming and beaming upon Mr. Candie, thrust forward his hand. "It's like being a boy again to come back home."

"Have you been out of town?" asked Candie carelessly, touching the proffered hand and reaching past him to shake hands with the new guest. "You're looking fine, Mr. Wallingford. Glad to have you with us again. The governor's suit was just vacated yesterday," and he smiled upon Wallingford with genuine joy. He knew all about Wallingford's scarcely doubtful commercial transactions, but a hotel desk is not a jury room. Wallingford's bill for two would come close to $500 a week.

"Glad to be back," returned Wallingford, radiating equal joy—"that is, if you have left any of that '98 Chateau Yquem. Candie, I wish you'd look after a little dinner of, say, twelve covers tonight. Have you the same chef?"

"Tell him I leave the dinner right up to him. I wouldn't even give Henri a hint."

Mr. Steele followed him thoughtfully, still worried with the analysis of Wallingford's smile. He had not acquired the trick of it yet. He sat silently in the governor's suit while Wallingford and Blackie removed the dust of travel and was keenly interested in the fact that Wallingford had exchanged his black tie for a dark red one and the plain waistcoat of his traveling suit for a gray silk one.

"Are we going out and circulate, Jim?" asked Blackie.

"I think so," replied Wallingford gravely, for he had been deep in thought ever since he had turned away from the desk. "Telephone down and see if we can't get a touring car. You'll come along with us, I suppose, Mr. Steele?"

"Well," hesitated Mr. Steele, "I feel as if I ought to have a share in the spending of my money, but I have to run over to my boarding house awhile and look after sending out my laundry and get straightened around. Can't you wait?"

Wallingford shook his head promptly. "The only way I can avoid being lynched in this town is to keep busy," he affirmed.

"I guess you're right about that," admitted Mr. Steele. "What are you going to start?"

"I won't make up my mind until just before dinner time," announced Wallingford. "I shall have to study the needs of the town."

"I don't believe it needs anything," returned Steele doubtfully. "My sister wrote me all the news while I was away, and it seems to me that the business is growing faster than the town. There are three new factories, a big new bakery, an immense fancy grocery, and they're just getting ready for the opening of the largest department store in the middle west—Krelger's. That's the big new building we passed on our way up from the depot. They say he's from Philadelphia and is a natural born fighter. The other merchants have already tried to freeze him out of the newspapers."

Wallingford sat down to wait for the automobile. "How could they do that?" he asked with the keen interest of a good business man.

This is the season when a tailored blouse becomes a necessity for sport and outing wear. A very attractive middy is shown in No. 8154. It is made to slip on over the head, has a full-length raglan sleeve which may be cut off at elbow length if preferred and a shaped collar that may be laced high or low in front. It is plain in the back and is slightly shirred in front with a narrow trimming band on either side. This blouse may be made in the different linens, galatea or duck. Size 36 requires 2⅞ yards of 42-inch material with ⅝ of a yard of 22-inch contrasting material for the collar and cuffs. Pattern comes in seven sizes, 30 to 42.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state the right size measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing fifteen cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

PICNIC SANDWICHES.

SIMPLE sandwiches for the children's picnic basket or to serve at lawn fetes or garden parties may be made as follows:

Piquant Sandwiches.

Nut Sandwiches. — Spread entire wheat bread, cut triangular, butter, then add a filling made of one cup almonds, one cupful peanuts and one cupful English walnuts mixed with two tablespoonfuls mayonnaise and chopped fine.

Bacon Sandwiches. — Breakfast bacon, delicately broiled and shredded makes the most appetizing of sandwiches, especially if put between toasted graham bread. The bacon must lie on lettuce and be seasoned with paprika or red pepper. These sandwiches may be eaten hot or cold.

Novel Use of Mayonnaise.

Mayonnaise Sandwiches.—Make mayonnaise, using plenty of red pepper and lemon juice in the seasoning. Spread on a bit of lettuce put between fresh gluten bread, trimmed of all crust. Only a little of the mayonnaise must be used.

Cream Sandwiches.—Take half a pint of good cream, three teaspoonfuls of salmon or shrimp paste, half a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, salt and pepper and thin slices of brown bread. Whisk the cream till quite stiff. Stir the fish paste in lightly, add the parsley and season well. Spread this mixture on the slices of unbuttered bread and stamp out in neat little rounds. A dust of red pepper improves the appearance of these. Serve on a lace paper.

Cut Very Thin.

Ribbon Sandwiches.—Take six thin slices of bread and butter them on both sides; then spread layers of deviled ham or chicken between, then press the sandwich together. Slice crosswise, making thin ribbon-like sandwiches, or use alternate slices—wafer thin—of white and brown bread, with a filling of cream cheese and chopped nuts or olives.

Chicken Salad Sandwiches. — Chop the white meat of chicken very fine, then pound to a smooth pulp in a mortar. Season to taste with salt, pepper, olive oil and a little lemon juice, and spread upon thin slices of lightly buttered bread, put together and press.

The Elf Then Blew Loudly on a Bugle.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

DADDY had a story all ready to tell the children, so he wasted no time about beginning.

"Yesterday," he began, "the elves had a party, to which, of course, they invited the brownies, as they are all such good friends.

"They sent out their invitations a week in advance so as to be quite formal and to be sure that all their guests would come. In brownie land, fairyland and animal land they feel dreadful if one invited guest cannot accept.

"For invitation cards they used daisies. To each guest they sent one daisy, and if the guest was able to accept the daisy was to be returned with one petal pulled off. If not the whole daisy was to be sent back, done up in a leaf, with all the petals pulled off.

"In a day or so after the invitations were sent the replies began to come in, and it was with great excitement that the elves watched for them, and, to their huge delight, every daisy was sent back with just the one petal off.

"Promptly yesterday afternoon at 3 all the brownies arrived.

"The first thing they noticed was a large circle made of daisies and vines, in the center of which stood an elf dressed up as a daisy.

"'What does that mean?' asked the brownies.

"'That little elf is the master of ceremonies,' replied the other elves.

"'Master of ceremonies?' the brownies repeated. 'What does that mean?'

"'It means,' replied the elves, 'that that little elf is to tell us all what we are to do this afternoon and just when we are to do it.'

"And almost before the elves had finished talking the little daisy elf blew loudly upon a long bugle and then shouted:

"'The potato race comes first!'

At that all the elves rushed for a basket of potatoes, divided them around, and every one started to race, carrying one potato at a time on a spoon until all the potatoes were gone.

"'The hurdle race next!' once more shouted the elf.

"So they all ran from one big tree to another far off big tree, jumping over little hurdles decorated with ferns that the elves had fixed.

"'The presentation of the prizes,' said the elf, 'will now take place, and I will make a speech.'

"They all listened breathlessly to his speech for two reasons—the first because they had raced so much they were out of breath, and, second, because they didn't want to miss a word of what he was going to say.

"He made a very fine speech, too, and gave out beautiful prizes."

GROSSCUP AND FIELDER AT ODDS

Made Plain by Two Political Happenings.

FAILS TO APPOINT HOPKINS

Grosscup Refused to Withdraw His Name For Chairmanship of Democratic State Committee—J. A. Smith, Who Opposed Grosscup, Chosen as Custodian of Statehouse.

Trenton, N. J., July 15.—That there is a serious breach between Governor Fielder and State Treasurer Edward E. Grosscup, leader of the Wilson forces in New Jersey, was made plain by two political happenings.

Governor Fielder appointed all the members of county election boards who had been nominated by Mr. Grosscup as chairman of the Democratic state committee except Percy J. Hopkins of Hudson, a Wittpenn adherent, to whom the governor took exception. Mr. Grosscup had refused to withdraw the nomination of Mr. Hopkins when requested to do so by the governor, and thus the open break between the governor and the state chairman.

The statehouse commission, composed of the governor, state treasurer and State Comptroller Edwards, elected John A. Smith of Camden to succeed John W. Weseman of Newark as custodian of the statehouse. Mr. Weseman's resignation was already in the hands of Mr. Edwards, but had been withheld until such time as the commission might agree upon his successor.

Mr. Smith, the new custodian, is a clerk in the comptroller's office and is one of the lieutenants of James R. Nugent in Camden county. He joined in the attempt to defeat Mr. Grosscup for re-election to the state committee from Gloucester county.

Mr. Smith's name was suggested for custodian two months ago. His appointment was vigorously and apparently successfully opposed by the Grosscup and Wilson supporters in south Jersey.

Governor Fielder was said to have given assurance to State Committeeman Joseph E. Nourey and County Chairman John E. Welsh of Camden that he would not support Smith. The Hopkins incident in Hudson county is held responsible for the governor's sudden change of heart which gave Mr. Edwards the opportunity to land his man.

BEAR DESCENDS ON CAMPERS

They Fire at Bruin and Dogs Attack Him, but He Gets Away.

Newton, N. J., July 15.—A number of campers about two miles this side of Port Jervis had an exciting experience with a large black bear. Several shots were fired at the animal, and the dogs more or less chewed him up, but he got away. All day long parties of hunters searched the woods for a sight of him, but they were not successful.

It was about daybreak when some of the campers stirring about came face to face with the black bear. They all had guns, and they lost no time in opening fire on the bear. It is supposed that some of the shots went home as the bear turned and fled down the path leading to the woods.

SMITH OUT OF PRISON.

But Only to Appear as Witness in Newark Bankruptcy Court.

Newark, N. J., July 15.—Raymond B. Smith, former treasurer of the wrecked Roseville Trust company, had another short respite from prison when he appeared in bankruptcy court as a witness. Smith was released from state prison on a writ of habeas corpus, granted by Judge Thomas G. Haight of the United States district court.

The former banker was the principal witness in a hearing before Referee Edwin G. Adams regarding various claims against the bankrupt Home Ice and Products company. This concern was one of the several companies controlled by Smith while he was handling the finances of the Roseville Trust company.

ASBURY PARK FETE PLANS.

Coronation of Queen Titania Will Be Held at Ocean Grove Auditorium.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 15.—Definite announcement has been made that the coronation of Queen Titania will be held in the Ocean Grove Auditorium. There has been a fear that conflicting dates in the Grove and Asbury's program would make necessary a change in the coronation pavilion.

Tali Esen Morgan will supervise the preparation of the coronation program, and he promises a departure from old customs and features that, while in keeping with the legendary story of Titania's subjects, will nevertheless be novel enough to outline an entertainment along new lines.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., July 6, 1914.

AN ORDINANCE

A Supplement to an Ordinance Entitled "An Ordinance for the Assessment of Taxes for the Year 1914" Approved June 8, 1914.

WHEREAS, The Board of School Estimate of this school district, that is to say, the school district comprising the City of Plainfield, has fixed upon and determined the amount of money necessary to be appropriated for the use of the public schools in such district for the ensuing school year, exclusive of the amount apportioned to it by the County Superintendent of Schools, to wit, the sum of One Hundred Nine Thousand One Hundred Thirty Dollars ($109,130), and has made two certificates of said amount signed by all the members of said Board, one of which certificates has been delivered to the Board of Education of said school district and the other to the Common Council of said City;

Section 1.—That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled "An Act to establish a thorough and efficient system of free public schools, and to provide for the maintenance, support and management thereof," approved October 19th, 1903, and Acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, the sum of One Hundred Nine Thousand One Hundred Thirty Dollars ($109,130) be the same is hereby appropriated for the purpose aforesaid as other appropriations are made by the Common Council and that said amount shall be assessed, levied and collected for the year nineteen hundred and fourteen in the same manner as money appropriated for other purposes in this city are required to be assessed, levied and collected.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv

CAN YOU USE $1,000.?

This is a question that can be readily answered by most of us, but the problem of how to obtain $1,000 is not so easily solved.

We offer a solution: Open an installment bond account with us; deposit $25 monthly and at the end of 38 months we will pay you $1,005.50, all you have paid in, plus 4 per cent. interest.

If $25 monthly is too large, pay less, the result will be proportionate. Circulars on request.

GOVERNORS PLAN FURTHER CHANGES

Propose to Make Extensive Alterations to Old Hospital Buildings.

TO REMODEL KITCHEN

Commodious Children's Department Contemplated—$7,500 of Campaign Fund Subscriptions Still Unpaid.

Having completed the new buildings that were contemplated and made possible by the "whirlwind campaign" two years ago, the building committee of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital has been at work on the plans of alterations to the old buildings. Its report was presented at the meeting of the board this week. These plans contemplate the remodelling of the kitchen with complete and up-to-date equipment. This, it is said, will make possible the better serving of the numerous patients in the hospital. The plans further provides needed improvements and repairs to the operating pavilion and also for a new minor operating room.

It is also proposed to alter the old building to provide for a commodious children's department, which the hospital has needed for some years, and which will increase the usefulness of the organization to the community.

The amount of campaign fund subscriptions still unpaid is about $7,500 and the failure to receive in full these delinquent subscriptions is likely to prevent, or rather limit, the number of improvements to be made. If this full amount were assured to the hospital management, it would feel disposed to go considerably further in the improvements than is contemplated at present.

The management will go as far in making these necessary alterations as the funds will permit, but will go no further until it sees some hope of receiving the amount of delinquent subscriptions. The result of the hospital activities for the month of June is as follows:

Patients in the hospital June 1, 55; admitted during the month, 98; total number treated, 153; patients discharged during the month: Cured, 89; improved, 12; died, 6; patients in the hospital at the end of the month, 46; total patient days' treatment, 1,576; average per day, 52; total number of operations, 67; average number of operations per day, 2. Dispensary—patients admitted during the month, 82; return visits, 264; total visits made to the dispensary during month, 346; average visits per day, 11; ambulance calls during month, 18; average patients per day, in all departments, 64.

PETER NEUMAN CHOSEN DIRECTOR OF LOAN SOCIETY

Peter Neuman, of this city, is a director of the Beneficial Loan Society of Union county, which was formed at Elizabeth, this week. The object of the society is to make loans as authorized by the Egan act of 1914. The organization was effected at the office of Welcome W. Bender, Elizabeth.

The officers are: R. F. Hayes, Roselle Park, president; John W. Gates, Newark, vice president, and Mrs. Rose C. McKeever, temporary treasurer. The board of directors consists of R. F. Hayes, John W. Gates, Peter Neuman, Plainfield; Dr. W. W. Gill, Westfield, and Hezekiah Warne, Westfield.

The organization was formed temporarily in order to get a license to operate. In a circular the society states that "Every loan made will be secured by a chattel mortgage at the legal rate of three per cent. month—as authorized by the Egan act of 1914. This rate is much below the illegal charges heretofore enacted in Union county."

It is planned to have a large number of prominent business men in the county invest in the society, making the organization substantial and reliable.

There will be another meeting, probably next week, when permanent organization will be effected.

PRESENTS BILL.

County Clerk Anderson has tendered a bill to the borough of North Plainfield for a number of commitment papers which he made out on which he receives a fee. Eight of these papers were the committing of insane people from the borough to State institutions. The majority of these people were either foreigners or of foreign parentage. All of these cases were committed in the course of the past six months.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 78 degrees; 11 a. m., 81 degrees; 1 p. m., 85 degrees.

FIRST RETURNS UNDER NEW LAW

Mountainside Borough Files Tax Assessments With County Board.

VALUATION IS $530,350

Taxing Body Will Meet Tomorrow to Examine Statements Filed by the Various Banks in Union County.

The first returns of tax assessments under the new law affecting the valuations of farm land were made to the County Tax Board this week, from the borough of Mountainside, by Assessor Christian Fritz, Jr., who reported assessments of $318,750 on lands in the borough; $170,250 as the assessed valuation of buildings, and $41,350 of taxable personal property, making a total of $530,350 in taxable property.

Fritz's field books are the first returned from any district in the county. Mountainside borough is one of the districts most affected by the change in the law requiring separate assessments against land, buildings and personal property in the valuation of farms. In former years the land and personal property could be assessed together.

The County Tax Board will hold a special meeting tomorrow to examine the statements filed recently by the banks of the county under the new bank stock tax acts, to determine whether or not a further examination of the bank records shall be made or the statements accepted without such examination. The Board has the right under the law to verify the statements, but as the statements are sworn to by bank officials it is likely that they will be accepted without question.

More of the banks of the county adopted resolutions in April agreeing to pay the tax on their stock without having the assessments made against individual shareholders. In pursuing this course they do not have to give names of the individual shareholders, paying the tax in a lump sum instead.

It is probable that the Board of Freeholders at its August meeting will adopt the annual county budget, and the Tax Board will have the field books of the assessors by August 1 to compute the county tax rate, which should be known late in August or early in September.

Because of the withholding of road funds by the State this year the county has not expended as much money on road improvements as was contemplated, and as the State funds will not be available until about November 1, too late for road work this year, there will be an unexpended balance in the appropriation for road improvements which may offset other extraordinary county expenses and help to keep the 1914 tax rate down.

The revenue from the tax on bank stock, available this year for the first time, and the revaluation and equalization of assessments throughout the county, particularly on river front lands, are also calculated to be factors in favor of a reduced county tax rate.

MISS BENSON TO WED AT DUNELLEN

Will Become the Bride of Francis McSorley at 5 O'clock This Afternoon.

Miss Dorcas Benson, daughter of Mrs. Sophie Benson, of Columbia street, Dunellen, and Francis McSorley, of Front street, that place, will be quietly married at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the rectory of St. John's church, Dunellen, by Father E. J. Dunphy. Only relatives of the couple will witness the ceremony.

Miss Mary McNeil, of Plainfield, will be maid-of-honor, and John McMahon, of Dunellen, the best man. The bride will be gowned in a traveling suit of broadcloth of lavendar shade, and the maid-of-honor will be gowned in white.

Following the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride's mother, where supper will be served. The couple will leave this evening on a wedding trip through Pennsylvania. Upon their return they will reside temporarily with the bride's mother. Miss Benson has received a large collection of gifts.

SOMERVILLE APPLICANT.

W. A. Ackerman, of Somerville, is one of the twenty-five applicants whose names are being considered for the appointment to succeed Dr. Fred S. Shepherd as superintendent of schools in Asbury Park. The appointment will be made at a special meeting of the Board of Education to be held the early part of next week.

TWO MOTORCYCLE SPILLS BUT RIDERS ARE UNHURT

Two motorcycle accidents of a minor nature were recorded on North avenue, Dunellen, yesterday, both being assigned to slippery roads caused by the recent rains. A rider from Brooklyn ditched his machine, yesterday morning, while enroute to Whitehouse, but jumped from the vehicle in time to save himself from serious injury. The pedal and several minor parts of his machine were damaged, but he was able to proceed on his journey after a short delay for repairs.

Yesterday afternoon a Newark motorist skidded on the roadbed near the Barfuss garage and his motorcycle went through a hole that was covered with loose boards. He also escaped with a few scratches.

REMINISCENT CLUB'S TRIP IS TEMPORARILY ABANDONED

Although the completee arrangements have been made for the annual outing of the Reminiscent Club to Lake Hopatcong next Sunday, it was announced this morning that the affair would have to be abandoned temporarily, owing to a hitch in the proposed program. As has been the case since the idea was inaugurated the excursionists were planning to make Tommy Muir's camp on Halsey Island their headquarters, but thus far the committee has been unable to arrive at a satisfactorily agreement with the proprietor.

Fifty members of the organization and their friends were planning to take advantage of the opportunity next Sunday to visit New Jersey's well known lake and the cancellation comes as a great disappointment to many. Whether or not the outing will be held later in the season is not known at the present time.

PRIVATE FUNERAL FOR HUGH MULFORD ESTIL

The funeral services of Hugh Mulford Estil were held yesterday afternoon, at his late residence on Park avenue. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which Mr. Estil was a life-long member, officiated and was assisted by Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church. The interment was made at Hillside cemetery. The bearers were Robert Radford, C. K. Compton, J. Hervey Doane, John H. Doane, E. M. Laing and Howard Pope.

MISS ETHEL WENDELL GIVEN BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Miss Ethel Wendell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wendell, of 998 Arlington avenue, celebrated her seventeenth birthday anniversary, yesterday, and last night was given a surprise party at her home by a large number of friends. Miss Wendell has been spending two weeks with relatives at Watchung and was to return home last night. When she walked into the house she was greeted by a company of about fifty friends.

The rooms were attractively decorated with flowers, Japanese and Chinese lanterns. Dancing and games were the features. Miss Nettie Meeker was at the piano and gave a program of popular selections for dancing which was continued until a late hour. Refreshments were served. Miss Wendell received a large collection of gifts. There were guests present from Newark, Elizabeth, Bound Brook, Watchung and this city.

TRADES COUNCIL MEETING.

An important meeting of the Building Trades Council is to be held tomorrow evening at the hall of that organization. Several matters of importance will be discussed and a full attendance is desired. A fraternal delegation from the Business Men's Association will be present for the first time in official capacity. Civic questions will be considered, as the labor men have recently become interested in that suoject.

UNION SERVICE SUNDAY.

The third of the series of union services will be held Sunday evening at Trinity Reformed church. Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will preach the sermon, while the choir of the home church will render special music for the occasion. The service the following Sunday will be held at the First Presbyterian church.

DIVORCE GRANTED MRS. PHEBE CLARK

Local Woman Gets Interlocutory Decree Against James H. Clark.

Chancellor Walker has granted Mrs. Phebe H. Clark, of Jersey City, an interlocutory decree of divorce against her husband, James H. Clark, on the ground of desertion.

By special arrangement, Robert Newton Crane, counsel for Mrs. Clark, had the case referred to Isaac P. Runyon, of this city, as a Special Master in Chancery, for the reason that all of the witnesses in the case resided in town. Mrs. Clark is well known in this city, having lived here prior to moving to Jersey City.

BENEFIT RECEPTION ATTENDED BY MANY

Stony Hill Church Will Receive Neat Sum as Result of Dance.

The annual entertainment given by local charity workers for the benefit of St. Mary's church, Stony Hill, attracted a capacity audience to Columbus Hall, last night. The members of the village institution and their co-workers in Plainfield and North Plainfield planned a delightful evening of amusement and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Dancing with excellent music furnished by a local orchestra served to entertain many of the guests while others found diversion in the bowling alleys and pool tables.

During the evening a committee from the parish of the Stony Hill church furnished refreshments. The affair was a marked success and although the first to be held in this city for the benefit of that institution its popularity was evidenced by the large attendance. Prior to this time it has been customary to hold the event in the Stony Hill parish house and the guests were transported to and from this city and borough in buses. Owing to the fact that the gathering has always been largely a North Plainfield one, it was this year decided to hold the event in Columbus Hall and as a result a much larger sum was realized for the worthy cause.

WILL ENTERTAIN TEACHERS OF MIDDLESEX COUNTY

The teachers of Middlesex county who are attending the summer school sessions will entertain the other public teachers attending the school in Ballantine gymnasium, New Brunswick, this evening, after which a dance will be enjoyed.

The early evening will be given over to a delightful program which has been arranged by an efficient committee and will include musical selections by Miss Anna Silzer, Miss Robbins and Prof. A. W. Wilmot. Addresses will be given by Dr. W. H. Demarest and Dr. George Payson. Recitations will be given by Miss Edna Barbour and Miss Cummings.

Bruns will serve refreshments. The music for dancing will be furnished by Mrs. Cortelyou. The committee includes County Superintendent H. B. Willis, Jesse Selover, of South River, Mr. Love, of Woodbridge; Miss Cecelia Boudinot, Miss Sarah Brown, of South River; Miss Winter, of Clifton; Miss Van Pelt, of Piscataway; Miss Philips, of Stelton, and Mr. Ness.

STATE BOARD ENDORSES MANY LETTERS OF PROTEST

Endorsing the numerous complaints that have been filed recently by residents of Piscataway township regarding the condition of the Albert Rajotti property in North Plainfield township, Dr. Hunt, of the State Board of Health, has communicated with the Common Council and various other civic bodies in this city, North Plainfield and Dunellen suggesting that some immediate steps be taken to abolish the nuisance and health menace.

The State Board has conducted an inspection at the Rajotti farm and found it to be in a filthy condition. Mosquitoes are bred by the millions and much of the malaria in that section is assigned to that cause. It is probable that some municipal steps will be taken in the matter in the near future.

ITALIAN POET WORSE.

Paris, July 16 (Central News)—Gabriel Dannunzio, the Italian poet, has suffered a relapse. His condition is such as to require constant watchfulness.

CHINAMAN'S ASSAILANT LET GO WITH REPRIMAND

Failing to convince the court that Jimmy Lee, a Chinese laundryman, with a place of busines at 316 Park avenue, was at fault for a fracas that occurred in the laundryman's shop Saturday night, Patrick Lennon, of West Second street, was reprimanded for taking the law in his own hands and given a suspended sentence by Judge W. G. DeMeza, in the city court, this morning.

According to Lennon he left a sweater that the Chinaman's to be cleaned and when he went there to claim his property he was insulted by the proprietor of the place. The Chinaman told a different story when examined by the court and alleged that Lennon had knocked him down a flight of stairs and locked him in a cellar.

MANY BRAVED THE WEATHER TO GO ON WEEKLY OUTING

Two sections of eight cars each were required to transport the 1,000 excursionists from this city, Dunellen and New Market to Asbury Park, this morning, the outing being conducted under the auspices of the First Presbyterian, Park Avenue Baptist, Congregational and Seventh-Day Baptist of New Market, Sunday schools. Although clouds were conspicuous when the pleasure-seekers left Plainfield the day had resolved itself into an ideal one at the beach and has proven one of the best days, as far as weather is concerned, that Sunday school excursionists from this city have had this year.

Both sections picked up large delegations at Dunellen, Clinton Avenue, Grant Avenue, Plainfield and Netherwood and will make the same stops on the return trip.

CASE AGAINST HUSBAND DISMISSED BY THE COURT

Appearing as complainant against her husband, Benjamin Richardo, in the city court, this morning, Mrs. Mary Richardo related a tale of marital woe that came to a climax last Sunday night, when she had her husband arrested and swore a complaint charging him with assault and battery. Evidence given by the individuals involved in the mixup was of a conflicting nature this morning, and after hearing both sides of the case Judge DeMeza dismissed the complaint.

Unsuccessful efforts were made by the court and Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., counsel for the defense, to bring the couple together again.

BREAKS OCCUR BETWEEN SUNDAY SCHOOL AND G. O. P.

After having been run on the same date for several years, the Republican outing and the Hope Chapel excursion are at last at odds. This year, the Sunday-school excursion will be run August 8, while the politicians will enjoy their outing at Witzell's Grove a week later.

In speaking of this matter a few days ago, a local man recalled that the Chapel excursion had been run on Saturdays for two or three years prior to the time that the Republicans fell into the habit of holding their trips on the same date. The enjoyment of an all day holiday on Saturday meant that the men would ask for their pay envelopes Friday evening, the favor being granted by all but one shop.

Then came the members of the G. O. P., with their full day off on the same date, and from that time up to this, no man has had to ask for his envelope Friday evening, as the paymaster made a trip around the shop early in the day to secure the names of those who were to have the holiday, with no questions asked as to whether they were going on the Hope excursion or the Republican outing.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION MET.

The New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement met last evening and transacted routine business. EDGAR F. FOWLER WEDS MISS HILL

Ceremony Performed by Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring at Home of Bride's Parents.

A RECEPTION FOLLOWS

Bride Formerly a Teacher in Plainfield High School and Lincoln University—Bridegroom Practicing Lawyer at Middlesboro, Ky.

Miss Bertha Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hill, of Westervelt avenue, and Edgar Franklin Fowler, of Middlesboro, Kentucky, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fowler, of Richmond, Kentucky, were married at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which the bride is a member, officiating.

The bride was gowned in white charmeuse, trimmed with Chantilly lace. She wore a veil and carried white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Jessica Hill. The wedding march was played by Norman Hill, brother of the bride. Miss Hill was given in marriage by her father.

After the ceremony congratulations were offered and supper was served. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Fowler left on a wedding trip, at the conclusion of which they will make their home in Middlesboro, where the bridegroom is engaged in the practice of law.

The home was attractively decorated for the wedding, the season's flowers and greens being effectively used throughout the parlor, dining-room and hall, the arrangement of the table in the dining-room being greatly admired. The bride was the recipient of a large collection of gifts, chiefly silver.

The bride was graduated from the Plainfield High School eight years ago, after which she taught domestic science in a Boston school for one year. She then taught for one year in the South and for three years at Lincoln Memorial University at Cumberland Gap, and last year she taught domestic science at the Plainfield High School.

It was while she was teaching at Lincoln Memorial University that she met Mr. Fowler. The latter is a graduate of a Southern college and has been practicing law at Middlesboro for some time, where he is well known. Upon the return of the couple to Middlesboro a reception will be given for friends living in the South.

NOT ALLOWED TO TAKE EXAMINATION

Samuel Van Vechten, it is Said, Has Not Served Apprenticeship.

Samuel VanVechten, of 177 Hamilton street, New Brunswick, was not allowed to take the examination for an embalmers' license by the State Board of Embalming Examiners at Trenton, yesterday, the Funeral Directors' Association of Middlesex and Somerset counties complaining that he had not served three years' apprenticeship. The examination was deferred for two weeks in order that the complaint may be investigated by the Board.

Mr. VanVechten, who is a brother-in-law of Thomas A. Moore, of this city, claims that he has been employed for the three-year apprenticeship term by the latter, disputing the assertion of the funeral directors' organization that he has not been in actual employment as an embalmers' assistant for three years, as required by the State law. John F. Martin, a member of the Board, was in charge of the written examination. Three other members were present, including John A. Maxwell, of Somerville; Herbert P. Margerum, of Trenton, and B. F. Schroeder, of Camden.

WILL CONTINUE INQUIRY.

Washington, July 16.—Inquiry into the alleged questionable manipulation of the finances of the Wabash and Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Co. is to be made by the Interstate Commerce Commission as the result of hearings begun before the House Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday. In view of this understanding further hearings by the Congressional committee will be dropped.

BORO COURT NOTES.

Victor Roach, of South Second street, this city, was placed under arrest yesterday afternoon, in the borough, for being unable to care for himself while under the influence of liquor. When arraigned this morning before Recorder Fred Hand in the borough court, a fine of $5 was imposed.

BLUECOAT KILLED BY SPEEDING CAR

ENGAGED TO MARRY

John Mee, a brother of Mrs. Joseph Newman, of 120 Duer street, who was thrown from his horse in Flushing early yesterday morning, by a collision with Dr. Matthew Borden's automobile, died four hours later in the Flushing Hospital. Mee was a mounted policeman and his sister in the borough was notified of his death through the New York Detective Bureau yesterday afternoon, but no details were given out at that time. Sent to the home on Duer street with the death message, Patrolman John Hendershot, of the local force, found Mrs. Newman completely in ignorance of her brother's sudden death and an investigation revealed the sad circumstances surrounding the fatality.

Dr. Borden, who is a millionaire living at 316 West Seventy-ninth street, New York, was driving his automobile at a high rate of speed toward New York, when Mee and Patrolman Newman rode into the street and held up their hands as a signal for him to slow down. Newman says Borden endeavored to avoid hitting them, but one end of the car grazed a pole and hit Mee's horse. The animal's leg was broken and it had to be shot. Mee was thrown to the roadbed, landing on his head. The victim was picked up by Dr. Borden and rushed to the hospital and was later served with a summons to appear in court.

The body of the dead officer will be brought to the home of his sister on Duer street for burial and the announcement of the funeral arrangements will be made known later. Mee was one of the most popular men in his precinct and as the result of the accident yesterday Police Captain Patrick J. Murphy requested Police Commissioner Woods to substitute motorcycles for horses for night use in the Queens. Soon after the accident happened Miss Mary Coughlin, of Lakeville, visited the Flushing police station and said she was engaged to marry Mee. The wedding was to have taken place in the near future and the news of the man's death came as a severe shock to the young woman.

Appraisal of the estate left by Matthew C. D. Borden, father of Dr. Matthew Borden, filed yesterday, confirms the report published ten days ago, showing that the elder Borden, who was a cotton manufacturer, left $6,407,366.

The tentative report indicated that Bertram H. Borden and Howard S. Borden, to whom the estate was willed, had arranged to give Dr. Matthew Borden, their brother, one-third of the estate. The report filed yesterday is silent as to this division. Dr. Borden was cut off in a codicil to the will because his marriage displeased his father.

PEACE DISTURBERS TOLD THE TRUTH AND GOT AWAY

"How many times a week do you get drunk?" asked Judge W. G. DeMeza, as Charles Long appeared before the bar of justice this morning.

"Every Saturday night," was the frank reply.

"Do you ever miss a week-end souse?" queried the court.

"Not very often," admitted Long.

His frankness earned a suspended sentence for him when arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct, today. Long and William Moffett, of South avenue, created a disturbance in the rear of L. W. Randolph's drug store on West Front street, Saturday night, and stirred up the neighborhood when remonstrated with by the clerks in the store.

EXTENDS A CALL.

The Swedish Lutheran church, of this city, has extended a call to Rev. William Osmun, of Philadelphia, to succeed Prof. Lundgren, who has been supplying the pulpit for some time. Whether Mr. Osmun will accept the call is not known as yet, but it is probable that he will come to this city. Professor Lundgren was compelled by pressure of duties at Upsala College, where he is a member of the faculty, to resign.

The games of the women's two-team bowling tournament will be continued on the Presbyterian alleys this evening.

The novelty dance of the Crescent Tennis Club, which was to have been held on the club's Madison avenue courts last evening, has been postponed indefinitely.

An interesting scene was witnessed by some Dunellenites on an eastward bound pay-as-you-enter car of the Public Service Co. the other day. Two women who were bound for Plainfield had boarded the car at Bound Brook, and according to their assertions, had dropped the full fare, twenty cents for the two, from that place to their destination in the cash receiver as they entered the car. After the car had entered Dunellen the conductor came around, as per custom, for another fare. When he reached the two women they explained what they had done and stated that they would not pay another fare. A hot argument ensued and continued until the Rock avenue switch had been reached when the conductor told the women that the car would not go an inch further until they either paid their fares or got off. The women refused to do either. The passengers on the car commenced to fume and remonstrate with the conductor over the delay. One irritable old gentleman asserted that he would sue the company. The conductor, finally perceiving that the now famous policy of "Watchful Waiting" was proving a distinct failure in his case, hurried to a nearby telephone and 'phoned headquarters for instructions. He was ordered to proceed.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Lustre and Abundance.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Adv.

AN ORDINANCE

For the Laying Out and Opening of East Fourth Street from a point 388.6 feet northeast of the center of Washington Street to the southwesterly side line of Richmond Street.

WHEREAS, the Common Council have judged and do hereby judge that the public good requires that East Fourth Street should be laid out and opened between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That a public street, to be known as East Fourth Street, be and the same is hereby ordered laid out and opened in said city as hereinafter specified, that is to say:

The center line of said street shall begin at an iron monument in the centre line of East Fourth Street, said point being distant, in a northeasterly direction, 388.6 feet along said center line, from the center line of Washington Street, as said streets are now laid out and opened, and running from said point in a northeasterly direction, parallel with and distant 67.5 feet in a southeasterly direction from the center line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, a distance of 846.7 feet to a point in the center line of Richmond Street and there to end. Said street shall be 35 feet in width, that is to say, 17.5 feet on each side of said center line and the roadway shall be 26 feet in width extending along the northwesterly side of said street. Said center line, and also the side and curb lines of said street are delineated on a certain map filed with the City Clerk, April 6, 1914, entitled, "Map Showing proposed Laying Out and Opening of East Fourth Street, from a point 388.6 feet east of Washington Street to Richmond Street, City of Plainfield, N. J., 1914," to which map reference is hereby made for greater certainty.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken for the laying out and opening of said East Fourth Street (the larger part of said street having already been dedicated to the public), include that part of the property now or formerly of the Estate of John Rafferty and Ernest White described as follows: Beginning at a point where the southeasterly side line of East Fourth Street as formerly laid out and opened is intersected by the southeasterly side line of East Fourth Street as herein laid out and opened, and running from said point in a northeasterly direction along said line as formerly laid out and opened, a distance of 61.45 feet to a point in the northeasterly line of said property now or formerly of the Estate of John Rafferty; thence along said line in a southeasterly direction a distance of 21.62 feet to the southeasterly side line of East Fourth Street as herein laid out and opened; thence along said line in a southwesterly direction, a distance of 65.42 feet to the place of beginning.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken and the lines of the proposed street as the same is hereinbefore ordered to be laid out and opened, are shown on said map on file with the City Clerk, hereinbefore referred to and made a part hereof.

Approved by the Mayor, July 6, 1914.

PERCY H. STEWART, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits.

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield, shall be permanently improved with durable macadam pavement, said macadam pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified. All work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after bids therefor shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately:

Emerson Avenue, from the macadam on East Front Street to the macadam on George Street.

Sec. 2. That said streets and portions of streets described in Section 1 shall be macadamized for the depth of seven inches in the center and five inches at the curb lines, and for the entire width of the roadway, and the macadamizing preparation shall be laid down to the grades established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets, respectively.

On Geraud Avenue and Monroe Avenue the gutters shall be paved with cobbles for a width of 3 1-2 feet on each side of said streets.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money by the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, to an amount not exceeding fifteen dollars per capita for each of the inhabitants of said city according to the last official census, but not for more than the amount limited by law, the Common Council of said City do hereby, pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of said State entitled "An Act to authorize the Improvement of streets and highways in cities of this State, and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same, and for the assessment of the benefits of such improvements upon the land and real estate benefited thereby," and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, authorize the issuing of sixteen coupon municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield of One Thousand Dollars each ($1,000) and amounting in all to Sixteen Thousand Dollars ($16,000) which bonds shall be dated September first, 1914, and shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum (5 per cent.) per annum, payable semi-annually and be payable three years from the date thereof, with the option to the City to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them, at any time after one year from the date thereof and before three years from the date thereof, on giving personal notice to said holders of said bonds or thirty (30) days notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and bear the corporate seal of the City and be attested by the City Clerk, and may severally or collectively when ordered by resolution of the Common Council be sold for an amount not less than par value; and there shall be raised by tax in each year hereafter such sum of money as may be necessary to pay the interest on all outstanding bonds and the principal of such bonds as may mature during that year, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have ben completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

PERCY H. STEWART, Mayor.

ents were received by the young woman.

The business of the Park Hotel stables run by John Hill is expanding rapidly. Within the present week Mr. Hill's force has been increased by two new men, Henry Hill, of Madison avenue, and V. Van Pelt, of Front street, who have been hired as drivers. Mr. Hill has also increased his stock of carriages, having purchased a new surrey and a road wagon.

Contractor Thomas Brennan has completed laying concrete driveways and doing other concrete work for Mrs. Albert J. Meyers, proprietress of the Mansion House.

Miss Margaret Ryan is arranging for a tango party to be held at her home on Second street, in the near future.

John McFadden, of Madison avenue, has been unable to attend to his duties at the plant of the Levgar Structural Company this week, on account of a knee, which he injured a couple of years ago while playing football.

Contractor Walter G. Clawson has been awarded contracts for erecting three houses for New York parties on the Equator tract.

The congregational meeting which was to have been held in the Presbyterian chapel, last evening, was postponed until Wednesday evening, July 29.

Miss Luella Stryker and brother, of First street, left for Crag's Rock, N. Y., yesterday.

Somerville

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Bertha May Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hamilton, to Frederic Kelme. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents on Tuesday afternoon next, at 3 o'clock.

Peter Dow, aged about 72 years, died suddenly yesterday afternoon, while seated on the stoop of his home on Somerset street, near the subway. Death was due to heart failure. Mr. Dow had been a resident of the borough for many years, and had been well known as the caretaker of the new cemetery, a position which he resigned only a few years ago. Besides his wife, he leaves several children.

If weather conditions should prove favorable, the Somerville Athletic Association's big carnival and mardi gras, to be held tonight, tomorrow and Saturday nights, on the club grounds, will be very largely attended. This is one of the borough's popular organizations, and when the members start out to do anything it is generally a big success. Over 50 young women will assist in the undertaking.

R. F. McCann has moved from Whitehouse Station to Somerville.

Mrs. John E. Wehrly, of New York city, is a guest of Mrs. Walter Durling, of East Cliff street.

The members of the Redfern Lace Works' Athletic Association will hold an athletic meet on Cammann field on Saturday afternoon. An interesting program has been arranged by Managers Hall and Cox, of the track team, which includes a 100-yard dash, a handicap 300 yards, a football race (scratch), a one-mile race (handicap), and 12-pound shot put. Prizes for each event include gold, silver and bronze medals and a silver cup. Later a larger meet will be arranged, when invitations will be sent to prominent runners and clubs throughout this and other States.

Raritan

The new civic society will hold another meeting tomorrow night, at the fire house on Anderson street. John F. Reger is the temporary chairman and Ralph S. Young secretary. An effort will be made to interest every class of people in the town in the purposes of the organization, which is for the betterment of the place in every way, both from a sanitary and artistic standpoint.

Edward Kelley, Jr., Fred French, Raymond Huff and Robert Soriano have been visiting in Morristown, making the trip by auto.

Alexander Carnavale has returned from a visit at Allentown, Pa.

PLANS GREAT PAGEANT.

Helena, Mont., July 16—The State of Montana and its leading municipalities are making great preparations for the big jubilee celebration to be held next month to mark the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of Montana Territory and the twenty-fifth anniversary of Statehood. The celebration promises to be one of the most notable of its kind ever held in the far West. Great Falls will be the scene of the principal festivities. The celebration in that city will extend over the whole of the second week of August. Industrial, electrical and other parades and a series of elaborate pageants depicting the history and development of Moutana will make up the program. Indians, explorers, fur traders, gold-seekers, cowboys, soldiers and others who have figured in the history of this section of the country will take part in the pageants. The governors of all the neighboring States, presidents of railroads, Senators and other persons of prominence will be invited to attend the festivities as guests of the State.

SAW WOMAN AT MURDER WINDOW

State Springs New Witness In Carman Case.

HARD BLOW TO DEFENSE

Tramp's Story May Result in Indictment of Mrs. Carman, Although He Cannot Identify Her as One Who Fired the Shot.

Freeport, N. Y., July 16.—A tramp went before the grand jury at Mineola and told a story that will probably result in the indictment for murder of Mrs. Florence Carman. He gave his name as Frank J. Ferrell.

He said he was turning into the Carman grounds on the night when Mrs. Louise Bailey was killed. He saw a woman running along the side of the house from the rear. She stopped at the window to Dr. Carman's office and smashed it in at one blow, apparently using her fist.

Ferrell's testimony came as a thunderbolt to Mrs. Carman's defense. It was absolutely unlooked for by her attorney, George M. Levy. In fact, as it is pretty well understood here, the Carmans thought that District Attorney Smith had shot his best arrow when Celia Coleman, the negro maid, told the grand jury yesterday what she knew.

The woman, he thought, was clad in a long cloak. He said that she carried a revolver and that she entered the Carman house by a rear door.

He could not identify her as Mrs Carman.

Farrell's story is corroborative in the main of the new testimony given by Celia Coleman, the negro maid in the Carman household. She now says that Mrs. Carman was dressed in a kimono when she came around to the rear of the house and entered by the kitchen door after the shooting.

When Farrell first told what he saw the authorities were not inclined to place much credence in it because the testimony by Elwood T. Bardes was then uppermost in their minds. Since then, however, they have come to discredit the Bardes story and his testimony will in all probability not be presented to the grand jury.

The fact that Celia Coleman told the grand jury that Mrs. Carman was dressed in a kimono has only just become known. It was learned also that the girl said that when she saw Mrs. Carman come into the kitchen after the shooting her mistress warned her to keep silent.

Learning that the grand jury had decided not to hear her story, Mrs. Carman, aided by her counsel, George M. Levy, and her husband, has sent to the grand jury a petition pleading with the jurors to hear her side.

Text of Petition.

Mrs. Carman's petition was addressed:

"To the district attorney and the grand jury of Nassau county now in session," and read:

"I, the undersigned, do respectfully petition the grand jury now investigating the murder of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey for permission to go before your body and make a statement in reference to any knowledge I may have in reference to the charge against me. I make this petition voluntarily and hereby waive any immunity which would ordinarily be afforded to me by reason of making any such statement, and I waive any and all rights, constitutional or statutory, which might belong to me relative to my going before the grand jury, and I want no protection of any kind afforded me by reason of any such statement I may make before the grand jury.

"If I be permitted to go before the grand jury I herein admit that such action will be entirely of my own desire and volition, at no solicitation of the grand jury. I am willing that the statement I may make before the grand jury be used against me at any future trial or hearing."

Dr. Carman was much taken back, too, when he heard that the grand jury had decided not to hear his wife's story. He was severe in his criticism of District Attorney Smith.

A REPUBLICAN OPPORTUNITY.

There is a general feeling of confidence among Republicans as to the outcome of the election this fall in Union county. Leaders claim that especially in the legislative offices will the G. O. P. be victorious, and they are already making plans for an active and vigorous campaign. If the leaders are wise and really want to win, they will bend all their efforts at the primary to seeing that an unusually strong set of candidates is presented.

The general business depression, whether rightfully or not, is being laid at the door of the Democratic party, as is usually the case with the party in power. Business men say that too many laws are being passed, and that it is time to put a stop to them and to repeal some that are hampering prosperity. While we believe that much of this talk has little foundation in fact, there is no disputing the idea that people on the whole are disgusted and think that they can start things on the upward course by a change in government. This feeling exists for every office from Representative in Congress down to local offices.

If the feeling is strong enough to bring about a change, as the Republicans confidently expect, the chance for big men to do great service in the Legislature is greater than ever before. Senator Pierce will undoubtedly be renominated, and probably re-elected. His record has been such that no change is either needed or demanded. If the members of the Progressive party are wise they will endorse Pierce and let him fight the matter out with whomever the Democrats select.

It is in the House of Assembly, however, that the real work of a legislative session is done. There has been an absence of big and brainy men in that body for some years now, and the leaders in both parties have recently been of comparatively small calibre. None of the men have measured up to the type who were in the lower House when Senator Pierce was there, such as the so-called "new idea" Republicans of 1908 and 1909, and Joseph P. Tumulty and Judge Mark A. Sullican on the Democratic side. In those days no boss could snap the whip over enough men to control legislation, and as a result the way was paved for the progressive acts which were put on the books during the first year of Woodrow Wilson's term as Governor.

The Daily Press has no intention of departing from its independent attitude and supporting any one party's candidates. It merely sees in this year's campaign an opportunity for Union county to place in the Legislature big and strong men, who will make records for themselves that will be as lasting as has been the record of some of the men mentioned. Surely the nomination of such candidates will make it all the more probable that the Republicans will again elect the Senator and three Assemblymen from this county.

SCHOOLS AS POLLING PLACES.

Of late years the public schools have been thrown open to the use of the general public for civic gatherings of various kinds, giving to the people meeting places far more satisfactory than can usually be found elsewhere in many communities.

It has remained, however, for East Orange to be the first place to throw the schools open for polling places, and the example set is one which might well be followed in Plainfield. Here, in some sections of the city, the voters are forced to cast their ballots in empty stores, barns, garages, and even in private residences, because of the lack of other suitable places. Faithful work horses have at times been compelled to give up their comfortable stalls, so that the work of properly conducting the government could go on.

In East Orange conditions are similar to those in this city, and five or six of the school buildings are to be used for balloting as an experiment, because of the lack of suitable places in the residential sections of the city. Last year the authorities were so pressed for a place, that the booths were finally erected in a church in one district, and the voters are said to have voluntarily respected the place, without the necessity of signs being placed to request their indulgence.

Commenting on the use of the schools for the purpose an exchange says:

Clean places in which to vote ought logically to induce clean voting; if it be true that a man's environments affect his thoughts and conduct. This is one of the arguments in favor of the general use of public school buildings as polling places. Such buildings are not ornate palaces, but compared with the average voting quarters in most large cities they are models of construction, convenience and cleanliness, and they are impressive to many voters It is too much to expect that school buildings alone will elevate to any great degree the moral quality of elections but it can hardly be questioned that if the polls are placed in low down places and amid vicious surroundings the results will not be of a high order. Unscrupulous politicians know this full well, and make their selections accordingly. School buildings are themselves an evidence of uplifting educational influences. The community which possesses them has already a basis upon which to work for good, clean, intelligent government, and the more they are used wisely by the people, in connection with government affairs, the better for all concerned.

Former Mayor G. W. V. Moy is being urged to become a candidate for the Progressive nomination for State Senator. There are a whole lot of people in Plainfield who would prefer to support him for the mayoralty again.

A careful perusal of the story of the development of Dunellen, as described in our news columns last night, leads to the belief that much will be heard from that hustling Middlesex county town in the future.

REJECTS "TYPOS" OFFER.

Butte, Mont., July 16—President McDonald on behalf of the executive committee of the Butte Mine Workers Union, has rejected the offer of the Butte Typographical Union to use its good offices in an effort to bring about a settlement of the miners trouble through arbitration. Union No. 1, of the Western Federation, accepted the offer, but the seceding organization declined.

CONDITIONS UNFAVORABLE.

Newport, R. I., July 16.—Conditions are unfavorable for the yacht races. A heavy fog hangs over the harbor and along the coast outside. There is very little wind, only a fair breeze from the southeast stirring.

CLYDESDALE BRED IN WESTFIELD BRINGS $5,000

The rather long step from the whirlpool of Wall street to the ideal life on a New Jersey estate, says "The Spur," has been taken with a great deal of satisfaction by Robert A. Fairbairn, of Westfield, who is busy accepting congratulations on selling a yearling Clydesdale horse of his own breeding at the record-breaking price of $5,000.

Some years ago when Mr. Fairbairn was an active member of the New York Stock Exchange, he astonished many of his friends by abandoning the excitement of a thrilling day in the street for an hour or so, the while he concluded the purchase of his present home. Hitherto the best Clydesdales had been bred in the West. Nothing daunted, the New Jersey squire secured some of the finest blood in Great Britain, and last December he startled the same West by carrying everything before him at the great International Live Stock Exhibition, just as he had done the year previous in New York.

Mr. Fairbairn has not only demonstrated that magnificent draft horses can be raised in the Eastern States, but also that it is possible to put rundown land in New Jersey on a paying basis if up-to-date methods are employed. His wonderful yearling colt, Fairholme Footprint, by Demure Footprint out of Harviestoun Baroness—was purchased by F. Lathrop Ames, of North Easton, Mass., who is now adding Clydesdales to a large estate on which have been produced some of the best Guernsey cattle ever bred in the United States.

"CREATION" TO BE SHOWN HERE IN MOVING PICTURES

What is said to be the greatest achievement in the simplification of Bible study since King James of England ordered the translation of the Bible from Latin into English, has been accomplished in the Photo Drama of Creation. This beautiful collection of moving pictures and colored slides is announced for a twelve days' run in Reform Hall.

The pictures are presented under the auspices of the International Bible Students' Association and will be shown free to the public. No admission will be charged and no collection taken. The public is invited. "Creation" is divided into four parts of two hours each. These parts will be shown in rotation, thus making a change of program daily. The first part will be shown Saturday night at 8 o'clock in Reform Hall and the other parts will follow in their proper order except that there will be no show Sunday night. Further information concerning the picture will be announced later.

TO INCREASE LODGES.

Denver, Col., July 16—Any town in the United States which has a population of 5,000 may have an Elk lodge according to a rule adopted by Elks in convention here. Heretofore the limit has been 10,000. A number of other progressive measures were adopted which it is said, will revolutionize the rules of the organization.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Plainfield Democratic Club has arranged for a gathering at the Depew building, North avenue, tomorrow evening at which time matters pertaining to the fall campaign will be discussed at length. It is expected that the commission form of government will be considered. Talks on this subject have been given before the club upon several previous occasions, and it is expected that the Democrats will agitate the new plan of city government.

The campaign of William de la R. Anderson, of Watchung, prospective candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Fourth Congressional District, is being waged in a quiet way through Somerset county. The Fourth district includes Mercer county, with the neighboring county of Somerset. Allen B. Walsh, Democrat, of Trenton, is the present incumbent, having succeeded Ira C. Wood. Newton B. Smalley has been talked of for Congress by borough Republicans, but it is doubtful as to whether he will enter the race.

Watchung.

The Watchung Athletic Association held its regular monthly meeting, last night, at the North Plainfield Township Improvement Hall. Great plans were made by the boys for their second annual festival which they will hold August 14. The Watchung A. A. will play their rivals, the Interhaven Athletic Club, on Watchung Oval, Saturday afternoon. A fine game is expected and the local boys expect to defeat them as has hitherto been the case.

A suggestion meeting will be held next Wednesday evening by the members of the Republican party of North Plainfield township in the Improvement Society Hall, at Watchung.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shank, of Sterling road, are entertaining Thomas Ludwig, of Plainfield, for the summer months.

Frank Orr, of Brooklyn, is spending several weeks as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper, of Mountain Boulevard.

Miss Anna Buchner and Miss Caroline Schick, of New York city, who have been spending their vacations with Mrs. George A. Schmidt, of Sterling road, have returned home.

Residents of Watchung will be glad to hear that the new steel and concrete bridge near the postoffice is nearing completion.

WHITMAN REPUDIATED BARNES, ASSERTS T. R.

Colonel Makes Public Draft of Mysterious Letter.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 16—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt made public copies of the tentatively drafted letter which District Attorney Whitman is said to have approved and sent to Colonel Roosevelt a few weeks ago for the purpose of obtaining the Progressive party's governorship vote.

The letter from Whitman was not signed by the district attorney, and this fact was at once seized upon by Whitman's friends. The letter ended with Whitman's initials typewritten in.

Colonel Roosevelt at the same time issued a statement giving the whole history of Whitman's recent secret diplomatic flirting with the colonel and the Progressive party.

The colonel in the statement denounces District Attorney Whitman in unmeasured terms, calling him "tricky and insincere," and stating that early in the Whitman diplomatic advances it came about that the district attorney was trying to "double cross" both Colonel Roosevelt and Barnes. Commenting on Whitman's repudiation of the go between, Duell, Colonel Roosevelt says:

"Whitman has known from the newspapers that Duell was dealing with me as his representative ever since I returned from Europe. He has repudiated his agent only after his agent failed."

The colonel adds that Charles H. Duell, Jr., possesses a letter signed by Whitman authorizing him to treat with Colonel Roosevelt. Duell perhaps later may give this out, the colonel says.

The copy of the alleged Whitman letter which Colonel Roosevelt gave out furnishes the colonel with considerable ammunition. In it Whitman states he is "against Barnes and all he stands for," and that he will "oppose Barnes to the bitter end."

After various sarcastic comments on the district attorney's never published anti-boss letter, Colonel Roosevelt ends his statement by saying it is evident the district attorney is a "Whitman man first, last and all the time."

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

Permit me space to inform your readers, that Miss Dora Marsden is an Anarchist, but has never been an Anti-Suffragist, and that correspondents have stated without contradiction, that she became so in sequence of Suffragist-Feminist-Socialist-Anarchist.

That she was a Suffragist formerly, and at the time when she wrote the literature, endorsed, because published, advertised and sold, by the National American Woman Suffrage Association, is proved by the following:

WOMEN'S FREEDOM LEAGUE
Offices
1 Robert Street,
Adelphi Strand,
London, W. C.
January 5, 1914.

Miss Phillips,
23 Elmhurst Mansions,
Clapham, S. W.

Dear Madam:

I am sorry not to have been able to reply to your letter earlier. I know very little of Miss Dora Marsden beyond the facts that she was at one time an organizer for the W. S. P. U., that she undertook a little organization for us for a few weeks and afterwards became co-editoress with Miss Mary Gawthorpe of "The Freewoman," an advanced Feminist paper.

I am,
Yours very truly,
(Signed)
FLORENCE A. UNDERWOOD.

Since Anti-Suffragists have given publicity of late, to the character of some of the literature published by that association, we hear, that with wonderful liberality and magnanimity, to quote Maude Follansbee "tries to meet the needs of those studying both sides of the question. Accordingly it keeps anti as well as suffrage literature on hand."

I would repeat to your readers my reply to the above, viz: I do not recall ever having seen the following advertised by them, or heard of their having them on sale at the rooms of the association.

"Anti-Suffrage 10 Good Reasons,' by Grace Duffield Goodwin; "The Militant and the Child," by Mrs. Francis M. Scott; "Wage Earning Woman and the State," by Minnie Bronson; "Woman and the Vote," by Everett P. Wheeler, or any other of a numberless list of books and pamphlets of interest to avowed antis or those who are still "on the fence."

They are doubtless all to be found at the rooms of the suffrage association, as we must believe the failure to advertise them is an oversight.

Does it not seem unfortunate, however, for an association to issue literature—even for the benefit of its opponents—which its own members so constantly find it necessary to disclaim?

Thanking you for your courtesy,
Yours very truly,
R. A. LAWRENCE,
Chairman Press Comm. N. J. Ass'n.
Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

The suffrage literature with the cartoon from the Saturday Evening Post, which I gave out at the W. C. T. U. Institute this spring seems to have caused some of the antis to do considerable serious thinking, judging from a recent letter in the Press by R. A. Lawrence. Miss Lawrence also objects to a suffrage cartoon which came out in the Maryland Suffrage News, representing the antis being used by the vicious interests as a respectable front in their fight against woman suffrage.

The antis can blame no one but themselves if they are unpleasantly associated with the vicious interests of the country, as the vicious interests are the only interests that have any logical reasons for opposing "Votes for Women." Why should the antis hold a brief against their own sex when only vicious interests ever have been, or ever will be hurt by the enfranchisement of women?

During the debate on woman suffrage in the Senate, Senator Moses E. Clapp said that all the sinister influences of the country are against woman suffrage. He said he regretted that good people in opposing suffrage, permit themselves to be used as a mask for these evil influences.

The use the antis have been making of statistics in their efforts to prove that woman suffrage will help the liquor interests, reminds me of the man who argued that the Bible taught that people should steal When asked to prove his assertion, he quoted: "Let him that stole, steal" and stopped without finishing the verse which was an injunction to steal "no more." Whether woman suffrage will help or hinder temperance and moral reform can best be judged by the vicious interests themselves and those who are fighting them. All the large organizations which are fighting for better moral and social conditions are in favor of woman suffrage; while all the vicious interests in the country are desperately opposed to it.

The bi-annual convention of the American Federation of Woman's Clubs strongly endorsed both equal suffrage and the prohibition of the liquor traffic. The president of the Indiana State Federation said: "We must get rid of the White Slave traffic and the liquor traffic, and without the ballot we cannot wipe out either."

At the last national convention of the W. C. T. U. held in Asbury Park the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "We believe that the elective franchise should be granted to women on equal terms with men and urge sustained effort to secure the ballot for the protection of wage earning women and girls, for the overthrow of the legalized liquor traffic, the enforcement of moral laws and the suppression of the traffic in girls and women." "Woman suffrage is absolutely necessary in this country if the drink evil is ever to be overcome," says M. Joseph Runach, the well-known deputy and temperance reformer of France.

Ex-Senator Gebhart, of Hunterdon county, said: "You will never have prohibition in New Jersey until the women get the vote."

Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus, the noted divine and educator, said: "One of the few reasons I see why woman is not desired as a voter by certain classes and interests is that, with her white hand and the ballot, she would soon utterly drive them from the face of the earth."

The Governor of Oklahoma is a firm believer in woman suffrage. He says if the women of his State had votes, there would be no trouble in enforcing the prohibitory law and putting the "bootleggers, blind pigs and illicit liquor dealers out of business."

The question of State-wide prohibition is to be voted on in California, Oregon, Washington and Colorado this fall, and the women voters of these States are causing the liquor interests a great deal of apprehension. According to an article in Bouforts Wine and Spirit Circular, the writer fears the chances are against the liquor interests, should the women of these States be aroused. The article concludes: "It is not improbable that a very large percentage of the women in the four Western States named will cast their votes for that side which they are told represents the home against the saloon."

The Chicago correspondent of the same paper, writes: "The usual summer dullness has affected practically all the houses, and the recent decision of the Illinois Supreme Court on the suffrage question has cast more or less of a gloom over those houses, especially whose trade is largely local."

If anyone's mind is so obtuse that they cannot see the very close connection between woman suffrage and temperance in the California election and the Illinois election this spring, they should watch the election returns in the four Western equal suffrage States. The liquor papers see very little difference between woman suffrage and prohibition, hence they fight one as bitterly as the other. Progress and The Reflector, the Wisconsin liquor dealers' paper, after showing "The Trade" the desperate need of fighting woman suffrage says: "There is one word that is a perfect definition of woman suffrage—'prohibition.' It is prohibition—not woman suffrage."

According to the Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch, of March 19, 1914, Franklin county saloon keepers will be asked to pay $1,000 monthly into a fund that will be used by a State liquor dealers' organization to fight woman suffrage as well as State-wide prohibition. The plan in detail is to assess each saloon keeper $2 per month to raise a huge campaign fund to wage war against the woman suffrage campaign this year and the prohibition campaign in 1915. Liquor dealers say that between $500,000 and $1,000,000 will be raised in this way. Breweries, distilleries and wholesale liquor dealers will be asked to contribute also.

The National Forum, of Butte, Mont., a liquor dealers' paper, has devoted a great deal of space to fighting woman suffrage. It says in part: "Right now the questions of woman suffrage is before the people of this State. If it carries, the saloons and breweries are doomed. The Suffragist advocates have announced it and the history of suffrage States have proven it." Another article in the same paper reads: "There are some saloon men and brewers who are trying to deceive themselves by asserting that woman suffrage will not hurt the liquor business. This is a mistake. Why not admit right on the start that the votes of women will not be cast in favor of the saloon and the brewery? We do not mean all women, but a large majority. * * * * The best policy is to admit that women will vote the saloons out of business if given the chance, and then put up a fight against the suffrage amendment."

Amongst an abundance of exhortation to the saloon men to fight woman suffrage for all they are worth, this paragraph appears: "Who is going to oppose woman suffrage in Montana if you don't? It is up to you to fight this question at the next election. Woman suffrage will affect your business more directly than it will any other business, and you will have to take a lead in the fight. The woman suffrage advocates have said that your business will have to kiss itself goodby, if the vote is given to the women of Montana. This we believe to be true."

They evidently believe what they say, as Mrs. Mary L. Anderson (president of the Montana W. C. T. U.), says: "The opponent of the woman suffrage amendment is the Montana Protective Association, composed of liquor dealers of the State organized to defeat the passage of the amendment. Not only does every dealer contribute to the campaign, but outside firms selling to Montana members must be associate members and present a 1914 red card when taking orders for goods, to show that they are putting up money to help the liquor dealers' fight. The reason the saloon keepers appose woman suffrage is frankly stated in their papers and circulars: "It would be disastrous to the liquor and brewery interests." The November issue of their State paper says: "The Illinois election is enough to convince anyone with sense that woman suffrage and the saloon business cannot exist long together in any State."

Mrs. Tyler B. Thompson, president of the Montana Federation of Woman's Clubs, says: "Saloonmen and those engaged in commercialized vice are the strongest amongst those opposed to suffrage. The miners and farmers are with us."

I believe I have shown very clearly the very close connection between woman suffrage and temperance and moral reform; also the interests which have logical reasons for opposing "Votes for Women."

Respectfully yours,
EDYTHE M. CURRIE,
Associate County President W.C.T.U.
Cranford, July 15, 1914.

PENNSYLVANIA TO MOVE ITS POINT PLEASANT TERMINAL

Point Pleasant, July 16—Railroad circles are interested in plans which are under way for the abolition of the present terminal yards at this place and the establishment of more adequate quarters at some other point.

Congested conditions which make the future use of the present yards inadvisable have led the railroad officials to look for some other place, and Bay Head, Seaside Park and Toms River are al mentioned as possible terminals for the seashore line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The plans of the Central Railroad seem at the present time to be undecided.

William K. Blodgett, one of the owners of the River and Ocean Front Land Company's property, who are said to control the terminal yards here, is declared to have recently refused to lease the property to the railroad company, together with added space, for another term.

The lack of track space and the dangerous nature of the place makes it impracticable for the company to remain here unless more spacious territory can be acquired.

The land lying along the south shore of the Manasquan river a considerable distance north of the present yards is said to have been looked upon favorably by the railroad officials, who were unable to purchase it because of contemplated development schemes for the vicinity, it is said.

It is generally believed that Seaside Park will be chosen as the terminal. Such a plan would force the Central out, as the Pennsylvania would not consent to a jointly operated yard.

NEW BRUNSWICK Y. M. C. A. BUYS SITE FOR BUILDING

New Brunswick, July 16.—The directors of the Y. M. C. A. announced Tuesday that they had decided to buy the Janeway property at 11 Livingston avenue from Fitz Randolph Stout as the site for the new Y. M. C. A.

This city has been without a Y. M. C. A. building for several years, but the organization has continued. As soon as the directors think the time is suitable they will erect a building. For the present no further action will be taken, the site being bought at this time because it was offered at a reasonable figure.

The property is 190 feet deep on one side and 215 feet on the other, with an L extension at the rear 66 by 70 feet. The swimming pool will be constructed in this extension.

CAN'T REINSTATE FIREMAN RETIRED FOR DISABILITY

Jersey City, July 16.—Supreme Court Justice Francis J. Swayze Tuesday decided against the action of the Board of Commissioners of this city in reinstating Captain John Sweeney of Engine Company No. 3, who was retired on a pension in December, 1911, at his own request, on the ground of physical disability. Sweeney made application for reinstatement last December stating he had fully recovered his health.

After Sweeney's reinstatement, John Morris, former city clerk under the Wittpenn administration, applied for a writ of certiorari through former Corporation Counsel Warren Dixon. The writ was granted. The court held that a man who had been retired for disability could not in its opinion be reinstated without passing a civil service examination.

Justice Swayze announced he would rule against the reinstatement of Sweeney, but that judgment would not be entered unless it was shown that Sweeney was a party to the writ.

terday afternoon, and had to be contented with the smaller end of a 13 to 3 count. Not satisfied with holding the locals away from the pan in a majority of the rounds the Betsytown heaver took delight in playing the stingy role with his hits, allowing the Queen City's bluecoats but four of the safe variety. Art McGinley, the local's shortstop, got the jump on the Union county seat slab artist and banged out the first safe clout on the second ball that simmered across the pan. McGinley followed this up with a two-bagger and ended his afternoon's work with fifty per cent. of the Plainfielders' hits to his credit.

Seven innings were played on the Elizabethport diamond and the home nine registered its counters in bunches, having two fives, a two and a one to its credit in the six frames in which the plate was visited. Jack Fritts proved to be the libable youngster that the home swatters were lying in wait for and his advent on the mound was greeted with a fusilade of thirteen scorching safeties, six of which were ticketed for extra bases.

Ragged fielding once more marked the Plainfielders' performance in the lot, five miscues being placed to their credit during the afternoon. A majority of these slip-ups were of the inexcusable variety and generally accounted for the annexation of runs. Every man on the home side crossed the scoring station at least once and a quartet of the men duplicated the feat.

ROD AND REEL

Channel-bass fishing is growing in favor every year with the fishermen of the East, partly because it is excellent exercise and partly because it is the most exciting part of the fishing game that we enjoy in this State. When the channel-bass are biting word spreads rapidly and the faithful get out their two-piece surf rods and hip boots and make a bee line for their favorite fishing resort. Corson's Inlet has been much written about in this column because it is one of the best fishing resorts for channel-bass that is on the coast. In fact, we know of none better. When the fishing is poor at Corson's Inlet, there is no use seeking them elsewhere. Channel-bass, or red drum, each one marked with an initial near the tail, grow to weigh sixty pounds, while the average run is about thirty pounds. This makes a fine fish to handle and it requires skill to land one safely on the beach, although it is a skill that comes with the capture of the first fish. Much can be written about the channel-bass, but at present all we want to say is that seven of them, weighing from twenty-four to forty-two pounds, were caught at Corson's Inlet by fishermen from the Wittkamp Hotel, Sunday, and as many more were lost.

Snappers, or young bluefish, are in the bays. One of the seines along the shore just below the Amboys brought in quite a few the early part of the week. This seems strange, as they are away ahead of their season. Some of the fishermen think that it means an early fall, before we have any summer.

The trout season is a thing of the past, as far as New Jersey is concerned. When we announced to our readers that they had better get busy if they wanted one more try at the brook beauties quite a few started out and caught enough to satisfy them.

W. Y. Crawford, of Westfield, was out in the Silvery Bells, from Walter's place a few days ago, and caught twelve weakfish and, just to show his friends that he was a fisherman, he went out the next day and caught twelve. Mr. Levende, of Plainfield, went out in the same boat and caught eighteen weakfish.

Plenty of weakfish in Barnegat bay these days and all a person has to do to get them is to fish from a rowboat anywhere in the bay. One place where rowboat fishing is good and where rowboats can be hired is Barnegat Pier. This fishing station is on the Pennsylvania Railroad, just below Point Pleasant, and a fisherman can readily pick up three dozen fish there in a few hours.

PLAN AID FOR IRISH VOLUNTEERS

United Irish League of America Gathers in New York Today.

New York, July 16—In response to a call issued by President Michael J. Ryan, the members of the national executive committee of the United Irish League of America, assembled in this city today for what is considered one of the most important meetings ever held by that body. The principal matter to be considered and acted upon at the meeting is the question of aiding the Nationalist Volunteer movement. A short time ago President Ryan received a cable message from John Redmond, the Irish parliamentary leader, relative to the Volunteer movement, asking that it be given assistance through the league.

Since the Nationalist Volunteer movement was started its career has been watched closely by many interested in the Home Rule struggle. When Mr. Redmond saw that men who were not active workers for Home Rule were getting control of the organization he sent out a manifesto requesting that the Irish parliamentary party be given representation on the board of government. At first some of the provisional committee tried to dodge the issue, but Mr. Redmond told the rank and file to elect their own county officers, and as the Volunteers were nearly all affiliated with the Home Rule movement, this served to put a check on the plans of the Dublin committee.

Already movements have been started in America to collect funds and in other ways aid the Nationalist Volunteers. There is talk of forming companies to go across to join the ranks. No body of men could start from the United States as an organized band to join any movement on the other side, for the United States Government would not permit it and the English Government could prevent a landing. It is pointed out, however, that this would not interfere with individuals going across. But they could not carry arms. The difficulty now confronting the newly organized Volunteers is to get equipment. That some means may be open seems evident from Mr. Redmond's cable message for assistance.

Of course, neither the National Volunteers nor the Ulster Volunteers have any legal standing, but those who have followed the situation closely believe that both bodies ultimately must be reckoned with by the British Government. If there is any fighting in Ireland it is very likely to have far-reaching effects.

In addition to considering the question of aiding the Volunteer movement the executive committee at its present meeting is expected to decide the matter of holding a national convention of the United Irish League this year. It is the general opinion that a convention will be held, probably in October, and that it will take place either in Boston or Philadelphia. It is hoped that the convention will be attended by a delegation representing the Nationalist party, headed by John Redmond and including John Dillon, T. P. O'Connor, Joseph Devlin and other noted leaders. If such a delegation comes over it is proposed to have the members make an extensive tour of the United States and Canada, addressing meetings to be held in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Montreal, Toronto and other cities, thanking the Irish-Americans for the support given the Home Rule movement.

SMOOTH WAY FOR TITANIA CROWNING AT AUDITORIUM

Ocean Grove, July 16.—Friction between carnival committee officials of Asbury Park and the Ocean Grove directors that caused the abandonment early this year of plans for crowning Queen Titania XIV. in the auditorium has been eliminated at a conference here and the Queen will be crowned in the auditorium, it was announced, Friday night, August 21.

Mayor William A. Berry, of Asbury Park, and Rev. Dr. Aaron E. Ballard, of the campmeeting association, had talked matters over and agreed that it was "too bad" if the Twin Cities could not work together on the stellar event of the carnival season. They made arrangements for a "get-together" meeting Tuesday night, when Director Tali Esen Morgan, of the Grove, and Colonel John W. Aymar, president of the carnival commission, "fixed things up." Just what the arrangements in a financial way between the Grove and the Park are could not be ascertained.

Queen Titania XIV. will come into her title with ceremonies to be staged by Mr. Morgan. Sousa's band, which was scheduled for a two-day concert Friday and Saturday August 21 and 22, will furnish the music in conjunction with the auditorium organ. Practically every detail of the coronation will be under the supervision of Mr. Morgan. The part of the carnival commission will be to produce the Queen and her court.

In Titania's court, counting pages and the minor dignitaries, there will be approximately 100 persons. They will occupy the centre of a special stage to be erected from plans drawn by Mr. Morgan. A children's chorus of 1,000 voices will be placed to the Queen's left, and boy scouts and rough riders, with other choruses, will be placed at the right.

MISSOURI TO HOLD PRIMARY.

St. Louis, Mo., July 16—Early in the coming month Missouri is to hold a general primary election for the nomination of candidates for United States Senator, Representatives in Congress, judges of the Circuit Court and members of the legislature. William J. Stone, whose term in the United States Senate will expire next March, is a candidate for renomination on the Democratic ticket. His principal opponent is Judge William H. Wallace, of Kansas City. Politte Elvins, former member of Congress and until recently chairman of the Republican State Committee, is a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination.

ENGLAND TO HONOR CELEBRATED LAWYER

London, July 16—Sir Edward Clarke, one of England's most distinguished lawyers, who is about to retire after an active practice covering half a century, is to be entertained by the bench and bar at Lincoln's Inn Hall tomorrow—a distinction that only twice before has fallen to a member of the bar.

It is not surprising that Sir Edward has at last decided to retire, for his labors at the bar have been phenomenal of late years. He has been engaged in all kinds of cases, from murder trials to intricate trade disputes, and in all of them he has displayed tremendous energy. He has never taken a really long holiday and until a few years ago he added to his great practice the burden of parliamentary work.

One of the most celebrated cases in which Sir Edward Clarke was engaged was the notorious Tranby Croft baccaret scandal, in which he acted for Sir William Gordon Cumming. He also undertook the defense of the late Oscar Wilde in the latter's famous lawsuit against the late Marquis of Queensbury.

A number of years ago Sir Edward attracted considerable attention on both sides of the Atlantic by his protest at a Thanksgiving dinner held in London against the arrogation of the term "American" by the United States. His address aroused no end of comment at the time and likewise caused considerable ill-feeling on the part of Americans, but this was partially allayed by Sir Edward's explanation that he intended his protest only as a joke.

NOVEL METHOD OF HELPING SUFFRAGE CAUSE

Washington, July 16.—Poker is being played to finance the cause of Woman Suffrage. Mrs. Medill McCormick, chairman of the special campaign committee of the National Woman Suffrage Association, found it out when she opened her mail today. The first contribution to a $50,000 found is $18, won in a quiet little game. And, what's more, the fund will receive another contribution on August 15, the Suffragists' "Sacrifice Day"—that is, of course, if the well-disposed player is lucky.

Here is the letter that accompanied the donation:

"The $18 I contribute is a vicarious sacrifice on the part of several gentlemen whose judgment of five cards were faulty. They didn't know they were contributing to the 'Cause,' and I am simply Fortune's intermediary in passing their donation on to you. I shall try to get up another game August 15, and if the Goddess of Luck sits in, I hope to induce them to make further additions to your fund.

NEW HAVEN DIRECTORS WILL RESIST MANDATE

New York, July 16—The New Haven directors today, will decide to resist the mandate of the Massachusetts Legislature regarding the sale of its Boston and Maine stock, according to apparently well authenticated rumors. The directors were given until today to file with the Department of Justice a report showing that they had taken the steps agreed on, including a trusteeing of the Boston and Maine stock for the purpose of its sale, or suffer the consequences of a suit.

It is reported that when the directors meet today they will attempt to forestall any action by the Department of Justice by instituting a friendly receivership for the company.

The directors will also take up the matter of issuing a statement in connection with the matters contained in the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

TO FIGHT RAILROAD.

New York, July 16—In order to free Riverside Drive of smoke and noise made by New York Central trains, twelve civic organizations of the city have banded together and will make the fight against the road a city wide issue. The organizations declare that after ten years of discussion and negotiations with New York Central officials, the city has failed to make any progress in the matter.

WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO.

New York, July 16.—An unidentified woman was killed by an automobile early this morning at 125th street and Seventh avenue. She was about 55 years old. The car was driven by the owner, Wilfrid Cuddeback, president of the Hygeia Independent Ice Company. He was not held as the accident, according to the police appeared unavoidable.

HUERTA LOOTED TREASURY.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 16.—According to reports reaching secret agents of the Constitutionalists here, Huerta has succeeded in looting the Mexican treasury of $6,000,000. This huge sum, it is alleged is being carried out of the country by the family and relatives of the dictator. His son-in-law, Col. Liborio Fuentes, carries $2,000,000.

HEIR TO $625,000.

London, July 16—Sir Dennis Anson, who was drowned in the Thames recently after accepting a dare to dive from a launch, would have inherited $625,000 according to the will of his father, Sir William Anson, which has been filed for probate.

MAKE YOURS A PUBLIC SERVICE STORE

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in their daily newspapers because they are finding it a distinct part of the service they expect their newspapers to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers a demand for it sets in right away.

They are going to turn to the store that lets them know it has the article. That store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.

Co-operate with the manufacturers who come into the newspapers of your town to exploit their goods and you will be building business for yourself.

Mexico City, July 16. General Victoriano Huerta, provisional president of Mexico since the assassination of President Madero on Feb. 23, 1913, presented his resignation at a session of the deputies.

Dr. Francisco Carbajal succeeds General Huerta in the provisional presidency. Dr. Carbajal, who was appointed minister of foreign relations a few days ago, appeared before the assembled deputies and senators and took the oath of office. He made a short address and was warmly cheered by the legislators.

The new executive was escorted to and from the palace by General Huerta's own guards and was cheered by the crowds lining the streets.

It is believed General Huerta will leave for Puerto Mexico. A special train is in waiting at the station of Guadalupe. This train is guarded by the Twenty-ninth regiment, which has always remained thoroughly loyal to General Huerta.

General Blanquet will probably leave with the former dictator.

Huerta's Family Waiting.

Vera Cruz, July 16.—The British cruisers Bristol and Hermione left for Puerto Mexico, where it is expected one of them will take aboard General Huerta, who is said to be on his way to the seaport, together with General Blanquet.

The German cruiser Dresden also left unexpectedly for the same port.

General Huerta's family is still at Puerto Mexico, evidently awaiting the arrival of the former dictator to leave with him.

General Candido Aguilar, a rebel commander, is said to be near Jalapa, capital of the state of Vera Cruz, with a force of 3,000 Constitutionalists.

Wilson Policy Faces Test.

Washington, July 16.—Confirmation of reports of General Huerta's retirement from the presidency of Mexico was received in official quarters in Washington. The final word that Huerta had resigned in favor of his minister of foreign relations, Senor Carbajal, caused practically no stir here, as it was only what had been hourly expected for several days.

It is unanimously conceded that self elimination of Huerta at a moment somewhat earlier than was absolutely necessary for his self preservation brings the Mexican problem which confronts the United States into a new and secondary stage.

For something over a year President Wilson has been demanding and insisting upon the elimination of Huerta as the cardinal principle of his Mexican policy. This now having been accomplished in a large part as a result of the president's stand and the activities of the United States comes the first real test of its efficacy and wisdom. Having pinned his faith to the opposition to Huerta for the restoration of peace and constitutional government in Mexico President Wilson now is regarded as about to have his pudding proved in the eating.

The retirement of Huerta is likewise regarded as marking a new and critical stage for the revolutionary movement headed by Carranza. In the role of the militant opposition the rebels have for the last eighteen months been comparatively free from responsibility. Now that they are about to come into full control of the government and armed forces in Mexico, Washington considers that they are facing a severe test of their powers of co-operation and capable administration. It is no secret that the administration is much more anxious regarding the capacity of the Constitutionalists for self restraint and enlightened government after the recent evidences of the disintegrating forces at work among them than was the case last winter.

There has been at times grave anxiety in Washington lest on the retirement of President Huerta the southern rebel leader Zapata take advantage of the possible confusion to enter Mexico City and put it to the sword. This anxiety is now considerably lessened, first by the confidence felt in the Carbajal government and also because of reports indicating that Zapata is not in a position to undertake any military move of first importance.

There is practically no fear that General Funston's forces at Vera Cruz will have to be called on for a dash to Mexico City to give protection to foreign interests there.

GENERAL HUERTA.

Dictator Who Has Finally Resigned as President of Mexico.

© 1914, by American Press Association.

WAR WILL CONTINUE, SAYS GENERAL VILLA

"General Huerta's Action Means Nothing to Us."

El Paso, Tex., July 16.—"It means absolutely nothing to us, the resignation of Huerta," declared Francisco Villa. Villa reached the border early and when told that Huerta had resigned in favor of Francisco Carbajal he made the above statement. Then he continued: "Any man named by Huerta must and does stand for the same thing Huerta stands for, and he must go. We will continue the war and take Mexico City by force of arms and drive the Huertistas out of the country."

Among the Carranza supporters in El Paso, however, the resignation of Huerta was taken to mean the end of the war, or virtually so expressed by Samuel Belden, personal attorney for Carranza, who is temporarily in charge of the Carranza offices in El Paso. The Carranzistas expect Carbajal to immediately summon the Constitutionalist troops to Mexico City and turn over the affairs of the nation to them.

They believe the resignation of Huerta means the crumbling of another regime to revolution. One of the Carranza officials declared that he expected Carbajal to call upon the troops of General Candido Aguilar, a Carranza commander in the state of Vera Cruz, to come to the capital to help preserve order and prevent looting by Zapata and other southern rebel leaders and that this would form the Carbajal pretext for turning over the government to the Carranza followers.

Other Carranza troops would pour into the Mexican capital following the entry of Aguilar troops, and inside of a week the whole country would be under control of Carranza and his chiefs. The Carranza men are elated and profess to believe that the elevation of Carbajal was merely Huerta's way of turning over the country to them.

MOUNT LASSEN SMOKING.

Heavy Fall of Ashes In Eighteenth Eruption Since May 30.

Redding, Cal., July 16.—Black smoke belched a mile high from the crater on Lassen peak and then drifted southward before the wind in a banner ten miles long. The amount of falling ashes was small compared with the eruption of June 14, although the volume of the cloud was fully as great and the duration of the disturbance longer.

The first violence of the outbreak began to dwindle after two hours, though the mountain still boiled smoke. This is the eighteenth eruption since May 30.

TO BAR GRAFTERS FOREVER.

Bill In U. S. Senate Would Also Send Them to Jail.

Washington, July 16.—A sweeping anti-graft bill was introduced by Senator Sheppard of Texas.

It would debar forever from public office any judge, marshal, delegate to congress or cabinet member who accepted money, transportation or favors from corporations, besides providing a fine and jail sentence.

Wallingford In His Prime

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

CHAPTER XIX.

Wallingford "Comes Back."

"IT was a smart trick," laughed Steele, every feature of his countenance puckering with the enjoyment of it. "The minute they knew that Kreiger was coming here to monopolize the retail business of the town Horndyke and Ramsdale, who run the biggest department store here and have money to burn, bought out the Courier, which was on its last legs, and purchased a controlling interest in the Blade, which only had a toe left. As each of these papers runs an afternoon edition under different names—the Courier owns the News and the Blade the Trumpet—that leaves Horndyke and Ramsdale in absolute possession of the town's advertising facilities, both Republican and Democratic, except for the little Evening Item, which has been trying to sell out to Kreiger."

"He couldn't buy the Item until they start coining half pennies," declared Wallingford, whose memory for newspapers was most careful.

"I saw a copy of it downstairs," interpolated Blackie. "They ought to call it the Footnote."

"That looks like a wholesome time for the town," mused Wallingford. "Of course Horndyke and Ramsdale will raise the price of advertising to a prohibitive point, and rebate to themselves for whole pages. I suppose Kreiger has plenty of money too?"

"He should have. He owns the new building, and he's doing everything regardless. I wonder why he doesn't buy the Item?"

"He won't need to," decided Wallingford. "They'll be glad to get his business at any price. Steele, did you ever do anything crooked in Cinderburg?"

"I never did anything crooked any place!" retorted Steele in deep self abasement. "I couldn't. I guess we can't all be Wallingfords."

Pete Scallop was standing in the doorway of the Cinderburg Eureka Auto-Motor Washing Machine company when Wallingford's car drove up, and his upper teeth immediately dropped. Deftly restoring them to their place with a click of his jaws, he waited for no greetings, but hurried into his private office and called up the chief of police.

"This is P. H. Scallop," he briskly stated. "I want you to send a policeman down here right away to arrest J. Rufus Wallingford."

"Is he back in town?" asked Jack Tawney. "Where's he stopping? New Auditorium?"

"I suppose so, but I don't know. I just saw him."

"What do you want him arrested for?"

"Obtaining money under false pretenses."

"When?"

"When he was here the time before. Hurry an officer right down here, and I'll hold him till your man comes."

"Excuse me," begged Chief Tawney; "I'll not arrest that man without a warrant, and I'd advise you to see a lawyer before you swear one out. He's too smooth to come back here if there was any legal danger, and I'll not burn my fingers with him."

Mr. Scallop almost choked on his teeth. "You talk as if you were a friend of Wallingford!" he indignantly charged.

"I am," frankly admitted the chief of police. "If I had to lock him up I'd give him the southeast cell, put a canary bird, a geranium and a sideboard in it and spend most of my time there. I'm glad he's back. He's a live member."

"He beat me out of $10,000!" complained Scallop. "You're a fine administrator of the law! Your duties mean nothing to you!"

"I guess I have been slack," agreed Tawney, "or I'd have pinched you for having $10,000 in the first place. You never had a cent till you stole your partner's patent."

"Hello, Mr. Scallop!" cheerfully called Wallingford, entering the door. "Beg your pardon for interrupting. Finish your conversation."

"Do you know what I was telephoning about?" was the return greeting of Mr. Scallop as he slammed the receiver on the hook. "I was just talking with the police department about your arrest."

"Is that so?" inquired Wallingford interestedly. "Is Jack Tawney still chief of police?"

The hopeless injustice of things dawned upon Pete Scallop. "Where's my $10,000?" he demanded.

Wallingford frowned in perplexity. "By George! I can't remember what I did with it," he acknowledged. "What did we spend it for, Blackie?"

"Why, don't you remember?" returned Blackie reproachfully. "We paid our bar bill."

"It's really not a thing to be joked about, Mr. Scallop," stated Wallingford, changing from his jovial air to his gravest business impressiveness. "Ten thousand dollars, while a trifling enough amount to a man of your industry and enterprise and ambition and especially to a man of your ability, is still worth keeping track of. Of course I hold many times the stock that you do in the Bang Sun Engine company, and I have returned to Cinderburg to look after my investment."

Mr. Scallop clicked back his teeth three times before he could answer. "Your investment!" he howled. "Why, doggone it, you never put up a cent, and you took $60,000 clear away from this town, besides all the money of ours you wasted while you was here."

"I invested my time, my brains and my undisputed talent for promotion," insisted Mr. Wallingford, with vast dignity. "These are capital, and from their investment I have a right to expect a return equal to their value. I'm very much disappointed in Cinderburg."

"The emotion is mutual," retorted Mr. Scallop. "If you mean, though, that because you was disappointed you've come back after more, you're going to be fooled!"

"I neither expect nor wish more, except in the way of legitimate dividends upon my stock. To make these dividends possible I have paid this visit to your city, and I wish the hearty cooperation of all the stockholders."

"That's a good joke," returned Mr. Scallop, laughing bitterly. "You don't expect me to believe that the stock in the Bang Sun Engine company will ever be worth the paper it's printed on. Why, Ed Bang's right back in my shop now, making my patterns at $18 a week, and if you say sun engine to him you want to dodge."

"I've no doubt that you've deviled the life out of him," acknowledged Wallingford. "It is Mr. Bang whom I came to see, however, and tonight as the majority stockholder of the Bang Sun Engine company, I intend to call a meeting of all the stockholders at the New Auditorium. We'll discuss the affairs of the companies over a nice little dinner."

"I'd rather have you vote my stock," sneered Mr. Scallop. "What'll you give me for it?"

"A thousand dollars," replied Wallingford promptly.

"Get your money ready," directed Mr. Scallop, and grabbed the knob of his safe, which he began to turn with feverish activity. He overran two of the numbers on the first attempt, slowed down a little, overran one on the second, was deliberate upon the third and opened the safe. He glanced over his shoulder as he did so. Wallingford, big, impressive, solid and prosperous looking, had the money in his hand and was waiting quietly, but eagerly. Mr. Scallop scratched his head and delved into the papers in a little steel drawer. He drew out the Bang Sun Engine certificates slowly. "What do you intend to do?" he asked.

"Buy your stock," returned Wallingford crisply, laying down the money upon Mr. Scallop's dingy old desk.

"I mean about the engine?" corrected Mr. Scallop, now holding his certificates against his stomach.

"It won't cost you anything to come up to the meeting tonight at 7 and find out," Wallingford suggested. "I'd be glad to have you, even if you are not a stockholder. I suppose you have all the certificates there," and he quietly reached out for them.

Pete Scallop mashed those certificates against his vest. "I don't think I'll sell till after the meeting," he avariciously decided and put his certificates back in the safe. "You want to see Bang, don't you?" and, going to the door, he called, "Hey you, Runt; send Ed Bang here!"

Ed Bang's habitual deep creased frown disappeared when he saw Wallingford.

"I'm delighted to see you again," he said, shaking hands heartily with the promoter, while his face lighted with pleasure.

"Delighted!" snarled Scallop. "You must be a fool, Ed! Don't you know this is the man that made a monkey of you and dragged you so deep in debt you won't pull out for years?"

"I was in debt anyhow, and a little more doesn't matter," Ed replied, still holding Wallingford's hand. "Mr. Wallingford made a millionaire of me for three months, and I will never forget it."

"You've been working on your invention ever since I left here?" guessed Wallingford shrewdly.

"Rather slowly," confessed Mr. Bang, with a guilty glance at his employer. "I haven't much money to spend in experiments, and, besides that, I'm going more carefully."

"I had a right to know this," indignantly declared Mr. Scallop. "Why didn't you tell me?"

"Because you'd have kidded him to death," Wallingford answered for him. "I suppose your new models are up at the house, Mr. Bang? If Mr. Scallop will let you off I'll go up there with you and look at them."

"Of course he can go," said Mr. Scallop hastily. "I'll go along."

In Ed Bang's woodshed they inspected the crude coils and bars which formed Mr. Bang's latest model of his sun engine, and Pete Scallop looked coldly upon the dynamometer which presently registered its coefficient of power in the early winter sunlight.

"I don't see where you've made any improvement," he criticised with much dissatisfaction. "It was a neater looking machine the last time I saw it, and it ran a bicycle wheel."

Wallingford chuckled, closing his eyes and heaving his big shoulders. "That was one of my stock selling tricks," he confessed. "That wheel was so delicately balanced that we had to keep gnats off the rim for fear they might start it spinning backward. Moreover, I flattened the steel spokes of that bicycle wheel and set them diagonally, so that the wind would help it."

"You hear him, gentlemen!" cried Mr. Scallop, clutching at his teeth. "He admits that he tricked us."

"Was clever, wasn't it?" agreed Wallingford, pausing to admire himself. "Look at this dynamometer, though, Mr. Scallop. The machine is the same size, and that little needle is more than four times as far around the dial as it was the last time I saw a test. Mr. Bang has been making steady progress with pitifully inadequate means, and I for one believe that he will solve his problem."

"Do you think so?" asked Mr. Bang, with pathetic eagerness. "Sometimes I believe I'm a mere drunkard over this thing, and ought to quit it."

"Don't you do it," Wallingford heartily and sincerely encouraged him. "Plugging away like that at anything is bound to win, and when you hit it you'll make us all millionaires. Bring your model down to the stockholders' meeting at the hotel tonight. Dinner will be served at 7, but I'd like to have you there a little earlier. I must hustle now; I've a lot to do."

They found Mr. Steele, in a red cravat and a gray waistcoat, waiting anxiously for them at the hotel. Wallingford saw him first and thanked his lucky stars for that. He jerked Blackie into the first entrance to the bar and handed him $100.

"Your part in this opera buffet will be to keep this Steele person conspicuously hidden," he directed. "I have to work fast, and he'd make me stutter."

Blackie took the money listlessly. "Do you mind if I give him knockout drops?" he inquired.

"Poison him if you want to," consented Wallingford and, going out upon the side street from the bar, slipped into the ladies' entrance and up the rear stairway to the governor's suit, where he telephoned to the stockholders of the long torpid Bang Sun Engine company, inviting them to the banquet that night and to the special meeting. This exciting and sometimes almost riotous duty performed and an appointment made by telephone with a certain Mr. Gettitt, he once more slipped down the rear stairway.

Mr. Gettitt was superintendent of the electric light plant and was a thick necked party with an acute alcoholic aura. "It's a treat to see you, Wallingford," he declared, with fervor. "I heard you was in town before you telephoned, and I figured right away there'd be something in it for me. You stung me the last time with nothing but stock, and there's no market for waste paper any more. I'll take cash this time, thank you."

"You'll take a share in a nice business," Wallingford corrected him. "The city owns the electric light plant, I believe?"

"It thinks it does."

"That makes your position a political one. Does the board of aldermen make any restrictions on your contracts?"

"We are all brothers," Mr. Gettitt complacently affirmed.

Wallingford drew a paper pad toward him and produced a lead pencil.

* * * * * * *

The dear friends and fellow stockholders of Mr. Wallingford came to the meeting with a snickering determination to skin him alive and hang his hide upon the outer wall to dry if he so much as hinted at involving them in a penny of expenditure. They had sat with him, to their cost, at just such dinners as this; so when the coffee came and Mr. Wallingford, after seeing that each man was served, picked his napkin from his lap and laid it beside his plate, they nudged one another and said:

"Now we get it. Grip your pocket book. He's going to make a speech."

He did. He had been surprised and pained upon his return to find that, in his absence, his motives and even his integrity had been questioned. True, he had sold them some of his own stock in the Sun Engine company and had left the city, but they must remember that they had been much more eager to buy it than he had been to sell.

"He's got us there," mumbled Shellbarker of the Manufacturers' bank to his neighbor, Pete Scallop. "He led us like a drove of sheep and made us beg to be sheared. The man's a wonder!"

"He's a crook!" snapped Scallop. "Wait till he gets through. You'll see he has some big graft to work on us."

As for his resigning the presidency and leaving the city, Mr. Wallingford had other business interests, and as Mr. Bang's engine was not at that time ready for the market, as they all knew when they invested, he could not afford to remain, so in order not to clog the operations of the company he had resigned his office. He was sorry now that he had done so. As much as he liked these gentlemen personally he was compelled to charge them with having been remiss in their duties not only to themselves, but to him.

The eleven stockholders and the five newspaper men then present looked at one another in incredulous amazement. Pete Scallop recovered his teeth with difficulty. President Morley of the Commercial bank observed to Mr. Paulson:

"I knew it. The man will be figuring in some way or other that we owe him money."

Mr. Paulson's hard eye rolled coldly in the direction of Mr. Wallingford, and his cheek bones grew turkey red. "He's given us over a year to make some money for ourselves, and now he's come for it," he dourly opined. "You just wait. He'll ask for it in a little while."

Wallingford meantime was demanding with some heat to know what they had done in his absence. If the people of his own town, who were most interested, would not support Mr. Bang in his experiments by the eternal Mr. Wallingford would! Here was $1,000, and he threw the money upon the table in crisp, crackling bills.

He asked no one to share his faith in the Bang sun engine. He asked no stockholder to put up a dollar for further experiments. He did not want a penny out of Cinderburg, but he would ask them to disburse his money. They need not hesitate to accept it; he would get it back. He would appoint Mr. Morley and Mr. Shellbarker of the Commercial and the Manufacturers' bank respectively to take charge of this $1,000. Out of it Mr. Bang was to be paid $25 a week to devote his time entirely to experiments upon his sun engine, and out of it also was to be purchased such materials as Mr. Bang might need for those experiments. When that fund was exhausted let them communicate with him.

Gentlemen, his mission in Cinderburg was ended!

"He'll get it back, eh!" ejaculated Pete Scallop to his neighbor. Shellbarker. "I'm going to stop that. He ain't going to get a hook on us with his $1,000." And Peter arose to save his fellow members.

Some Cookery Suggestions

WHEN CURRANTS ARE RIPE.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Watercress Salad.
Creamed Crab Meat.
Bread and Butter.
Currant Pudding.
Cocoa.

CURRANTS are of the same family as gooseberries and may be described as near cousins, but they contain more salts of iron and potash than gooseberries do, also gooseberries have very much less acid. In possession of iron the currant is very close to the strawberry and quite equal to the crimson cherry.

Two Kinds of Currants.

Red and White Currants.—Red and white currants in equal parts are delicious if washed, sugared and set directly on ice for hours before serving. Raspberries and cherries, too, may be mixed with them.

Currants In Rice.—Boil a cupful of rice carefully in water a little salted, so that the grains may be dry and may be separate. Have ready a pint of bright, red currants, washed, stemmed and sprinkled with powdered sugar. Sprinkle these lightly through the rice, pile in glasses, and serve either very cold or else hot with melted currant jelly and whipped cream.

Steamed Pudding.

Currant Pudding.—One pint of flour, half a cupful of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, an egg, half a pint of milk and three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Beat butter, sugar and eggs together, add milk and lastly the flour, with baking powder, and a pound of currants. Steam one and a half hours. Serve with hot sauce.

Currant Jelly.—Strip currants from their stems and put them in an earthen jar set in a big kettle of boiling water. Leave them in the jar for three hours, during which time the water should boil constantly. Then strain the juice of the currants through a jelly bag. Add sugar in the proportion of a pound to a pint; boil twenty minutes or until the mass jellies and put in glasses.

Flavored With Spices.

Spiced Currants.—Take six pounds stemmed currants, five pounds granulated sugar, a pint of vinegar, a tablespoonful of ground cinnamon, a tablespoonful of ground cloves, half a tablespoonful of ground allspice, half a teaspoonful of ground ginger, half a teaspoonful of ground mace, half a teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper. Put all these into the preserving kettle together and let them cook for an hour. Stir them frequently. When cooked pour into jelly glasses, and after two or three days cover them with paraffin.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Granny Perch Gives a Delightful Swimming Party.

To Her Delight Grandma Perch Won.

THE perch family had given a swimming party only a few days before, and daddy asked Jack and Evelyn if they would like to hear about it.

"Indeed, we would!" said Jack. "You know, daddy, that anything about swimming pleases me."

"Yes," said Evelyn, "and I would like to hear about the fish having a good time instead of being caught."

"These fish certainly did have a good time. They live in a small lake, which is not far from here, and, oh, such a time as they did have!" daddy replied.

"It was Grannie Perch's idea in the first place, you see. She was very anxious to show that none of the younger ones could swim faster or with more grace than she could, and so she suggested the party.

"All the rest of the perch family were delighted at the idea, though, and they didn't much care who won the swimming race, which was to be the great event of the afternoon, so long as they had all the fun of it.

"Of course they were to have many other races besides swimming races. There were to be obstacle races. In these races two fishes were to swim together and entwine their tails so as to make it harder to get along. But the pair that managed best together were to get a double prize.

"At last when the afternoon came the fishes were all so excited that they didn't do anything as well as they could ordinarily.

"But Grannie Perch was right in her element. She loved showing off and was always best at everything when she had an audience to watch her.

"The swimming race was to be the very first thing on the program.

"Now, as you know, naturally, the perch family don't find it at all hard to swim, but then a great many of them can swim much faster than others, just as there are a great many people who can walk faster than others.

"But, strangely enough, when they had actually started in the race some of them felt quite shaky and didn't swim in a really straight line for the goal.

"And, much to her delight, Grannie Perch won the prize, and all the other members of the perch family congratulated her, and she felt very proud and happy. She adored being the center of everything, and her fins trembled with pride, when some of the cousins and relations came up to her and said:

"'There never has been a swimmer like you, has there, grannie?'

"Of course grannie was perfectly delighted at the praise, but she had arranged a nice party for them. They had high diving competitions, the obstacle races and a water polo match, besides the swimming race.

"So altogether they had a glorious time of it, and before the party broke up they had a supper of most delicious water weed."

By Alice Gibson

6413

"A simple, yet chic little blouse is shown in No. 8413. The pale-colored blouses, pink, blue, yellow and all the other well-known shades have become very popular, worn with darker skirts. This blouse is in drop-shoulder style having a "V"-neck, turn-over collar and full length sleeves which may be cut off at elbow length if preferred. It is plain in the back and closes down the front with a narrow tuck on either side. Lawn, linen, flowered materials or any of the washable silks would be suitable for this design. A flesh-colored crepe de Chine blouse worn with a black silk skirt is very attractive for more dressy affairs. Size 36 requires 2⅛ yards of 36-inch material with ¼ of a yard 27-inch contrasting material. Pattern comes in five sizes, 34 to 42.

Be sure to give right size measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing fifteen cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

MURDERED YOUTH IS LAID AT REST

Fiancee Goes Into Hysterics Before Funeral.

HUNDREDS AT SERVICES

Neighbors View Body of Boy Shot After Leaving Sweetheart—"Thank God, They Caught Brute!" Girl Cries. Murphy Tells of Fall and Says His Head Hasn't Been "Right" Since.

Riverton, N. J., July 16.—The funeral of Herman Fisher, who was shot to death late Saturday night, was held from Asbury Methodist Episcopal church, located in a small settlement called New Albany, not far from the Fisher home. The body of the youth, lying in a steel casket draped with flags and covered with floral offerings, was on view during the morning in the parlor of his parents' home.

Hundreds of persons from the surrounding countryside went to the house to take a last look at the murdered youth and later to attend the services conducted by the Rev. Henry Compton.

Until the last moment it was doubtful whether Ida Wilhelm would be able to attend the funeral. She had a violent attack of hysteria during the morning and was actually out of her mind for several hours. Her screams could be heard for half a mile or more, and it was all her sisters could do to keep her from injuring herself.

"Thank God, they have caught the brute who killed Herman," she cried. "The poor boy, murdered by a man he thought was his friend."

A month ago one of the Wilhelm girls was shopping in Riverside, which is four miles from Taylor Station, when she heard that Edgar Murphy was married and that his wife was living in Riverside with her six-year-old son and supporting herself by working in a shoe factory.

She told her sisters, and Ida Wilhelm asked Herman Fisher about the report. He reluctantly admitted it was true. Murphy was ordered off the place by Mr. Wilhelm after a heated interview.

From that day on he had been planing to "get" Herman Fisher. In his confession Murphy says he was thrown from a wagon about four years ago and that his head has not been "quite right" since. "I get spells at times," he told Prosecutor Atkinson, Ellis Baker, county detective, and Deputy Sheriff Fleetwood.

BARS WAGES FOR WIFE.

Court Holds She Can't Collect if Husband Agrees to Pay Her.

Jersey City, N. J., July 16.—If a wife works as a servant in her husband's household she must not expect to collect pay for it in the courts, Charles J. Roe, advisory master in chancery in this city, ruled when he dismissed a mortgage claim of $5,592 based on a wife's bill for household services at the rate of $6 a week.

"If a husband pays a wife he is degrading her," Master Roe held, "because it is her duty under the law to care for her husband's home and her family."

Herman M. Wendt of Hoboken testified he made an agreement with his wife sixteen years ago to pay her $6 a week. At the same time, it was testified, he borrowed $1,000 from her.

JERSEY BOSS LOSES SALOONS

Jersey City, N. J., July 16.—Charges that Commissioner Frank Hague, head of the Jersey City department of public safety, had "framed up" a case on him for political revenge did not save John J. Sheehy, a Democratic boss in the Horseshoe section of the city, from losing the license for his three saloons.

After an all day hearing the board of commissioners voted unanimously that Sheehy was guilty of permitting gambling and orgies in one of his places. His counsel, George Cutley, law partner of President Wilson's secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, announced after the trial that he will immediately apply to the New Jersey supreme court for a writ of certiorari.

CONDENSED STATE NEWS.

The Rev. William G. Westervelt, for the last twelve years pastor of the Beemerville Presbyterian church in Newton, has resigned owing to a nervous breakdown.

Governor Fielder announced July 24 and 31 and Aug. 7 as "governor's day" at the state encampment at Sea Girt. On these days receptions will be held at the governor's cottage.

Harry J. Doyle, a candidate for election as representative in Montclair, announces that he will conduct a contest among the "first voters" and will appoint the winner his secretary if he is elected.

The forty-fourth annual convention of the New Jersey State Dental society opened at Asbury Park. Dr. William H. Geltson of Camden, president, delivered his annual address. The convention will include both meetings and clinics and will continue until Saturday.

PROPOSALS FOR COAL.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a regular meting held July 6, 1914, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, the third day of August, A. D. 1914, at eight o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for furnishing the following, that is to say:

250 Tons of Coal, more or less, stove and nut, of quality equal to the best Lehigh, delivered in bins of the different departments.

To be delivered at the various Engine Houses, Police Station, Alms House and Street Department, in quantities as required by each of said departments, during the remainder of the current year, with the privilege on the part of the City to purchase at same prices for the first three months of 1915.

Upon receipt of bids or proposals the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council. Proposals should be endorsed "Proposals for Coal."

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.

STATE BOARD URGES ACTION

Conditions on Rajotte Property Shown to Be Unsanitary.

PRODUCES MALARIA

Mosquitoes Are Bred in Large Numbers, Says State Authorities, and Local Health Boards Are Requested to Remedy Matters.

Following numerous complaints made to the State Board of Health regarding the unsanitary condition on lands owned by Albert Rajotte, located partly in the borough of Dunellen and partly in Plainfield and North Plainfield township, and an inspection of the same by the State Board, Dr. A. Clark Hunt, chief of the Board, has sent the following notice to the Boards of Health of Plainfield and North Plainfield township urging immediate action:

"Trenton, N. J., July 14, 1914.

"Gentlemen: Several complaints have been lodged with the State Board of Health during the past year against conditions created and maintained by Albert Rajotte on lands from which he removes clay that is used in the manufacture of brick. The property referred to is located partly in the borough of Dunellen and partly in the city of Plainfield and in North Plainfield township. The complainants claim that the removal of clay has formed low marshy grounds in which mosquito larva breed and which gave rise to other conditions prejudicial to the health of persons residing in the vicinity of the property complained of.

"An inspection of the Rajotte property, made by a representative of this department on February 9, 1914, failed at that time to show any conditions regarded as detrimental to health. Recent inspections, however, made upon renewed complaints, show that mosquito larva, both Culex and Anopheles, were found in pools of stagnant water, in the bottom of clay pits and along the grass fringed edges of excavations through which the waters of Green Brook have been diverted.

"The assertions made by persons residing in the vicinity of the Rajotte property to the effect that they had suffered from malaria since residing in their present homes, are borne out by physicians' reports. It would therefore appear from our recent investigations that the infection of malaria exists in the vicinity of the Rajotte property and that mosquitoes are actually breeding on the ground. With these conditions prevailing the disease is likely to spread and become endemic in the neighborhood unless remedial measures are taken by the local authorities. Broadly speaking these measures should include the extermination of the mosquitoes and the elimination of the infection from the community by the treatment of all persons suffering from the disease until they are free from the malaria parasite. To accomplish the extermination of mosquitoes the work should include the abolition of breeding places either by drainage, treatment with insecticides or stocking with natural enemies of the mosquitoes.

"In the absence of local ordinances governing the various phases of mosquito extermination, which you may have to meet, ample authority to enforce the Board's order even to summary proceedings, for the abatement of nuisances arising from mosquito breeding areas, will be found in Chapter 109 of the Laws of 1904.

"The mosquito extermination work should be continued in the field as late in the season as mosquitoes continue to breed. It should then be carried on by private citizens, and perhaps by the local Board of Health, to include the extermination of mosquitoes which hibernate in cellars and other places and will otherwise live over to start breeding at the beginning of next season.

"Another condition found on the Rajotte property which the Board of Health of the Borough of Dunellen should take immediate steps to correct is the unsanitary privies now in use by the occupants of several houses on the property. These privies consist of dilapidated buildings beneath which masses of fesal matter has collected and is flowing out over the surface of the ground near the dwellings referred to.

"The person responsible for these conditions should be required to furnish and maintain a sanitary privy that will prevent the polution of surrounding ground, and the exposure of fesal matter to flies.

"It is also noted in our inspector's report that rubbish is being dumped in considerable quantities in a slough on the Rajotte property in the Borough of Dunellen, and this decomposing refuse is left uncovered, thus affording a breeding place for flies as well as for mosquitoes in tin cans and other receptacles holding a sufficient quantity of water for the development of larva."

ITALIAN CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Bernardsville Murderer Found Guilty by Jury in Somerville Yesterday.

Manslaughter in the first degree was the verdict returned by the jury yesterday afternoon, which has been hearing the evidence in the trial of Raphael Corrado for the murder of Gaegeso Marcci, at Bernardsville, on May 23 last. Corrado was placed on trial yesterday on an indictment for murder in the first degree. The jury was out two hours considering the case.

Corrado and the victim's wife, who were cousins, had run away, it was claimed by the State, and Marcci located them in Bernardsville. With his brother-in-law, Marcci went to get his wife to return to him, and a short while after the two men entered the house three shots were heard. Marcci was found dying on the floor. Corrado entered a plea of self-defense.

The story of the finding of the body of the victim was told on the stand yesterday by Nathan Stern, owner of the house where the crime was committed. He was standing outside the house, when, according to his testimony, Marcci and a man he identified as Marcci's brother-in-law, entered. A minute or so, later, he said, he heard three more shots. He went into the house and found Marcci lying on the floor in a dying condition.

DR. BORDEN IS HELD ON HOMICIDE CHARGE

Driver of Car That Killed John Mee Will Face the Grand Jury.

Although his automobile killed John Mee, brother of Mrs. John Newman, of Duer street, in Flushing early Wednesday morning, Dr. Richard S. Borden, who was operating the machine, was arraigned before Magistrate Fitch in the Flushing police court, yesterday morning, to face a charge of driving a car with the muffler open. Magistrate Fitch ridiculed the charge as brought by Patrolman Newman, who was with the victim at the time the incident occurred, and had a charge of homicide drawn up against the rich physician. On the latter complaint he was held in $5,000 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

"It is almost like a comic opera to bring a man to court on such a charge after he has caused the death of another," said the magistrate.

"I should like to waive examination pending the coroner's inquest," said Dr. Borden.

"You can't do that in this case," said the court, "I'll hold you to await the action of the Grand Jury."

The accident occurred on Broadway near Fourteenth street, Flushing, when Mee and his companion, Patrolman Newman, who were mounted policemen, endeavored to make Borden, who was alleged to have been speeding along the avenue with his muffler open, to stop. Mee's horse was knocked from under him by the machine and he was taken to the Flushing Hospital in an unconscious condition where he died four hours later. The victim's body now lies at the home of his sister, 120 Duer street, and the funeral will be held at St. Joseph's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

MISS CATHERINE DUFFY GIVEN A FAREWELL PARTY

Forty friends of Miss Catherine Duffy, of Manning avenue, the borough, tendered her a farewell party at her home, last night. Miss Duffy leaves tomorrow morning on the steamship Cameronia for Ireland, where she will spend the summer and the early fall. She was presented with a camera from those present last night.

During the evening dancing was enjoyed and various kinds of games. There was also a musical program in which many of the guests took part. Refreshments were served during the evening.

CHANCES FOR FLIGHT.

Hammondsport, N. Y., July 17—Lieut. Porte has an excellent chance of crossing the Atlantic in the flying boat America according to Edgar Beecher Bronson, explorer and author who has closely observed the trial flights this week. Mr. Bronson in 1874, made a balloon voyage that remained the world's record for thirty years.

WILL CONSIDER NEWARK BAY SPAN

Union and Hudson Freeholders to Hold a Conference at Elizabeth.

WILL PRESENT PLANS

Total Cost of Bridge Would be $2,000,000—Union Refuses to Bear Half the Expense of Improvements.

The Union and Hudson county Freeholders will probably meet at Elizabeth, Wednesday night, at which time the bridge committee of the two Boards will be present following the agreemen made at the Newark Bay bridge hearing in Bayonne, Tuesday night. The Hudson county Board has signified its willingness to attend a meeting at any time convenient for the Union county men, and although no time has been set, Wednesday night has been suggested.

The meeting will be held in the courthouse, Elizabeth, and should result in either the first definite step in the movement for the construction of a bridge, or else its total rejection.

The question which is to be taken up by the Freeholders is the division of cost for the construction of the bridge. Union county has already declared that it will enter no plan whereby a half-and-half division is made between the counties. If a pro rata division can be made, it is very probable that Union county may be willing to enter the scheme. At any rate, it will be given careful consideration and presented to the people of the county for their opinion.

The bridge proposition is undoubtedly the biggest one that has ever come up before Union county officials. It will amount to a total cost of over $2,000,000 in all probability, while the biggest proposition ever handled by Union county in the past has been the construction of the courthouse at $600,000. If a pro rata division of cost is decided upon, the cost to Union county should not be as large as that of the courthouse, however.

Numerous prominent Elizabeth and Union county officials have declared themselves to be in favor of the construction of a bridge over the lower bay, and the chairman of the New Jersey Harbor Commission, during the hearing in Bayonne on Tuesday night, made the statement that the bridge would be a very desirable improvement. From the tenor of the remarks made by all the Union county representatives, a fair division of cost would remove the greatest objection to the plan, and the one thing which is holding the county back from entering the project.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED AT HERR'S SCHOOL

The Plainfield Business College, Herr's School, contemplates extensive alterations and complete renovation of the school-rooms during the month of August. The school will remain in session until July 31. The entire month of August will be taken for vacation to allow for the making of numerous changes and improvements. The owners of the building have begun the work of renovating the stairway and hallways, putting in a six foot wainscoating and painting the remainder of the side walls and ceilings. The past year has been an excellent one for the school and the improvements in course of completion will materially aid to take care of the large increase in attendance which is assured in September.

BOROUGH BOARD TO RECEIVE BIDS FOR ISSUE OF BONDS

Bids for $50,000 worth of municipal bonds will be received by the North Plainfield Board of Education at a meeting to be held July 21 in the Somerset School at 8 o'clock. A deposit of 2% will be required with the sealed bids and the rate of interest is placed at 4½%. The bonds will be dated July 1 and will mature as follows: $4,000 due July 1, 1916; $5,000 due July 1, 1927; $6,000 due July 1, 1928; $5,000 due July 1, 1929; $6,000 due July 1, 1930; $6,000 due July 1, 1931; $6,000 due July 1, 1932; $6,000 due July 1, 1933, and $6,000 due July 1, 1934.

The bonds are to be issued in denominations of $500 each and may be registered as to principal but not as to interest. Interest is payable January and July 1 at the Plainfield Trust Company and the principal will be payable at the same place.

WILL TRAIN POLICE IN MARKMANSHIP

The members of the police department were ordered to report at the Independent Gun Club grounds, this afternoon, for the first pistol practice of the season. It is said to be the intention of the department to devote more attention to this part of police duty so that there will be less reason for complaint when the services of an officer is required to shoot a dog.

At a recent meeting of the Council, a communication was received from Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, and vice-president of the S. P. C. A., requesting that when a dog is to be shot a competent man be selected for the job. This no doubt inspired the department to see that the policemen become efficient in marksmanship. Captain John J. Flynn, in accordance with orders from Police Chief Kiely, assumed charge of headquarters last night, and Sergeant Maurice Higgins was returned to outside day duty. He will do the work previously performed by Captain Flynn before his promotion.

PLAINFIELD COUPLE WEDDED 58 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray Celebrate Event at Wolfboro, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, Sr., of Central avenue, who are spending the summer at their camp, "Burnbrae," Wolfboro, N. H., observed the fifty-eighth anniversary of their wedding, yesterday. While no attempt was made at any big celebration the happy event was marked in a pleasing way, the members of the family present joining in a dinner party, when the celebrants received hearty congratulations. In addition to the relatives present, there were guests from near-by camps and cottages, coming in motor boats, canoes and afoot. There was also an informal program of music.

It was at Wolfboro that Mr. and Mrs. Murray celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. At that time there were seventy-five guests present. This year the number of relatives present was smaller than usual for the reason that several are spending the summer elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray are among the oldest residents of Plainfield, where their friends are legion. Mr. Murray is a veteran in the insurance business, but for several years has lived quietly in retirement with Mrs. Murray at their home on Central avenue. The couple have been accustomed to spending their summers in New Hampshire for many years. Among those who the spending the summer at Wolfboro are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Sandford.

ANOTHER MAD DOG SHOT IN THE WEST END TODAY

Another mad dog made its appearance in the West End of the city this morning, the canine being dispatched by Patrolman Wicht with one shot through its brain. The animal created havoc in the vicinity of West Third street and Grant avenue before being put to death, but as far as can be learned it did not bite anyone.

This is the third mad dog shot here during the past two weeks and is one of the few that has escaped the attention of the dog catcher. A large number of stray canines are being rounded up and the city will probably be free of these nuisances in a short time.

DISCARD RADIUM.

Berlin, July 17.—German surgeons have practically discarded radium as a remedy for cancer in favor of the Rontgen rays, following the lead of Prof. Bumm, director of the women's clinic of the University of Berlin, and Prof. Bier, surgeon general of the German army, who have renounced their faith in the former treatment. Surgeons claim that patients treated with appartne success by radium and discharged as cured shortly afterwards reveal evidences of a return of the disease.

PLAN SOCIAL EVENTS

Purpose is to Advance Interests of Those Who Attend New York Institution Through Frequent Meetings and Receptions

Harvey Rothberg, of 410 Madison avenue, and brother of Samuel Rothberg, the West Front street clothier, was honored on Wednesday by being elected president of the New Jersey Club of Columbia University. The meeting was held on the campus in the auditorium of Earl Hall, about seventy-five New Jersey students from the various departments being present to discuss plans of work for the summer.

The purpose of the association is to bring together in a social way all the New Jersey students who are pursuing studies at Columbia. All the departments were represented, including Teachers' College, the Law School and the college itself.

There are in attendance at the university summer session this year over 500 students and more than one hundred men and women come from this State, a large number of whom are commuters and it is the aim of the New Jersey Association to bring these students closer to the New Jersey students who reside in New York city either at the dormitories or in lodging houses. Through meetings and informal receptions this object is accomplished under the supervision of the director of the summer session, Professor James C. Egbert, who, through his residence in New Jersey is one of the honorary members of the association.

The retiring president of the association is Paul Q. Mertz, formerly English teacher in the North Plainfield High School, but now an instructor in the Trenton Normal School. Miss May Condon, of Morristown, was elected vice president, and H. G. Terwilliger, of Summit, secretary and treasurer, while an executive committee was appointed by the president, Harvey Rothberg, comprising the following:

Robert Samworth, Paterson; A. W. Hand, Cape May; Samuel Spingarn, West Hoboken; Miss Bertha M. Irwin, Trenton; Miss Bertha Pilschultz, Jersey City; Miss May Scully, Wildwood.

The first social event of the season is an informal dance, which will be held Thursday evening, July 23, in Earl Hall, on the university campus, which will be chaperoned by several of the wives of the college faculty. This will be followed by a sail up the Hudson on Friday evening, July 31.

Mr. Rothberg was graduated from the Plainfield High School, Class '08, and from Amherst College, Class '12, where he received the degree of A. B. For the past two years he has been a student of the Columbia University Law School, where he expects to receive the degree of LL. B. He is planning to pursue his studies further in the law toward the master of arts degree at Columbia and then return to Plainfield to live. He is a member of the Alpha Chapter of Phi Sigma Delta fraternity, the Amherst Alumni Association and Maccabee Lodge of the Independent Order B'Nai Brith, of New York city.

P. S. C. WILL DISCONTINUE RUNNING STONE CAR

The borough authorities have received numerous complaints of late concerning the operation by the Public Service Corporation of large cars used for the transportation of stone from the upper end of Somerset street. These cars seem to make an unusual noise because of their construction. Recently, a complaint was made about a flat wheel on one of the cars. In response to a request, the trolley company today notified the borough authorities that the operation of the cars would be discontinued.

TO HAVE FAMILY REUNION.

Charles Schwed, of Somerville, and Max Schwed, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Herman Schwed, of this city, will sail on the Lapland tomorrow for Nuremburg, Germany, to participate in the first reunion of the Schwed family held in forty-eight years. They will be accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Herman Schwed, of this city, and Miss Emilie Schwed and Miss B. Kaufman.

TO CONTINUE DINNER-DANCES.

The Saturday night dinner-dances which were given at the Plainfield Country Club during June and the forepart of July have proved so popular that the club has decided to continue them for the rest of the month. VanEps Brothers will furnish the music for tomorrow night's affair and for the following Saturday night.

LAND TWO FUGITIVES IN SOMERVILLE JAIL

Charged With Massachusetts Murder Pair Are Traced by Mail to Rocky Hill.

Accused of having brutally murdered a fellow-countryman named Giato Barbato, in Essex, Mass., several weeks ago, Gaetano DeVaia, an Italian who has been living at Princeton, N. J., is being held a prisoner in the Somerville jail awaiting extradition to Massachusetts. When DeVaia called at the postoffice in Rocky Hill, yesterday afternoon, for his mail he was placed under arrest by Detective Fred Flynn, of the Massachusetts State Police.

Immediately after the murder in Essex, DeVaia disappeared, together with the wife of his alleged victim. The body of Barbato was found in the back yard of his home in a shallow grave. The Massachusetts authorities learned that DeVaia was receiving his mail at Rocky Hill and the detective was sent to that village to arrest him. After being placed in a cell at Somerville the Italian admitted that he had been receiving his mail at Rocky Hill although living at Princeton, which is ten miles away.

The detective went last night to Princeton to apprehend Mrs. Barbato. It is thought that she will further material evidence for the conviction of the alleged slayer. She is accused of being an accomplice in the crime and will also be held to await the filing of extradition papers.

LIVELY CAMPAIGN PROMISED IN BORO

W. L. Smalley and F. O. Dunning, Sr., Will Seek Councilmanic Nomination.

Announcement was made today that former Councilman William L. Smalley and Frank O. Dunning, Sr., of Mountain avenue, would be candidates for the borough Council this fall to succeed Julius Stahl and Edmund Rushmore, whose terms expire. Both of these candidates have a large following and an active campaign will be waged in their behalf. Both are well known and have been active in civic work in that municipality for many years.

Messrs. Dunning and Smalley are staunch advocates of Republicanism and should they be chosen as successors to the present incumbents they promise many reforms in borough legislation. The terms of Councilman Rushmore and Stahl expire this fall and both will be candidates for re-election. The petition of Edmund Rushmore has been in circulation for several days and both he and Mr. Stahl have the support of a number of North Plainfield voters.

Mr. Smalley, who lives on West End avenue, is one of the borough's most prominent property holders and his friends anticipate little trouble in placing him back in office. His record while in the Council was a creditable one and he has always been a leader in municipal affairs. He is well versed on all of the borough's needs and is recognized as an authority on matters pertaining to legislation in that community.

Mr. Dunning has been a resident voter of North Plainfield for fourteen years and recently has become prominent as a civic worker. He has gained distinction in public school matters and was one of the nominees for election to the Board of Education last year, being defeated by a small majority at the special election.

LOCAL FIRM LOWEST BIDDER FOR NEW CASTLE WORK

Burke & Bonham, local contractors, were the lowest bidders on the contract for a new road to be constructed in New Castle, Del., submitting figures of $37,000, yesterday. This mark was $137 lower than the local firm's nearest rival for the contract and it is probable that the work will be done by the Plainfield bidders.

The proposed new road will be built of anthracite and bituminous compositions and will be one mile and a half in length. Burke & Bonham completed several similar contracts, but this is their first in Delaware.

ANOTHER BOOM FOR CITY POOL

Judge DeMeza Makes a Plea For Some Place for Youngsters to Bathe.

FOUR BOYS ARE FINED

Juvenile Apple Thieves Sentenced by Court With a View to Impressing the Seriousness of the Situation on Their Parents.

"Juvenile depredation of this kind will continue in the annals of the city court until the citizens of Plainfield provide swimming pools or adequately equipped recreation centers for the future voters," said City Judge William G. DeMeza in disposing of five young apple thieves this morning. Charged with taking apples and ruining the trees of William O'Donnell, of West Seventh street, the boys, whose ages range from nine to thirteen years, appeared before the bar of justice without any sufficient excuse for their thoughtless acts and each had to pay a fine of $2 before he was released from custody. In passing sentence, Judge DeMeza said:

"The law permits of no other course than to fine these boys. Unless I do something with the troublemakers, the practice of stealing apples will become as bad this year as it has been in other summers. If I fine these boys their parents will have to pay the fines and will see to it that the trouble-makers are punished. If Plainfield had a swimming pool in the central portion of the city the younger generation would be kept away from this mischief and would be able to enjoy a far more healthful and lawful recreation."

The boys arrested by Patrolman Frank Sweeney were Adolph Johnson, Samuel Kurtasky, Bennie Fellman, William Kane and Lewis Bender. Johnson proved to the court that this was his first offense and was let off with a suspended sentence. Evidence in the case showed that the quartet of other defendants have made a practice of collecting apples from the West End residents and have made general nuisances of themselves in that section.

During the past two weeks Chief of Police Kiely has received numerous complaints regarding the manner in which the playgrounds are being conducted. According to the department head the janitors at the various centers have absolutely no control over the frequenters of the places and the youngsters are brought together under a harmful environment. It is the consensus of opinion among the complainants that much of the present heavy apparatus in the four yards could be done away with and one municipal swimming pool substituted to good advantage.

It is said that the heavy equipment is not appropriate to summer recreation and swimming pools are a necessity to a city like Plainfield where there are 3,000 children between the ages of nine and sixteen years.

"If the youngster goes near the brook without tights, he is arrested," said Chief Kiely. "There are many boys in this city, all of whom really need some place in which to bathe during the hot summer months, who cannot afford the luxury of a pair of tights. If the city maintained its own pool as it should the boys would be provided with the necessary clothing. The mud holes along Greenbrook are a menace to the health of those who swim in them. The polluted water makes swimming injurious to the youth. There is one public spirited property-owner in this section who really looks out for the welfare of the city youth. He is Milton Mendel, owner of Holly Park on the upper end of Park avenue. Here the boys are allowed to bathe in a body of water that is clean and healthful. But this place is too far from the city, and unless the youngster has a wheel or has all day to himself in which to make the trip on foot, he elects to sacrifice his swim."

COUNTY DEMOCRATS TO MEET.

The Democratic County Executive Commtitee will hold its first session of the season at Elizabeth, this evening. Several matters of importance will be presented to the Jeffersonian gathering, among which will be the preliminary plans for the fall campaign. It is not probable that candidates for any office are to be endorsed.

APPROACHING WEDDING.

Announcement has been made of the approaching wedding of Miss Gertrude Terrington, of England, to Leonard Foster Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bennett, of South avenue, to take place Tuesday evening, July 28, at the home of the groom's parents. The bride-elect will leave England tomorrow for the United States.

POLITICAL NOTES.

It was announced at Trenton last week that former Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, Republican, of Somerset county, would probably declare himself a candidate for the nomination for United States Senator within the near future. Senator Frelinghuysen was named a member of the State Board of Education by President Wilson when Governor and was formerly president of the State Senate. He has been considered of Gubernatorial timber for some years.

The anti-Gebhardt faction of Democrats in Hunterdon county, met at Easton and with the assistance of United States Senator James E. Martine, prepared a slate that will be supported at the coming primaries. Each of the thirty-two districts of the county was represented by three delegates. Former Senator William C. Gebhardt, at present Supreme Court Clerk, is the sponsor of another set of candidates to be voted on at the primaries. Former Assemblyman John J. Matthews, of High Bridge, presided at the meeting, and Harry L. Stout, county attorney of Hunterdon, acted as secretary. Congressman Allen B. Walsh, of the Fourth district, was endorsed for renomination by an unanimous vote.

Assemblyman Leonard in discussing his candidacy for the State Senatorship on the Democratic ticket said that he is in the race to stay. The same announcement was made by Assemblyman Dobbins, of Rahway. Mayor Stewart is reported to have said he will not enter a primary contest for the nomination. This was suggested to Mr. Leonard, and he said he had no intention of withdrawing. He was the first candidate to announce himself for the State Senatorship on the Democratic ticket, and the announcement was well received by his many friends throughout the county who are urging him to remain in the fight.

Although there are already three Republican Assembly aspirants in the field, it is believed petitions will be filed for many more before the last day for filing. Those now in the race are Charles L. Morgan and Arthur E. Warner, of Elizabeth, and Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield. Friends of all are active with their petitions, and claim to have rounded up organized support in all sections of the county.

TROUBLE JUST COMMENCED.

New York, July 17—While officially informed of the resignation of General Huerta, Senor Emilio Rabassa, head of the Mexican delegation to the mediation conference at Niagara Falls, said today that he had as yet received no instructions from the new Provisional President. According to Rabassa, the days of trouble for Mexico have just commenced.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

When Is a Drunken Motorist?

Is the law which says that a man who operates an automobile while under the influence of liquor shall go to the penitentiary for three months one of those enactments that look better on the surface than when you examine their interior construction?

When is a man intoxicated, and how are you going to prove it?

In the case of the Poughkeepsie salesman set free by Judge Hahn, the learned court did not believe Captain Ryan and the policeman who made the arrest when they swore to their belief that the man was drunk when he was taken into custody. The driver of the wagon into which the autoist ran also declared the offender appeared drunk. A friendly witness said the man seemed "nervous." The prisoner himself declared that he was "excited."

The man, therefore, was nervous, excited or drunk, in either condition unfit to operate a motor car on a public highway. But the judge entertains a "reasonable doubt" of his offending and lets him go. He suggests that hereafter when a prisoner is brought into a station house charged with a similar misdemeanor, a physician be called to make an examination.

An humbler citizen than an automobilist gets drunk and is arrested. Does the need of an expert diagnostician suggest itself to the police? Or has it in the past suggested itself to Judge Hahn? Yet suppose such a course is pursued, the prisoner, if he has saving sense enough, may call in his own physician, which places a simple arrest for intoxication on the plane of a battle of experts. Intoxication specialists may yet succeed the alienist and handwriting expert in trials.

And in the meantime what has become of the law regulating drunken autoists? Is it not to regulate them, after all?—Newark Evening News.

NORTH DAKOTA STATE FAIR.

Fargo, N. D., July 17—Many carloads of exhibits are arriving here in anticipation of the opening of the North Dakota State Fair next Monday. All signs point to one of the most successful exhibitions ever held in the Northwest. The premium list is the largest ever offered in this State and as a result the choicest products of the stock farm, orchard and field will be included in the display. In addition, the board of directors have added many free attractions for the entertainment of the visitors.

About forty-five from this place went on the annual excursion of the Seventh-Day Baptist Sunday-school to Asbury Park yesterday. Although the day was somewhat marred by three heavy showers all who went said that they had had a fine time. The temperature of the ocean was 72. No accidents were reported.

Arthur Voorhees, of Jackson avenue, who is employed as fireman by the Central Railroad, had the misfortune to lose a valuable $50 Waltham watch on Monday. Mr. Voorhees had looked at his watch just as the 4:26 p. m. train from Jersey City to Newark, which he was firing, was pulling out of Jersey City. When he attempted to pull the watch out at Newark it was gone. Upon examining the pocket in which he kept the watch he found a hole therein.

Watchung.

The members of the Watchung Chemical Engine Company are making plans for their first clambake which they will hold in the near future on Interhaven avenue.

There will be a baseball game tomorrow on Watchung Oval between the two mountain rivals, the Interhaven Athletic Club and the Watchung Athletic Association.

Farmers in this vicinity are getting worried over this continued rainy weather, as the grain and hay are ripe and cannot be cured if this weather continues.

All of the new bungalows recently built on the old Smith farm on Dugway road by a New York realty company, have been completed. The company has started to build ten or twelve more.

Mrs. William T. Campbell, of Hillcrest road, is entertaining Mrs. Robert Esler, of Bayonne.

Mr. and Mrs. Cohn and family, of New York city, are camping for the summer on Moore's Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. August Wersing, of Valley View Farm, have their large house filled with summer boarders.

Paul Kluber, of Mountain Boulevard, is driving a 1914 car.

South Plainfield.

Rev. Hervey Wood, D. D., of New York city, will speak at the South Plainfield Baptist church, Sunday morning. Mr. Wood is secretary of the temperance committee of the Baptist General Convention. An illustrated sermon on the "Life of Adoniram Judson," will be given in the evening at 7:45 by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Allen.

CARRANZA WANTS FULL SURRENDER

Anxious to Enter Capital Without Bloodshed.

WOULD END HOSTILITIES.

United States Now Waits on President Carbajal, and It Is Expected That New Executive Will Offer to Surrender to Rebels.

Monterey, Mexico, July 17.—Fighting by Constitutionalists is over in Mexico, if plans announced here by General Carranza go into effect. He declared that his main object now would be to conduct negotiations for the Constitutionalists to enter Mexico City and establish their government without further bloodshed or damage to property.

General Carranza was unable to say whether these negotiations would be conducted through the mediators or directly with the federals. Unconditional surrender, however, will be the only condition on which these negotiations will be successful. General Carranza made that plain to newspaper men who talked with him today. He declared that the "reforms for which the Constitutionalists fought must be obtained at whatever cost."

Washington, July 17.—A move by President Carbajal toward arranging with the Constitutionalists for the surrender of Mexico City and the Mexican government to the revolutionary forces is now awaited by both the administration and the representatives here of General Carranza. It probably will be only a few days at most before Carbajal undertakes the purpose for which it is assumed he was brought into office.

While there is no official confirmation of press reports that a committee of three has left Mexico City for the north to get in touch with the Constitutionalist commanders, it is believed here that these reports are true. Such action is precisely what is expected of Carbajal, and no reason is seen for any delay in beginning the making of the necessary arrangements for the transfer of government. Meantime neither the administration nor the Constitutionalists are doing anything but waiting upon Carbajal.

With the retirement of Huerta, however, the vast importance of the host of questions which must soon arise is being realized, and informal discussions are already in progress for the purpose of a mutual understanding between the United States government and the Constitutionalists. While the United States has not yet taken up the matter of recognition of the government which the Constitutionalists are to set up in Mexico City, it is fully appreciated by both parties that on the conduct of the Constitutionalists depends whether they are to receive the recognition and support of Washington.

Important Questions.

The present desideratum of the Washington government in the situation is in that Carbajal and Carranza, through their representatives, shall agree upon some orderly procedure for the transfer of power and the actual occupation of Mexico City by the Constitutionalists. The United States has made known to the Constitutionalists in the last few days that it expects Carranza to enter an arrangement with the new Mexican president. While Washington looks to Carbajal to make practically an unconditional surrender of Mexico City, at the same time it has signified to Carranza that it will expect of him no undue severity or harshness in his demands on Carbajal.

While the Constitutionalists are determined that nothing shall be permitted to interfere with their complete possession of Mexico City and the reins of government under military procedure, it is said by their representatives that they are willing to give due consideration to certain rights of the people of Mexico City. It is thought likely that Carranza will, prior to or on the occasion of his occupying Mexico City, issue a proclamation in which shall be set forth his views as to what measure of amnesty is to be granted to political offenders, what measure of protection may be expected by owners and particularly what the new government purposes to do regarding the clergy and their vast properties.

These three questions, it is assumed here, will be the chief issues to be decided by the representatives of Carbajal and Carranza.

PRESIDENT WILSON ILL.

Light Attack of Indigestion Compels Him to Cancel Engagements.

Washington, July 17.—President Wilson sustained a light attack of indigestion and canceled his engagements. He had arranged to hold two conferences with New York business men and was to have met many congressmen on patronage questions.

White House officials said that the president's illness was not serious. Dr. Cary T. Grayson, his naval aid and physician, advised the president to remain in the executive mansion all day.

Navy Not a Jail.

Portland, Ore., July 17. — Circuit Judge J. P. Kavanaugh recently sentenced Chester Clark, convicted of larceny, to enlistment in the navy. Lieutenant R. R. Smith rejected Clark and rebuked Judge Kavanaugh, saying the navy "does not serve the country as a penal institution."

—If you have a really desirable house or apartment to rent, your "ad" will constitute GOOD NEWS to some anxious people in this city.

PUBLIC HEALTH LESSONS.

A striking illustration of the changing conditions in educational ideas may be found in the growing appreciation on the part of leading universities of their responsibility to the public. In former generations a university was regarded as a thing apart, and a college professor was looked on, not only by the humorous paragraphers of the newspapers, but also by the mass of people, as a man living in a world of ideas, without any connection with practical affairs. Today our leading universities are recognizing not only the opportunity, but also the duty of making available their knowledge for the benefit of the masses. This tendency is highly commendable, especially in the field of public health and prevention of disease.

The Harvard Medical School has a standing committee on public lectures which arranges each year for a course of Sunday afternoon talks by members of the faculty. These talks are open to the general public and are on topics of general interest, including last year twenty lectures easily understood by the lay public.

In Minnesota the daily press is co-operating in the same kind of work. A series of articles on disease and its prevention by Dr. E. P. Lyon, dean of the University of Minnesota Medical School, recently appeared in a Minneapolis newspaper. The University of Missouri is one of the few State universities that has recognized the growing tendency by the organization of a distinct department on public health. A series of bulletins for public reading and distribution are being distributed.

Each of these universities has apparently worked out is plans in accordance with the needs of its own particular field. In Boston, popular Sunday afternoon lectures; in Minnesota, newspaper articles, and in Missouri, pamphlets on specific subjects seem to meet existing conditions. The significant fact, in the opinion of The Journal of the American Medical Association is that our universities are recognizing their responsibilities to the public and are making serious, intelligent and practical efforts to meet them.

NEEDS A FIRM HAND.

With his elevation to the captaincy in the police department, John J. Flynn has been assigned, at least temporarily, to desk duty at night at headquarters. In the meantime no detective-sergeant has been named to succeed him, and for the time being no one trained in the work which he has been doing is on duty. Flynn's record, which has been referred to several times during the past few weeks is of such a character that he is entirely too valuable a man to be kept at headquarters. In fact, we do not know of another police department in the State where a captain is assigned to night desk duty.

The pulling and hauling incident to the appointment of a captain has not been conducive of good discipline in the department. There is need for a radical change in policy by the members of the police committee, and the duties of the various officers should be definitely fixed, so that there can be no conflict of authority. The police board should take matters into their own hands and thoroughly re-organize the department so that the greatest efficiency can be secured from the number of men employed. It is time for the elimination of politics, and for a return to the splendid system of discipline which prevailed when Elliott T. Barrows was chairman of the police board, and took a personal pride in having things as they should be.

The officers and men in the Plainfield department are all of a splendid type. All are honest, straightforward, hardworking public servants. But there is and has been a conflict of authority at times, (and everyone knows that there is no love lost between some of the men), which has not helped with discipline. Now that the captaincy has been settled some of the kinks in the department need straightening out, and they should be straightened with a firm hand.

SAVE THE TREES.

Complaints have come to the Daily Press of late about the burning of trees by electric light wires in some sections of the city. Among the attractions of Plainfield are the many beautiful shade trees which line the streets, and the destruction of a single one of them is a serious matter. Every citizen can help in lessening the destruction, for when once the burning begins, only immediate steps will prevent the inevitable necessity for razing these natural aids in beautifying the city. If you see a wire burning a tree near your house, call police headquarters on the 'phone, and they will soon have a Public Service employe on the spot to see if the damage cannot be stopped.

That there is damage not only here in Plainfield, is made evident by the fact that the same complaint is being heard in Elizabeth. According to the Journal of that city, tree destruction is continually going on because of the wires, and little or no attention is given by nearby residents to the tragedies being enacted. The Journal sums up the situation well when it says:

The trees die or their branches are lopped off, and the deadly cause of their misfortune is noted and regretted by only a few nearby residents who have come to love them.

Their misfortune, did we say? No, not theirs so much as the misfortune of every man and woman and child in the city. The trees are their friends—every one of them. More their friends than the wires. Of as much real use to them, perhaps, as the wires. Indeed, they should not be sacrificed to the commercial-serving wires. Either the wires should be removed or so well insulated that they may not threaten the lives of the trees so murderously.

It requires long decades to grow a tree. Its life may be taken in an instant. All its life-giving branches may have the blood within them turned to molten fire by the deadly electric fluid.

As F. P. A. says in The Gotham Weekly Gazette: "News are scarce." The usual summer dull period has descended upon Plainfield, and about the only real excitement that has been stirred up has been by W. de la R. Anderson's new cycle-car.

Tomorrow's contributed editorial has been prepared by Robert Newton Crane, a well-known lawyer, who will discuss the subject of unnecessary legislation.

Just when everybody finally felt that they could pronounce "Huerta" he was unkind enough to resign and start us all off again trying to master "Carbajal."

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

I notice that someone asserts that the Chinese laundries in Plainfield are unclean and a menace to the health of the city.

For many years I have had work done every week in a Plainfield Chinese laundry, and always well done.

The men are prompt, accurate, business-like, polite and clean. To be sure they do not vote, nor go to church, nor belong to trade unions, but in forty years I have heard more complaint of every other kind of work done in Plainfield than of Chinese laundry work. Haven't you?

READY FOR TRIAL OF NOTORIOUS GUNMAN

Lawrence Robinson Charged With Killing Boston Policeman Month Ago.

Boston, Mass., July 17—The district attorney's office has everything in readiness to begin the trial next Monday of Lawrence (Chippy) Robinson, the notorious "gunman" who less than four weeks ago shot and killed Police Inspector Thomas J. Norton, who was one of a squad of officers attempting to arrest Robinson and a companion in a well known downtown cafe. The accused man, despite his immaculate dress and outward appearances of gentility, is considered one of the most daring criminals with which the Boston police have ever had to deal, and his trial is expected to attract wide attention.

Robinson hails from the State of Ohio and is understood to have made Toledo his headquarters most of the time. He was wanted in Grand Rapids, Mich., in connection with the daylight robbery of the Thompson jewelry store in that city last September, in which three men connected with the concern were shot and killed by two robbers, who escaped with more than $2,000 worth of diamonds.

Three months ago Walter Lawrence was arrested in Covington, Ky., on a charge of having been connected with the Grand Rapids robbery. He is alleged to have confessed and to have named Robinson as his companion in the crime. The Grand Rapids police sent circulars broadcast bearing a description of Robinson and offering a reward of $2,000 for his capture. Other rewards offered for the capture and conviction of the murderers totaled $7,500. This led to great activity on the part of police and detectives the country over.

The Pinkertons were brought into the case by the National Protective Association of Jewelers. Two of their detectives finally succeeded in locating Robinson in this city, where for several weeks he had been living at a downtown hotel and spending money lavishly at nearby summer resorts. Living with him was a young man named Joseph Duddy, whose acquaintance he had made in Toledo, but who so far as is known was not concerned in the Grand Rapids robbery.

On June 19 the two detectives found Robinson and Duddy dining in the cafe. The detectives belonged in Philadelphia and in consequence had no authority to make any arrests here without a warrant. They telephoned to police headquarters to send an officer to make the arrests. Police Inspector Norton was just leaving headquarters to attend the graduation of the oldest of his seven children. Without hesitation he accepted the assignment and hurried to the cafe to meet the detectives. On learning of the dangerous character of Robinson and his propensity to shoot on the slightest occasion, the inspector picked up two of his brother officers on the street, which made a party of five to accomplish the arrests.

Upon entering the cafe the party at once walked toward the table where sat Robinson and his companion. It was mid-afternoon and the cafe was filled with men and wmen, laughing and joking. As the police approached Robinson glanced up and in an instant was on his feet. He drew his revolver quickly, saying, "You'll never take me alive." Then there was a shot. Inspector Norton grabbed Robinson, who grappled with the inspector, managed to shake him off, and broke away. Again Robinson fired his revolver. Norton fell with a bullet wound just under the heart and died before he reached the hospital.

The other policemen rushed at Robinson, but he fought them off, and, reaching one of the exits, dashed up the stairway leading to the street. The pursuing policemen were right at his heels, each with his revolver in his hand. Then followed a running pistol fight, the like of which Boston had never seen before. Bullets flew wildly, but not a pedestrian in the crowded street was hit. The crowd, frightened by the shooting, frantically tried to get out of the way. Doorways soon were filled with men and women. Bullets shattered store windows nearby and the noise of the battle could be heard for blocks. Traffic was brought to a standstill and cars were deserted as they stood in the street.

The chase soon ended, however, for the police were reinforced by mounted officers. Robinson, cornered, was taken to headquarters. In the course of the pursuit the desperado was shot three times by the officers. None of the wounds proved serious and at the end of three or four days he was removed from the hospital and lodged in a cell.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Y. W. C. A. will be represented at the Northeastern Annual Conference to be held at Silver Bay, N. Y., beginning next week, by six young women who will leave here Monday and take the night boat from New York to Albany, and take the train from there to Silver Bay. Those who will compose the delegation are: Miss Harriet Madison, Miss Elizabeth Wetheral, Miss Lucy Douglas, Miss Jessie Stuart, Miss Margaret Hawkins and Miss Sarah Cadoo.

The conference will last from July 21 to 28 and the theme for this year will be "Christian Integrity." A program has been mapped out for each day and the officers from associations all over the East will have charge of the different topics. The first day's program will be: 8:30, Bible study classes; 9:20, intermission; 9:30, "The Christian Faith, In Life and Love and Hope," a series of addresses; 10:10, intermission; 10:25, technical councils; 11:39, mission and community study classes; 2:00-3:00, quiet hour; 7:45, evening platform meeting, and 9:00, delegation meetings.

RECREATION NOTES

The Lincoln School building was opened for the first time as a public reading-room last night. There was a small attendance, due to the weather. The building will be open every Thursday evening to the public and plenty of amusement will be found there for all. There is a reading-room and all kinds of games, also a piano. Last night A. B. Jones and Harry Marshall were present to lend assistance. Mr. Jones had his victrola there and a fine musical program was enjoyed. Miss Morris, the new recreation supervisor, was in charge.

The Dunbar Musical and Educational Club will meet in the Washington School tonight. There will be a musical program and dancing.

The municipal dance will be held tomorrow night in the Washington School. Frazee's orchestra will furnish the music.

HOW TO FOOL THE WEATHER MAN WITH MERCURY AT 100

Albany, N. Y., July 17—Plenty of sleep, light and clean clothing, light and frequent meals, plenty of drinking water—not ice water—and good digestion.

These are necessary, the New York State Health Department insists, to good health in hot spells. The present extreme heat is responsible for the department issuing a bulletin containing suggestions for keeping well and keeping cool.

State Commissioner of Health Herman M. Biggs has sent broadcast instructions to mothers on how to take care of infants. The high infant mortality prompted this precaution.

GREAT PARADE OF ELKS.

Denver, Colo., July 17—Festivities in connection with the annual national reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks culminated today in a parade, which was one of the most notable affairs of its kind ever seen in Denver. Thousands of members of the order were in line, many of them garbed in rich and picturesque costumes. The line of march extended over a large part of the business section and through streets which were lavishly decorated with flags and bunting.

FOUR KILLED AT NORFOLK.

Norfolk, Va., July 17.—Four persons were killed and scores injured in a collision between an electric train on the Virginia Passenger and Power Co. and a coal train on the Virginian Railroad early today, at Fairmont Crossing, about three miles from Norfolk.

SUIT IS FILED.

Boston, July 17.—The threatened suit against the New York, New Haven and Hudson Railroad and its directors to recover millions of dollars alleged to have been looted from the stockholders was filed today in the Supreme Court by Sherman L. Whipple, of the firm of Whipple Sears & Ogden. The action is a bill of complaint brought by the trustees under the will of Olea Bull Vaughan, late of West Lebanon, Me. They are the owners of fifty shares of capital stock of the New Haven which belonged to the deceased daughter of the famous violinist.

MAY BE RELEASED TODAY.

Mineola, L. I., July 17.—It is not altogether unlikely that Mrs. Florence Carman, indicted yesterday for manslaughter in the first degree in the case of Mrs. Louise Bailey, who was murdered in the office of her husband, Dr. Carman, may be in her home at Freeport again this evening, held in heavy bail. It is known that there are a number of persons here and in Freeport who are ready to give bail for the woman in any amount.

TO DEDICATE GLICK STATUE.

Washington, D. C., July 17—A statue of George W. Glick, who was Governor of Kansas in the early eighties, is to be dedicated in Statuary Hall, of the Capitol tomorrow. The dedication will be made the occasion for interesting ceremonies in which the Kansas representatives in Congress will take part. Governor Glick was a lawyer and a farmer, and was one of the pioneers of Kansas.

RECEIVER FOR POWER CO.

Trenton, July 17.—On application of Henry W. Bull and others of New York, Chancellor Walker today signed an order returnable July 28 to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for the International Power Company. Mismanagement is charged in the suit.

BERGEN FILES HIS ANSWER WITH COURT

Fank Bergen, counsel for the Public Service Corporation, has filed in the Court of Errors a supplemental brief, in the litigation resulting from the refusal of the company to carry firemen free of charge while on duty in the city of Perth Amboy, answering the arguments made by Frank H. Sommer, as counsel for the Public Utilities Commission. In his brief, Mr. Sommer set up the claim that if the court sustained the contentions of the trolley company the result would be the abrogation of all contracts entered into between public utility corporations and municipalities in granting of franchises for use of the public streets.

Referring to the case of Newark against the North Jersey Street Railway Company, growing out of the ordinance relating to the issuance of transfers, Mr. Bergen pointed out that the court held the provision derived its efficacy "wholly from the assent of the company thereto, given as a consideration on which certain privileges were granted to the city;" that the assent of the company thereto consummated a contract, and therefore a denial of the rights thereby created could be enforced only by a private action on the part of the party aggrieved. "Such an action, of course," Mr. Bergen claimed, "can only be prosecuted in the established judicial tribunals." He held that the same rule applied in the Perth Amboy case, that the provisions of the ordinances there, if the contract is still in existence, cannot be enforced by executive order.

PERSONAL.

Miss Jennie Trotter, of Duer street, has returned home after a two weeks' vacation in the Catskills.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick VanHoesen have returned from their wedding trip to Portland, Maine, and are "at home" to their friends at 75 Mercer avenue, the borough.

The Misses Alice and Ethel Mehl, of Madison avenue, will spend the week end with friends at Lake Hopatcong.

Albert G. Fritts, of the borough fire department, is spending his day off visiting friends in the Bronx.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Crone, of Evergreen avenue, have returned home after spending their vacation at Christmas Cove, Maine.

Miss R. Lena Bass, of Ninth street, has returned home after a short visit to Little Silver.

Mrs. H. E. Demler, of Grove street, is spending a short time at Murray Hill.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Services will be held at the Rescue Mission in the Babcock building tonight at 8 o'clock and will be in charge of Miss Clyde Burnet.

The services at the Monroe Avenue Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday will be as follows: Morning service, 10:45, in charge of the Rev. F. J. Hubach, who will have as his topic, "Waiting for the Harvest;" the evening service topic will be, "The Song of Moses and the Lamb," which will begin at 7:15 and end at 8:15; Epworth League meeting will have "Song Bursts of Spiritual Women" for its topic.

PRESIDENT MUCH IMPROVED.

Washington, July 17—President Wilson, who was forced to confine himself to the White House, yesterday, because of an attack of acute indigestion, was reported much improved today. All engagements for the day including the cabinet meeting were cancelled, however, Dr. Grayson, the White House physician, believing his patient should have another day of complete rest. Reports that the President's illness was at all serious were vigorously denied by Secretary Tumulty.

ABOLISH PATROL WAGON.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 17.—Now that the West Virginia Prohibition law is in full force and effect the Council finds that there is no necessity for the auto patrol wagon which it appropriated funds for some time ago. Under the conditions that now prevail arrests have been so few and far between that the Council has repealed the appropriation for the wagon. Formerly two patrol wagons were kept busy handling intoxicated persons but they have been practically idle since the saloons were closed.

RUINS VALUABLE PORTRAIT.

London, July 17.—A militant suffragist, who said she was Anne Hunt, today entered the National Portrait Gallery and using a butchers' cleaver slashed a portrait of Thomas Carlyle, the Scottish historian, painted by Sir John Millais.

HENNESSY NOW T. R.'S CHOICE FOR GOVERNOR

Secret Conference Is Held at Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 17.—John A. Hennessy, who unearthed the highway frauds for William Sulzer and later gained fame in a night during the recent mayoralty campaign when he took the stump against Edward E. McCall, was in conference with Theodore Roosevelt for three hours Tuesday at Sagamore Hill.

News of this conference did not become known until yesterday, when it was learned upon the highest authority that the colonel has about settled upon Mr. Hennessy as the Progressive candidate for governor.

Colonel Roosevelt's selection of Mr. Hennessy to head the state ticket, it is said, was prompted by these two reasons:

First.—It will give the colonel an excuse for sidestepping the nomination himself.

Second.—He believes that Mr. Hennessy, who is an independent Democrat, will be supported by the anti-Murphy Democrats and will win the election in a three cornered fight, especially if Charles S. Whitman is the Republican nominee and Governor Glynn the regular Democratic nominee.

Colonel Roosevelt would not discuss his conference with Mr. Hennessy on Tuesday. He is known, however, to have told some of his visitors at Progressive headquarters on Wednesday of his decision to urge the Progressives to nominate Mr. Hennessy. As a matter of fact, the Hennessy candidacy is said to have advanced to the point where the Brooklyn man is now quietly circulating petitions to obtain the necessary 3,000 signatures of enrolled Progressives to enable his name to be placed on the primary ballot under the bull moose emblem.

David Marks Seriously Ill.

Panama, July 17.—David Marks, American member of the Panama joint land commission, is not expected to recover from an attack of cerebral hemorrhage and paralysis of the right side which he suffered at the session. He became unconscious and was removed to a hospital, where the doctors found his condition dangerous.

NO COMMENT ON ACTION.

Washington, D. C., July 17—Although Attorney General McReynolds was at his desk early today he had no comment to make on the action of the directors of the New Haven, yesterday. It is generally expected, however, that the Government will file its civil suit for dissolution of the corporation within the next few days and there is unusual activity about the department this morning. The papers in the case are in readiness and litle work remains to be done onthem.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 17.—Harry Purdy, a city councilman of Moundsville, was fatally wounded and William Arn, of the same town, was killed late yesterday by a strange man. Arn and Purdy were in a skiff on the Ohio while the stranger, armed with a gun, was on the shore. Armed posses are scouring the surrounding hills for the murderer. The cause for the shooting is unknown. a

AS NEAR-BASEBALL ARTISTS THE LOCAL COPS HAVE IT ALL OVER PERTH AMBOY

Stolen bases, too numerous to record, hits of the slam-bang variety, and a quintet of costly Amboy miscues, gave the Plainfield coppers a weird victory on Parker Field, yesterday afternoon, the duck-town bluecoats going down to a 10 to 5 defeat in seven rounds of comedy. Plenty of hitting and plenty of near-playing was in evidence on the local sad-lot and while the ball tossers were not engaged in ousting one of the umpires they managed to find a little time for run gathering. Fifteen runs, fourteen errors and thirteen hits, told the story of the conflict with Plainfield the leader in each department.

Umpires were as numerous as the players themselves and were the cause for many wordy combats staged at sideshows. Three of the local's hits went for extra cushions. Fritts smashing out a three sacker. "Father" Keller getting a double and Joe Hayle pulling over one of the same variety when he took Nelson's place in the sixth. Nelson, a Westfield minion, made his debut in a Plainfield uniform yesterday afternoon, and incidently started on the flinging line. His shoots went everywhere but over the plate and after a long deliberation in the center of the diamond Captain Flatley finally decided to derrick him, giving Jack Fritts an opportunity to display his wares. The fact that only four hits were made from the two Plainfield pitchers' deliveries reflects with considerable force on the local infielders' ability to take in the way of hard hit balls. Although many of the swats were ticketed for safeties, invariably the infielders stuck their carcasses in the way of the pellet in a manner which led us to believe that they really could have handled the pill "if it wasn't quite so steamy."

Bockman did the hurling for the Amboyites, but he was touched up for nine healthy swats during the seven innings he served 'em up. When he let out his cry for help in the fifth inning, First Baseman Roomer came hurriedly to his assistance. At this juncture Roomer made the mistake of his life. While warming up Roomer hurled some shoots of the smoky variety over the platter with his trusty left wing and before he had thrown two balls he had the fact that he was a real ball player firmly impressed on the hard skulls of nine Plainfield coppers. So impressive were the locals' protests against his playing in that important position that Roomer finally had to retire to a position around the first station and Bockman, who is said to be a barber when he isn't a copper, went back to the rifle pit. Roomer is the New York pitcher who shut out the Lincoln Giants in a game on Suburban Oval several Sundays ago and received a tryout with Brooklyn at the beginning of the season.

LOCAL TEAMS WILL MEET TOMORROW

Royal Giants and Plainfield Pets in First for City Championship.

The Plainfield Pets will lineup against a local team tomorrow on Parker Field, when they meet the Royal Giants. Both teams will have a fine lineup and a good game can be looked for. George Townley will again appear on the mound for the Pets and will have the same crack team behind him that defeated Westfield last Saturday. Brunnie will be out of the game. Coyle will shift to third base and Norman Harney will play around the keystone bag. The regular batting order, with Coyle at the top, will be used.

The Royals will have their strongest men on the field and expect to take the measure of the Pets. Manager Simons has a whole army of good material and has three pitchers from the Philadelphia Giants to send to the firing line. They are Langford, Peterson and Murphy. He has also imported players from the Mohawk and Baltimore Giants. The game will be called at 3:30. The teams will lineup as follows:

PRINTERS' B. B. TOURNAMENT.

Cincinnati, O., July 17—Elaborate preparations are practically completed for the entertainment of the seventh annual baseball tournament of the Union Printers' National Baseball League, which is to be held here during the first week of next month. President August Herrman, of the Cincinnati National League team, himself a former union printer, has tendered the use of the local ball grounds for the tournament. Among the cities which will be represented are New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, Washington, St. Louis, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Indianapolis. The winning team will be presented with a valuable cup known as the Herrman trophy.

MONROE VS. "CANADIANS."

The "Canadian" A. C. baseball team will meet the Monroe Avenue Sunday-school team on the latter's field at Clinton avenue, tomorrow afternoon, at 3:30. Both teams will have their regular lineups and Denny will do the twirling for the boroughites. Brick will oppose him.

NEW LEADERS IN BOWLING TOURNEY

Dealaman-Wickham Combination Win Four Games and Take the Lead.

The fine bowling of Miss Josephine Dealaman and Mrs. H. A. Wickham, in the Dunellen Presbyterian two-team bowling tournament, last night, landed them in first place in the standing of the teams. They took all of the four matches that they played and broke a first place tie with the Vail-Johnson match. They have won ten games and lost two, which gives them an average of .833. The Arnold-Apgar and Parker-Strickland combinations each dropped three games and won one. The former team remains, with the same average, in eighth place, while the latter team fell over one hundred points to fifth position.

The consistent pinning of Mrs. Wickham was the feature of the evening and it was largely her points that scored the victories. She pinned 118 and 111 in two straight games, while her partner soared around the century mark. Mrs. Arnold's bowling was also brilliant, but her partner apparently had an off day, which accounts for their poor showing. Mrs. Arnold made the highest individual score, which was 126. The high team score went to the Dealaman-Wickham duo with 214 pins to their credit.

In the individual averages Mrs. H. A. Wickham jumped from an average of 80 to 88, which puts her in fifth place. Mrs. Arnold, who was in third place, increased her average by one point, and Miss Dealaman also advances one point. Mrs. Apgar took a drop of six points from 88 to 82 and fell from fifth to a tie for eighth place.

The scores and official averages follow:

SMITH LOSES ON FOUL TO CARPENTIER

Referee Apparently Tricked by the Frenchman.

London, July 17.—One of the most outrageous decisions ever given in Great Britain ended the "Gunboat" Smith-Georges Carpentier world's white heavyweight championship fight abruptly in the sixth round in the Olympia. Smith dropped Carpentier with a right on the jaw, then wheeled around ready to administer the finishing blow. Carpentier started to get up on his knees, but he lost his balance and dropped again. Smith's second blow barely grazed his head. As the American stepped over Carpentier's prostrate form one of the latter's seconds jumped into the ring, but Referee Corri waved him back, presumably with the intention of allowing the bout to proceed. Carpentier's manager, Descamps, however, sent several of his assistants into the ring. They lifted the Frenchman up and dragged him to his corner. Corri then disqualified Smith and left the ring.

More than 15,000 sportsmen, fight fans, representatives of the European nobility and a big delegation of American sailors who occupied the auditorium, were bewildered at Corri's act and pandemonium broke loose. Carpentier's partisans shouted "foul" at the top of their lungs, while the Americans and others who favored Smith yelled their protests. The place was bedlam for awhile.

Smith's manager, Jim Buckley, declared Carpentier had disqualified himself by reason of the entrance of his seconds in the ring and insisted the Frenchman had succeeded in triumphing by an artful French trick. For the first time in his career in the ring Referee Corri exhibited the vacillating spirit and yielded to the demands of the wildly excited and gesticulating Frenchmen.

The only reason which Corri advanced for awarding the decision to Carpentier was that Smith had committed a foul. Whether or not it was intentional, it nevertheless lost him the fight.

BOUND BROOK TITLE AT STAKE TOMORROW

The baseball championship of Bound Brook will be decided tomorrow afternoon on Y. M. A. Oval, South Bound Brook, when the Y. M. A. and St. Joseph's team clash. This will undoubtedly be one of the best games in this vicinity as the two teams are very evenly matched as was shown in the fourteen-inning tie game that was played on the Fourth of July.

Both teams will have their strongest lineups and the battle is bound to be hot from start to finish. Four of the Dunellen players will wear St. Joseph's uniforms and try to take the title with them. The teams will lineup as follows:

WOMAN WILLING TO BREAK BOYLE

Sure Married Life Would Make Him a Man.

ANOTHER FAIR ONE ANXIOUS

Mary Fisher of Elizabeth and Springfield (Mass.) Woman Are In Race to Capture Drinker and Cure Him of His Fondness For Liquor — Agrees With Judge.

Elizabeth, N. J., July 17.—Mary Fischer, an Elizabeth woman of thirty years, has offered to assist Dennis Boyle of Bayonne in carrying out the sentence imposed by Judge Mahon that he get married within the next thirty days.

Miss Fischer believes with Judge Mahon that married life would cure Boyle of his fondness for drink and she writes Boyle she is willing to make the experiment.

Boyle received two letters from women who are willing to assist him. The other was from Springfield, Mass., and was sent to this city in care of Judge Mahon. Upon the report of the second letter Boyle expressed himself as undecided as to what course should be pursued.

The letter from the Fischer woman, which was dated and sent from this city, reads:

My Dear Mr. Boyle—I read about Judge Mahon ordering you to get married. I don't think the judge would have done this without knowing that you were a good man and would make a good husband. I am thirty years of age next month and would like to meet you. I am a good housekeeper, and I am sure I can make a good man of you. I am dark complexion, with dark hair and brown eyes. I will meet you at my home if you write and want to see me. Judge Mahon could marry us. Very sincerely,

MARY FISCHER.

There is no Mary Fischer in the city directory, but Boyle is convinced of the genuineness of the epistle.

DENTISTS PURSUE "FAKERS."

Jersey Society Starts Campaign to Eliminate Impostors.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 17.—The New Jersey State Dental society approved all the recomendations made by President William H. Gettson of Camden in his annual address. The recommendations include a movement for the establishment of a state registration system for licensed dentists, so as to eliminate impostors; the appointment of a committee to ask Governor Fielder to appoint a dentist to the state board of health, and an increase of the registration fee from $2 to $5, the proceeds to be used to prosecute unlicensed practitioners.

The society elected officers as follows: President, Walter F. Barry, Orange; vice president, Henry Fowler, Harrison; secretary, J. C. Forsythe, Trenton; treasurer, Charles F. Jones, Elizabeth.

PASTOR SENT TO ASYLUM.

The Rev. W. G. Westervelt Unbalanced by Finances, It is Said.

Newton, N. J., July 17.—The Rev. William G. Westervelt, for the last twelve years pastor of the Beemerville Presbyterian church, who is said to have been made insane by financial troubles, was committed to the State Hospital For the Insane by Judge Allen R. Shay. The clergyman attempted suicide recently by drowning at Sussex borough, but was saved.

On the day of his attempt to die the minister went to the Sussex bank to deposit the last money paid to him by his former congregation. Some difficulty arose and Mr. Westervelt shortly afterward jumped into the mill pond, which was only three feet deep. He asked to be arrested because he had attempted suicide.

MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT.

Corredo Shot and Killed Bernardsville Man Who Pulled Razor.

Somerville, N. J., July 17.—Raphael Corrado of Brooklyn, who shot and killed Theodore Maroci at Bernardsville on May 23, was convicted of manslaughter by a jury here. The jury returned the verdict after the majority of the members had stood out for nearly two hours for a conviction of murder in the second degree.

Corrado owes his escape from the electric chair to the fact that Maroci, who, according to the evidence of a number of witnesses placed on the stand, was a New York gangster, entered the apartment occupied by Corrado with an open razor in search of the man who had eloped with his wife.

Children Die In Sea.

Anglesea, N. J., July 17.—The first bathing fatalities of the season occurred when Francis Shivers, six years old, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Shivers, and Raymond Mollet, seven years old, met death while bathing off the foot of First avenue by being caught in the strong undertow.

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

CHAPTER XX.

A Matter of Libel.

IT was mighty kind of Mr. Wallingford to propose to foot the bills for further experiments. However, he, for one, did not wish this $1,000 to twist itself eventually into any sort of a lien upon the company or upon the stockholders.

Mr. Wallingford rose to that bait as promptly as if he had been waiting for it. If the gentlemen would feel easier they might give him anything they chose, and he would accept it as a quit claim for his $1,000. They might give him a collection of the old models or the original drawings of the factory for an historic relic, or their leasehold upon the Pinkus hillside, which he believed, still had over twenty-three years to run. That's what they might give him for his $1,000—their leasehold on the Pinkus hillside, which had originally cost them $2,000 in stock of the Cinderburg Bang Sun Engine Heat, Light and Power company! He would give them this $1,000 cash for it until the expiration of the lease, or until they were ready to cover it with Bang sun engine units. Give him the Pinkus hillside, and he would be satisfied!

He beamed on them so jovially upon this that they all laughed, and the mists of distrust, which each man had fostered and which Pete Scallop had thickened, faded gradually away before his geniality and that of the champagne. The Pinkus hillside was a mile long yellow bluff facing the town, and it was about as useless a slice of the universe as nature in her most reckless moment, ever perpetrated.

* * * * * * *

For a long time Mr. Wallingford was very busy in Mr. Bang's little home workshop with some devices of his own, in the making of which he used small metal angle bars and window glass and paint, and, being an excellent workman in almost any line, he enjoyed himself hugely in company with Mr. Bang for three or four days, while Mr. Daw, suffering intensely, kept Mr. Steele occupied and quiet.

On Tuesday the city council received and accepted an extremely modest bid from the heretofore unknown People's Advertising company for the use of certain transparencies in connection with the city's street lamps and for the exclusive right to use illuminated advertising trolley cars, the traction company also being a municipally owned institution. Upon the same day on Pinkus hill, opposite the foot of Main street, workmen were observed erecting an enormous square, white billboard. On Wednesday Mr. Wallingford, followed by a big square box in an express wagon, called upon Mr. Kreiger of the big new department store, the opening of which was set for three weeks away.

Mr. Wallingford went into that conference with his face wreathed in smiles and with certain important franchises owned by the People's Advertising company in his pocket. He came away with his face wreathed in smiles and the franchises in his pocket replaced by an important check for $15,000, which he immediately divided with Mr. Gettitt. Then he hunted up Mr. Steele to bid him goodby.

"I've left you a nice business, Steele," he informed that gentleman. "You are to be manager of the People's Advertising company at $3,000 a year, and you own a third interest in the concern. You won't need worry about business for awhile, for I've secured one customer who will be all that you can look after. Here is the work that is to be done for Mr. Kreiger, and here are all the papers so far connected with the business. I've put you in good, Steele. If you'll hustle you ought to make $10,000 a year.'"

Mr. Steele gave up his ideals rather sorrowfully. "I suppose hustling's all I'm fit for," he acknowledged. "Who owns the rest of the company?"

"Mr. Kreiger," returned Wallingford. "You're in luck to have such an active and energetic partner."

"By George! You're a smart man, Wallingford," exclaimed Steele in delight. "Just we three in it, eh?"

"Well, the fact of the matter is that Mr. Kreiger owns two-thirds," Wallingford cheerfully told him. "I sold him my share."

"The dickens you say!" expostulated Mr. Steele. "Why, Kreiger will run the business. He'll devote all these franchises to advertising the Kreiger store, and he'll do the work at cost. "I'll be lucky to get my salary."

"Don't you worry about that," Wallingford soothed him. "Mr. Kreiger is the best business man in this town. Moreover, conditions are going to change to your advantage. Take my word for that. Will you?"

"There's nothing else in sight."

"Here's your $5,000 back," and Wallingford handed him the money.

Mr. Steele took the $5,000 without a protest, but was silent for awhile. "How much did you get for your share?" he wanted to know.

"Seventy-five hundred dollars."

"Why, that only leaves you $2,500! I'm a little bit surprised, Wallingford, that you would fuss around with such a small game."

"Don't you worry about me," replied Wallingford. "Goodby, Steele."

On the day of the Kreiger opening the residents of Cinderburg enjoyed an entirely new street ornament. Over the electric light at every corner had been placed by an army of workmen through the night a hugh transparency advising that this corner was seventeen blocks from Kreiger's, or twelve, or five, or whatever the distance might be, and in each case a hand pointed the way. The roof above the ventilator windows of every street car was boxed in another transparency, framed of interchangeable letters, which told of the bargains at Kreiger's. At the foot of Main street, big, electrically interchangeable letters also told, in white upon a black background, that thread was 2 cents, that pianos were $95, that silk petticoats were 98 cents, that bread was three loaves for a nickel, for this day only, and at Kreigers alone in all the world! At night the whole Pinkus hill and all the town glowed and blazed with the name of Kreiger. It was impossible to escape from it anywhere, and if Tom, Dick or Harry, or, rather, Mrs. Tom or Mrs. Dick or Mrs. Harry planned to spend money for anything under the sun it was impossible to dissociate that spending with the name of Kreiger!

It was then that the storm broke loose and that palladium of the people the free and independent American press, inspired by Horndyke and Ramsdale, came rushing to the defense of an outraged citizenry. The public utilities, light and transportation had been subverted to private gain, and woe betide any misguided person who had taken part in trafficking with the people's rights in this high handed manner! Corrupt politics was at the bottom of it all, and the papers in town, all except the sturdy little Item, which carried no Horndyke and Ramsdale advertising, were singularly unanimous in deploring the sordid commercialism of municipal affairs. The matter was to be looked into. Politics must be purified! The city must be cleaned, and in the meantime, certain recent ordinances, which had disposed of valuable city franchises and concessions for a mere song must be repealed.

The Blade, the Courier, the News and the Trumpet all carried slashing editorials denouncing the outrages, and that there might be no lukewarmness about these editorials Mr. Horndyke, who was a Democrat, wrote half of them, and Mr. Ramsdale, who was a Republican, wrote the other half. They were awakened at last to their duties as citizens, were these gentlemen, and they lambasted any person who had to do with the iniquity; Mr. Gettitt, the board of aldermen, the merchant who would make use of such knavishly acquired facilities, the People's Advertising company, Mr. Steele and last, but not least, that archscoundrel, J. Rufus Wallingford.

There was a fine specimen, this man Wallingford! And certain leading citizens of Cinderburg should be ashamed to have been so gullible. He had tricked them again. Buying apparent immunity from the just consequences of his former swindling rascality for a paltry $1,000, he had in reality purchased also the invaluable advertising rights to Pinkus hill for a quarter of a century with the same money.

Shortly after the publication of these vigorous and righteously angry articles Mr. Puckett, a shadowy, leathery little lawyer, dropped in upon Horndyke and Ramsdale.

"I have come to see you in the interests of my client, who desires me to collect the $150,000 you owe him."

"All our bills payable put together don't amount to that much at this season," protested Mr. Horndyke. "There's a mistake somewhere, Puckett."

"Doesn't seem to be any, Mr. Horndyke," persisted Mr. Puckett quietly. "My client instructs me to obtain a settlement today or to file a suit at once."

"Your client? Who is he?"

"Mr. J. Rufus Wallingford," Mr. Puckett informed him, with an aggravating expression as of one concealing a smile.

"What! That thief!" exclaimed Horndyke, grabbing his beard. "Where did he imagine that he had been able to drag this firm into—one of his nefarious schemes?"

"He claims that amount for alleged libelous articles published in the four newspapers under your control."

Mr. Horndyke's cheeks puffed with indignation. "Why, you can't libel a burglar!" he declared. "Wallingford is a known crook, and he'll only get himself into trouble if he attempts to bring suit against us. We'll look up his record for him, and I don't imagine we'll have far to go."

"It is quite evident that you do not understand the libel laws of this state," Mr. Puckett informed him. "Even if Mr. Wallingford had been guilty of the practices you charge, which I am not prepared to admit, the articles you published would, in my opinion, be held as distinctly libelous in any court. Moreover, I must warn you that the use of such epithets as you have just applied to him would also be held actionable."

"I don't believe it," returned Horndyke. "If we have laws which would protect such an infamous scoundrel"—

"Wait a minute, Horndyke!" rasped the shrill voice of Mr. Ramsdale. "Don't you say another word until we see our lawyer."

"It might not be a bad idea to have him over at once, for my instructions are not to wait," suggested Puckett. "If you will telephone for him I don't mind remaining until he comes."

Horndyke and Ramsdale's lawyer came at once, and he listened carefully to a complete statement of the case; then he called the firm aside.

"I would suggest that you allow me to do the best I can for you in the way of a settlement with Mr. Puckett," he advised them. "I may be able to get the amount reduced to $100,000 for immediate cash. I furthermore advise you, in both a legal and a friendly capacity, to raise the money for this settlement by the sale of your newspaper interests."

When Mr. Steele heard of that settlement he was at first highly indignant. "Why, confound him! This libel suit was his game from the start!" he exclaimed. "I must study over how he worked that. I saw him do it with my own eyes and yet I can't seem to get the hang of it."

Mr. Wallingford was planning a campaign in a neighboring county seat when Horndyke and Ramsdale's check, less Mr. Puckett's commission, was delivered to him.

"This will make quite a cleanup when Puckett gets through with all the other papers in the state that poked fun at Cinderburg for letting us earn a living there," he commented, as he displayed the check of Blackie Daw.

"Thank heaven, we have laws in this country!" remarked Blackie virtuously.

By Alice Gibson

One of the newest style notes for mid summer and early fall blouses and frocks is a set-in sleeve; it is a bit more practical for the heavy linens or silk of the sporting blouse, as it allows ease of movement without fear of tearing out under the arms.

This design, No. 8389, has a set-in sleeve, high flaring collar, and small revers, otherwise it is perfectly plain and an excellent design for sporting wear, made up in pongee, crepe de Chine linen or cotton crepe; natural pongee is one of the more practical silks for blouses as it wears well and launders very easily. It is wide, averaging 40 inches and is priced according to quality; may be purchased as low as 75 cents a yard, and as high as $2.00.

To copy this waist in size 36, 2¼ yards of 36-inch material is needed.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

BLACKBERRY DELICACIES.

BLACKBERRIES are a popular fruit at the present time. Those who weary of them fresh may have them in a great variety of nice desserts. Some ways of serving them palatably are the following:

Spicy Pudding.

Blackberry Pudding.—Stew blackberries and when boiling add a tablespoonful of butter and a small portion, less than half a teaspoonful each, of nutmeg, mace, allspice and cinnamon. Take from the fire and add the well beaten yolks of three eggs. Beat all very light and add the whites beaten to a stiff froth. Put into a buttered dish and bake for fifteen minutes in the oven. When nicely browned grate nutmeg on top and serve cold or with cream or milk.

Rich Shortcake.

Blackberry Shortcake.—Sift with two cupfuls of flour one tablespoonful of sugar, a pinch of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Work into the mixture a tablespoonful of butter and add two eggs well beaten with a cupful of milk. Bake in two layers, spreading butter between. Tear apart, spread with sweetened crushed berries, cover with the other layer and cover the top with sweetened and crushed berries. Garnish with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla and some whole berries.

Square Dumplings.

Berry Dumplings.—Take one cupful flour, one-fourth level teaspoonful of salt, one level teaspoonful of baking powder, one level tablespoonful of butter, about one-half cupful milk. Sift the dry ingredients, rub the butter in lightly with the tips of the fingers, until it is well mixed with the flour. Mix with a knife until soft. Roll to one-fourth of an inch thick and cut into squares. On each square put a few berries, cover them with sugar and fold the squares. Place in a buttered tin. Pour a half cupful of boiling water over two rounded tablespoonfuls each of sugar and butter. Pour this over the squares and bake in a moderate oven about thirty minutes. Serve with foamy sauce.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Pig Who Wanted To Be Clean.

The Little Pig Won a Prize.

THE children hadn't been told an animal story for some time, and daddy thought it was high time to tell one.

"How about a story of some little baby pigs?" asked daddy.

"We would love to hear a story about some pigs," said Evelyn. "We haven't heard a story about pigs for ever and ever so long."

"Now, that is true," said Jack. "Do tell us one tonight."

"The pig family that I am going to tell you about were having the best time you can possibly imagine, as they loved having day after day of warmth and sunshine. So they were perfectly happy. They would lie for hours in the most comfortable place they could find and never budge until they felt hungry.

"But one little pig became quite intimate with a goat that resided in a field near by.

"The goat's family were not so lazy as the little pig's family were, and at first the goat's family didn't want their favorite child to have anything to do with the pig, as they thought it would encourage him to laziness, and that they never wanted him to be.

"But after awhile they saw that this little pig really did not like being so lazy as his family, and then they didn't object to the friendship.

"As for the pig's family, they didn't care what happened so long as they were not disturbed themselves.

"Among other things that the little pig liked about his friends was that without being overneat they were not quite so fond of dirt as his family. Of course, you see, how different he was from his family, as he didn't like mud nearly so much as they did, nor did he think lying in it was at all an idea of bliss.

"So he became just fussy enough about his personal appearance to still look exactly like a pig. But he saw that his feet were moderately clean and that his face was washed ever so often.

"Sometimes he would tell his family of the joys of being clean and explain to them that they would find they would be much cooler if they took nice cool baths every afternoon. But as he saw he only annoyed them he soon stopped.

"In a week there was to be a county fair, and all the animals were going to be exhibited by their owners. There was a great deal of talking among the animals as to who would win the prizes, and once more the pig family didn't take the slightest interest in the fair.

"But they did feel very much ashamed when the clean little pig was the only one of all their family to win a prize."

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS
Eat Less Meat if You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble.
Meat forms uric acid which irritates and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.
To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Common Council at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at 8 o'clock p. m., on Monday, the third day of August, 1914, for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the macadamizing contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with permanent and durable macadam pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," adopted by the Common Council and approved by the Mayor, July 6, 1914, and as provided for in the specifications entitled "City of Plainfield, N. J., Proposal, Conditions, Specifications, Contract and Bond, for the Permanent Improvement of Streets, 1914," filed in the office of the Street Commissioner July 13, 1914.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents thereof in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of said prices and terms.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

A separate price must be named for each street, and proposals should be endorsed "Proposals for Macadamizing."

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.
Dated July 13, 1914. 7 17 3-t

MRS. CARMAN IS CALM IN COURT

Pleads Not Guilty to Manslaughter Charge.

INDICTMENT IS RETURNED

Grand Jury Charges First Degree For Killing of Mrs. Bailey—Probably Will Be Released on Bail—Unmoved on Hearing News.

Freeport, N. Y., July 17.—Retaining the same stoic demeanor that has characterized her since her arrest, Mrs. Florence Carman today pleaded not guilty to the indictment of manslaughter in the first degree for the killing of Mrs. Louise Bailey. The grand jury returned the indictment after deliberating two hours. Her trial was fixed for the September term of the supreme court in Mineola.

Her counsel will straighway ask for her liberty under bail, and unless present indications miscarry the request will be granted and bail will be fixed at something not exceeding $15,000.

Manslaughter in the first degree is punishable by imprisonment for a term of not exceeding twenty years. It will be possible, however, for the jury that tries her to bring in a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree. Such a crime is punishable by imprisonment for a term not exceeding fifteen years or a fine not exceeding $1,000.

As soon as Dr. Carman had been reasonably assured that his wife had been indicted he began to arrange for bail. "I could get bail up to $500,000," he said, "without any difficulty. Any number of our friends are willing to go on our bond. A number of surety companies have already made advances to me. It is splendid, this manifestation of friendship."

So it is pretty certain that Mrs. Carman will be back in her home tonight and to all intents and purposes a free woman. The indictment has not ruffled her composure any more than did the ordeal of testifying at the coroner's inquest. But with Dr. Carman it has been different. He was apparently on the verge of breaking down last night.

Dr. Carman Peeved.

There has been an effort made to get Mrs. Carman to plead guilty on the theory that if she will relate the entire story of her family differences the jury would not refuse to release her.

Certain scraps of conversation have even come from the district attorney's office that the same opinion is held there. But to such proposals Mrs. Carman has so far shown no signs of agreeing. Dr. Carman takes the same attitude. He is as emphatic about the absurdity of such a course as any one could be. And it was, by the way, from Dr. Carman that news of these proposals came to light. He says that he has been approached by friends and informed that the district attorney's office is not only agreeable to such a course, but that assurance has been given that Mrs. Carman might thus gain her liberty. "But how ridiculous it is!" said Dr. Carman. "Of course my wife will not plead guilty to a crime she did not commit. Would anybody do such a thing? I am firmly convinced that my wife is innocent. They have even gone as far as to tell me that the judge, with all the facts before him, would be willing to suspend setnence."

While this story, if true, would indicate that the district attorney's case against Mrs. Carman is not by any means so strong as he could wish it to be, the impression, on the other hand, is steadily gaining strength here that his case is a great deal stronger than has been brought out by the grand jury proceedings.

MAY TRY JAIL DELIVERY.

To Free I. W. W. Leaders Held In Ohio Following Riot.

Steubenville, O., July 17.—Trouble loomed up here with a report that 300 coal mine strikers are threatening to march on the Jefferson county jail here and release five of their I. W. W. comrades by force.

The men, alleged leaders of the radical element of the strikers, were arrested following a riot at the Bradley mine, in which the sheriff and a detective were injured.

Motorboat Sinks While Racing Train.

Portland, Ore., July 17.—Oregon Kidd II., the Pacific coast motorboat champion, sank in the Columbia river eighteen miles west of Ranier, Ore. The speed boat was racing a train and ran into a big wave while going about forty-five miles an hour.

NEW HYDROAEROPLANE TESTS

Machine Purchased by Navy Said to Be Improvement.

Washington, July 17.—Tests of a new type of hydroseroplane, recently purchased by the navy, will be undertaken within the next two weeks at Hampton Roads, Va., it was announced by the navy department.

The machine is said to possess qualities of stability not found in other known types, and naval aeronautic experts are confident that it will reveal other qualities superior to the machines now used.

HAITIEN REBELS VICTORIOUS.

Battle Reported by Captain Russell. Unrest In Santo Domingo.

Washington, July 17.—Haitien rebels were victors in a battle on the road from Cape Haitien to Mikot, according to dispatches from Captain Russell, on board the South Carolina. A general attack was planned to drive the rebels from the plains.

Unrest in Santo Domingo continues, with exchanges of shots to the south of the besieged city. In the west there is comparatively no fighting.

BANK IN OTTAWA, O., CLOSED

Action Follows Conferences Between Officers and State Examiners.

Columbus, O., July 17.—The Putnam County Banking company, a state bank doing business at Ottawa, O., has closed its doors.

This action followed a series of conferences participated in by officers of the bank and examiners from the state banking department.

CAN YOU USE $1,000.?

This is a question that can be readily answered by most of us, but the problem of how to obtain $1,000 is not so easily solved.

We offer a solution: Open an installment bond account with us; deposit $25 monthly and at the end of 38 months we will pay you $1,005.50, all you have paid in, plus 4 per cent. interest.

If $25 monthly is too large, pay less, the result will be proportionate. Circulars on request.

GRANT BOOS WAS SURPRISED AT HIS HOME LAST NIGHT

About fifteen friends of Grant Boos tendered him a party at his home on Park avenue, last night. The affair was a complete surprise and was arraigned by the Misses Emma Mantz and Rose Cooper. The evening was spent in dancing and playing games. John Dawe proved himself a hero by carrying a watermelon all the way to the home and a watermelon feast ended the festivities of the evening.

Those present were the Misses Rose Cooper, Emma Mantz, Helen Ryno, Helen Hand, Dorothy Crane, Elsie VanDemburg, Anna Regan, and Daniel Denny, Bob Hebert, Jack Hebert, Vincent LaPorte, Clifford Causbrook, William Seidel, Walter Debele, John Dawe and Almon Doty.

NEXT EXCURSION TO THE SHORE JULY 22

The annual excursion of the Methodist Sunday-schools of Dunellen, Monroe Avenue, Grace and First Methodist churches and Heavenly Rest Episcopal, Evona and Watchung chapels and New Market Baptist, to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, will be held next Wednesday, July 22. This will undoubtedly be the largest to go from this city this season. Two sections have been chartered by the committee.

The first section will leave the North Avenue station at 8:15, with the second following immediately after. Returning they will leave Asbury Park station at 7:10 and 7:15 p. m., respectively, and will stop at all of the stations in Plainfield. The regular excursion rates will be charged and there will be a baggage car on each section for all articles that are to be checked.

LIGHTNING STRUCK NEW FRAME HOUSE

South Plainfield Dwelling Damaged in Storm Yesterday Afternoon.

Lightning played havoc in the new home of William Lee, in South Plainfield, yesterday afternoon, one bolt completely demolishing the front of the structure and scattering debris for a radius of three blocks. The house, located south of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, is a seven-room frame structure and when the incident occurred Mrs. Lee and her three small children were in the kitchen. All were stunned by the lightning, but none was seriously injured.

The bolt struck the front gable of the structure and worked its way down to the front door, tearing out the entire front portion. When the bolt reached the plate glass door on the first floor its progress was stopped. The frame portion of the door was ripped off and hurled a distance of three blocks, being found sometime later in the yard of Thomas Steengraff.

The heavy rain that accompanied the storm prevented any fire starting in the house after it had been hit by the bolt. It was stated this morning that the house had been damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

REV. DR. ANDERSON TO PREACH AT UNION SERVICE

The third of the series of union services will be held tomorrow evening at Trinity Reformed church, at which time Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will preach the sermon. The order of service as announced is as follows:

Charles M. Anderson, D. D.; anthem, "Dreams of Galilee," Sleeper-Morrison; prayer; hymn, "Now May He Who From the Dead," Newton-Gottschalk; closing sentence, "Lord, Keep Us Safe This Night," Ashton; benediction; organ postlude, "Allegro Moderato," Read.

FLOWER GUILD ACTIVE.

The local Flower and Fruit Guild will receive flowers, fruit and delicacies at the W. C. T. U. rooms Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning at the regular hours. The officers of the Guild report that, while the people have responded generously with contributions of fruit and flowers, the supply has not been up with the demand. These contributions are used by the organization for the sick and shut-ins of this city as far as there is the demand, and at the public institutions as far as there is any surplus.

DAVID ABBE.

David Abee, aged three years, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Abbe, of Webster place, died in a New York hospital, last night, following a serious operation. The little fellow was a member of the primary department of the Crescent Avenue Sunday-school, and private services will be held at the late home, Monday, William D. Murray will be in charge.

WILL TRY TO AVERT STRIKE.

Washington, July 18—In an effort to avert the threatened strike of the engine crews of the railroads west of Chicago, the entire membership of the United States Board of Mediation will leave tomorrow for Chicago to take a hand in straightening out the trouble. They expect to begin hearings Monday as soon as they arrive.

RECOMMENDS BIG JUDGMENT.

St. Louis, July 18—A final report has been filed in the United States District Court by Special Master Henry H. Dennison, recommending a judgment of $132,433.35 in favor of plaintiff in the patent infringement suit of the Westinghouse electric against the Wagner Electric Company.

HEDDEN CONSTRUCTION CO. GETS CONTRACT

A contract was awarded yesterday afternoon for the erection of the Public Service terminal in Newark. The Hedden Construction Company was the successful bidder and the amount involved is about $2,000,000. The structure is to be ready for occupancy by January, 1916.

Actual operations on the ground cannot be begun much before next March, because under the contract recently let to the Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins Corporation for the excavation, foundation and the subway leading to the terminal, that concern has nine months to complete the foundations. The building will be eight stories tall, of irregular shape and will be built of steel, limestone and brick. Its frontage of 184 feet on Park place will be faced with limestone. The subway, concourse and elevated train floors will cover a ground area of 70,000 square feet and the office floors will cover 30,000 square feet. The entire structure will be used by the Public Service companies.

POPULAR WESTFIELDER ENTERS NEW FIELD

Ralph Martin, High School Principal, to Go to Jersey City in the Fall.

Ralph E. Martin, one of the best known educators in Union county, who has been connected with the Westfield schools for the past five years, has been appointed instructor in mathematics in the Jersey City High School. Mr. Martin is well known in Plainfield, having been an active worker in local athletics. He refereed many basketball contests here and on July 4 was one of the active workers at the Playground Commission's athletic meet on Parker Field.

The Westfield man's resignation takes effect at once and he will take up his new duties September 1. For the past four years he has been principal of the High School at Westfield. Since coming to that town he has been instrumental in placing the athletics of the school on its present basis and high standing. He has achieved his highest prominence in athletics, but also introduced numerous academic improvement into the school system of that place. He has been interested particularly in vocational guidance and has introduced during the last two years a series of popular vocational talks by prominent business and professional men in Westfield.

He was graduated from Wesleyan University in 1905 and for two years he was instructor in mathematics in the Bethlehem, Pa., Preparatory School. He was instructor in science in the Kingsley School at Essex Fells, and has done work in educational and mathematics at Columbia and New York Universities. Mr. Martin will probably continue to reside in Westfield.

REV. DR. PHILIP B. STRONG WILL BE THE SPEAKER

The meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. The speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the music will be under the direction of Howard M. Case, organist of the same church. Mrs. Robert Giddes, soprano, will be the soloist. The speakers for the coming week will be J. W. Gavett on Tuesday and the Rev. E. C. Conover, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, on Friday. The speaker for next Sunday will be the Rev. J. Y. Broek, of the Trinity Reformed church.

These meetings are of more than passing interest, the feature of special note is the singing of the children's choir, which has been of great help to the work. The Sunday afternoon meetings are always largely attended and the public is most cordially invited to attend all the meetings of the Home, and the Home is always open for inspection, and visitors are always most welcome. Gifts of fresh vegetables, fruits, clothing are earnestly solicited, and will be called for if the address of the donor is sent to the Home.

CHILD HURT WHEN HORSE RUNS AWAY

Frightened Animal Threw Three Occupants to the Brick Pavement.

A horse owned by the City Stables, on East Second street, and driven by sixteen-year-old Albert DeNise, of 315 West Front street, took fright near the State Trust Company shortly after 9 o'clock this morning and ran away. The animal rounded the corner of Park avenue and East Second street at a lively clip and the sharp turn threw three little children who were sitting on the rear seat of the vehicle, to the roadbed.

One of the occupants, twelve-year-old Helen DeNise, was scratched and bruised and was carried to Schreiner's drug store by William Depler where first aid remedies were administered. The frightened horse was stopped by bystanders after running a short distance.

URGED BY MAYOR AND COUNCIL TO RUN

Edmund Rushmore Says His Friends Want Him to Seek Renomination.

Councilman Edmund Rushmore, who has decided to seek a renomination this fall, in an interview with a reporter for The Daily Press, last night, said that it was not until Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., and a majority of the members of the Borough Council urged him to enter the race, did he decide to do so.

"I had made up my mind to retire from the Council this year and to get out of politics entirely, owing to a pressure of business matters," said Mr. Rushmore, "but when Mayor Clark and members of the Council urged me to seek a renomination, I felt that I could not very well refuse to comply with their requests.

"Inasmuch as I have made a decision to engage in the contest, I shall make every legitimate endeavor to not only secure a renomination, but the election. During the time I have served the borough as a councilman I have given a great deal of thought and effort to advancing the best interests of the municipality and should I be elected for another term I will continue to do my best.

DARING FEAT OF BRAVERY AT DUNELLEN

Joseph Gallagher Stops an Infuriated Horse in Wild Run.

Residents of Dunellen witnessed a daring feat of bravery, this morning, when Joseph Gallagher, an employe of the new Barfuss garage, stopped an infuriated runaway horse at North and Washington avenues. The animal, which belongs to George T. Schenck, the grocer of Dunellen, was attached to a wagon in charge of Abram Hebard, who had been out securing orders. He had just returned from his route and was going into the store, when the bit broke, causing the bridle to fall off the horse's head. This frightened the animal and he made a wild bolt down the street.

At the corner of North and Washington avenues, Marshal I. V. Smalley tried to stop the runaway horse, but failed. The animal ran up on the sidewalk, stumbled and fell and upset the light wagon to which it was attached. Joseph Gallagher, who was standing near the garage, where he is employed, quickly took in the situation, and rushing to the scene, made a bold attempt to stop the horse. He grabbed the animal around the neck and with main force of strength succeeded in keeping it under control. The horse made a complete circle three times, before it was finally subdued. The wagon was wrecked, but fortunately no one was injured.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS' OUTING.

The local International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, No. 262, has completed plans for its annual outing at Midland Beach, Staten Island, next Saturday. The labor men will journey from this city to New Brunswick, where they will take a boat for the beach. Russell Hann and Albert Oree have been appointed as butlers for the occasion.

RESCUE MISSION NOTE.

Rev. T. L. Gardner, of this city, will preach tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Jennie Sears will be the soloist.

Metal workers in Servia work over 13 hours a day.

DISCUSS REMOVAL OF SIDEWALK CASES

Merchants Believe This Action Will Beautify the Business Section of the City.

The local Building Trades Council transacted considerable routine business at its session last night at which time the Plainfield Business Men's Association was represented by a fraternal delegate, Samuel Rothberg.

Among the topics under discussion was the withdrawal of union labor patronage from two local shoe dealers who thus far have refrained from closing their places of business at 6 o'clock. It is understood that these merchants will be notified and that they will be given a week to adjust their closing hours. While discussing matters of civic interest, the question of having the many show cases located on sidewalks removed was given some attention, the majority of those present being of the opinion that the removal of these cases would add much to the attractiveness of the business thoroughfares of the city.

The Council also endorsed the movement to widen East Second street as such action would have a tendency to facilitate business in that section of the city thereby making it possible to have lower rents in the business section.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR CARRYING GUN

Westfield Woman is Given Two Months in County Institution.

Elizabeth, July 18—Fritz Semangen, who was arrested in Fanwood for carrying a concealed weapon, was sentenced to the county jail for two months in the Court of Quarter Sessions, yesterday. A plea of his counsel for leniency because he was on his way to Russia failed to move Judge Connolly. He was one of several arraigned for similar offenses.

Aida Anthony, a negro woman, who admitted forging a $25 check of her mistress in Westfield, was given two months in the county jail. She has been in institutions for wayward girls.

STATE TRUST COMPANY'S ATTRACTIVE PROPOSITION

The 4% bond saving plan inaugurated by The State Trust Company commends itself to everyone who recognizes the necessity of spending less than he earns, and who is willing to save a portion of his income in a systematic way. Among other features, this plan provides for monthly payments of from one to twenty-five dollars for 38 months. At the end of this time, all that has been paid in may be withdrawn, together with 4% interest. Monthly payments of $10 will yield $402.20 at the end of 38 months, and larger or smaller amounts in proportion.

In the meantime, if any emergency arises, 80% of the amount paid in may be borrowed, or, if necessity requires it, the amount paid in may be withdrawn at any time. In these days, when the tendency is to spend rather than to save, when extravagance is the rule and not the exception, the man who wishes to provide for the future should conserve at least a portion of his income, and can do it in no better way than by utilizing the facilities afforded by this systematic method.

SPECIAL BUS SERVICE TO SACRED HEART RECEPTION

Special auto buses will be run by the Plainfield Transit Company to and from South Plainfield tonight, to the reception and dance to be held at that place under the auspices of the Sacred Heart church. The service will start in this city at 8 o'clock and cars will be run at frequent intervals prior to and after the social event.

The social is an annual one conducted by the members of that parish and a large number of guests from this city are always entertained there. The event will be of the open-air nature and numerous fine attractions have been arranged for.

MOTORCYCLE DRIVER SLOWLY RECOVERING

Lynn Case, Local Driver Hurt in Westfield Crash, Resting Comfortably.

Lynn Case, the Plainfield Motorcycle Club member, who was seriously injured in an accident that occurred on North avenue, Westfield, last Friday, is reported as being slightly better today. Case lingered for three days in a semi-conscious condition and at one time his life was despaired of by the physicians in charge. His complete recovery will now be only a matter of time.

Case was leading a party of motorcyclists when the accident happened and neglected to turn with the road at Elmer street. He ran his machine up the embankment and struck a telephone pole. His companions ran to his assistance and removed the victim to police headquarters. His injuries comprised many bad cuts and bruises and the motorcycle was wrecked.

Case was injured in exactly the same place where a Cranford motorcyclist and a young woman were hurt about a month ago. The curve is a dangerous one but is marked by red lights.

MR. AND MRS. H. SCHWED SAIL FOR OLD HOME ABROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schwed, of Westervelt avenue, the borough, sailed this morning on the S. S. Lapland, for a trip to their old home in Neuremburg. They will probably not return to Plainfield until early in November. They had planned to leave for abroad a month sooner, but because of Mrs. Schwed's recent illness, from which she has fully recovered, the departure was delayed.

While abroad they will attend a family reunion, at which six brothers and one sister will be present, all members of the family except Isaac Schwed, of Evergreen avenue, being at the gathering.

Prior to departure, Mr. and Mrs. Schwed were the recipients of many messages of good will from their friends in this city. Mr. Schwed is the senior member of the firm of Schwed Brothers, the Front street clothiers, and takes an active interest in many civic affairs, being an officer of the Board of Trade and the Business Men's Association, as well as being identified very prominently with various charities, including membership on the board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital.

STATE CAMP AT SEA GIRT OPENED FOR THE SUMMER

The first detachment of New Jersey National Guard members went to Sea Girt, this afternoon, from Newark and Paterson to open the State camp at that place. The local soldier boys are preparing to leave Plainfield next Saturday afternoon and will be in camp from July 25 to July 31, inclusive.

Final arrangements for Co. K's departure will be announced during the early part of next week. Several new features have been added to the Sea Girt camp and when the Plainfielders arrive at the place they will find many new conveniences which have been added since last summer.

KING DEFERS VISIT.

London, July 18—King George, who has been making great efforts to bring about a settlement of the Irish Home Rule crisis, decided today to postpone until later his visit to the great fleet now at Spithead, as he wishes to receive early reports of developments in the conferences going on between the party leaders.

BOY SCOUT MEETING.

A meeting in the interests of the local Boy Scout movement is to be held this evening at the Y. M. C. A., to which those interested are invited Matters pertaining to the perfecting of the organization of the Boy Scout Council which was recently brought into being will come before the meeting.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S PICNIC.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, to the number of about thirty, enjoyed the annual picnic of the society at the home of Miss Elizabeth Nash in Watchung Valley, yesterday. The day was spent in a quiet way, during which there was a fine dinner served at noon.

NOT A CANDIDATE.

John J. Carty, of Orchard place, announced today that he had decided not to seek the councilmanic nomination from the Fourth ward this fall. He says that he will lend his support to Councilmanic Francis J. Blatz, who he understands will again be a candidate.

WILL PETITION FOR NEW SCHOOL

Residents of East End Say There is an Urgent Demand for a Building.

TO HOLD MASS MEETING

Men's Club of Netherwood Reformed Church Through a Special Canvass Find 400 Children of School Age.

For the purpose of securing if possible a public school in the East End of the city, the members of the Men's Club of the Netherwood Reformed church have just completed a canvass in behalf of the proposition, and have secured an almost unanimous petition of the residents of that section asking the Board of Education to erect a school at a central point.

The canvass showed that there are about four hundred children, eighteen years old and under, living in the section directly interested in the proposition. Many new houses are being erected and the need for a school becomes more imperative every day. The canvass which has just been completed will be followed in a few days by a mass meeting of the residents of the Netherwood section, and the petition together with the action of the meeting will be presented to the Board of Education at its next meeting.

At the present time the nearest school to the section interested in this proposition is the Lincoln School at Berckman and East Second streets. There is a vast territory east of that point where there are many children and they are now obliged to walk a long distance to school. Just what attitude the Board of Education will take in this matter is not known, but in view of the fact that a new school is to be erected on Evergreen avenue this year at a cost of $100,000, it is thought unlikely that the Board will feel like recommending the erection of another school in the immediate future.

WEST END CONCERTS TO BE GIVEN EVERY WEEK

Committees representing the West End Civic Association and the Dutch Arms Band, of Trinity Reformed church, met in joint session last evening, at which time plans were made for the inauguration of weekly band concerts in the West End of the city. The first of this series of musical programs will be given next Friday evening at West Fifth street and Monroe avenue.

This arrangement necessitates a change in the date for the concert announced for Thursday evening at East Front and Church streets. This concert will be held Tuesday evening instead of Thursday as originally scheduled. The concerts under the auspices of the Civic Association will be started Friday of next week.

REV. G. W. BAILEY WILL GIVE UP PASTORATE

Rev. G. W. Bailey, pastor of the Ebenezer Baptist church, of East Third street, tendered his resignation to his congregation at the business session, last evening. The resignation of Mr. Bailey is to take effect September 1, when he leaves this city to take the pastorate of the Union Baptist church, of New Rochelle, New York.

Mr. Bailey was for some time pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, until his present congregation withdrew from his former parish owing to internal troubles. The Ebenezer church held the services at Reform Hall for some months prior to their meeting at their present quarters on East Third street, where Mr. Bailey has built up a strong congregation.

U. S. MEDIATORS AVERT BIG RAILROAD STRIKE

Both Sides Accept Good Offices of Federal Board.

Chicago, July 18.—The federal board of mediation and conciliation will meet in Chicago on Monday in an effort to settle the differences between ninety-eight railroads west of Chicago and 55,000 engineers and firemen of those lines who threaten to strike. Both sides have accepted the offices of the board.

The request for the officers of the federal board was telegraphed to Washington by A. W. Trenholm, chairman of the railroad managers' committee, and information was received that the three members of the federal board had agreed to go to Chicago and that they would arrive in time to take up the work next Monday.

Warren S. Stone, chairman of the joint committee of the engineers and firemen, received a telegram from Commissioner Chambers late this afternoon telling of the invitation of the railroad managers and tendering the friendly offices of the mediation board to the employees. Mr. Stone answered Commissioner Chambers accepting the friendly offices of the board.

The members of the board are William L. Chambers, Judge Martin A. Knapp and G. W. Hanger.

A copy of the managers' letter was sent to the employees' conference.

The railroad challenged their men to cite a single instance wherein they had violated a ruling of a board of arbitration.

R. H. Macy & Co. Win Right to Sell Books at Cut Prices

A judgment was entered to-day in favor of R. H. Macy & Company for one hundred and forty thousand (140,000) dollars against the American Publishers' Association and the American Booksellers' Association, and various members of the two associations, who together have formed a combination to control the sale of books.

This judgment was entered as the result of the decision of the United States Supreme Court handed down last December, which determined the rights of the parties as against each other, but left the amount of damages actually suffered by R. H. Macy & Company undetermined. Frederick R. Coudert, esq., was appointed referee to assess the amounts of these damages, but before any hearings were had before the referee, the chairman of the Arbitration Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Charles L. Bernheimer, succeeded in bringing the parties to an agreement, which avoided a tedious and expensive reference. The amount of $140,000 was, after considerable negotiation, fixed upon as a proper award to R. H. Macy & Company. The judgment so entered was promptly paid to R. H. Macy & Company to-day by a certified check for that amount, and the judgment has been satisfied of record in so far as damages are concerned—thus ending one of the most bitter and complicated litigations that has occupied in its various phases both the State and Federal Courts for upwards of twelve years.

The origin of the litigation is directly due to the determined opposition that R. H. Macy & Company felt toward the so-called "fixed price" system, not only in books but in the ever-increasing number of articles in which a fixed price to the public at retail had been established by producer or dealers. Claiming that both the interests of the public and of the retail dealers were best preserved by free play of competition in retail prices, the firm determined to resist the combination of various publishers to enforce a uniform net price system for copyrighted books. The ensuing struggle was stubbornly contested by both sides. Many novel questions of law were for the first time presented and passed upon. Edmond B. Wise, esq., of counsel for R. H. Macy & Company, stated this afternoon that aside from the questions of unusual interest and great importance that had been passed upon in the course of litigation, it was notworthy that various phases of the question involved were at three different times presented to the United States Supreme Court and three times to the Court of Appeals of the State of New York, and a large number of minor questions were passed upon by the Appellate Division of the First Department.

"In this struggle," Mr. Wise further said, "the growing tendency of owners of trade-marks, copyrights and patents to control the prices at which the public were permitted to buy, was for the first time effectively checked, and a combination of a large majority of the special trade was both enjoined from continuing that combination and assessed in heavy damages for the injury they had done, establishing in the courts of this State a principle which the Supreme Court of the United States has not yet affirmatively asserted, that anyone who has suffered special damages by reason of a wrongful combination can receive relief both by injunction and in damages without being compelled to go through the cumbersome and difficult process of an action for treble damages under the provisions of the Sherman Anti-trust Law."

"The adjustment of the amount of damages, through the successful mediation of Mr. Bernheimer, the chairman of the Arbitration Committee of the Chamber of Commerce," said Mr. Wise, "is a splendid tribute to this newly organized department of the Chamber, and will I am confident, contribute considerably to the influence of the Chamber in the adjustment of commercial disputes."

FACTS IN HISTORY

Magnificent Picture Production to Be Shown at Reform Hall Twelve Nights Beginning Tonight—No Show On Sunday.

Whosoever will may now without money and without price see and hear the panorama and story of man's life on earth. He may learn through the medius of his eyes and his ears how "through all the ages one increasing purpose runs." Beginning tonight at 8 o'clock in Reform Hall and continuing for twelve nights, this magnificent production will be shown to the people of Plainfield free. No admission fee will be charged and no collections taken.

The moving picture film, beginning with the far off days when chaos lay on the waters, is depicting for us how God called the earth into being from the void, and how He has upheld it and sustained it, and carried it onward and upward toward its divinely appointed goal. All this is done while machinery reproducing synchronously the tones of the human voice, helps in entertaining, enlightening and instructing the auditor.

All this is being accomplished and will be accomplished by the marvelous photo drama of "Creation," produced by the International Bible Students' Association. This body of earnest and active supporters and disseminators of God's Word is to place in many large cities the photo drama, which tells an interesting and easily understandable picture and word, the story of earth's creation, progress and development.

A start was made in New York city, where a large theatre building was opened to the public free of charge; then followed Cincinnati, St. Louis, Cleveland, Toledo, Boston, Indianapolis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Chattanooga, and now in this city. Men, women and children are thronging to hear and to see the story of their ancestors and themselves. Before them pass the pictures which tell how the earth began and how it has struggled, and is struggling upward to the light. They sit entranced, for as the drama of dramas unfolds, the voice of the hidden mechanical lecturer, speaking in tones of eloquence and might, explains clearly each picture.

The preparation of the films used in the exhibitions has involved considerable expense and activities conducted in all parts of the world. The cameras have been carried into the Holy Land, and there on the Mt. of Olives and in Jerusalem have been found the backgrounds for re-enacted tragedies. Nature has not changed the face of the Land of Palestine much for so many centuries, and the houses, customs and dress are much as they were before the Christian era.

Some of the most graphic representations of the films have to do with the early struggles of the Christian church. Nearly 500 stereoptican slides are introduced, bearing exact reproductions in color and form the world's famous paintings.

The International Bible Students' Association operates under the British charter, and has offices at Lancaster Gate West, London. Its American headquarters are at 17 Hicks street, Brooklyn. The association is supported entirely by private voluntary contributions, and never solicits funds, nor charges admission, nor takes up collections. Its activities extend to all the principal cities of the United States and Europe, and in most of the heathen countries. The object of the association is through various means, to encourage Bible study, and in the moving picture exhibitions which are to be given in Reform Hall every night for twelve days, it hopes to be especially helpful in this regard. Many hundreds who have witnessed the production in other cities, say that it has made the Bible a new book to them. The fact that all meetings are free and no collections taken, affords sufficient evidence to prove that the work is not actuated by mercenary motives.

It takes eight hours to show the entire program, but it is divided into four parts of two hours each, and will be shown in rotation—a different part each night.

The people of Plainfield are cordially invited to attend these exhibitions. The photo drama represents the finest collection of motion pictures, many of which are colored, and reproductions of famous paintings ever brought together for exhibition purposes. When we remember that with these pictures is given a most interesting and instructive lecture, and that the entire program is absolutely free, it is safe to say that every man, woman and child in this city will want to attend. They are worthy of being seen by everybody, and cannot fail to do good. Please be on time, all performances being promptly on the hour advertised. Children under fourteen years of age are not admitted unaccompanied. Admission free to all and no collections taken.

MILITANT SLASHES CARLYLE'S PORTRAIT

Suffragette Invades Gallery and Spoils Picture.

London, July 18.—Viciously hacking the portrait with a cleaver, a suffragette hatchet woman mutilated the portrait of Thomas Carlyle in the National Portrait gallery.

The woman was identified as Anne Hunt, prominent among the militant suffragettes. She fought and scratched the attendants who rushed down upon her, but was overpowered and arrested.

The Carlyle portrait was the work of the late Sir John Millais. It is completely ruined.

Feeling against the militants took a violent form when a mob charged a hall where a suffrage meeting was being held and, armed with sticks and stones, smashed the doors. Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst was to address the meeting in Holland Park hall, but was arrested and taken to Holloway jail while on her way to the meeting.

The meeting was in progress when a crowd stormed the doors, to find them locked. Hurling missiles, they smashed the glass fronts and endeavored to force their way into the hall. Inside the outer glass doors were many male militants defending the doors. They had their hands and faces cut by the broken glass, and suffragettes bandaged the wounds of their defenders.

Parts of the glass left in the frames were used by the defenders on the heads of the crowd. Many blows were exchanged between the defenders and their assailants. Poles were brought from the rear of the hall and shoved in the faces of the mob outside endeavoring to break open the doors. Many women joined the men in repelling the attack, but the situation was saved from being a most serious one by the arrival of the police.

SMITH REPLIES TO GLYNN.

Answers Charge He Failed In Duty as Prosecutor.

Albany, N. Y., July 18.—The answer of District Attorney Matthew J. Smith of Queens to charges that he failed to properly prosecute Frank Heffernan and Harry Scanlon, two youths charged with assaulting Mrs. Frank Ellert in the Cassidy club rooms, Long Island City, was filed with the governor by Arthur T. Warner, representing James W. Osborne, counsel for Smith.

Governor Glynn refused to divulge the contents until he has read the answer.

HUERTA SAFE IN PUERTO MEXICO

Sleeps on Train Under Guns of Foreign Warships.

PLAN FOR QUICK TRANSFER

Wilson Urging Carranza to Accept Carbajal's Overtures and Adopt Policy of Mercy—Foreign Diplomats Pay Respects to New President.

Puerto Mexico, July 18.—After a leisurely trip from Mexico City, occupying nearly two days, General Huerta, the late provisional president, and General Blanquet, who was his minister of war, arrived on their special train.

All arrangements had been made for the reception of the fugitives, and the stage was so set that they could enter the city, board the German cruiser Dresden or the British cruiser Bristol and put out to sea so quietly as to rob their flight of all dramatic elements. Tracks were laid so that the special train could run on the wharf close to the water, and the ex-president and ex-minister of war would thus be able to reach a launch in less than a dozen steps.

It was a day of much anxiety for the older members of the party of relatives and friends of General Huerta.

Especially worried were the wives of the two men, who were passing through a country where a considerable number of revolutionists were known to be operating. They could not rid themselves of the fear that the revolutionists would in some way seek revenge on their husbands. Both were downcast and unresponsive to the efforts of the children and others to arouse their spirits. They spent most of the day on deck chairs aboard the Bristol, but the younger people wandered somewhat listlessly about the railroad yards and visited the neighboring stores.

None of the messages sent to Huerta's wife or to General Camerena, commanding the special guard here, indicated the general's plans. Not even the captains of the German and British vessels had definite instructions except to leave the decision to Huerta himself.

Senora Huerta and several women in the party spent their first night off shore on the Bristol. The older women were given the best quarters on the ship, but it was impossible to provide all with rooms, and cots placed on the awning sheltered decks were resorted to. The children and young women of the party, used to the comforts of wealthy homes, nevertheless caught some of the spirit of camping out, and the laughter that reached shore until late at night showed that they were not greatly perturbed by their plight.

Not until early did the news reach the men who led the Huerta exodus that Francisco Carbajal, to whom Huerta turned over the provisional presidency, had virtually asked General Carranza to come to the capital. Their chagrin was undisguised, but none expressed surprise except at what they termed Carbajal's precipitate action. Most thought, to quote the expression of one of them, that "he should have waited until Huerta was out of the country at least."

To Confer In Capital.

Mexico City, July 18.—General Carranza, or other representatives of the Constitutionalists, will arrive in Mexico City at an early date to attend a peace conference which will be called by President Carbajal.

The successor of Huerta announced that all of his efforts would be turned toward bringing the warring factions of the republic together, and reports received here were to the effect that the Constitutionalists would accept his invitation for a conference.

Following his appointment as minister of war, General Refugio Velasco issued a decree liberating all political prisoners. It is generally accepted that President Carbajal's plan for the establishment of peace in the republic provides for the installation of the Constitutionalists in power at an early date.

He hopes that the different factions may be able to agree on a man to head the government pending a general election, and the scheme would then be to appoint this individual minister of foreign relations in the Carbajal cabinet.

Carbajal would then resign and the appointee would succeed to the presidency, as did Carbajal when Huerta took possession.

DIAZ MAKES NO COMMENT.

Ex-President Said to Have Previously Suggested Retirement to Huerta.

Paris, July 18.—General Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, was packing in preparation for his departure for Biarritz, where he is going to spend the season, when the news came that Provisional President Huerta had decided to resign. Neither the former dictator nor his son, Porfirio, would make any comment, but it is known that he suggested to Huerta some months ago the advisability of retiring. Privately General Diaz has often sharply criticised the policy of the Washington administration, but he has for some time held the opinion that Huerta's disappearance would facilitate a solution of the Mexican problem.

AN ORDINANCE

For the Laying Out and Opening of Spooner Avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Eighth Street to the northwesterly side line of Sherman Avenue.

WHEREAS, The Common Council have judged and do hereby judge that the public good requires that Spooner Avenue should be laid out and opened between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That a public street, to be known as Spooner Avenue, be and the same is hereby ordered laid out and opened in said city as hereinafter specified, that is to say:

The centre line of said street shall begin at an iron monument in the intersection of the centre lines of West Eighth Street and Spooner Avenue, as the same are now laid out and opened, and running from said point in a southeasterly direction and at right angles to the line of West Eighth Street, over lands now or formerly of the Estate of Edward Morgan, George F. Brown, Fred A. Martin and Walter F. Manning, a distance of 580.02 feet to an iron monument in the centre line of the block between Stelle and Sheridan Avenues, as the same are shown on a map entitled: "Map of Woodland Park," Plainfield, N. J., November, 1909. Owned and Developed by Central Holding Co., 1328 Broadway, N. Y. C., on file in the office of the Register of Union County; and running from said point in a southeasterly direction and at right angles to the line of Sheridan Avenue, over lands now or formerly of the Central Holding Company, a distance of 180.02 feet to an iron monument in the center line of Sheridan Avenue; thence in a southerly direction in a straight line over lands now or formerly of the Central Holding Company and Helen B. Banchella a distance of 351.05 feet to a stone monument in the intersection of the center lines of Sherman and Stillman Avenues as the same are now laid out and opened, and there to end. Said street shall be 50 feet in width, that is to say, 25 feet on each side of said centre line, and the roadway shall be 30 feet in width, that is to say, 15 feet on each side of said centre line. Said centre line and also the side and curb lines of said street are delineated on a certain map filed with the City Clerk, April 6, 1914, entitled "Map showing Proposed Laying Out and Opening of Spooner Avenue from West Eighth Street to Sherman Avenue, City of Plainfield, N. J., March, 1914," to which reference is hereby made for greater certainty.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken for the laying out and opening of said Spooner Avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Eighth Street to the northwesterly side line of Sherman Avenue are all those lands, real estate and appurtenances included between the side lines above described lying 25 feet on each side of the above described centre line and parallel therewith, and includes all that part of the lands, real estate and appurtenances now or formerly of the Estate of Edward Morgan, George F. Brown, Fred A. Martin, Walter F. Manning, The Central Holding Company and Helen B. Banchella which lies within said lines.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken and the lines of the proposed street as the same is hereinbefore ordered to be laid out and opened, are shown on said map on file with the City Clerk, hereinbefore referred to and made a part hereof.

Adopted by the Common Council, July 13, 1914; approved by the Mayor, July 14, 1914.

PERCY H. STEWART, Mayor.

HARTFORD TO CELEBRATE CENTENARY OF SAMUEL COLT

Hartford, Conn., July 18.—Tomorrow will be the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Samuel Colt, famous as the inventor of the revolver, who was a native and lifelong resident of Hartford. In early life Mr. Colt was a sailor lad before the mast. Before his death, which occurred at the early age of 48, he had become one of the wealthiest of American manufacturers.

Mr. Colt was not yet twenty-one when he began his experiments with a pistol consisting of a rotating cylinder containing several chambers to be discharged through a single barrel. In 1835 and 1836 he obtained patents on his invention in the United States and Great Britain. A company was formed to manufacture the weapon, but the army refused to accept it, two boards reporting against it as impracticable. But Mr. Colt knew that in the revolver he had a valuable invention. He passed the winter of 1837-38 in Florida, where he saw the value of his invention demonstrated in the war with the Seminole Indians. The weapon had already become established in the affection of the Texas rangers, who had used it with great effect in their fight for Texas independence. In 1840 an army board reported favorably on the revolver, but progress in introducing the weapon was slow, and in 1842 the company making it failed. Undismayed, Mr. Colt found fresh means to continue its manufacture. In 1848 the Colt plant was established in this city, where, to meet the demands from all parts of the world for his invention, Mr. Colt established the largest private armory in the world.

AN OUT-OF-DOOR SERVICE.

An out-of-door service will be held, the weather permitting, on the lawn of the Netherwood Reformed church, tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock. An orchestra will play and lead the singing. The pastor, Rev. Edward S. Ralston, will preach on the subject, "Who Cares?" As the church is on the corner of Leland and Midway avenues, there is room around the edge of the grounds for automobiles and carriages, and people are invited to worship in the cool of the evening in God's out-of-door temple. The morning service will be at 11 o'clock; subject, "Babel of Pentecost."

—If you have a really desirable house or apartment to rent, your "ad" will constitute GOOD NEWS to some anxious people in this city.

UNNECESSARY LAWS.

Within a few weeks you will read of and hear from candidates aspiring to the legislative department of the municipal, State and National Government, that time honored phrase, "If I am elected, I promise, etc." There is invariably a promise to pass some law to remedy some supposed evil in the business world or to further regulate the conduct of human affairs. What we need is the repeal of the great mass of useless legislation which has outlived its usefulness, or was hurriedly and foolishly enacted.

Big business is hampered and more or less paralyzed by the passage of this style of legislation and by the persistent investigations of the various committees of Congress. Recently the largest and oldest wall paper factory in the United States, employing some seven hundred skilled men, suspended business for the reason of conditions of the Federal laws and by the members of the Company being compelled to constantly go before the investigating committee of Congress to testify.

Here in our own State the Legislature meets year after year. Hundreds of laws are passed, while few, if any are repealed, until we are "a law ridden people." For example, a law passed in 1854 concerning the Sabbath, provides, among other things, that "it is unlawful to travel, to play a fiddle, to sing or to have other music for the sake of merriment on the Christian Sabbath, commonly called Sunday." This law is universally violated in some particular, although it is never enforced. The foregoing serves to illustrate the absurdity of allowing "a dead letter law" to stand on the books unrepealed. There are hundreds of such laws in this State which have outlived their usefulness, if they were ever of any use, and are still unrepealed.

Again in 1909, our Legislature passed an act entitled "An act to secure the purity of goods," which provides that all foods intended for sale, "shall be securely protected from flies, dust and dirt." In the haste of the Legislature to pass this act, it did not except any foods intended for sale from the application of the statute. As a consequence, to comply with the law, potatoes, onions, cocoanuts, etc., should be kept in a glass case so they will not get dusty. Under this law several of our local merchants were recently summoned to Court to answer the serious charge of exposing potatoes, onions, bananas, etc., to the dust. They were all obliged to plead guilty, as they had clearly violated this loosely and hastily drawn act.

How many housewives of this city know that it is a violation of the city ordinance to empty a pan of ashes in the yard or chicken coop without first getting permission from the Health Board? Such is the fact, although the ordinance was intended to regulate dumping grounds, but was so loosely drawn as to apply to the instance above. Such miscarriages of legislation could be cited without number, but those referred to illustrate an example of loosely drawn legislation.

The present condition of the statute law of nation, State and city interferes with our business prosperity and over-rides our personal liberty.

The remedy lies in the immediate repeal of all useless laws and the amending of those which are poorly or loosely drawn, so that the law will accord with common sense and reason. When an honest business man can conduct his affairs without needless molestation, there will be real prosperity, and we will all enjoy greater personal liberty.

ROBERT NEWTON CRANE.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

It is surprising to read Mrs. Currie's letter in your issue of tonight as I have made no "recent" reference to her use of the objectionable cartoon in the Saturday Evening Post, as I have no memory of ever seeing one in the Maryland Suffrage News.

I fail to find anything in Mrs. Currie's letter proving either a connection between anti-suffrage and the vice and liquor interests, or that suffrage has helped or will help, the cause of prohibition, but I must beg her to believe, that she is entirely mistaken in the idea that "the literature given out" by her "caused some of the antis to do considerable serious thinking."

I am not going to inflict statistics on your readers, and it would be useless to offer proofs—even from well-known Suffragists—of the failure of women's votes to help the temperance cause, since such proof is met by members of the W. C. T. U. with the declaration, "We don't pay any attention to statistics, they are all prepared by man and we all know men lie."

The antis' make no statements which cannot be substantiated by facts and figures.

Miss Inez Milholland—with typical suffrage topic—tells us that the proof of the truth of suffrage accusations, is that he have never brought suit for libel regarding anyone of them. I would beg to state that neither has any anti had to avoid a suit for libel by such a retraction as is given below.

It is made be it noticed by no less a light than the "head of the Evangelistic department of the New Jersey W. C. T. U."

It is bad enough when members of a political body of women, stoop to unscrupulous methods, but how much worse, when those of an association doing its work under the name of the Saviour adopt them?

A Specimen Calumny.

Under the title "New Light Shed on Miss Bronson," The Woman's Journal of April 11 published the following:

An interesting incident in Miss Minnie Bronson's career has just come to light. Thus far all attempts even to secure a local-option law have failed. In the country at large, mose of the people who do not favor State-wide prohibition believe that any locality has a right to vote out saloons if the majority of the men choose to do so; but it seems that Miss Bronson does not think so, as she spoke at a legislative hearing against the local option bill when it was pending in New Jersey several years ago.

Mrs. T. C. Bodine, of Plainfield, N. J., head of the Evangelistic department of the New Jersey W. C. T. U., writes to Mrs. W. H. Stokes, of 9 Vought avenue, Freehold, N. J.:

"It was at Trenton in March, 1908, that I heard Miss Bronson speak before the committee on local option. She certainly spoke against the measure, and from her argument I presume that she was engaged by the Liquor Dealers' Association, since she seemed to represent them."

Comment would be superflous.

Let us see whether comment on the foregoing accusation is "superfluous."

On the day of the legislative hearing referred to, March 2, 1908, Miss Bronson was in Augusta, Georgia, on business for the United States Bureau of Labor, by which she was at that time employed. This fact is certified to by Ethelbert Stewart, acting commissioner of Labor Statistics, under date April 22, 1914. Obviously therefore, Mrs. Bodine did not hear her speak at the hearing against local option at Trenton, on that date, and her assumption that she was probably "engaged by the Liquor Dealers' Association," is groundless.

But, it will be asked, was not this merely a case of mistaken identity? Positive as is the form in which Mrs. Bodine framed the accusation which The Woman's Journal published so conspicuously, may she not have heard some woman speak at that hearing whom she mistook for Miss Bronson?

That would have been bad enough. But Samuel Wilson, assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, the organization which was pressing the local option bill, writes under date April 22, 1914: "No woman spoke against the bill and in fact, in all our experience, we have never known a woman to appear at a hearing against any temperance measure, or in favor of any liquor bill."

This statement proves that the libelous accusation which The Woman's Journal described as "shedding new light on Miss Bronson" was not based on a misapprehension but was a deliberate invention. What it actually "sheds new light on" is the unscrupulousness of suffrage leaders. Under the circumstances, it is not surprising that Mrs. Bodine found it prudent to retract her statement in the following letter:

"April 25, 1914.

"Mrs. A. M. Dodge:

"Dear Madam: Since convincing data has been brought to my attention that no woman spoke against the Crosby Local Option Bill at the hearing in Trenton, March 2, 1908, I hereby retract the statement quoted from me in The Woman's Journal of April 11, 1914. I was misinformed and greatly regret the injustice done Miss Bronson.

"Yours truly,

"(MRS. T. C.) S. W. BODINE."

The Woman's Journal also found it prudent to publish a retraction in its issue for May 9. It will probably be a little less specific and a little more cautious the next time that it tries to prove that anti-suffragists are allies of the saloon interests.

I thank you for the required space for this letter and regret its length.

Yours truly,

R. A. LAWRENCE.

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

I have noticed several articles in the local papers relative to my brickyard and the nuisance which is alleged to be maintained by me.

I wish to state that the conditions existing in a brickyard are not always of the best, but I have always tried to keep my yard in as good condition and better than any yard where bricks are manufactured.

Since the frost has left the ground I have had men digging ditches and removing all stagnant pools of water so as to prevent the breeding of mosquitoes.

I have notified all the local authorities and the Mosquito Commission, that I would co-operate with them and follow out their suggestions to the best of my ability.

I am a heavy taxpayer in Plainfield, Dunellen and North Plainfield township, having owned property for the past fifteen years and am looking forward to the growth of the municipalities around my property.

I own over sixty acres of land which is very valuable and I surely don't want to do anything that would be a detriment to my property or to the properties of my neighbors.

I do not excavate lower than the water level and all surface water runs into Greenbrook, leaving the ground properly dry.

If the State Board of Health can suggest anything practical so as to prevent the breeding of mosquitoes I will heartily co-operate with their suggestions.

I think that if the parties who are taking such an interest in my property would consult with me before sending their notices to the local papers, borough Council, etc., it would not be necessary to take the matter up with any of the Boards of Health or other governing bodies.

GLICK IN THE HALL OF FAME.

Washington, D. C., July 18—In the presence of a throng of interested spectators, the statute of George W. Glick, contributed by the State of Kansas to the collection in Statuary Hall at the Capitol, was unveiled this afternoon with ceremonies appropriate to the occasion. Mr. Glick was a lawyer and a farmer, and was one of the pioneers of Atchison county, Kans. In the early eighties he served as Governor of the State.

MAYOR MITCHEL'S BIRTHDAY.

New York, July 18—Mayor John P. Mitchel will celebrate his thirty-fifth birthday anniversary tomorrow. Mr. Mitchel is the youngest Mayor in the history of New York city. He entered public life immediately after his graduation from Columbia University and at thirty years of age was president of the Board of Aldermen.

ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED.

City of Mexico, July 18—The anniversary of the death of Benito Juarez, the famous Mexican patriot and liberal party president, was appropriately observed in the capitol today. The principal exercises of the day were held at the cemetery of San Ferdinand, wherein are interred the remains of the illustrious soldier who led the successful struggles against the Maximilian empire.

OPTICAL CONGRESS.

St. Louis, Mo., July 18—More than two thousand delegates—optometrists, oculists and opticians—have gathered in St. Louis to take part in the seventeenth annual congress of the American Optical Association. The delegates come from nearly all parts of the United States and Canada. Meetings of several affiliated bodies and a postgraduate course which will enable the optometrists to become familiar with the latest scientific tests and the use of the newest and best optical instruments, will occupy the time of the delegates until next Thursday, when the sessions of the congress itself will get under way. One of the important subjects before the congress will be appropriate and just optometric legislation to eliminate the mal-fitting of glasses.

LITERARY

The Smart Set for August is full of breezy, piquant reading. There is a very unusual novelette by W. L. George, "The Twenty-three Days of Nazimov." A one-act play, "Some Mischief Still," by Joyce Kilmer, is a clever take-off of some of the vagaries of idle women of the day. Freemen Tilden fires some pointed shafts of satire at investors in unsound stocks in his story, "Wildcats." George Jean Nathan describes in his regular dramatic department the best one-act plays he saw in London and Paris, and besides contributes a delicious burlesque on the French spoken by American tourists. Richard LeGallienne's essay, "The Snows of Yesteryear," reminices delightfully of the glories of a romantic past. There is also a story by Donn Byrne, a married-life story of strong emotions by Atkinson Kimball, a humorous story of two old maids in Paris by Herman Marcus, a psychic story by Henry C. Rowland, a clever sketch on "The Barefoot Boy" by Hilegrade Hawthorne and some excellent verse.

CHICAGO SEES TRIO OF FLAGS IN SIGHT

Cubs, White Sox and Chifeds All Making Strong Bids for Pennants.

Three baseball teams belonging to one city and all three in the thick of the pennant battles in their respective leagues. That's the situation in Chicago today. With the Cubs, the White Sox and the Chifeds all "up there," it is not to be wondered that the Chicago fans are staying awake nights, dazzled by the prospect of three championships falling to their city.

It was back in 1906 that Chicago established a record in the pennant winning line. In that year both the Cubs and the White Sox copped the flags in their respective leagues and later met in the world's championship series. No other city has ever won two pennants in one season. Now there appears at least a chance that Chicago may boost her own record by closing the present season with three flag winners.

A month ago neither the Sox nor the Cubs was figured as a formidable contender for championship honors, while Joe Tinker's Federal Leaguers were rated as having only an outside chance to bring home the bacon. But about that time each of the teams started a winning streak, with the result that all three now see the bunting in sight.

Of the three teams, the White Sox have been doing the best work, considering the material at hand. Outside of the pitching staff the Callahan crew started the season with every appearance of being a weak aggregation. The desertion of Harry Lord, followed a little later by Hal Chase's jump to the Federals, made the team look weaker than ever. It was freely predicted that the Sox would drop out of sight by the Fourth of July. But contrary to expectation the team took a decided brace and started their sensational climb. With "Big Ed" Walsh in condition to pitch, the Sox now look to be a mighty hard team to beat out for the American League pennant.

In direct contrast to the early season work of the White Sox, the weakness of the Cubs' game was found in the pitcher's box. The team put up a good game in the field and at bat, but the pitchers were not yet right. It took considerable time to round out the twirling staff, but when the slabbers once caught the step the team started up the grade at a speedy clip.

The New York Giants look to be the team that the Cubs will have to beat out in the race for the National League championship. Whether the Chicagoans will be able to take the measure of McGraw's men is a question, but it's a sure bet that with a large slice of world's series coin staring them in the face every member of Hank O'Day's pastimes will play his head off to win.

The Chifeds, the "baby of Chicago's baseball family, are setting the hottest kind of a pace in the Federal League. A short time ago Baltimore looked to have the Fed pennant cinched, but just when the race became good and hot the Terrapins cracked and the Indianapolis Hoosiers jumped into first place. After a few days at the top the Hoosiers were ousted from first place by the Chifeds and it is now up to the Tinkerites to stick around and hold their own until the curtain drops in October.

One disconcerting feature of the Chifeds' triumph (if they do any triumph stuff) is the fact that they will be unable to declare themselves in on a share of the world's series money. The National and American League pennant winners will take good care of the coin that comes from the big series. Still, the Fed moguls may fatten up the bank roll of their winning team, which would help some.

NIGHT TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT WESTFIELD MONDAY

The night tennis tournament of the Westfield Golf Club will be started Monday night. The men's doubles will start at that time. Tennis by electric light is a new feature and has proved to be very popular with enthusiastic racquet wielders who cannot get enough of the game in the day time. Many entries have been received from out-of-town clubs and not less than fifty teams are entered altogether. This is the first event of its kind ever held in the State.

ROD AND REEL

Talk about unusual weather and unusually poor fishing, what can be thought of a codfish being caught within a few miles of Sandy Hook on the fifteenth of July? Either the codfish lost its way north or else the water must be cold.

If surf fishing increases in popularity the next few years as it has in the past five years, the fish will be afraid to come near the coast for fear of having their heads broken by the lead sinkers cast in their direction by a crowd of husky fishermen. Friday a small boy caught several striped bass.

A party of anglers went out at Morgan, yesterday, after weakfish and returned with thirty-two and two fluke. They anchored just east of the jetties at Morgan, where all of the fish were caught.

Reports from Sheepshead Bay state that the fishing is good there. One man landed twenty bass and a party of thirty-four people in a boat hooked four hundred and fifty-two.

Fine catches of weakfish are being made at Jamaica Bay these days. All of those who cast their lines there are rewarded with a fine mess of the finny tribe.

Morgan Station has become a very popular fishing ground lately. All varieties can be hooked there and weakfishing is the best.

PLAINFIELD A. A. AT PASSAIC.

The Plainfield A. A. baseball club will travel to Passaic tomorrow, and play the Y. M. H. A. of that place. The locals will take their strongest lineup and expect to come home with the bacon.

PLAINFIELD WILL PLAY ST. ANTHONY'S SUNDAY

Baseball fans will have a rare treat tomorrow afternoon, when the Plainfield team meets the strong St. Anthony aggregation from Perth Amboy. The game will surely be a royal battle, and both teams are primed for the occasion. Manager McDonough has secured Harney to do the twirling and Alberts will work with him. The regular lineup will be used. Neider will oppose Harney and the local batters will have to keep their eyes open when he tosses the ball to them.

The two teams will lineup as follows:

ST. ANTHONY.	PLAINFIELD.
Loeser, lf	Jaeger, lf

BASEBALL NOTES

First Baseman Hoblitzel, of the Cincinnati Reds, is having one of the poorest seasons with the stick since he came into the National League.

Will Beals Becker follow Josh Devore to the Boston Nationals? The two were together with the Giants, the Reds and the Phillies.

Enos Kirkpatrick, who has been out of the Baltimore Federal lineup all season because of a broken bone in his ankle, has rejoined the Terrapins.

The longest game ever played in the Kansas League was staged the other day and resulted in Hutchinson defeating Great Bend 4 to 3 in 21 innings.

"Birdie" Cree is doing the same kind of fancy hitting with the Yankees that he did with the Baltimore Orioles earlier in the season.

Unless John McGraw's pitchers tighten up pretty soon we fear the Giants will not be able to spend any world's series money this year.

Luque, the Cuban pitcher, until recently with the Boston Braves, is a versatile ball player. He is now with Jersey City and when not pitching he plays the second sack for the "Skeeters."

Just when it appeared that Marty O'Toole was ready to show a little something for Barney Dreyfuss' $22,500, the Phillies came along and knocked the wadding out of the Pirate flinger.

It is said Marsans' Federal League contract called for $6,000 a year for three years. The sum of $9,000, or half the full amount, has already been paid to the Cuban.

Frank Baker, of the Athletics, is leading the American League in home runs; Sam Crawford, the Tiger slugger, in triplets, and Clarence Walker, of the Browns, in two-base wallops.

"Ken" Nash, the former Brown University star, has joined the St. Louis Cardinals. Nash's duties as a member of the Massachusetts Legislature prevented his joining the Cards earlier in the season.

Pitcher Faber is the best life-saver the White Sox have had since the palmy days of "Big Ed" Walsh. Faber has saved several games for the Sox this season after some other flinger had blown up.

Before the present season Howard Shanks was rated as a weakling with the stick, but this year the Washington outfielder has flagged that sort of a rating by walloping the ball all over the lot.

Now that Jackson and Chapman are back in the Cleveland lineup the Naps are in better shape to make a desperate fight for fresh air and sunshine before the cellar door is locked next fall.

For the first time in several years, Owner Bob Hedges, of the St. Louis Browns, is making the Eastern trip with his team. In former years Hedges was afraid to take any chances by traveling with the Browns. Their ball playing was apt to cause some stranger to shoot the whole outfit.

THREE OLD TIMERS COME BACK IN BIG LEAGUES

"Birdie" Cree, Claude Derrick and Jay Kirke are three of the most sensational "comebacks" of the season. When this trio was cast adrift by major league clubs little or no attention was given to their fate. They had dropped out of the fast set and were headed for the minors. But now it's a different story. All three accomplished wonders with the teams to which they were sent and now they are back in the big yard again.

The New York Americans sold Cree to the Baltimore Orioles for $2,500 and gladly paid $5,000 to get him back. While with Baltimore, Cree led the International League batsmen with an average of .353. Claude Derrick also was shipped to Baltimore by the Athletics, who figured that he was through in the big show. Derrick did great work in the field for the Orioles and hit for .330. Recently he was sold to Cincinnati for a big sum.

Jay Kirke, the third member of the "comeback" triplets, is a former Boston Brave. He was shunted to Indianapolis and then on to Cleveland in the American Association. With Cleveland, Kirke hit .351, and was the real batting leader of the association. Now he is with the Cleveland Naps.

CLYDE MILAN SERIOUSLY INJURED IN BALL GAME

Washington, July 18.—Clyde Milan, the star outfielder of the Washington American League baseball club, is suffering from a broken jaw and concussion of the brain is feared.

This statement was made by the ball player's physicians after a thorough examination this morning. Milan collided with Danny Moeulla while chasing a fly in yesterday's game.

COPS TO PLAY ANOTHER.

After winning one and losing one this week, the local coppers will again get into action on Parker Field, Monday afternoon, when they will play the Plainfield A. A. team. The invaders will be mostly stars of last year's interscholastic series and the manager has collected a nine that will make the bluecoats hit the ball hard and field perfectly.

THIRD GAME WITH ELIZABETH.

Manager Bader, game booker for the local policemen's baseball team, has scheduled a third game with their Elizabeth comrades, to be played at that place on Wednesday, August 5. The locals have been defeated twice by this team, but think they can take their measure in the third match. They will go by automobile.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Candidates for the Democratic nomination for the Assembly this fall continue to appear. The latest to make known his candidacy is Ten Eyck R. Beardsley, of Fanwood borough. Mr. Beardsley has been a candidate for this place upon previous occasions, but has had to be content with the nomination. He has been a party worker for several years, and is well known throughout the county.

Following are some of the more important dates for meetings of political parties and information as to filing of petitions, registry days, etc.:

July 20—Union County Republican Committee meets.

July 20—Union County Democratic Committee meets.

July 30—Union County Progressive Committee meets.

August 4—County Board of Elections meets to organize.

August 15—Union County Republican outing.

August 19—Union County Democratic outing.

August 28—Last day for filing county petitions.

September 2—Last day for filing petitions for local offices.

September 8—First registry day. Also last day for filing petitions to fill vacancies in all offices except Governor and Congress.

September 22—Primary election day and registry day for general election.

September 29—State convention of each party at Trenton and date on which county committees meet and organize.

October 20—Last registry day for municipalities over 5,000.

November 3—Election Day.

Senator Martine in a statement yesterday said he would vote for the confirmation of Paul M. Warburg when the time came for a vote on his nomination as a member of the reserve bank board. As to Thomas D. Jones, another of the President's nominees over whom the Senate is in a deadlock, the Senator said he had not been won over, being between love for the President and what he considers his duty because Mr. Jones is a member of the "Harvester Trust."

It is understood that there is a strong desire on the part of the members of the Union County Board of Elections not to perfect organization for the year until after the next meeting of the Board of Freeholders, in order that they will know the extent of the cut to be made in the compensation. According to the election law, the board must meet between the first and tenth of August. In the past the organization meeting has been held on the first Tuesday. As that falls on the fourth and the Freeholders will not meet until the sixth there is a disposition to delay the organization from the fourth to a subsequent date.

On the Democratic outing next month one of the main features will be the athletic meet at the grove. Hugh F. Boyle will manage the different events, which are open to all. Prizes will be awarded to all winners. One event has already been arranged in a game of ball between teams representing the Second Ward Democratic Club and the Elizabeth Democratic Club. Excise Commissioner Dunn will look after the interests of the Second Ward Club, while Edward M. Meek, an old Battin High School player, will look after the lineup of the Elizabeth Democratic Club. Sam DeVorkin, the champion pinochle player of the Democratic Club, will probably officiate as umpire. The athletic field at Witzel's Grove is large and roomy; in fact, three games of ball can be played at one time without any interference.

RECREATION NOTES

The Dunbar Musical and Educational Club met last night in the Washington School and enjoyed one of their social evenings of music and dancing. Mrs. Beatrice Yeatman entertained with recitations and the Misses Mayse and Knight played a duet on mandolins. Henry Van-Blake also rendered a solo entitled "A Song at Twilight." There were about fifty members present at last night's meeting despite the warm weather. George Gates, president of the club, announced that next week there will be a shirtwaist dance.

The municipal dance will be held tonight in the Washington School Auditorium. These Saturday night dances are very popular with the young people of this city and even thoug hwarm weather has set in there seems to be no noticeable decrease in attendance.

The Washington Musical and Dramatic Club will hold an "Amateur Night" at the Washington School, Tuesday of next week. An enjoyable evening is anticipated.

SPIRITUALIST MEETING.

Anderson, Ind., July 18—The annual camp meeting of the Indiana Association of Spiritualists, which is the largest yearly gathering of its kind in the country, opened on the assembly grounds at Chesterfield today and will continue until the end of August. Many well-known mediums and lecturers are scheduled to address the gathering, among them being Mrs. Fannie Conrad, of Louisville; Thomas Grimshaw, of St. Louis; C. E. Watkins, of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Anna Thronsden, of Indianapolis; Mrs. Marion Carpenter, of Detroit, and Miss May Hedrick, of Jacksonville, Fla.

TELEPHONE SERVICE AT A. B. C. MEDIATION CONFERENCE.

© 1914, by American Press Association.

Seated on left of table are the American delegates, left to right, H. Percival Dodge, secretary; Justice Lehmann and Justice Lamar. Mediators Naon, Da Gama and Suarez, in the order named, are seated at head of table. The Mexican delegation is on right. Left to right, they are Augustin Rodriquez, Emilia Rabasa, Luis Elguero and Augustin Elguero, secretary of the delegation.

The efforts of the A. B. C. Mediation Conference at Niagara Falls, Ontario, to solve the vexatious Mexican problem attracted the attention of the entire civilized world. Their daily progress was eagerly watched, and the special telephone arrangements, described in The New York Telephone Review were of inestimable value to the mediators, their assistants and others interested, including the newspaper men.

At the Prospect House, Niagara Falls, N. Y., headquarters of the American delegates, a Public Telephone Station with operator in attendance and five booths was installed.

To enable the American delegates to have Bell Service, where complete privacy could be obtained, a booth was placed in the guest room set apart for the Hon. J. R. Lamar and the Hon. Frederick Lehmann, the other United States delegate. This instrument was in direct connection through the toll board at Niagara Falls with a circuit to Washington, D. C., and this circuit was so built up that the Niagara Falls operator could ring the Washington D. C., operator direct. A record kept of the calls to Washington shows that the American delegates called the office of the Secretary of State and the other officials with whom they were in communication by long distance telephone no less than three times a day on the average and more than this some days. In addition to this telephone in the booth a desk set instrument was also installed for local use by Messrs. Lamar and Lehmann.

INTERESTING TELEPHONE FACTS

"What errors of omission or commission have we been guilty of that would justify a democratic form of government such as ours in taking out of our hands a business, a public utility, first of course, but never the less a business that has been developed along business lines by business men,—men trained for the work they are doing?" says Vice President F. H. Bethell of the New York Telephone Company in an address on government ownership of the telephone before the North Board of Trade, Newark, N. J., and printed in the Telephone Review. "The man who to-day is at the head of this great utility, this great business with its hundreds of millions of invested capital, its hundreds of thousands of employes, its millions of telephones, Mr. Theodore N. Vail, is the man who as General Manager of the Company struggled with its problems, financial, mechanical, and otherwise, in the days when the telephone was laughed at by many people as an impracticable toy. With no subsidies, no assistance from state or nation, but with ability, courage, high ideals, and unfailing energy, Mr. Vail and the men around him have given to this country a telephone service such as no other nation in the world has ever known.

"In a very few words, I will give you the proof. The population per square mile in the United States is 31; for Continental Europe it is 119. Students of telephony know that density of population has a lot to do with telephone development. That you will readily understand, but then you may well ask as to the character of the population, and anticipating that question, I shall take for purposes of comparison those countries of Europe that, because of their wealth, their industrial activities, and their development as world powers, are classed with our United States. These are Great Britain, the German Empire, and France.

"And here we have it: Population per square mile, Great Britain 379, the German Empire 319, France, 191, United States 31.

"Where should the great telephone development be? It should, of course, excel in the densely populated countries, but the facts, as astonishing as they may seem (and to me it seems all but impossible), are as follows:

"The distribution of the world's telephones are 5½% for Great Britain, 9.6% for the German Empire, 2.2% for France, and 64.3% for the United States. Why, think of Liverpool, Manchester, and Birmingham, the great manufacturing centres of England, cities all of them of more than a million population, yet none of them as well developed telephonically as is your own Newark with its 400,000!"

SUCCESSFUL SALESMANSHIP BY TELEPHONE.

"A certain large corporation had a prize competition among its salesmen, who are scattered all over the United States, to see which could produce the most business within a certain week. One young man living in Brooklyn, who had been with his company less than a year and had not yet grown his pin feathers, stood third among a total of perhaps hundreds. He says that at first he saw no way of getting even among the 'also rans,' but a telephone man suggested to him that he use the telephone. Carefully preparing a 'sales talk,' which he had written out so he could speak it rapidly, he spent several hours at home each day during the week calling up every dealer on Long Island who could handle the product he was selling. Over 90% of his orders were booked by telephone without a personal call, and practically the entire remaining 10% were secured through interviews arranged in this way. His astonishment was as great as his satisfaction when he realized what he had accomplished, for it also meant an immediate promotion to a more important position. This was during the hot weather in June when to have done less business in any other way would have been a punishment."—New York Telephone Review.

TELEPHONE COMPANY BUILDS FOR THE FUTURE.

In the rendering of adequate telephone service to the public, it is not sufficient to have facilities enough for the present, but plans must be made continually for the future. Several instances of this policy, as carried out by the New York Telephone Company, are given in The Telephone Review.

The great telephone growth in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn has made necessary a new central office building and switchboard for the Midwood exchange, which, together with additions to the plant, will cost about $310,000. Sloatsburg, N. Y., now has a central office of its own because of its rapid telephone growth.

In New Jersey a large amount of cable and construction work is underway in the Montclair district, and a growth of 500 telephones is expected this year. The number of telephones in the Union district has increased from 1,500 to 4,500, or about 200 per cent, in five years. Consequently, $200,000 is being spent on additions to the equipment in the district. In 1910 Ridgefield Park had only about 15 telephones; now it has about 550. For telephone improvements in this town about $11,000 has been appropriated.

These examples are typical of the development work continually going on in all parts of the New York Telephone Company's territory.

TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Government ownership of the telephone was recently discussed by F. H. Bethell, Vice-President of the New York Telephone Company, in an address before the North Board of Trade, Newark, N. J. It is printed in the Telephone Review and contains many interesting facts on the subject. Regarding efficient telephone service, Mr. Bethell says:

"It is the most difficult of all services to maintain efficiency. A letter is simply dropped in a box and the act is immediately forgotten. The filing of a telegram differs but little from mailing a letter. Electric lights are turned on and off, and so with gas, without the aid of others. Telephone service, when efficient, is the output of well-trained hands handling well-constructed and properly maintained machinery. It can be produced in no other way.

"And so much for the efficiency of the service. For speed, reliability, and comfort, it is as reasonable to compare a Spanish ox-cart with an American touring car as to compare telephone service furnished by governments in countries where governments control with the service furnished in this great nation by private enterprise."

HELPFUL WORDS

From a Plainfield Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful?

Does it ache especially after exertion?

Is there a soreness in the kidney region?

These symptoms suggest weak kidneys.

If so there is danger in delay.

Weak kidneys get fast weaker.

Give your trouble prompt attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys,

Your neighbors use and recommend them.

Read this Plainfield testimony.

Mrs. S. Driscoll, 1009 South Second street, Plainfield N. J., says: "I had a dull pain across the small of my back and in my sides that clung to me constantly and any hard work made me worse. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells, especially when stooping or lifting and I felt weak and run down. I tried plasters and other remedies, but nothing helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store. They made a lasting cure. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly today as I did some years ago when they cured me."

WILL ENCLOSE PROPERTY WITH 2,500 FEET OF WIRE

John Wolf, of Somerset street, has been awarded the contract for putting up 2,500 feet of wire fence around the property of Albert Rajotti, on Jefferson avenue, Dunellen. This includes the entire frontage on Jefferson avenue. It has been learned that a South Jersey party has made Mr. Rajotti an offer for ten acres of his property, the ground to be used for the cultivation of cranberries.

SIX DEAD IN COLLISION.

One of Nineteen Injured In a Critical Condition.

Norfolk, Va., July 18.—Six were killed and nineteen were injured when an electric excursion train crashed into a Virginian railway freight train at a grade crossing near this city. Four en and two women, all of Norfolk, were killed.

Dennis P. Lyons of Baltimore, among the injured, is in a critical condition.

The electric train, filled with men and women, left Ocean View at midnight and would have arrived in Norfolk at 12:45 o'clock. At the Virginian railroad crossing trainmen say the safety gates were down, and a coal train of seventy cars was passing to Roanoke. The electric train crashed through the gates and into the freight.

RAID FAKE POOLROOM.

Montreal Police Get Ten Men In Room With "Cold" Wires.

Montreal, July 18.—Ten men, alleged to be members of a "wire tapping" gang working in connection with the races here, were arrested in a raid on an apartment which contained "cold" telephone and telegraph instruments, several thousand dollars in bills and several "phony rolls."

Some of the men gave addresses in the United States. One man prominent in the raging game is believed to be in the party, but he was not identified. Detectives had been shadowing the gang for several days.

News of Interest in Building World

BUILDING OPERATIONS ARE AT A STANDSTILL

Eight Permits Were Issued by Inspector Doane This Week.

Building thus far this month has taken a slump over the activities of last month, although conditions in this line are far from being as bad, as several buildings are being planned as noted in another column. During the past week, eight permits were issued by Inspector T. O. Doane, the majority being for tanks utilized for the storage of volitile liquids. These tanks are all to be located in the Second and Third wards, and are as follows: Henry R. Talmadge, at 714 Belvidere avenue, at a cost of $100; Mrs. Katherine Reed, on Woodland avenue, at a cost of $40; Dr. Corbusier, at 612 Park avenue, at a cost of $23; Dr. F. C. Ard, on Park avenue, at a cost of $23, and Louis Terry, at 714 West Eighth street, at a cost of $23.

The largest permit of the week issued was to Frank Cireff, to erect a two-story hollow terra cotta dwelling at 14 McCrea place in the First ward. The plans call for a 24x24 foot building, with a concrete foundation, shingled roof. W. H. Clum is the architect for the dwelling, which is to cost in the vicinity of $3,000. Squicciarini & Obrato, of Bayonne, have the contract for the carpenter work, while Mr. Cireff will do the mason work himself.

Mrs. Fred Caspar, of North Plainfield, has been granted a permit for making alterations to the buildings at 142-144 East Front street. An extension is to be placed on the rear of the present structure, the improvements to be 11x20 feet. The addition will have a concrete foundation, hollow tile superstructure and a roof of rubberoid, and will be made at a cost of $1,000. Conniff Brothers have the contract for the mason work, while M. B. Culver & Sons, of North Plainfield, will do the carpenter work.

Alterations will also be made to the building at 814 West Third street, a permit having been granted to Adlue Venable, the owner of the property. An 18x14 foot extension is to be erected in the rear of the dwelling, will be two stories high, have a concrete foundation, and a frame superstructure. The cost of the improvements have been estimated at $700. W. H. Clum is the architect, while A. J. Lambert has the carpenter contract.

REALTY TRANSFERS

Real estate still continues to change hands with great rapidity in the nearby suburbs, especially those towns just over the Middlesex county line. Among the transfers recorded at New Brunswick in the nearby towns are those noted below:

Leon T. Closterhouse has bought of the Realty Co-operative Club six lots and two buildings in Oaklawn Terrace, Metuchen.

Edward H. Koven has bought of Mary E. Hanson three lots in Fairview Park, Metuchen.

Charles Berrisford has bought of Julius Dickhudt land near the road from New Market to Clinton avenue in Piscataway township.

Richard and Johanna Doyle have bought of the Plainfield Realty Suburban Company, a lot in Mountain View Park, Piscataway township.

Isidore Caporilla has bought of Metuchen Realty and Improvement Company, six lots in Metuchen Estates.

Catherine Romano Salveti has bought of Carmelia Cerchiaro and husband, ten lots in Piscataway township for $100.

Realty transfers recorded at Elizabeth from this end of the county are as noted below:

For the week ending last Saturday, thirteen building contracts were filed at Elizabeth, calling for the expenditure of $38,156.

AWARD CONTRACTS FOR COURT HOUSE CHANGES

Contracts for the work on the proposed alterations to the county court house at Elizabeth were awarded this week to M. Brynes Building Company, by the Public Building and Grounds Committee, of the Board of Freeholders.

The changes as first suggested were not carried into effect, as the bids on the work did not come within the amount estimated for the cost by the committee and the architect, William Ackerman. The second bid on the changes submitted by the Byrnes Company amounted to $2,650, about $500 less than the original bid. The plans include changes to the Grand Jury rooms.

UNIQUE OFFER TO START BUILDING BOOM

Suburban real estate operators often develop considerable originality as well as tracts of land. One whose activities are largely confined to Lincoln, or what has become known as Middlesex Borough in these latter days, advertises that he is to give away ten lots, free of cost, to the first ten people who build homes in the hustling little "burg" during the course of the next six months, regardless of from whom they buy their original home site. The length of time over which the offer extends, some boom is evidently expected in the near future.

IN THE SUBURBS

New Market.

The plant of the New Market Roller Mills is being still further enlarged by the building of an addition forty feet long by twenty-five feet wide on the main building covering the ground extending toward the track of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. The new part will be for the enclosure of machinery and when completed and fited up will make the mill one of the most complete in point of equipment of any similar institution in the State. The carpenter contract has been awarded to Contractor J. Newton Apgar, of Dunellen.

Contractor Alberne H. Burdick is planning to erect two new houses for investment right away in Dunellen.

Walter Titus, who sold his farm last week, is to erect a new house in Dunellen on the lot on Penfield place, which he purchased after selling his local place.

SUBURBAN TOWNS ENJOY BIG BOOM

Activities Reported in Both Building and Real Estate Operations.

The surrounding suburban towns are more than holding their own in the building and real estate lines, and exceeding by far, in proportion, the operations in this city. Metuchen, South Plainfield, Dunellen and Lincoln are all enjoying booms of various degrees. The activities at Metuchen, no doubt, got their impetus shortly after the Pennsylvania Railroad was connected with the tubes. South Plainfield and Dunellen have "just grew," the demand keeping the operations apace with the times. In another column is noted the many realty transfers which have been recorded at New Brunswick during the course of the past week for these towns, the transfers indicating in a fair way the condition of the market in this section.

Dunellen has probably the healthiest boom on, with South Plainfield a close second. A few of the activities of Dunellen are noted below.

Henry Wrage has been awarded the general contract for the erection of a dwelling at Equator Park on Dunellen avenue, Stefan Danek being the owner.

Frank Mohan has recently purchased a lot on the south side of First street from Frank T. Farrell, and will have a dwelling erected in the near future.

Walter Titus has had his recently purchased lot on Culhane place surveyed, and will start the erection of a modern dwelling within the course of the next two weeks.

H. B. MacDonald, of the Plainfield Savings Institution, has sold his recently erected dwelling on Cedar street, and is planning to erect another.

Walter G. Clawson has been awarded contracts for the erection of three dwellings at Equator Park at the western end of the borough, New York parties being responsible for the work.

Although several dwellings have been erected in the borough during the course of the present season for investment purposes, the majority of them have found ready buyers. A. H. Burdick now has plans out for two additional dwellings for investment on Washington avenue.

Henry Wrage has started work on a dwelling to be erected on the Sandford tract, on a lot which he recently purchased for the purpose.

Alexander Bublauch has purchased a lot at Equator Park from John F. Ryan, of College Point, through the agency of John Fedderman. Whether Mr. Bublauch intends to build is not known.

The property of Mrs. C. L. Barker on Columbia street, consisting of a house and two lots, has been recently sold through the agency of John Fedderman to George D. Coleman, of Elizabeth, who will take possession early in the fall.

The following Dunellen realty transfers have been recorded at New Brunswick:

Edward Maurer and wife have transferred to Edward Maurer, Inc., ten tracts of land in this borough. Also John P. Fenner and wife have transferred to Frank T. Farrell property on the southeast side of First street.

Henry Wrage has purchased of Charles Denny, a lot at Equator Park, where he will erect a dwelling in the near future.

Samuel M. Titus, of Dunellen, has secured the contract for the erection of a dwelling at Somerville for Andrew Norton.

Recent rentals reported include the apartment of Adam Herlick on Jefferson avenue, to James P. Cunningham, of Union Hill, Jersey City.

Lester Nelson is redecorating the interior of the dwelling of Dr. H. G. Tuttle, of Greenbrook road. J. H. Line has been awarded the contract for repainting the Hunt house on Front street.

Joseph G. Tetlow has the plumbing contract for the new dwelling in the course of construction at Somerville, of which Anson Morton is the owner.

Frank Broshart has the plumbing contract for the new school being erected at Bound Brook, of which J. Newton Apgar is the general contractor.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Pierce, of New Market, is undergoing repairs and is being repainted, the contract for the latter work having been awarded to William L. Corriell.

Herman B. Eckert is having a dwelling erected on Third street, the electrical contract for which has been awarded to Edward J. Herlick.

Alterations on the Alvah Gray building on North avenue have been completed, giving the occupants of the stores on the first floor considerable additional floor space.

SEVERAL BUILDINGS ARE BEING PLANNED

Prospects for a Busy Fall Now Look Very Promising.

While building operations thus far this month have experienced a slump after the good showing of June, several buildings which will mean work for a number of mechanics are being planned, and work will probably be started within the course of the next two weeks.

Among these buildings are the apartments to be erected on Central avenue and West Fourth street by Samuel H. Schwartz and Symon H. Hirsh on the property recently purchased from George H. Babcock. George W. Cole is planning an elaborate dwelling of an up-to-date type on Leland avenue, near East Front street. This house will cost several thousand dollars. The Bloom Construction Company is planning the erection of two more buildings on West Fourth street, just west of Plainfield avenue, where they have at present a two-story building in the course of construction. The Netherwood Reformed church is also planning for the erection of a new building, and it is expected that contracts will be awarded before the present month is over.

DUNN'S REVIEW SHOWS FAVORABLE IMPROVEMENTS

Reports of the building activities of seventy-five leading cities throughout the country for the month of June as compiled by Dunn's Review indicate favorable improvement in conditions, and in many cases, an increase in operations over the same month of 1913.

A net gain of the totals for these cities of 5.5 per cent. is shown in building trades over the country, despite the fact that several of the cities report large decreases for the month over the same period of a month ago. Of the two cities of New Jersey included in this report, Newark shows an increase of about forty-six per cent., while Trenton shows a falling off for the month.

TWO ONE-FAMILY HOUSES.

Andrew Olsen is completing two one-family dwellings on East Second street at a cost of $3,000 each. Carl Peterson, of Dunellen, has the general contract for these dwellings. It is understood that Mr. Olsen will erect further dwellings in this vicinity within the course of the present season.

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

CHAPTER XXI.

Strictly Temperance.

BEFORE J. Rufus Wallingford arrived in Prize City he spent a solid hour in searching through his valuable collection of carelessly exchanged business cards. His search was rewarded by the pasteboard of "Thomas J. Hammond, Books and Stationery, 346 Broadway, Prize City, Fine Printing and Engraving a Specialty." Mr. Wallingford studied the reverse of the card more earnestly than he did the obverse. Here was microscopically written in ink:

May, 1910. New York Central. Little peacock, with a hooked nose and deep creases. Business fusser. Rated $100,000. Commercial club. Wife paints miniatures. Three boys. Oldest, Harry, in college.

Mr. Wallingford spent some fifteen minutes in recalling the brow creased countenance of Mr. Hammond; then he strolled over to 346 Broadway and called upon the gentleman. Mr. Hammond, who sat at a desk railed off in the middle of a very neatly kept shop, looked up, with frowning abstraction, as Mr. Wallingford cheerily greeted him, and the dim light of cold recognition shone in his eyes.

"I'm sorry I can't quite place you," he confessed and looked back, with a frown, at a clerk who was allowing a lady to go out without having purchased anything.

Mr. Wallingford's expression of cheerful confidence faded as if he were much disappointed in not being remembered. "I recall you perfectly," he said. "We had a delightful conversation in the buffet car of a New York Central flier one morning last May from Albany to Forty-second street."

"Oh, yes," grudgingly admitted Mr. Hammond, with a slight twitching of his creases. "Are you in the city on business?"

"I'm not sure yet," returned Wallingford, chuckling; and, hearing the chuckle, Mr. Hammond remembered that Wallingford had been the most delightful traveling companion he had ever met. "It depends on what business opportunities the city has to offer me. First of all, however, I'd like to know something about your local banks."

"All our banks are very good," he stated coolly, with his eager eye roving from customer to customer.

"Oh, well, if there's no choice I may as well take the nearest one to the Walsingham," accepted Wallingford, naming his hotel. "I feel a little cautious about it because I wish to open an account with rather a good sized check—$75,000, to be more exact."

"Indeed!" exclaimed Mr. Hammond, with an instant change of manner. "I wouldn't go to the Farmers and Traders' in your case, Mr. Wallingford. I think I should go to the Broadway National." He paused a moment to consider. Depositing a $75,000 check for collection, with a view to opening an account, sounded very good. He owned stock in the Broadway National. Still, one never could tell. "Don't say I sent you," he warned. "I can't afford to show favoritism."

"Thanks," said Wallingford gratefully. "I quite understand. By the way, how is your son Harry coming on at college?"

"Fine!" declared Mr. Hammond with instant responsiveness, and for the first time he really smiled. "I didn't imagine you'd remember about him."

"I could scarcely forget him," replied Wallingford convincingly. "You showed me his photograph, you know. It was the best portrait of a fine, handsome, manly lad I had ever seen. He seemed a trifle delicate, though. How is his health now?"

"Couldn't be better," reurned Mr. Hammond. "I must show you a picture of him taken last fall," and he opened a drawer of his desk. "Sit down, Mr. Wallingford," and he pushed forward a big leather chair. "Have a cigar. Here is that new photograph."

Wallingford accepted the cigar and the picture with equal apparent pleasure, and he surveyed the latter long and earnestly.

"You've a right to be very proud of that!" he observed with appropriate enthusiasm. "I have a boy growing up, and if he only looks like this, at the same age, I shall be highly satisfied. I suppose he gets his splendid eyes from his mother. They indicate a keen artistic temperament. Is this one of Mrs. Hammond's miniatures?" and he bent forward eagerly to inspect a pasty portrait of a baby, framed in gold filigree.

"That's my youngest," said Mr. Hammond proudly. "I had it displayed at the national miniaturists' exhibit, but if I had only known that personal influence was the leading factor in awarding the prizes I would have saved Mrs. Hammond the humiliation. You must have a very good memory, Mr. Wallingford, to recollect about my wife being an artist. How long shall you be in the city?"

"It depends upon local financial conditions. How are they?"

"Not the best in the world," replied Mr. Hammond, with an instant lugubrious expression. "The new traction line, which was to have brought the farmers in to trade, only takes our own people away to spend their money, especially in the summer. They have amusement parks in Riverton and Capitalia. Every time our mechanics have a half holiday or take one they go out of town to ride on the roller coasters and come home with their arms full of goods that should have been bought at home."

"That's bad," declared Wallingford, genuinely interested. "What you apparently need is an amusement park bigger and better than those at Riverton and Capitalia."

"We've often discussed it over at the Commercial club," stated Hammond, with a worried air, "but no one seems to take an active hold of the problem. We've even urged it as a club measure and might have done something in that way if the Business Men's club had joined us in the movement."

"Is that club still retarding progress in Prize City?" inquired Wallingford, remembering Hammond's bitter partisanship.

"Still blocking the way." And a frown of anger this time condensed Hammond's creases.

"Such a condition is fatal to advancement," announced Wallingford sympathetically, and he arose. "Well, I must trot on over to the Broadway National." He picked up the photograph on the desk and examined it anew, with admiration fairly radiating from his big pink face. "By George, that's a handsome boy!" he exclaimed.

"That's bad," declared Wallingford.

Mr. Hammond reached for his hat. "I think I have time to go over to the bank with you and introduce you to the president," he said.

On Friday Mr. Hammond, by his right as a stockholder, learned that Mr. Wallingford's check had proved thoroughly good and that the stranger now had 75,000 regular dollars in the Broadway National, so that night, which was the club's official social evening, he made Mr. Wallingford his guest at the Commercial club and gave him a two weeks' card, which privileged him to come up to the rooms whenever he chose and buy whatever he liked and pay cash for it.

On the way up to the club Mr. Hammond stopped in at a grocery store and bought a pound of sugar and a jovial wink for $1.50. He explained this purchase up in the club, in a little room full of lockers.

"You see, we don't have a bar in the Commercial club, on account of the strong temperance element in this town," he stated, as he took a self pulling corkscrew from its nail by the door, "and we have a strict bylaw which says that no liquors shall be brought into the rooms, so we all bring in sugar, or tea, or coffee, or whatever we like," and with a juvenile grin that struggled oddly with his perpetually creased forehead, he opened his package of sugar and drew the cork, whereupon he offered Wallingford a water glass to drink from.

Two other gentlemen, hatless and coatless, and with billiard sticks in their hands, walked into the grocery room, one of them laughing and the other one trying to laugh. The one who was trying to laugh took a key from his pocket, opened his locker and produced a bottle, holding it sadly up to the light.

"Third straight chocolate drop Lybarger's lost tonight, Hammond," explained the laughing one.

Mr. Woods and Mr. Lybarger, the former a fat young man with an intricately veined face, and the latter a phenomenally lean man with painfully lark hair and complexion, were pleased to welcome the eastern capitalist into their midst and Mr. Hammond, under cover of the noise of the running water at the sink, where goblets were rinsed, informed fat Mr. Woods:

"Has seventy-five thousand in the Broadway National, real money?"

"Mr. Wallingford," invited Mr. Woods hastily, "won't you try some of my chewing gum?" And he produced a bottle from his own locker. "This is some very special chewing gum. Friend of mine in Kentucky sent it to me. Twenty-five years old."

Others came in, and Wallingford was introduced to them, and they conducted him hospitably to the reading room. By the time he had sat in his chair every man in the Commercial club knew that he had $75,000 on deposit at the Broadway National! He could hear them telling it to one another, and he enjoyed himself very much.

Mr. Hammond was very proud of his friend Wallingford as the evening wore on. He was a good story teller, and he looked so jovial that by the time he had told three or four good ones his auditors laughed every time he said anything at all. Finally, hoary headed Dan Blessus, who ran a furniture factory on the profit sharing plan, with a daily chapel attachment, and obtained the manufacture of his output cheaper than any of his competitors, asked Wallingford the question that had been sprouting at the root of every man's tongue for the last half hour.

"If it were not presuming too far," he suggested, "I'd like to ask you what your own line might be, but I'm afraid to do so."

"I'll save you the embarrassment of asking," returned Wallingford cheerfully. "I am an industrial physician."

"And surgeon?" inquired fat little Woods, whose sense of the ridiculous was far keener than his sense of propriety.

There was a laugh upon this, and Wallingford laughed the loudest; then he slipped quite naturally back into the serious conversation upon which he had started.

"Aside from the fancy language," he stated, "I have made it my work to find the commercial needs of one city after another. I study each case as carefully as if I were a physician or an engineer. Sometimes I find that a city has undeveloped natural resources, such as a bed of suitable clay for making pottery. In that case I would promote a pottery, finance it, even invest my own money if necessary, put it upon a paying basis, sell out my interest, including the modest amount of stock given me for my services in promotion, and go elsewhere. Every city is more or less commercially incomplete and has one crying need."

The next question was so natural that six people asked it at once. "What does Prize City need?" they chorused.

"An amusement park," replied Wallingford promptly.

He was told that the Commercial club had often talked this over.

"That's where you need me," Wallingford laughingly informed them. "You do nothing but talk, largely because you're absorbed in your own business affairs. People need amusement more than they need anything else. What amusement do you give them in the summer? I'll tell you. On Saturday nights you let them come down and walk around and around Monument square and when their legs get tired they can carry the children home. It's no wonder they go to Riverton and Capitalia to ride on the roller coasters, as our friend Hammond puts it. Incidentally, while they're there, they buy dry goods, clothing, groceries, shoes and millinery. You must reverse those conditions.

"Now is the time for action," he said. "Let us make this a private enterprise on a good, sound, sensible basis, but under Commercial club auspices. Somebody appoint a chairman and let's organize."

With tumultuous fervor they nominated J. Rufus Wallingford, but he firmly declined the offer and put his happy friend, Hammond, in the chair.

Before the meeting broke up the Prize City Amusement Park company had been fully organized, a committee had been appointed to go out with Wallingford and inspect Dad Thompson's farm, with its brook fed lake, its wooded terraces, its natural amphitheater and its providentially arranged campus, and the entire $150,000 worth of stock had been subscribed, including Mr. Wallingford's modest but adequate 20 per cent for promotion. If they could have found Dad Thompson that night they would have bought his farm, but Dad, they discovered, had gone to Pringleville.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Some Cookery Suggestions

CARROTS FOR HEALTH.

DINNER MENU.
Baked Macaroni With Peanut Butter.
French Carrots. Green Onions.
String Bean Salad.
Raspberry Ice. White Cake.
Coffee.

IN the summer, when complexions are an important consideration to women, they should bear in mind that a liberal diet of carrots will do much to clear these and make them attractive.

Parisian Recipes.

French Carrots.—Cut into thin rounds one pound of small carrots and boil them until tender in sufficient water to cover. Add an ounce of cornstarch mixed with half a pint of milk, a little chopped parsley, half an ounce of butter, pepper and salt to taste. Bring all to the boil and serve hot.

Carrots Maitre d'Hotel.—Scrape small sized carrots, cut in half lengthwise and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain, drop in a saucepan with a tablespoonful of minced parsley, the juice of one lemon and a dash of peppers. A little sugar may be added if liked. Toss lightly over the fire, pour into a hot dish and serve.

An Attractive Method.

Spinach In Carrot Cups.—Cut medium sized carrots to form cups, then scrape. Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain, fill with leftover spinach reheated in a little cream and serve hot. Each carrot cup may be placed on a triangle shaped piece of thin buttered toast and gravy or cream sauce heated to boiling point poured around each when serving.

Creamed Carrots and Potatoes.—This is a use for leftover potatoes and carrots. Allow to three cupfuls cooked, diced potatoes, a cupful of finely diced boiled carrots, mix lightly together and put in a double boiler. Pour over these one and a third cupfuls of smooth, highly seasoned white sauce, to which has been added two teaspoonfuls of onion juice and the same of finely minced parsley. Let heat until steaming, turn out carefully not to crush the vegetables and serve very hot.

Wholesome Hash.

Hashed Carrots.—Scrub, scrape and wash three good sized carrots. Chop them fine, put them in a kettle with a teaspoonful of sugar, one pint of boiling stock and a teaspoonful of chopped onion. Simmer gently until tender, then add half a teaspoonful of salt, one saltspoonful of white pepper and one tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Simmer one or two minutes longer, then add the juice of half a lemon. Pile on a round vegetable platter or in a shallow, open dish. Garnish with buttered toasted bread strips or toast triangles. Serve hot.

They Get Excited When They Play.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Toads' Game and Nightly Supper.

JACK and Evelyn had been at a children's party that afternoon and were very tired.

"We played prisoner's base, and you know that is a very hard game," said Evelyn, "though it is such fun, and we love to play it, almost better than any other game."

"You should have seen the toads in the garden the other evening play that," said daddy. "It seems that they play that game every evening just after the sun goes down.

"They have the same sides, and they are very evenly matched, for they never can tell which side is going to win at all. It all depends on whether every single toad is running, or, I should say, hopping, just as fast and far as he can.

"They always get most frightfully out of breath when they play this game, but that they don't mind in the slightest degree. They say that it is quite worth getting breathless and tired for, very much the way you feel about it, I think, Evelyn.

"They get excited when they play, for they often hop so far that they lose their balances and fall over.

"One night, just a very little while ago, they had been playing prisoner's base for some time when one of the little toads fell over and really hurt himself quite badly.

"In order to comfort him the other toads set to work and made a delicious salad and told him it was all in his honor.

"That made him very happy, and they all joked to make him forget about himself. Soon he was laughing harder than any of them and felt quite himself again.

"But as he smacked his lips over the fine salad he said:

"'Let's have this every evening. We will all take turns to make it, and I am sure we all really need it after our game of prisoner's base.'

"The toads thought that was a splendid idea and congratulated him upon thinking of it.

"He was very modest when they told him they thought it was such a good suggestion and replied:

"'Well, you see, you all thought of it in the first place.'

"'We never would have thought of it,' they replied, 'if you hadn't fallen and hurt yourself, so we even owe that to you.'

"'Well, I must confess,' continued the little toad, 'that I do like good things to eat.'

"'We all do,' they all shouted; 'a fine idea. We will do it every night, and we thank you, little toad, for at least starting the fashion.'"

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

How will having a vote benefit the working woman?

How will having a vote protect the working girl, and from what?

These are two questions I would very much like to see answered explicitly. A delegation of working women suffragists visited the White House last winter, and we are told moved him almost to tears, but nothing was said of what reform was to be accomplished by this earnestly sought-for vote.

I asked the question in a suffrage State, but gained no information. At an educational meeting in the capital of this same State a lecturer deprecated the bringing forward of the equalizing of men's and women's salaries.

"They have done it in New York," he said, "and in my opinion the cause of education has suffered." Women's wages are no higher in the suffrage States than in those where only men vote. Every thinking person knows that the vote cannot influence wages.

I was at a small suffrage meeting at which a man who is working for the betterment of conditions in New York was the speaker. After giving a description of bad conditions and some of the things that should be done to better them, he closed by saying, "The connection between these conditions and the need of votes for women is obvious." Now I honestly could not and do not yet see the connection. The Woman's Municipal League, which has many active anti-suffragist members, is doing valiant and successful work in civic betterment. Tenement house labor, one of the crying evils of city life, needs no new laws, no votes to destroy it. Jacob Riis (who himself was in favor of woman suffrage) was explicit on this subject, not only here in his lecture before the Monday Afternoon Club, but also in an article published in the November Century.

"Demand the label of the Consumers' League on the Trade Union label, and tenement house labor will disappear automatically." As to the minimum wage, the first official discussion of that was started in Massachusetts, a non-suffrage State.

The last number of the Child Labor Bulletin devotes some space to the question of European methods of training inspectors and gives some facts relating to the requirements for inspectors in this country. I quote a few:

California.—Civil Service Commission has given no examination yet for factory inspectors.

Colorado.—Civil Service Commission has given no examination yet for factory inspectors.

Connecticut.—Since Civil Service law was passed in 1913, three men and one woman added to inspection force, all experienced in some trade.

Kansas.—Woman factory inspector must have had two years' actual experience.

Illinois.—Factory inspection appointments removed from civil service. Now made by Governor and confirmed by Senate, hence infected with politics. The inspectors must qualify as experts on machinery, exhaust systems, suction fans, structural work, etc.

Indiana.—Inspectors must have ten years' experience according to law.

Massachusetts.—One examination for health inspectors since establishment of State Board of Labor and Industries.

New Jersey—

1. General test for quickness of intelligence, breadth of view, personal point of view on work.

2. Written report on inspection of plant and recommendation.

3. Practical arithmetic.

4. Duties and physical examination. Technical questions for fire inspector, for blower inspector, for structural iron expert, for electrical inspector, rigid.

Now I can see how inspectors chosen under such a law could do much in aiding and protecting the working man as well as the working women, but it has not been votes, even men's votes, that has placed such a law on the statute book. It is the awakening of public opinion and that is indeed the duty of women quite as much as of men.

I repeat, how do the suffragists propose to use the vote for bettering the condition of the working girl, and how and from what will the vote protect her?

In a recent column on "Votes for Women," a writer reminds us that Dr. Davis and many other woman who has rendered efficient service are suffragists and feel that they could do their work better and more easily if they had the ballot, and urges that, having done such work the workers must know best what civil rights they need. Well, in the first place, for every name of a successful and earnest woman worker in the public service, who demands the vote, women can be named who feel that it would be a hindrance. Dorothea Dix, who was the Jane Addams of her time, was violently opposed to the idea of Woman's Suffrage. Miss Mabel Boardman feels it would be a handrance, etc., etc.

But apart from this, it by no means follows that because a person does wonderful work, that he or she is always the best judge of unemployed means. Sir Joshua Reynolds was, we all admit, a master in his art, but not content with the colors he had successfully tried, he reached out for new and untried ones, and the work of his later years has suffered so in consequence that some of it is almost beyond recovery.

A famous musician (I cannot at this moment recall Schuman or Schubert) in his zeal for a finer performance, had an operation performed on that troublesome third finger. Every pianist knows how difficult it is to get the full use of that most troublesome finger; but the result was that his command over his whole hand was destroyed. I am afraid we would find the possession of the vote would have a good deal of the same effect in woman's work for the State.

Meanwhile, I have just read that the latest addition to the Wage-Earners' Anti-Suffrage League is Mrs. T. S. Brown, recently elected a member of the Board of Trade, Westfield, N. Y., and here is a clipping from the New York Times for July 5:

WOMEN MAY RUN NEW BUREAU.

Will Be Admitted to Examination for State Employment office.

Albany, July 9.—Upon the application of State Labor Commissioner James M. Lynch, the State Civil Service Commission has arranged for an examination for women candidates for the important posts in the new bureau of employment of the State Labor Department.

An examination, open to women only, has been set for July 25 for the positions of director and superintendents. The State Department of Labor has announced that in the matter of appointments ability and not sex will determine the selection of the persons who are to administer the affairs of the employment bureau.

Just as soon as the State Civil Service Commission submits to him the list of eligible women candidates after the examination on July 25, Commissioner Lynch will pick a director and nine superintendents, the latter to be placed in charge of the branch offices of the employment bureau, which will be located in the larger cities of New York.

It cannot be too often nor too forcibly repeated that education, philanthropy and social service should be as far as possible kept out of politics. The surest way of doing this is to leave the women free to serve, unhampered by the vote.

ELIZABETH B. SYKES.

By Alice Gibson.

Most of the trimming on the frock this season is confined to the skirt. Many of the blouses are absolutely plain. No skirt, unless it be strictly for sport or out-of-door wear, but has a ruffle, puff or tunic about the hips. This design, 8204, is a draped model, it can be suitably made up in any of the soft silks or light weight woolens. As taffeta is so popular this season, an excellent suggestion for this design is black or dark blue taffeta; combined with an attractive blouse of chiffon, net or organdy, it would prove a most becoming afternoon frock. It requires for size 24, 2⅞ yards of 42-inch material. Taffeta is wide, averaging 38 to 45 inches. In price it ranges from $1.25 per yard and up.

This skirt comes in five sizes, 22 to 30.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, passing tape tightly around the smallest part of the waist and loosely around the widest part of the hips.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

GARRISON'S NIECE LOSES HER SUIT

SENT OUT OF COURTROOM

Daughter of State Supreme Court Justice Garrison Declares She Did Cooking—Three Children and She Causes New York Tenement Wives to Stare at Their Good Clothing.

New York, July 18.—Mrs. Geraldine Curr, a handsome woman of about thirty years, daughter of Justice Garrison of the New Jersey supreme court and niece of Secretary of War Garrison, went to the domestic relations court on East Fifty-seventh street to prove that her husband, John Curr, was "stingy," but after she had told her story was sent away.

Mrs. Curr went to court with her three children, a boy of ten years and two girls, one nine and the other five years old. They sat among the shabby wives of the poor, some of them black, while Mrs. Curr wanted to be heard. The good clothing of Mrs. Curr and children caused the wives from the tenements to stare.

"My husband doesn't support me as he ought to with the income he receives," said Mrs. Curr when her case was called.

"How much does he give you?" asked Magistrate Cornell.

He gives me $1 a day for food for the family. We have a furnished room at 736 Eighth avenue, which he pays for. I do the cooking. He gives me the dollar each day. That has occurred for several days now and has led me to enter this protest. He has an income of $200 a month, I am sure. He gets a check for $100 from his father out in Colorado every month."

TYPHOID VICTIM DIES.

Girl Had Visited St. Mary's Asylum. Forty-six Cases Now.

Newark, N. J., July 18.—The typhoid fever epidemic at St. Mary's Orphan asylum in this city claimed its first death when Miss Anna Wallace of 769 Jefferson avenue, Brooklyn, cousin of the Rev. Henry G. Coyne, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart in the Vailsburgh section, died in St. Mary's hospital, Orange. She contracted the disease early in June while on a visit to Father Coyne's sister.

Miss Wallace was fond of milk and drank much of it while here. The milk at the rectory came from the herd of cows maintained at the asylum. Typhoid bacilli were found in the milk this week.

Ten more cases of typhoid at the asylum were reported today to the board of health, bringing the total number of cases up to forty-six. The new cases were removed to the City hospital.

ASK POWER CO. RECEIVER.

International Corporation Stockholders Start Court Action.

Trenton, N. J., July 18.—On application of Henry W. Bull and others of New York, Chancellor Walker signed an order returnable July 28 to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for the International Power company, an $8,000,000 corporation. Mr. Bull and his associates have charged that the company, which is headed by Joseph H. Hoadley, has been mismanaged and that excessive salaries have been paid to the officers of the company.

The complainants also charge that the company has not made a statement of conditions for many years and has ignored all court orders to show its books.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Struck by Bolt While In Shed—Two Brothers Are Stunned.

Trenton, N. J., July 18.—Jacob Reitzinger, twenty-eight years old, was killed by lightning while sitting in a frame shed along the Pennsylvania railroad near Cadwalader park. His brothers, Louis and Richard Ford, who were with him, were stunned by the same bolt, but recovered after being taken to Mercer hospital.

The storm was particularly severe and in the vicinity of Lawrenceville was accompanied by a rain fall almost unprecedented hereabouts.

KITE DRAGS BOY TO DEATH.

Pulls Him From Roof—He Falls Five Stories.

Jersey City, N. J., July 18.—While flying a large kite from the roof of his home at 350 York street twelve-year-old Harry Gercks was pulled over the edge of an areaway and fell five stories to a concrete court. He was killed instantly.

The boy ventured to the edge of the areaway just as the kite was caught by the wind. He was pulled over the edge before he could brace himself.

MRS. CARMAN IS FREED ON BAIL

Freeport Woman Released on $20,000 Bond.

MAY NOW ARREST A MAN

Accused Woman Still May Be Indicted on a Murder Charge, as District Attorney Smith Has Gathered New Evidence—Finally Breaks Down.

Mineola, N. Y., July 18.—Florence Carman, indicted for the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, was released on $20,000 bail within fifteen minutes after the indictment had been presented against her.

The indictment was handed to Justice Van Siclen in the supreme court at 2:25 o'clock. Mrs. Carman, through her counsel, pleaded "Not guilty." A motion for her release on bail was made, and the district attorney announced that he would be satisfied with $20,000 security.

Bondsmen were already there ready to sign the bond. Everything had been so arranged so only their signatures were required. A few strokes of their pen and Mrs. Carman was free.

As the accused woman left the courtroom, however, it was with the knowledge that the district attorney had found new evidence against her on which he would probably ask for her reindictment before another grand jury and that he would insist that this indictment be for murder in the first degree.

About the time that Mrs. Carman was released District Attorney Smith said that he was keeping a watch on a man who might be found to be an accessory after the shooting. Mr. Smith said:

"I will say frankly that we are investigating others besides the defendant in this case, and if we find sufficient evidence against any one as accessory after the fact we shall cause the arrest of that person immediately."

Grand Jurors Arrive.

With the arrival of the justice the grand jury, headed by District Attorney Lewis J. Smith and the foreman, Raymond Cheshire of Syosset, entered the courtroom. As they filed into their places they seemed a solemn lot. Samuel C. Ransom, the court clerk, asked if there was any presentment to offer, and the foreman handed up the indictment to Justice Van Siclen.

At this moment Mrs. Carman was brought into the courtroom. She and her husband, Dr. Edwin Carman, had been waiting with the sheriff in a room outside. Dr. Carman walked with his wife to the railing and then left her.

As she entered the court Mrs. Carman showed that she had lost none of the composure and nerve that have characterized her all through the trying scenes of the case. She moved down the aisle of the courtroom with a stately step, looking neither to the right nor the left. It was the first time that she had appeared in public without her eyeglasses and the absence of them seemed to improve her good looks, if anything.

Mrs. Carman was dressed in a white dress, which was decorated with big red buttons. She wore a small black hat trimmed with white. In dress and in bearing she seemed the coolest and most serene person in the courtroom.

As she appeared before the railing her counsel, George M. Levy, sitting in front of her at the table with District Attorney Smith, Justice Van Sicklen said:

"You are charged with manslaughter in the first degree. How do you plead—guilty or not guilty?"

Mrs. Carman looked at her attorney, who rose and said:

"I plead not guilty on behalf of the defendant with the understanding that within two weeks I may withdraw the plea of not guilty and file a demurrer and a motion to quash the indictment on the ground of insufficient evidence."

The justice nodded and then Mr. Levy made a motion that his client be admitted to bail. District Attorney Smith said that he would require a bond for $20,000. Already in the justice's chambers Ernest T. Randall and Smith Cox of Freeport were waiting to sign the bond that had been already prepared.

As Mrs. Carman was taken from the courtroom into the justice's chambers, where she too had to affix her signature to the bail bond, it was seen that her iron nerve was breaking. Her face was as white as her immaculate skirt and her lips were compressed as though she was holding herself together with an effort. Once inside the chamber she broke down utterly.

BRYAN ON CIRCUIT AGAIN.

He Will Make Selected Speeches in Pennsylvania.

Washington, July 18.—Secretary Bryan left Washington for his customary week end among the Chautauquans, to whose entertainment he will lend variety by delivering selected speeches. The secretary went first to Wayensboro, Pa., and he will be heard at Gettysburg.

It was on the Pennsylvania circuit that Mr. Bryan gained fame last year through the efforts of an enterprising manager who announced in bulletins that Mr. Bryan would divide stage doors with yodelers, singers and other performers.

"Life Insurance ought to be universal. No married man, who has not a fortune, has any business to be without it"

The writer might have gone further and said that even men of wealth recognize the necessity and importance of insuring their lives and carry Life Insurance in large amounts.

How much more important for the man in average circumstances.

AUTO PARADE TO PRECEDE CONCERT

Weekly Entertainments in West End to Be Inaugurated in Auspicious Manner.

SPECIAL CAR SERVICE

The Association Completes Plans for Amusement of People—Prominent Artists Will Be An Added Attraction Each Week.

Arrangements for the series of band concerts to be given each Friday for the remainder of the summer under the auspices of the West End Civic Association, are now complete. Not only will these concerts prove a delightful innovation for the residents of the West End, but to those living in all sections of the city, as well, for special and adequate street car service on these occasions will make the grounds on which they are to be given easily accessible by every car line in the city.

The committee is having constructed a band stand and ample seats. The concerts are to be given on a big terraced lot, closely adjacent to Vail's Grove, and located on Monroe avenue between West Fifth and West Sixth streets. The lot covers an entire city block which will preclude any opportunity for congestion or discomfort to those who are seeking an evening's enjoyment in the realm of harmony. It also provides ample parking space for automobiles and carriages. The West Fourth street cars will land its passengers at the entrance to the park, while the West Second street line is but two or three blocks away. Free transfers at all transfer points will make it possible for those coming from any direction to ride direct to the park. Passengers from Westfield and Dunellen can ride from their home direct to the park for one fare—five cents—with the concert included.

The committee purposes to inaugurate the concerts this coming Friday evening with a big parade just prior to the concert proper. The Dutch Arms Band, which is to supply the music, will be seated in a big float and parade the principal streets of the West End, while all those interested in the movement will follow in automobiles.

So far about fifteen cars have been offered to the association and it is hoped that twice this number, or even more, will be forthcoming. Members of the association, as well as the owners and friends of those volunteering their automobiles, will parade about the West End and in this way give residents of that section the most striking illustration of what this wideawake body is doing for the section of the city whose interests it seeks to safeguard.

Nearly every member of the association has taken upon his shoulders some portion of the work looking to make these concerts an annual fixture. Before the summer has waned it is believed that a number of vocalists from New York city will be brought here so that the weekly programs can be so arranged as to include singers presenting its newest, latest and most popular song hits. The Dutch Arms Band is to appear in uniform at each of the concerts and in this band there are forty-two artists, thereby insuring all lovers of music a treat they have never been able to enjoy so close to home before. It is the purpose of the committee to make these concerts just as popular for those living in the extreme East End of the city as for those in whose midst the affairs are staged. Refreshments of all sorts will be served on the grounds at moderate prices.

MISS EVELYN E. COOTE WEDS GEORGE JOHN VOGT

Miss Evelyn E. Coote, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coote, of Piscataway, and George John Vogt, of the Borough of Middlesex, were quietly married Saturday evening at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, on Central avenue.

The couple was accompanied by Miss Beatrice Coote, a sister of the bride, and Martin E. Vogt, a brother of the groom. After a short trip the couple will reside in the Borough of Middlesex, where Mr. Vogt is engaged in business as a carpenter.

CHRISTIAN C. YORK.

Christian C. York, aged twenty-five years, a nephew of George York, sergeant-at-arms of the local District Court, died this morning at his home. The young man had frequently visited in this city, where he had many friends. He was employed as chief machinist on the Battleship Massachusetts for some time, previous to which he held a similar position on the Battleship Mississippi.

PLAN ANNUAL FETE AS OPEN-AIR EVENT

Oak Tree Residents Make Elaborate Preparations for Reception.

Residents of Oak Tree have decided to hold the summer carnival this year on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, August 26 and 27. This carnival has been in other years a notable event for that neighborhood and promises to be a still greater success this year. It is held under the auspices of the Marconnier Reformed church and for its benefit.

To insure the best financial results nine committees were selected by the congregation at a meeting held on July 18. These committees will have full charge of the preparations for the carnival. Moving pictures will be exhibited in the church on both evenings. A score of booths will be erected on the church grounds for the purpose of serving refreshments and selling serviceable and fancy articles. The grounds will be covered with a large canopy which will shelter amusements similar to those at the seashore resorts that will furnish entertainment to old and young. Electric lights will be strung among the trees and music will be furnished continuously by a band.

Arrangements will be made with the Plainfield Transit Company to furnish transportation to Oak Tree on these evenings from this city.

"EMPTY GUN" KILLS FELLOW COUNTRYMAN

Although he claims that a gun he was cleaning was accidentally discharged in Bound Brook, Saturday afternoon, causing the death of Joseph Perrons, thirty-eight years old, of 302 Oak street, New Haven, Conn., John J. Danehy, thirty-five years old, of 36 Church street, Boston, Mass., is being held a prisoner in the Somerset county jail at Somerville, charged with murder. The shooting occurred in a work car on the railroad siding and a number of Italians were present at the time the victim was killed with a shot in the breast.

According to the prisoner he was examining a gun he was about to exchange for his own and he claims that he did not know it was loaded. In this he is corroborated by two other Italians who are being held prisoners in the Somerville jail as material witnesses. The weapon went off and the bullet struck Perrons in the left breast just over the heart, puncturing the lung and killing him almost instantly.

Perrons and another Italian were seated on the same bench in the car when Danehy entered and the latter was willing to make a suggested exchange of weapons with the stranger. The police have as yet been unable to locate the strange Italian who is thought to have had some part in the planning of the alleged murder.

This is the fifth murder recorded in Somerset county within the last few months and all of the victims have been foreigners. Although the prisoner claims he is innocent and that the shooting was entirely accidental the police are of the opinion that it was of the premeditated nature and efforts are being made to draw a confession from him.

MRS. JOSEPHINE R. POPE DIES IN HER 53D YEAR

Mrs. Josephine Randolph Pope, aged 53 years, widow of Simeon Randolph Pope, died Saturday night, at her home on North avenue, following an illness of about a year, during which time she was an invalid. Mrs. Pope was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Fitz Randolph. She was born and always lived in Plainfield. She was a member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, being a regular attendant until her health prevented. Mrs. Pope made her home with a widowed sister, Mrs. Isabella Pope, the two women having married brothers.

There survives two sons, Clarence R. and Chester A. Pope; a daughter, Mrs. Louis A. Clements; a sister, Mrs. Isabella Pope, and a brother, Charles Randolph, all of Plainfield. The funeral will be held at 8 o'clock this evening, at the late home. Rev. Edwin Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, will officiate, and the burial will take place tomorrow in Hillside cemetery.

—Among the splendid fresh fruits which will be found at Neuman Brothers' Watchung avenue market tomorrow will be currants, gooseberries, red and black raspberries, blackberries, huckleberries, pineapples, peaches, Bartlett pears and plums.—Adv. ***

PUT IT UP TO PARTY LEADERS

Plainfield Democrats "Speak Out" at County Committee Meeting.

FAIL TO "HARMONIZE"

Local Members of Committee Say They Are Tired of Being Fooled—Plan to Fight What They Term "Boss Rule."

That all is not harmony these days among the Democrats of Union county, especially those of this city and Elizabeth, is confirmed by the reports which have come to Plainfield following the meeting of the county committee at Elizabeth last Friday night. The Plainfielders openly declared that if the ticket is defeated this fall it will be charged directly to the party leaders, and there seemed to be plenty of evidence that there was a lack of confidence in those personages. The reason for all the discontent appears to be that those who govern the party's destinies in the county have failed to remain loyal to Democratic principles. There has been no attempt to conceal this condition of affairs and it is said that the Plainfielders "spoke right out in meeting" Friday night. Efforts were made to "harmonize" but without success.

One Plainfield member of the committee is said to have told his Elizabeth colleagues that neither he nor his fellow-members from this end of the county proposed to be fooled any longer. Promises had been made time and again, but never kept. There seemed to be a disposition on the part of some of the Elizabeth members to place the responsibility in the coming campaign upon the party workers, but the majority is said to have resented such action, preferring that the leaders should assume this work and abide by the consequences.

One of the members, in discussing the situation yesterday, said, that Elizabeth has, as usual, plenty of candidates for every office, the "grab-all" policy continuing to be very popular at the county seat. This sort of thing has apparently a tendency to cause a break in the party ranks. At a conference of local Democrats a little more than a week ago, it was agreed to oppose what was termed "boss rule," pledging support to such candidates as would stand loyal to Democratic principles and make a fair distribution of patronage. Party leaders have, it is claimed, ignored the claims of aspirants for appointive offices and thus caused a bitter feeling which is quite likely to disrupt the party.

It is not denied by some Democrats that the prospect for Republican success this fall is bright and they are willing to admit that the action of party leaders is solely to blame, and for that reason they do not want to have any of the criticism directed at them if the Democratic ticket should fail at the November election. Just at present the dissenting members seem to be so dissatisfied over the political situation that the work of bringing about harmony appears to be a hopeless task.

MAY PICK ANOTHER BORO SCHOOL SITE

Original Tract is Said to Be Springy and Not Suited For Building.

There is a possibility that the borough school authorities may find it necessary to select another site for the proposed new school in North Plainfield, owing to the fact that the one previously chosen on Harrison avenue is said to be full of springs and not well calculated for a solid foundation. The borough authorities were authorized to buy the tract on Harrison avenue, but an investigation has disclosed a springy condition.

Several citizens in the borough have suggested that, as long as the deed for the property has not been passed, it would be advisable for the Board to have another meeting and take steps to secure another site. The 100x200 foot tract at Harrison avenue and Walnut street, considered as an alternate site, might be obtained for less money and is said to possess the advantage of being about ten feet higher than the original site. Inasmuch as the property has not been purchased nor the school building plans approved, it has been suggested as wise to consider the matter further.

Ritz Cabaret Wednesday.

The great popularity of the Friday cabaret at The Ritz has decided the management to engage Profs. Doyle and McCormack for Wednesday also, when there will be dancing from 8 to 11 p. m. for patrons of The Ritz.—Adv. ***

MARTIN AND WICHT ROUND UP SPEEDERS

Six Fall Victims to Motorcycle Cops on Their Initial Crusade.

Motorcycle Patrolman Roy Martin and Patrolman Charles Wicht rounded up six violators of the motor vehicles law within the city limits yesterday afternoon, and when arraigned in court this morning the offenders paid fines aggregating a sum of $30 and two received suspended sentences with reprimands. Since the motorcycle has come into the department Martin has been detailed to run down the speeders and yesterday's batch was his first harvest. All were "hitting the road" at a wreckless clip, it is said, and when confronted by the figures registered on the department vehicle's speedometer no alibi could be offered. All were found guilty of the charges preferred against them by Martin and Wicht and although the offenses were not flagrant ones the court took occasion to make examples of those against whom the more serious complaints had been made.

Herbert Johnson, of Park avenue, was apprehended while driving a truck through the business section at a twenty mile an hour gait and it cost him $10 to gain his liberty this morning. Several witnesses were produced in the case against Johnson and his offense called forth a severe reprimand by the court.

Joseph Herbert, of Perth Amboy, and a companion were caught racing along Park avenue, near Evergreen avenue, at a speed estimated to have been about twenty-five miles an hour. The two riders had motorcycles and although Herbert stopped at the officer's signal his companion went right on. The defendant admitted his guilt and paid a fine of $10. The name of the motorist who refused to stop is in the hands of the police and a warrant will be served on him.

Jack Hegeman, a local car driver, was arraigned on a speeding charge and paid a fine of $10.

Following complaints made to Chief Kiely by Park avenue residents regarding the habit of automobilists running cars with a dense cloud of smoke issuing from the rear, two offenders were stopped and ordered to court this morning. The police head is determined to put a stop to this annoyance and has instructed his men to keep a vigil outlook for law violators. Warren J. Wopp and George Constadly were arraigned on the latter charge and were allowed to go on suspended sentences. The offense in either case was not of the flagrant variety.

ANDREW R. FREEMAN DIES IN 72D YEAR

Veteran Letter-carrier of Newark Passes Away at Daughter's Home.

Andrew R. Freeman, aged seventy-two years, for thirty-three years employed as a letter-carrier in Newark, died Saturday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. DeWitt Fulton, on Lane street, New Market, where he had been ill with Brights disease and complications since May 25 last. It had been his custom to spend the week-end with his daughter, and it was while on one of these visits that he was stricken with his last illness.

Mr. Freeman was a resident of Newark practically all his life, and had he been permitted to serve awhile longer would have been pensioned by the government. He was highly respected among his fellow-employes in the Newark postoffice.

There survives two daughters, Mrs. Fulton and Mrs. H. C. Stockbower, of Huntington, L. I. The funeral will be held at the home of Mrs. Fulton at 8 o'clock this evening, Rev. Dr. T. E. Vassar, of the Baptist church, officiating. The burial will be in Fairmount cemetery, Newark, tomorrow.

SELLS EXHIBITION FOWLS.

William J. Trembath, of Chatham street, the borough, has sold a number of fowls to John W. Crooks, of Latimer Mines, Pa., which will be exhibited at a number of the county fairs held throughout Pennsylvania during the summer and fall. This is the first lot of chickens that Mr. Trembath has disposed of this season.

MISS IDA G. BAYER.

Miss Ida G. Bayer, of Skillman, sister of George Bayer, agent at the Clinton Avenue railroad station, died yesterday in her fifty-ninth year. Aside from the brother in this city, Miss Bayer is survived by another brother, Edward T. Bayer, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y. The funeral today will be private, and the interment will be made in the family plot at Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

APPROVES GOV'T COMMISSION PLAN

Mayor Donnelly, of Trenton, Declares it to Be a Success in His City.

TELLS OF THE RESULTS

Says that a Hundred and One Improvements Have Been Made Without Increasing the Tax Rate—What Has Been Accomplished.

Following the declaration of John J. Carroll at the meeting of the West End Civic Association, last week "that Commission Form of Government in Trenton is a failure, and that that city is now raising one million dollars on bonds to pay the debts caused by the form of goverment." J. W. Harrison, of this city, an advocate of the new plan of city government, wrote to Mayor Frederick W. Donnelly, of Trenton, asking for information on that question, and in reply received the following self-explanatory letter on the subject:

"City of Trenton, New Jersey,
"Dept. of Public Affairs.
"June 16, 1914.

"Mr. J. W. Harrison,
"116 Madison avenue,
"Plainfield, N. J.

"Dear Sir:

"Your letter of the 11th inst. informing me of the prospective campaign that is to be launched in Plainfield for the Commission Form of Government, has been received. If you will overlook my temerity, I will suggest that the West End club enter wholeheartedly in the campaign that your Board of Trade is about to institute.

"Commission Government is no 'fly by night' scheme, rather it is the panacea for municipal evils. If men of average ability and sterling honesty are chosen to fill the different Commissionership the system will never fail. It is impossible for me, in letter form, to fully acquaint you with the success we have had in Trenton. Consequently, I am sending you under separate cover reports and other data that will convincingly remove any doubts that may exist in your mind as to the superiority of government by commission.

"I note the remark you credit to a resident of your city, 'The Commission Form of Government in Trenton is a failure and that Trenton is now raising one million dollars on bonds to pay the debts caused by that form of city government.' One portion of the quotation is correct. Trenton is about to issue one million dollars' worth of bonds. But the proceeds of these bonds will give to our citizens certain public improvements that the old political councils evaded for years and which eventually led to their dethronement. Such a remark is but one of the many brazen attempts that have been made to discredit business rule. The same attempts have been made in Trenton by disgruntled politicians, but all to no avail. Distortion, untruthfulness and misrepresentation are impotent weapons against commission government.

"This same citizen, I am sure, did not mention that Trenton reduced its bonded indebtedness; that our floating debt has been materially decreased; that the yearly municipal deficit, an important feature of the old system of government, has been entirely wiped out and that for the first time in the city's history it has been found unnecessary to borrow money in anticipation of taxes. Neither did he mention, I presume, that we have instituted a hundred and one public improvements without increasing the tax rate; and this in face of the fact that the old Common Council, during the last four years of their administration, negotiated an average yearly increase of .17 per one hundred dollars in our tax rate.

"If I am correct in my surmisal, he did not informatively express these facts; that our police and fire departments have been expanded, both numerically and in point of buildings and apparatus; that our park system has been augmented; that our river front has been developed; that many miles of new streets have been paved; that a new filtration plant has been erected; that a sewage disposal plant is in course of construction; that we are completing the last lap in the establishment of a municipal colony for our sick and infirm and that we have abolished all salaried administrative boards. These are but several of the many facts he did not give expression to.

"You will find by a close perusal of the data I am sending you that Trenton is making wonderful strides under its new charter. To my mind public opinion is the best and most powerful exemplification of the success or failure of any project. I know that I am strictly within the bounds of conservatism when I declare that 90 per cent. of our citizens are entirely satisfied with Trenton

THIS CAPTURE MAY CAUSE A SHAKE-UP

Officials May Be Called as Witnesses in Trial of Alleged Postoffice Thief.

On the suspicion of having robbed a postoffice in Armenia, Mass., Henry Degler, of New Brunswick, was picked up by the police of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Saturday, and his arrest culminates a long hunt for the prisoner who is wanted in this State. For some time Chief of Police Kiely and Federal Inspector Larabee, of this city, have been following clues that have now proven instrumental in running down the fugitive and when the Massachusetts authorities are finished with him he will be turned over to the State of New Jersey.

There is a well grounded rumor that certain city officials in this State have been instrumental in shielding Degley from the clutches of the law after his numerous alleged depredations in New Jersey, and if he is indicted and placed on trial here some startling revelations are promised. It is said that prominent officials are implicated in the evidence being prepared in the case and if the charges can be proven there will be a big shakeup in several of the departments. Degley is known to have been "in right" with several of the "big guns" and they are alleged to have kept him under cover when sought by the police and federal authorities.

DISORDERLY HOUSE RAIDED BY POLICE

Four Prisoners Taken Saturday Night and One is Sent to Jail.

Two men and two women were taken in a raid in an alleged disorderly house at 315 Cottage place Saturday night, the place having been under police surveillance for some time. A telephone call from a resident of that section brought Roundsman Saffron and Patrolman Martin Flatley to the scene shortly after 11 o'clock and when they arrived at the place they found a fracas in progress. Those arrested and held at police headquarters until this morning were Joseph Green, an old offender; Jacob Overland, an eighteen year old boy; Mrs. Dora Ackinson, the proprietress of the place, who was banished from Elizabeth on a similar charge, and Sarah Poland, her daughter.

It was brought out in court that the Ackinson woman and Green had been living together in the Cottage place house and previously on St. Mary's avenue for some time.

Green's bad police record was against him in his arraignment this morning and he was sent to the county jail for a term of sixty days. Green was arrested here several years ago for highway robbery. The Overland youth was a boarder in the place and was given a suspended sentence. Arrangements are now being made with the Charity Organization to take charge of the two women who are in a distitute condition and it is probable that they will be placed in some home.

MAN KILLED BY FAST TRAIN AT CROSSING

Elizabethport "Wanderer" Had Both Legs Cut Off and Died in the Hospital.

While crossing the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks at South Plainfield 3 o'clock Sunday morning, James Donavan, of Elizabethport, was hit by a flyer and had both legs cut off. The victim was hurried at all possible speed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where he lingered in agony until late yesterday afternoon. In a semi-conscious condition the man told the authorities at the institution where his wife could be located and she was notified, but arrived here too late to see her husband alive.

It is not known where Donavan was going when the fatality happened, and he gave out no information as to how he came to be in the path of the fast train. From the time he arrived at the hospital his life was despaired of as he had lost considerable blood enroute to the institution.

His brother, who lives in Elizabeth, came to Muhlenberg Hospital, last night, to claim the body and make the necessary arrangements for its removal to his home. According to the relative the dead man was known as the "black sheep" of the family and has led a reckless life since a boy. He is survived by his brother, a wife and three children. He was thirty-seven years old.

WILL NOT DROP TAX QUESTION

W. de LaR. Anderson So Informs Governor Fielder in Letter.

FORMER LETTER FOUND

Not Hearing From Township Committee State Executive Thought it Was Decided Not to Take Further Action.

Failing to hear from William de LaR. Anderson, of North Plainfield township, regarding the action of the Township Committee in reference to its criticism of the Somerset County Board of Taxation as to the assessment of property owned by Mt. St. Mary College, Governor James F. Fielder, on Friday, wrote Mr. Anderson the following letter:

"My dear Assemblyman:

"The resolution forwarded to me by the Township Committee of North Plainfield township, under date of June 13, concerning the taxation of Mt. St. Mary College, were mislaid, but have now been found and are in my hands. You wrote me, under date of June 26, when these resolutions were missing that you would forward me a copy of them. As the copy has not yet been received, it may be that your committee has decided to take no further action in the premises and I am, therefore, writing to ascertain from you whether or not you desire me to take this matter up.

"Sincerely yours,
"JAMES F. FIELDER,
"Governor."

July 17, 1914.

Replying to Governor Fielder, Mr. Anderson sent the following letter, which is self-explanatory:

"My dear Governor:

"Apparently the duplicate resolutions which were forwarded to you by our township clerk, according to your instructions to me have also been lost or mislaid. Could it be possible that the document which you have is the duplicate and not the original? I ask this as your office failed to acknowledge the receipt of the duplicate. The Township Committee has no intention of letting a matter pertaining to the proper administration of public office drop even if, after the misuse which has been made of your office by someone you would allow us to do so.

"Most respectfully yours,
"WILLIAM DE LA R. ANDERSON."

June 20, 1914.

MISS RODMAN PASSES AWAY AT FLUSHING

Was Sister of Late Dean Erskine M. Rodman, of This City.

Miss Elizabeth Harvey Rodman, sister of the late Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, for many years rector of Grace Episcopal church, this city, and Thomas H. Rodman, a former district attorney of Brooklyn, died Saturday at her home, 205 Madison avenue, Flushing, L. I., in her seventy-fourth year.

Miss Rodman had resded in Flushing for the past year, having previously lived for several years in Hereford, England. She was born in West Farms, being the daughter of Washington H. and Margaret Harvey Rodman. Her family was wealthy and she traveled extensively in various parts of Korea, removing to England about five years ago. She made her home with her niece, Miss Emma D. Rodman. Among the surviving relatives is a niece, Miss May Rodman, of this city.

"ARMED TO THE TEETH" HE DENIES BEING A FIGHTER

Armed with a razor and evidently looking for trouble, Lewis Augustine and a companion, Chris Comproller, were taken into custody in a house on Columbia avenue, last night, by Patrolman Martin Flatley. The two men were fighting in the house when arrested, according to the officer's statement, and evidences of the scrap were visible on Comproller's countenance this morning.

The men denied being in a fighting mood and could not explain the presence of the razor in such a handy place. Conflicting testimony was given by the defendants and the case was finally postponed for hearing tomorrow morning. Bail in each case was fixed at $25.

Mr. and Mrs. James O'Keefe, of West Fifth street, are parents of a boy. Mrs. O'Keefe was formerly Miss Anna Willis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter and daughter, of the township, are spending a few weeks at Asbury Park.

If people in the borough and township would notify the police when they are going away for a few weeks it would be a great help to not only the guardians of the law, but also might save the owner from returning to find his house broken into. It will be remembered that all of the recent burglaries have been where the houses have been empty. As most of the dwellings in this place are surrounded by trees, it is rather easy for any one to approach them without being seen and more so when the marshal makes no close inspection of each place, as he thinks it occupied when not told otherwise.

John Meggy, of North avenue, left this morning, for Manasquan, where he will camp with the Grace church choir, of Plainfield, for several weeks.

Somerville

Postmaster William E. Maxwell has been seriously ill for the past week at his home on West High street, but is now somewhat improved, and he will soon be around again.

Rural Carrier H. J. McAleavy had his annual vacation last week, and M. N. Porter, Jr., was substituting for him.

Miss Margaret McWilliam is with a camping party near Patchogue, L. I., where she is spending a few weeks.

Miss Ethel Runyon, of Plainfield, is spending some time in town with friends.

J. Edgar Griggs, exalted ruler of Somerville Lodge, No. 1068, B. P. O. E., was in Denver last week attending the annual Elks' convention. Mr. Griggs went with a special train with other New Jersey representatives, and will be gone about three weeks.

The funeral services of the late Peter Dow, who died suddenly at his home on Somerset street, Wednesday, was held at the house Saturday afternoon, the Rev. Roy Ewing Vale, pastor of the Second Reformed church, officiating. Interment was in the new cemetery, of which he had been the caretaker for many years.

Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Naylor are spending a week at Asbury Park.

Mrs. C. A. Cawley and daughter went to Ocean Grove, Saturday, to spend a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman F. Moosbrugger left Saturday for a fishing trip to Charleston Lake, Canada.

Abram A. Reger has been elected a trustee of the Somerville Dime Savings Bank in place of the late J. B. Losey.

The Rev. Robert H. Middleditch, of Westfield, preached at the First Baptist church yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. There was no evening service.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reimer are spending a few days at Asbury Park.

The Rev. Frank A. Smith, of Elizabeth, was a visitor in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon T. Stryker, of New York, were guests yesterday of the former's mother, on East High street.

The Somerville Athletic Association had a crowded attendance at the closing night of the carnival on Saturday, and every attraction was liberally patronized. The open-air dancing proved a popular diversion, and the floor was crowded with many dancers each time. The members of the club were ably assisted by the many young ladies who presided over the number of pretty booths. The carnival was well patronized almost right up to midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Garretson left on Saturday for a two weeks' visit at Sparrowsbush, N. Y.

Miss Mary McAleavy has been visiting at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Caverleey, of Hampton.

William H. Cawley has built an addition to his building adjoining the Dunster stables, on Division street, which was destroyed by the fire at the time the stables were burned.

Thieves broke into the residence of Tom Cohen, on the corner of Ross and Cliff streets, Saturday night, but were scared away before they succeeded in getting anything.

A motorcyclist going east about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, ran into an auto at the corner of Main and Grove streets, damaging the mudguard of the latter. The motorcyclist was on the wrong side of the street, and was to blame for the accident. Fortunately, no one was injured.

Jacob Breen has the contract for the erection of a large bakery and store on East Main street.

A new trolley switch has been placed on the line between this place and Bound Brook, just east of the Chimney Rock crossing. With the number of switches now along the line it is hoped that cars will be run soon under a fifteen-minute headway, especially during the rush hours.

Raritan

Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Roppelt are entertaining relatives from New York city.

Miss Josie M. Tobin has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Peter G. Cogley, at Roselle.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cassidy are visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. J. A. Moriarity, at Elmhurst, L. I.

The Raritan Civic Society was permanently organized at firemen's hall, Friday night, at which there was a large attendance. The temporary officers were made permanent, John F. Reger as president, and Ralph S. Young as secretary. John Purcell, George Leibold, Joseph Nevatto, George A. West, Fred Conklin, Miss Pearl Coleman and Mrs. J. Harvey Wyckoff were appointed as a committee to draw up suitable by-laws, and another meeting of the society will be held on July 31, when plans will be formulated for the betterment of the town.

Representatives from the State Fish and Game Commission came to this place on Saturday and took a number of German carp from the lakes at Duke's Park. This was done for the better protection of the other fish in the ponds.

Vincent Sisser, Edwin Reger, William Goellner and William Roppelt are camping at Loke Hopatcong this week.

Samuel Keiderling, of Plainfield, has been visiting Mrs. Amelia Young.

Dunellen & Vicinity

James Sheehan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sheehan, of Grove street, was arraigned before Recorder David S. Campbell in the borough hall, Saturday afternoon, on a warrant sworn out by Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Russ, who reside in the apartment of the house that the Sheehan's live in, alleging that young Sheehan assaulted their fifteen-year-old son, William, that morning. According to the testimony, Harry Sheehan, a younger brother of the defendant, was standing in his front yard and on the other side of the fence Willie was standing in his yard. Harry said something to Willie and the latter in turn made a reply. Whereupon Harry challenged Willie to fight. The invitation was accepted, both boys going out into the street. Willie put Harry down on his wack and was, according to the testimony of James, the defendant, prodding him with his knees when he arrived upon the scene. James, it is alleged, struck Willie several blows with his fists. In the judgment of the court, James had no right to do this and a fine of $5 was meted out to him. The fine was paid.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Morse, of New Market road, entertained Miss Violet Garda, of Fanwood, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Dayton, of Main street, entertained their son, Fred Dayton and family, of Clinton avenue, Plainfield, yesterday.

John Dineen, who is employed as a mechanic in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dineen, of Washington avenue, over the week-end.

A special meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church was held this afternoon in the Baraca class-room.

Miss Iva Dayton, of New Market road, is ill.

Leo Osborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Osborn, of Piscataway, who has charge of the trucking department of his father's farm, picked 500 ears of corn today. This is the first corn picked in this locality.

Mrs. Leslie D. Walker, of New Market road, continues to improve slowly.

C. Wesley Blaine, of Lincoln avenue, who has been ill with pneumonia, is now able to leave his bed a little while each day.

Dr. L. L. Hand, pastor of the Milltown Methodist Episcopal church spent Saturday afternoon with Tax Collector and Mrs. Isaac J. Stites. In addition to being an L.L. D., Mr. Hand is an M. D. as well, having practiced medicine fifteen years ago. He is also a past State councilor of the Jr. O. U. A. M.

Members of the Board of Trade are urged not to forget or neglect to attend the important meeting of that organization in the borough hall this evening.

An adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Common Council will be held in the upper room of the borough hall tomorrow evening.

Edward Gray, Jr., of First street, departed on Saturday night for New Haven, Conn., where he will enjoy a week's vacation with friends.

The Dodwell and Maurer tennis teams of the O. Z. T. Fraternity have challenged the Benson and Martin teams to a tennis match. The challenge has been accepted and the match will be played this coming Saturday afternoon on the new courts of the O. Z. T.'s at Madison avenue and Third street.

The Misses Jessie M. and Lilla R. Stites, of Dunellen avenue, were in Madison on Saturday afternoon and Sunday, where they attended the general conference district Epworth League convention.

Mrs. Katherine Schwartz, of Columbia street, departed for Geneva, Ohio, on Friday, where she has accepted a position as linotypist with the Geneva Free Press.

Two parties from Jersey City, who had never met before, were introduced to each other in a far from a pleasant manner at Gallagher's corner, Saturday afternoon. One of the parties was in an automobile proceeding in a westerly direction along Bound Brook road and the other was on a motorcycle coming along Greenbrook road on his way home. The two reached the same spot at Gallagher's Corner the same time, the automobile hitting the motorcycle a glancing blow and knocking its rider off. In order to avoid striking the motorcycle a full blow the driver of the automobile, with rare presence of mind, turned a 45 degrees angle into a side street and that was the only thing that saved the motorcyclist from serious injury if not death. Neither of the machines or the cyclist were injured and both of the parties were able to proceed on their respective ways. Witnesses failed to obtain the names of either party, they only knew that both hailed from Jersey City.

Mrs. Frank Broshart, of Front street, has recovered sufficiently from her recent illness to enable her to be out and around again.

Arthur Giddes, of Port Richmond, S. I., arrived in the borough Saturday morning to spend the week, together with his wife and child, who have already been here a week, with his mother, Mrs. Joel Giddes, of Lincoln avenue.

George Block, of New York city, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Block, of Orange street.

The Saturday Night Card Club met at the home of Township Committeeman and Mrs. A. G. Nelson, on Saturday evening, and incidently assisted Mr. Nelson in celebrating his fortieth birthday. The evening was pleasantly passed in playing 500. After the serving of refreshments the guests departed at a late hour.

A delegation of Dunellen's leading citizens assembled in the borough hall on Tuesday evening with the object in view of re-organizing the excellent Boy Scout movement started by Francis O. Spurdle, so as to make the movement a bigger one. E. J. Dusel was appointed temporary chairman of the meeting and E. L. Field was appointed secretary pro tem. A council composed of the following citizens was formed, according to the rules and regulations of National Boy Scout Movement: E. B. Latham, Harry D. Williams, George W. Day, Mahlon R. Dayton, Richard M. Ryan, Egbert Gessner, Paul Carpenter, Ernest Field, Oscar Victorsen, E. J. Dusel, G. D. Rentschler, Earl M. Jones and Rene P. F. von Minden. Secretary Pro Tem Field read copies of a tentative constitution and by-laws, which after some discussion were finally adopted. The next in order was the election of officers, which resulted as follows: Harry D. Williams, president; Richard M. Ryan, first vice-president; Paul Carpenter, second vice-president; E. L. Field, secretary; Egbert J. Gessner, treasurer; E. J. Dusel, scout commissioner. Applications were then filled out for submission to the national headquarters for a charter for the council and for papers for the scout commissioner. E. J. Dusel received his commission as scout commissioner this morning. The charter has not been received as yet. Among the plans already formulated by the council are the installation of a Boy Scout series, composed of books of strong moral fibre to the Public Library, and arrangements to take the scouts off on a weekly hike so as to teach them some new lesson or trick each week. The council will meet again this week at which time the position of scoutmaster, which has been proffered will be acted upon.

Harold Damker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Damker, of North avenue, while working on a pigeon coop in his father's barn, this morning, slipped and fell a distance of ten feet spraining his ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Voorhees and Arthur and Phoebe Voorhees, of Jackson avenue, spent yesterday with Alderman and Mrs. Henry Blaine, of New Brunswick.

Watchung.

The three services in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church were largely attended yesterday. They were in charge of Harold W. Schenck. Before the regular morning service a children's sermon was conducted by Mr. Schenck and was much enjoyed by the littles ones. Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton will occupy the pulpit next Sunday morning.

Again were the members of the Watchung Athletic Association victorious when they defeated their mountain rivals, "The Interhaven Athletic Club," by the score of 9-1, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Vail, of "Lakeview," have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burgess and daughters, of Edgewater.

Mrs. Fraser, of New York city, spent the week-end with her sister, Miss Barbara McKenzie, at her home on Stirling Boulevard.

SAURER BALLISTS DOWN DUNELLEN

Take a 7 to 3 Verdict at That Place Saturday—Conshay in Rare Form.

The Dunellen baseball team fell before the fine pitching of Ed Conshay, Saturday afternoon, on Maurer Field, Dunellen, and the Saurer team took the contest by the score of 6 to 3. The Dunellenites started off well and scored in the first inning, but Conshay's pitching and his great support was too much for Jimmy's sluggers. Montross was on the firing line for the home team and pitched a good game, although he was hit hard at times. Several new men appeared on the Dunellen lineup and played a good game.

The Saurer batters were blanked in the first two innings while the home team took the lead at the start. Victorsen singled on the first ball that Conshay served up and went to Second when Dunning did the same. Alberts hit the third ball pitched for a double scoring Victorsen. Saurer took the lead from the home boys in the third when they pounded two counts across the platter. The Dunellen players almost tied matters up in the seventh, but the visitors found Montross again in that round and cinched the game. H. Alberts was the star at the bat, getting four hits out of four trips to the plate, two of which were for extra bases.

The score:

SHIP LINE HEARINGS BEGIN.

Atlantic City, July 20.—Public hearings upon the application of railroads to retain their interests in competing steamship lines were opened here today before officials of the Interstate Commerce Commission. One section of the Panama Canal law provides that railroads may retain such holdings only if they prove that the communities they serve benefit thereby. Otherwise the law specifies that they must be given up this year.

MINNESOTA LABOR FEDERATION.

Duluth, Minn., July 20.—The thirty-second annual convention of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, and the largest gathering in the history of that organization, assembled in Duluth today for a three days' session. The initial session this morning was devoted to the work of organization and the annual reports of President E. G. Hall, Secretary-Treasurer W. E. McEwen and the other officers of the federation.

CARMANS LEAVE; SHERIFF FOLLOWS

District Attorney Has Warrant to Prevent Escape.

KEEP CLOSE WATCH ON HER

District Attorney In Auto Follows Closely Behind Doctor's Party—Decision Is Made Suddenly, Fearing an Attempt to Leave Country—Detectives to Stay on Job.

Freeport, N. Y., July 20.—Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Carman, with their little daughter, left their home on Merrick road in a touring car and, swinging west, drove away rapidly in the direction of New York city.

As their car sped along a high powered gray roadster which had been resting on a side street with its engines throbbing slipped quietly out on the Merrick road and, putting on full speed, was soon following the Carman auto.

At the wheel in the gray roadster, a high power car, was the sheriff of Nassau county, Steven Pettit. At his side, dressed in an outing costume just as if he were bound on a pleasure jaunt of indeterminate length, sat the county's district attorney, Louis B. Smith. The Carman car and the attorney's had a pursuit, but a sham pursuit mutually arranged beforehand. Even though the district attorney saw no cause to oppose the release of Mrs. Carman in $20,000 bail he is going to take no chances. Mrs. Carman is to be watched. She is to be followed to whatever part of the country she may go, and if she attempts to go out of it—well that is the reason why she is being followed.

The fact that Sheriff Pettit was to trail Mrs. Carman started a persistent rumor that District Attorney Smith had been tipped off to some of Mrs. Carman's plans which it was necessary for her to keep secret in order to carry out. Maybe this is so, and maybe it isn't. The district attorney himself could not be asked. He kept his scheme of pursuing the woman so well under cover that it did not leak out until his departure.

But it is known on pretty good authority that the sheriff is not only going to keep his eyes on Mrs. Carman until he sees fit to have some one relieve him, but that he is armed in the event of necessity with a warrant for her arrest on the charge of murder in the first degree. Dr. Carman was putting the last of his clothes in a travelling bag when the phone rang. "This is Mr. Smith, the district attorney," spoke a voice into the doctor's ear. "How do you do," said the doctor, wondering no doubt what was coming.

"I have called up to say that Sheriff Pettit is going along with you and Mrs. Carman on your vacation. In fact, I am going, too, but that is merely incidental, accidental as it were. I want to take a motor trip." The essence of this conversation was learned later in the day from one who stood beside Mr. Smith while he broke the news to Dr. Carman. A pause followed the direct announcement of the news. Mr. Smith was waiting for a reply from the doctor. A "yes" came over the wire. The district attorney continued: "It seems necessary, doctor. I am sorry. Personally I shall only stay for a few days. Later the sheriff will turn over his responsibility to another man—probable a Burns detective. But we'll see you as far as the Delaware Water gap. Of course you'll let our machine keep you in sight?" Another "yes" came over the wire. There were a few perfunctory remarks about the nice weather and the roads. That was all. Mr. Smith hurried upstairs to throw some clothes into his bag. An hour later he and Sheriff Pettit were on their way.

MINE GUARDS SLAIN.

Were Shot by Union Men While Prisoners, Says Brother Officer.

Fort Smith, Ark., July 20.—The dead bodies of John Baskin and Clarence Sylesberry, mine guards, were found in the woods near the Prairie Creek mine. The men participated in the fight with miners.

According to the affidavit of L. C. Thomas, himself a mine guard and participant in the fight, he and six other employees left the mine while the fighting was at its height and sought to break through the attackers. The seven were captured, taken to a log house in the woods and held for hours until state officers arrived. Then it was that one of the union men shot Baskin, and as he fell to the ground fired a shot at Sylesberry and sent a second bullet into his body as he fell.

THE PLAYGROUNDS.

Plainfielders should not get the impression, because complaint has been made about the actions of some boys at one of the playgrounds, that they are not doing a splendid work for the youth of the city. Because it has been necessary to bring a few boys into police court to reprimand them for mischief performed at one of the grounds, and because of an interview which appeared in the Daily Press last Friday, with Chief Kiely, the Playground Commissioners fear that some people will get the idea that the recreation fields are not fully accomplishing their purpose.

Chief Kiely has since stated that he has received but one complaint as to the conduct of the children using the playgrounds. This is remarkable when it is considered that the various centers frequently accommodate as many as 1,200 children a day.

At the beginning of every season new problems confront the commissioners, and they are adjusted as rapidly as circumstances will permit. This year the problem of caring for the older boys is the most serious one, and such mischief as has been done, was caused by their presence on one of the school grounds, when they should be at Parker Field. Commissioner Doane has personally taken up the matter of shifting them to the larger recreation center, and it is safe to predict that there will be no further trouble attributable to frequenters of the smaller grounds.

The work as a whole is a credit to the city and to the public spirited men who are giving their time and service, with no remuneration, to seeing that the grounds are properly run. The commissioners welcome suggestions which will make for greater efficiency, and they should receive the undivided support of every citizen in their efforts to make the conditions surrounding the youngsters comfortable and healthy during the summer months.

Some merchants complain that during the summer months business falls off to such an extent that it is hardly worth while keeping the stores open. They are looking for a remedy for this condition, and it is a serious problem. There was a time when business could not be stimulated but in these days, when the reading of advertisements has become an established practice in every household, the merchant who does not take advantage of the power of publicity to bring people into his store makes a great mistake.

The old joke about "some people read the newspapers so thoroughly that they even read the advertisements" was worn out long ago. They are now read as a matter of business for they mean money saved in both household and personal expenses. And the time to advertise is when the people would not naturally be spending their money. The big successful metropolitan stores advertise more in dull seasons than they do when trade is brisk. This was never better demonstrated that at the Christmas trading season last year when one of the biggest Newark stores reduced its advertising to a minimum. As the Somerset Messenger says:

It is worth while to say that there is no time when advertising is worth such careful attention as in midsummer. All kinds of merchants have the proposition before them of cleaning out their stocks before cool weather comes on. That takes a good deal of publicity. The goods won't move of themselves. The public must be told about them, and in some detail.

The advice is good, and is passed on to Plainfield merchants for their thoughtful consideration.

What has happened to that ancient institution, established two or three decades ago, the "hokey pokey" wagon? There are a whole lot of us now-a-days who would love to have one of those enticing dainties (?) trickle through our fingers, just as a reminder of other days. With these new-fangled health measures a whole lot of the pleasures of childhood are curtailed.

Chief Kiely is right when he says that some place is urgently needed for the young people to swim in the summer time. Boys would rather take a dip in the water than plunder a fruit tree any day, and the establishment of public swimming pools would go a long way toward supplying a place to work off superflous energy.

It's a hard task to guide an automobile or bicycle from one side of Watchung avenue to the other, for the trolley tracks stick up like a fence in spots between Second and Fifth streets. The condition is one that has existed for several months and either the Public Service Corporation or the city should get busy.

One of the women's papers prints a picture of a modernly attired American woman strolling down Fifth avenue, and the costume includes a Cossack's turban, a Medici collar, a long cape, a Russian tunic, a skirt which suggests Turkish trousers English spats and French shoes. What next—a Chinese queue?

Judging from the advertisements of the amusement resorts, even the hot weather has not abated the dancing fever. They are "making hay while the sun shines," as the saying goes, for anything like the present craze can never keep up.

Sussex county people evidently don't care whether escaped convicts are returned to jail or not. The officials offer a reward of twenty-five cents for the return of each person who escapes from a chain gang working on a road up there.

German physician says that future generations of women will be bald. Aren't they already exposing enough of themselves with the new style apparel, without parting with their hair?

Experts tell us that the house variety of mosquitos have been eliminated in Union county. What good does that do so long as the common or garden variety are ever present?

Things are so quiet these days that even our old friend "Bill" Jeffery hasn't found anything exciting enough to rush into print about.

Brace up old chap, and be a booster. It costs nothing but a little energy.

TO REDUCE STATE TAX LEVY.

Columbus, O., July 30—In pursuance of the call issued by Governor Cox ten days ago, the Ohio legislature convened at 10 o'clock this morning and organized for the extraordinary session. According to the Governor's call the work of the session will be devoted wholly to the question of reducing the State tax levy. Under the Warner tax law, enacted at a recent session, the Ohio tax duplicate has been increased many millions and the Governor in his message recommends that the tax rate be reduced correspondingly. The extra session, it is expected, will complete its work and adjourn before the end of the week.

TEACHERS' PANAMA TRIP.

London, July 20—Fifty teachers of the London public schools sailed today for a visit of inspection to the Great Panama Canal. The excursion is the first that has even been sent out of England with the Isthmian waterway as the objective point. The trip was organized by the London Teachers' Association. The cost for each member is $175 and though there are naturally many head masters and head mistresses in the party, the list is representative of all parts of London, and of all grades of teachers. The London School Board has granted the excursionists leave of absence with pay until August 30, which is the date fixed for the return to England.

STATE FAIR WEEK IN FARGO.

Fargo, N. D., July 20.—The opening of North Dakota State Fair week finds Fargo rapidly filling with visitors from all parts of this and the neighboring States. For months past the fair management has been working industriously to make the exhibition this year the best of its kind ever held in North Dakota and the success of their efforts is attested by the fact that the exhibits in almost every department are more numerous and of a higher class than ever before. The display of live stock is particularly notable.

SHOWDOWN IN SENATE ON THE RESERVE BOARD

Committee Anxious to Settle Jones and Warburg Issues.

Washington, July 20.—There is likely to be a showdown in the senate within a week on the confirmation of Thomas D. Jones as member of the federal reserve board. The majority of the committee on banking and currency will ask the minority to submit its report this week. The four minority senators favorable to Mr. Jones are all Democrats—Pomerene of Ohio, Hollis of New Hampshire, Shafroth of Colorado and Blair Lee of Maryland. Senator Owen, chairman of the committee, will join in their report if he returns in time to Washington. This will add another Democrat to the report, making five out of twelve members favorable to the nominee. Of the seven who oppose him, two are Democrats, Hitchcock and Reed, and five are Republicans, Weeks, Nelson, Bristow, McLean and Crawford.

KANSANS WANT $1 WHEAT.

Farmers Organizing to Hold 100,000,000 Bushels For Higher Prices.

Topeka, Kan., July 20.—Kansas farmers will hold back 100,000,000 of their 193,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, according to W. H. Mitchel, national vice president of the Farmers' Society of Equity.

Mr. Mitchell is organizing the farmers of Kansas and urging them to hold their immense crop for higher prices. Sixty cent wheat in Kansas has become the rule and has turned the thoughts of the farmer to the possibility of holding his grain. When the organizers arrive in a community they find little opposition to the idea of organized holding, according to Mr. Mitchell.

"I do not believe more than one-fourth of the wheat grown this year will be sold at once," said Mr. Mitchell.

The Farmers' Society of Equity is campaigning for dollar wheat, but the Kansas members will sell their grain for less than that figure it is generally believed. Most of them are preparing to hold for a higher price than the sixty odd cents now offered.

The money order departments of the country town postoffices in Kansas prove that this year is an exception with the harvest hand as well as the wheat growing farmer, for the harvest hand is sending his money home.

UNDERWOOD FOR DAM BILL.

Says It Protects the Public Against Monopolistic Abuses.

Washington, July 20.—Majority Leader Underwood supported the Adamson general dam bill in a speech in the house as protecting the public against monopolistic abuse. Fifty years' permits are to be granted to private capital under the bill for developing water power projects.

"My only fear," said Mr. Underwood, "is that, while the rights of the public are protected, it does not hold out sufficient inducements to capital to encourage investment in such enterprises."

Killed in Motor Cycle Collision.

Middletown, N. Y., July 20.—In a collision near here between two motorcycles running at high speed Irving Roger of Middletown was killed and Harry Mepla and John Smith of Middletown and Richard O'Neil of Goshen were seriously injured.

NOTORIOUS "GUNMAN" ON TRIAL.

Boston, Mass., July 20.—The case of Lawrence Robinson, who several weeks ago shot and killed Inspector Thomas J. Norton, of the Boston police department, was called for trial in the Superior Criminal Court today. The killing occurred in a prominent downtown cafe while Inspector Norton and four other officers were seeking to arrest Robinson, who was wanted in Grand Rapids, Mich., in connection with the robbery of a jewelry store there last fall and the killing of three of the employes of the store. Robinson hails from Toledo, Ohio, and is said by the police to have a long record as a robber, pickpocket and "gunman."

MUNICIPAL EXECUTIVES.

London, July 20.—Delegates from a dozen countries met in London today to take part in an international congress of municipal executives, the purpose of which is to confer on municipal problems and achievements in all lands. The countries represented include Great Britain, the United States, Canada, Germany, France, Italy, Denmark and Holland. The United States is represented by a delegation of which Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, of Florida is the head. The sessions of the congress will continue four or five days and will be presided over by Prince Alexander of Teck, brother of the Queen and the next Governor General of Canada.

Irresistible--This Offer of 1,000 Women's Dresses at $3.75

Irresistible because duplicates of these very dresses were here in our stocks only a short time ago at $8.75 and $10.75.

We immediately recognized the exceptional opportunity for our customers and took the maker's entire surplus stock.

At their earlier prices these were the kind of dresses of which we were particularly proud. The fine details of style and careful workmanship will tell you why.

The twelve styles in the collection embrace this season's most fashionable notes. The materials include the popular black and white striped voiles, flowered, and corded crepe, figured and dotted voile.

Extra service—to facilitate selling extra space will be alloted on the Main Aisle, Old Building in addition to the regular section on the Subway floor, Old Building.

CHAOS REIGNED IN QUAINT OLD VILLAGE

Her Sons Leave the Straight and Narrow Path and Create Disorder.

Watchung imbibers in the "cup that cheers" were treated to a series of automobile rides in the direction of the borough lockup, Saturday night, which resulted in their appearance before Recorder W. de La R. Anderson, the man of many titles, in the town hall, yesterday afternoon, before an audience of curious courtroom spectators. A "friendly" argument was started by John Mulligan, Joseph Sullivan, Charles Gregory, John McCarven and William Gregory about midnight in front of the home of Miss Agnes B. Davis on the Mountain Boulevard and the fracas gradually assumed the appearance of a "friendly" fight in which some sledge hammer blows smote the atmosphere. A 'phone call to Chief of Police Canning proved futile for the minion of the law had absented himself from the family fireside for the time being.

The party of noise makers indulged in a progressive scramble that wound up in front of the door of George Mobus. Not content with confining their hostilities to members of their own hand, the outlaws pulled Elmer Hutchinson who was returning from Plainfield, from his wagon and proceeded to pummell him in the middle of the road. They pulled the harness from the horse and took the remainder of their spleen out on the equine with big sticks. Constable Cooper happened along at this juncture and with the aid of Frank Ivamy bundled three of the celebrants into his automobile and lead the parade toward the police station. Chief Canning later appeared and after rounding up the remainder of the gang took them over the same route in another machine.

One of the parents of the arrested youths petitioned Mayor Anderson for an immediate hearing and the town hall was converted into a court room yesterday afternoon, where the lawbreakers were placed on trial. After the greater part of the afternoon had been spent in hearing the testimony of witnesses, William and Charles Gregory and Joseph Sullivan were allowed to go on suspended sentences and Thomas Mulligan and John McCarven were held for trial on assault and battery charge in bonds of $100 each. They were remanded to appear again next Thursday night in the Town Hall.

AUTOMOBILE CRASHES INTO WAGON AT CORNER

In rounding the corner of Park avenue at West Front street shortly after noon today, Gerald Linke, of West Front street, drove his automobile which he was running, into the side of a runabout that was standing at the curb near Gayle's hardware store. The horse attached to the runabout became frightened and pranced on the sidewalk on Park avenue endangering the lives of several pedestrians who happened to be in that section at the time.

Linke stopped his machine within a few feet of where the accident occurred and none was injured in the crash. The light runabout was smashed up considerably by the impact.

PROGRESSIVES MEET TO DISCUSS WAYS AND MEANS

Members of the Union County Progressive Committee, together with others interest in the walfare of the party met Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Pattison, at Colonia, where after enjoying an excellent dinner, discussed ways and means to further the interests of the party in this section; also to increase its membership.

The plan of providing a membership fee of ten cents seemed to meet with considerable favor among those present and it is thought likely that it will be given a trial very soon. Enthusiastic reports were received regarding the welfare of the party and all seemed to feel that the party ticket would meet with success this fall.

OUTING WEDNESDAY.

The annual excursion of the Methodist Sunday-schools of Dunellen, Monroe Avenue, Grace and First Methodist church, and Heavenly Rest Episcopal, Evona and Watchung Avenue chapels and New Market Baptist, will go to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, on Wednesday. There will be two sections and ample room for all who wish to enjoy a day's outing. The train will leave North Avenue station at 8:15 and returning will leave Asbury Park at 7:10. Both sections will stop at all stations in Plainfield.

SMALLEY RETURNS HOME.

Ralph Smalley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smalley, of Greenbrook road, who was operated on at Muhlenburg Hospital two weeks ago, is greatly improved and was removed to his home this morning. He will be able to be about in a week.

RAPHAEL CORRADO GETS FROM FOUR TO TEN YEARS

Raphael Corrado, of Somerville, was today sentenced to not less than four years and not more than ten years at hard labor in the State Prison, by Justice Bergen for the murder of Gaegeso Marcci, of Bernardsville, on May 22 last. The case was tried before a jury last week and that body returned a verdict of manslaughter instead of murder.

Mayor W. V. Steele, of Somerville, represented the defendant and made a strong plea for Corrado stating that it was his first offense and that he had always been a hard working man and peaceful citizen. Proscutor F. A. Pope represented the State

HUCKSTER IS FINED FOR PEDDLING WITHOUT LICENSE

Ignoring the orders of Chief Kiely and peddling without a license got John Shute, a banana huckster living at 127 West Front street, into the toils Saturday afternoon, and when arraigned in court this morning to plead to the charge he was sentenced to pay a fine of $8 or serve forty days in the county jail.

The defendant applied for a permit to pedal the early part of last week and when told he would have to take out a license from the city clerk he apparently left police headquarters to do so. He was picked up without the necessary credentials while selling on the street from a push-cart.

MAN KICKED IN THE HEAD BY HORSE HE WAS CLEANING

While cleaning a horse in the rear of Higgins Brothers' undetaking establishment on West Fourth street, Saturday afternoon, Lawrence Leonard, an employe, was kicked in the head by the animal, sustaining an injury that made his removal to Muhlenberg Hospital necessary. The authorities at the latter institution at first thought that the man's skull had been fractured but this fear was allayed later in the day and reports this morning indicate that he will be discharged in a few days.

The equine became frightened at a passing trolley car and pranced about the yard. Leonard, who was bending over his charge, was struck a hard blow in the head which rendered him unconscious.

UNION SERVICES.

The third of the series of union services was held last evening at Trinity Reformed church, Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the church, presiding. He was assisted by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, while Rev. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First Methodist church, delivered the sermon, which was heard by a large congregation. The next union service will be held at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday evening, at which time Rev. Dr. Strong will preach the sermon.

PROGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN IN ILL.

Chicago, Ill., July 20.—Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana, is to make a campaign tour of Illinois this week in the interest of the Progressive party candidates in this State. The tour will mark the opening of the Progressive campaign for the election of Raymond Robins to the United States Senate and for the defeat of Joseph G. Cannon, of Danville; William B. McKinley, of Champaign, and William A. Rodenberg, of East St. Louis, former Republican representatives in Congress who are seeking to regain their former seats.

IN MEMORY OF POPE LEO.

Rome, July 20—This being the eleventh anniversary of the death of Pope Leo XIII., a solemn memorial mass was celebrated at St. Peter's this morning, attended by Pope Pius and many of the Cardinals. Nearly 3,000 persons, including diplomatic representatives, high dignitaries of the church and State and a large number of tourists, were present. The Pope, who appeared to be in good health, blessed the catafalque and said a short prayer for Leo XIII.

CAMP ENDEAVOR.

Camp Endeavor, located back of Scotch Plains, which is supported by the Endeavor societies of the county, os now in full swing. For the past two weeks there have been forty women and children at the camp, the majority from Elizabeth. Today half the number returned to make room for an equal number which will arrive tonight or tomorrow.

LODGE NOTES.

Lodges scheduled to meet tonight are as follows: Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., at the Babcock building; Plainfield Lodge, No. 310, L. O. O. M., at their club rooms, and Plainfield Council, No. 293, Jr. O. U. A. M., at Junior Hall.

MAKES A BIG CATCH.

Edward Harding, Jr., of Laramie road, went fishing at Asbury Park last Saturday on the Carib. There was a large number on the boat and the local man made the best catch of the day landing seventeen sea bass, seven blackfish and one fluke.

—At Westfield, C. F. Wittke has the Daily Press on sale each day.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Referring to the meeting of the anti-Gebhardt faction of Democrats in Hunterdon county, which met at Easton, last week, The Daily Press on Friday stated that "with the assistance of United States Senator James E. Martine prepared a slate that will be supported at the coming primaries." The name of Senator Martine was used by mistake for that of State Senator Martens. The former, in speaking of the matter, states that "so far as I am concerned it is without the slightest foundation in truth. I have not been absent from Washington for many months. This article is all news to me."

MARTINE FAVORS FEDERAL RULE OF COLORADO MINES

New York, July 20.—United States Senator Martine, of New Jersey, in a brief speech at a meeting called to consider the Colorado mine situation, declared that he was in favor of governmental control of the mines.

A resolution calling upon Congress to take possession of the coal mines in Colorado, to be operated by the federal government or leased for limited periods under restrictions, was adopted by the meeting. The meeting was called by a group of citizens headed by Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port of New York, William Dean Howells and Amos Pinchot.

VIOLATED HEALTH LAWS.

Samuel Johnson, colored, of 419 Sycamore avenue, was arraigned before Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city court, this morning, charged with an infraction of the health laws by Health Officer Randolph Chandler. According to the city official, Johnson has been storing horse hair in his stable yard on Sycamore avenue and has failed to heed frequent warnings made by the health authorities. He was reprimanded by the court and given a suspended sentence, having cleaned up the refuse matters that has been causing the trouble.

AFTER STOLEN HORSE.

A communication from the police of Elizabeth was received at the local headquarters, this morning, requesting the Plainfield authorities to be on the lookout for a bay mare that had been stolen from the Union county seat sometime yesterday. According to information in the message, the horse when stolen, was attached to a coal wagon with the name of Frank Monyte on the side.

TRUTH OR JAIL.

Charged with fighting and acting disorderly on Somerset street, Saturday night, William Vandeveer and Annie Peterson, colored, were arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning. Because the pair would not tell the truth regarding the circumstances that caused the trouble they were given their choice of paying an $8 fine or spending forty days in the county jail.

CHOIR BOYS IN CAMP.

Thirty boys, comprising the choir of Grace Episcopal church, left this morning, in charge of S. Frederick Smith, choirmaster, for Barnegat Bay, where they will camp out for a week at the Episcopal church camp.

Chairman Says No Forecast Can Be Made Now.

TO GRANT SOME INCREASES

Information About Pending Decision Leaks Out—Estimated That $41,000,000 Additional Income Will Go to Railroads—Blame Roads Themselves For Plight—Called Extravagant.

Washington, July 20.—Chairman Harlan of the interstate commerce commission authorizes the statement that the commission has not reached final conclusions in the rate case and the series of special conferences will be held this week in order to complete the case.

The commission hopes to reach its decision and make it public at the end of this week if possible. This is the first official announcement on the subject. Chairman Harlan said:

"The commission was in conference all last week in this case, and it goes into conference again this week. It is the hope of the commission to reach final conclusions by the end of the week. It would appear to be unnecessary therefore to make comment on forecasts of conclusions which have not been reached.

"We never have had a case that contained such a voluminous record and entailed so much research and work and that has had the study given to it by every member of the commission that this has."

The report, it is understood, will also insist upon the institution of economies and the abolition of certain free service now granted to shippers. These factors will, in the opinion of the commission, add $25,000,000 more to the coffers of the railroads. This makes a total of $51,000,000. Had the full 5 per cent advance and other demands prayed for by the carriers been granted it was expected that the annual revenue would be increased $50,000,000.

Railroad representatives at present in Washington in expectation of the announcement being made—it was looked for Saturday, but delay on the part of the printers caused it to be deferred—refused to make any comment, but the intimation was that any fair increase granted by the commission would be acceptable. The reported advance of 3¾ or 4 per cent, it is said, will not include certain low grade freight, such as coal, pig iron and similar products.

Roads Are Blamed.

The report also puts the blame for the present plight on the roads themselves, urges the abolition of free service, says there is no excuse to put up the price of a single commodity and rebukes the carriers for their attempts to influence public opinion.

James S. Harlan, chairman of the commission, when seen at his summer home refused to commit himself when questioned about the decision.

It is due to the insistence of President Wilson that the decision of the commission has been expedited. That the railroads expected an advance in rates is indicated by the fact that many within the last few days have given big orders for new equipment and put back many men who had been discharged.

Refusal of the commission to grant all that the carriers asked is based on the theory that the railroads themselves are in a measure responsible for present conditions, which may be corrected through the elimination of self acquired evils, such as extravagance and waste in the purchase of supplies, lack of efficiency and general mismanagement. Among other things, the report calls the attention of the public to a condition which the commission holds to be a fact—namely, that the new rates to be prescribed will not afford a just reason for any wholesale or retail dealer to increase the price of a single commodity so far as the consumer is concerned.

No increases will, it is said, be granted on lake and rail rates, this applying to shipments partly on the Great lakes and partly by rail. Such shipments consist mainly of ore, coal and grain.

The report, which it is understood has already been approved by President Wilson, will go deep into the question of waste and extravagance, and this, coupled with alleged financial mismanagement of some of the roads, will be cited as the reason why efficiency and economy must take the place of the expected added revenue.

FRENCH PRINCE INJURED.

Pignatelli d'Aragon Rendered Unconscious in Automobile Accident.

Freeport, N. Y., July 20.—Prince Ludovic Pignatelli d'Aragon, scion of one of the oldest French families, was seriously injured in an automobile collision on the Merrick road, near here, and is under the care of two physicians at his summer home in Hempstead boulevard.

His physicians say his condition is grave, he having suffered a number of broken ribs, as well as being severely cut about the head and face and having internal injuries.

E. V. O'Connell of Brooklyn, who was driving the car with which the prince was in collision in his own machine, was also badly injured and was taken to the Nassau hospital at Mineola.

LIPTON AND SHAMROCK IV.

Weather Forces Challenger to Put In at Plymouth.

The Shamrock IV., which sailed from Gosport on her transatlantic voyage, was obliged to put in at Plymouth for shelter because of heavy weather. She will remain at that port until the weather conditions improve. It has just leaked out that the militant suffragettes made two attempts to damage the challenger for the America's cup. The first occasion was just before she was launched. At this time two women were found one night alongside the shed in which she was being built. It was suspected that they were there for the purpose of doing some injury to the vessel, and they were driven out of the yards by watchmen.

CANADIANS TAKE GAME FROM MONROE

Borough Boys Score Well Earned Victory Over Team of S. S. League.

The "Canadian" A. C., of the borough, continued to play winning ball when they took the measure of the Monroe Avenue team on the Clinton avenue field, Saturday, by the score of 7 to 3. The boroughites had several new men, former First Baptist players, who strengthened their team considerably and the shoots of Brick, who twirled for the home team, did not frighten them in the least. "Perc" Bailey was on the firing line for the visitors and only allowed his opponents six scattered hits while his teammates pounded out ten.

Both teams went out in one, two three order in the initial round and likewise in the second. The "Canucks" started things in the third stanza and made enough runs to win the battle right there. Patterson started the rally with a single and his partners followed with safeties. With the bases full, Peacock doubled and at the end of the swatfest the boys from across the brook had tallied four runs. Monroe made two runs in this inning, but never became dangerous. Abrams saved the day in this round by making a fine shoestring catch, stopping two runs that would have crossed the plate. Dilts, Patterson and Hendry each hit for two safeties.

CANUCKS AT ANNANDALE.

The Canadian A. C. baseball team will go to Annandale next Saturday and play the team of that place. The local aggregation, recently formed, has a fine lot of material and has put up a good article of ball in the two games played so far. Manager Carroll Taylor is arranging a good schedule for the remainder of the season and would like to hear from teams of this vicinity.

NETHERWOODS SWAMP RIVALS.

The Netherwood Association baseball team put it all over the West End nine, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 18 to 9. The game was a swatfest. The Netherwoods started to score at the start of the game and never let up until the ninth inning. A large crowd witnessed the battle.

OPENING OF GRAND CIRCUIT.

Cleveland, O., July 20—Quartered at the well-appointed racing plant at North Randall are practically all of the trotters and pacers that are expected to make history this season. The meeting which opened at the track, this afternoon, marks the first link of the Grand Circuit and also the opening of the season for the Great Western Circuit, the two meetings here being held in conjunction under the auspices of the Forest City Fair and Live Stock Association. That this is going to be a season of remarkable performances on the Grand Circuit no one doubts. Seldom before have the horses reached the big line in such excellent condition for the summer's campaign. McDonald, Geers, Murphy, McDevitt, Cox and the other noted trainers who are familiar figures on the big circuit—all are here with their strings of trotters and pacers.

BOUND BROOK TITLE FOR Y. M. A. TEAM

Defeated the St. Joseph's Nine at That Place Saturday by Score of 4 to 1.

Fully five hundred baseball fans witnessed the deciding game between the Y. M. A. and the St. Joseph's teams, of Bound Brook, for the championship of that place. The game was hotly contested throughout and was finally won by the former team by the score of 4 to 1. Both teams presented their strongest lineups and outside of the initial round, the St. Joseph boys were as good as their opponents.

Mathews was on the mound for the home team and McFadden, of Dunellen, opposed him. The Y. M. A. batters decided to cinch the title in the first stanza and landed on McFadden for five safe hits, which netted three of the total four tallies. After that inning the invaders tightened up and played good ball. The only run that the St. Joseph team scored came in

The losing combination threw away many chances to even matters up by foolish and reckless base running. W. Mathews, who caught his brother, was in fine condition and threw out all who tried to steal. E. Mathews also picked one man off first and two off second base. The feature of the game was a catch of a hot liner in the second inning by Wall.

HOPE CHAPEL TEAM DEFEATS BAPTISTS

A Batting Rally in the Eighth Inning Gives Them Four Runs and the Game.

After playing an inferior article of ball for seven innings against the First Baptist team, Saturday, the Hope Chapel aggregation started a batting rally in the eighth round and scored four runs, which gave them the game by the score of 7 to 5. In the early part of the game the Chapelites could not hit, made errors to the number of five and were otherwise asleep. They pulled one tally across the plate in the first round and two in the sixth. The Baptists started with the first man to hit Schott and two runs crossed the plate in the initial round. They were blanked in the second but scored one in each of the following three innings.

Pierson Bailey was on the mound for the Baptists and was given good support in the field. The eighth was the unlucky one for the Baptists and the Hope batters hit for enough runs to win the game. The victory practically gives the Hope team the pennant.

ST. ANTHONY'S WIN OVER PLAINFIELD

Defeat the Local Aggregation in a Well Played Game Yesterday.

The Plainfield Sunday baseball team met with defeat at the hands of the St. Anthony nine, of Perth Amboy, on the local diamond yesterday, by the score of 5 to 1. The locals had an off day in the hitting department and could only get six safeties off the visiting slabman's delivery. Harney started to pitch for Plainfield but was relieved by Miller in the fourth inning.

The visitors scored one run in each of the first four rounds and added another one to their list in the seventh on three clean hits. The home team made many errors with men on the bases, which meant runs for the visitors. Six misplays were chalked up against them and although the visitors made as many, they did not count for tallies. The local team was blanked for the first five innings, and then pulled one across the plate in the sixth. With two down, Harriman singled and went to second on a passed ball. Mullin then singled and Harriman scored with his team's lone tally. Neider, the opposing pitcher, was effective in the pinches and used strikeout methods when the bases were charged.

ATHLETICS DEFEAT RED STARS IN CLOSE GAME

The Athletics, a newly formed aggregation, defeated the fast Red Star team, this morning, by a score of 3 to 2. Butler held the Red Star batsmen at his mercy throughout the game. The features of the game was the pitching of Butler and the playing of Brennan for the Athletics and the pitching of Stites for the losers. "Home Run Tilley," the famous home run hitter of the Red Stars, failed to hit safely, as he generally gets a homer and a triple in every game.

PARKS WIN CLOSE GAME FROM INDEPENDENT TEAM

The Park Avenue Baptist baseball team took a 1 to 0 victory from the Independents last Saturday on Crescent Oval. The game was fast and close throughout and the Independents became dangerous several times during the contest. The Parks won the game in the first inning, when they got to Terry and made hits that counted for the only run of the game. After that the game resolved itself into a pitchers' duel between Terry and Bowlby. The latter pitched great ball during the entire game and was given good support.

Dalley Makes Several Decisions That Causes Game to go Extra Innings.

TOWNLEY IN GOOD FORM

He Was Given Pood Support at Times in Bad Places Umpires Decisions in Question—Royals Have Seven Players from Out of Town.

Apparent misinterpretation of the rules by the umpire caused the Plainfield Pets' defeat in the game with the Royal Giants, Saturday afternoon, on Parker Field. The game went fourteen innings and the Giants finally hit safely for two runs that won the decision by the score of 6 to 4. Three bad decisions on the part of the official lost the Pets at least two runs that would have given George Townley the game.

Both teams were in the best of condition and the game was tight from the start. Townley pitched fine ball but was given ragged support in tight places. He allowed his opponents but seven hits during the contest and sent a number back to the bench via the strikeout route. Brown was on the mound for the Royals and he also pitched a fine brand of ball. He was effective in the pinches and was given better support than Townley. The score was three all in the ninth inning and both teams were goose-egged in the next two rounds. The Royals scored in the twelfth but the Pets tied things up again in their half of that round. With two on in the thirteenth, a hard hit ball was hit through shortstop and both men scored.

LOCAL SPORTSMAN WINS AT NEWARK

John Doughty, of the Borough, Wins Five Firsts at Tournament Held in Newark.

The annual club tournament of the Newark Bait and Fly-Casting Club was held at Weequahic Lake, Saturday afternoon. The weather conditions were poor and made casting hard. John Doughty, of this city, one of the best known anglers in this part of the State, took part in the contests and won five out of the six events and in the sixth was tied for second place.

There were many of the experts of this vicinity in the tournament and the casting was close at times. The results of the events are as follows: First event, Accuracy, one quarter-ounce bait, won by John Doughty, Plainfield, second, A. J. Neu, Newark; third, P. T. Muldoon, Newark. Average 98 4-15 per cent.

Second event, Distance, quarter-ounce bait, won by John Doughty, Plainfield; second, Fred T. Mapes, Newark; third, A. J. Neu, Newark. Average distance, 139 feet.

Third event, Longest single cast, won by John Doughty, Plainfield. Distance, 149 feet.

Fourth event, Fisherman's bait distance, won by John Doughty, Plainfield; second, P. J. Muldoon, Newark; third, A. J. Neu, Newark. Average, 137 1-5 feet.

Fifth event, Longest single cast, won by John Doughty, Plainfield. Distance, 153 feet.

Sixth event, Distance fly (5 ounce rods), won by F. T. Mapes, Newark, second, John Doughty, Plainfield, and C. T. Champion, Newark, tied; third, Perry D. Frazer, Ridgewood. Distance, 85 feet; second place tie distance, 82 feet.

DUNELLEN TEAM IN FINANCIAL STRAITS

Dunellen may not have a representative baseball team any more this season. The management is at the present time debating whether or not to disband and lay off for a year for reorganization. The team is not being supported like it should be and the club has become a losing proposition. A few years ago Dunellen was baseball mad just like every other town and the team was encouraged by large crowds that turned out to witness the games and cheer their team on to victory. This season not more than a handfull of rooters have been at one game, except the one on the Fourth of July and then a small holiday crowd was present. At Saturday's game there were perhaps fifty people to witness a perfectly good contest of ball with a score of 6 to 3.

Many people give for their reasons that the team is not playing good ball and yet they made no effort to support it and make it a winning combination. There is nothing so encouraging to a ball player on the field as to hear the crowds cheering for him and encouraging him when he makes a misplay.

CHAPTER XXII.

Money Talks.

BLACKIE DAW arrived on Saturday morning, took a gorgeous suit of rooms in the Hotel Blessus, spent a soulful half hour with a saxaphone that he had taken a sudden notion to master, read the papers, ordered a bigger table into his sitting room, covered it with lunch, drinks and cigars and invited each of the local papers to send him a reporter.

"I'm a professional amusement park promoter," he explained when they were all together. "I came here to fill this town's summer full of shrieks of laughter and whoops of joy. I see by your clean and wholesome family journals that I'm a few days late for the party, so I'm going to give a party of my own. Who is this man Wallingford?"

Nobody knew.

"He's a grand little entertainer, though," opined chunky Jinks Woods of the Clarion, with a reminiscent smile. "The Commercial club is going to make him an honorary member for life."

"So I see," acknowledged Blackie Daw with fine contempt. "This Wallingford person comes in here and tells the first six funny stories in the Orator's Guide, tickles fifty business men under the chin and makes them give him $30,000 worth of stock for coaxing them to spend $120,000."

"Smooth work," admitted Jinks, who acted as spokesman for the party because he could eat, drink, smoke and talk at the same time, whereas the rest of them could not add the talking to their other duties. "My fat brother Ben says Wallingford's so smooth he doesn't see how he keeps his clothes from slipping off."

Blackie, with difficulty suppressed the suspicion of a twinkle in his eye. "There you are!" he triumphantly exclaimed. "Your brother Ben has him right. He's a smooth citizen. He has to have his shoes sandpapered, and yet he cons the business men of the Commercial club into investment with him and he a perfect stranger! Your brother Ben is a smart man!"

"Don't get me wrong," hastily interposed Jinks Woods, dispensing with the top slice of bread on another chicken sandwich and substituting a slice of Swiss cheese. "Ben admires smoothness. He's figuring up his bank account today to find how much money he can spare. He wants to give it to Wallingford," and he laughed so infectiously that Blackie wanted to stop and shake hands with him.

"The point of it is," persisted Blackie, "that he doesn't understand the amusement park business. Now, I know more about amusement parks than the man who invented Coney Island. I've ridden on more roller coasters and merry-go-rounds than any living human being. I not only want to promote this amusement park for business but for fun. I want to make the first parachute drop. You couldn't coax this man Wallingford into a balloon with a six pound beefsteak. I don't believe he's on the level about this park, anyhow."

The peach faced youngster for the Tribune speared another olive and hastened to Wallingford's defense. "He has $75,000 in the Broadway National," he stated, with cold dislike for any man who would question that final argument. "Jinks Woods, there, asked about it at the bank."

"Gentlemen, draw nigh," said Blackie Daw, with a sudden and entire change of manner. "Observe that I have no cuffs to deceive you," and he pushed up his sleeves as far as they would go, holding forth both long, slender hands and turning them about in the fashion of a prestidigitator. He picked up a little black bag from the floor and set it upon the corner of the table.

"Now, watch me closely," ballyhooed Blackie. "Be sure that your eyes do not deceive you, for the hand is quicker than the eye," and suddenly he whipped forth a $1,000 bill, spread it upon the table and held it down with a lean forefinger, cocking his head, thrusting forth his chest, bowing his back and placing a fist upon his hip.

"Will you hold tight to that and let me feel the other end of it?" inquired Jinks Woods, disguising his real awe with a thin veil of mockery.

"Not yet," declaimed Blackie, waving him grandly away and suddenly pausing for a fleeting instant to grin gleefully into the eyes of each one of them in turn. They caught that spirit of eternal childhood and from that moment they understood him and were with him heart and soul. If he had an ulterior motive that they did not understand they were with that too. "Now, count," and with a motion as regular as that of an earnest and sturdy washerwoman he dived into the bag with both hands, brought out another $1,000 bill by its two ends and laid it upon the first one. "Two," he counted aloud, and then repeating the motion, "three, four, five, six. The deeper we go, gentlemen, the more the wonder grows. Seven, eight, nine, ten, each and every one an exact duplicate of its handsome little brother. Eleven, twelve. Watch my hands closely, gentlemen, to see that they do not deceive your eyes. Thirteen, fourteen, fifteen"—

"We're astonished," admitted Jinks Woods. "How many are there?"

"Sixteen, seventeen," resumed Blackie, with a friendly grin at Jinks, and he did not stop until he had counted each of the hundred $1,000 bills in his possession. "How's that for legerdemain?" he demanded.

He Did Not Stop Until He Had Counted Each of the Hundred $1,000 Bills.

"It's the finest parlor trick I ever saw," gulped Jinks Woods. "If you don't clamp one of those down and let me feel it I'll never go away from here happy."

"I'll give you a piece of one as a souvenir," offered Blackie promptly, and he solemnly tore off as generous a corner as banking caution would allow.

Jinks accepted it gratefully and, with his eyes cast up to the ceiling, slipped it through and through his fingers. "It doesn't feel much more silky than a dollar bill," he stated, with gravely assumed disappointment; then he opened his watch charm, in which reposed a wisp of red hair, a wisp of black hair, a wisp of yellow hair, a wisp of brown hair and the silken end of his first and only mustache. With these trophies and the miniature photo of a dog with one lop ear he deposited his newest treasure. "Now put the rest of it away," he pleaded. "I have a penknife with me, and I'm afraid of myself. Why did the government let you move the mint here anyhow?"

"Just this," said Blackie briskly, dropping his banter immediately, "I heard of this man Wallingford's $75,000 bank deposit, and I came prepared to call his bluff. He hasn't invested a cent of his $75,000. He's letting the members of the Commercial club put up the money, and he's taking 20 per cent. I'll invest every dollar of this in a bona fide amusement park project if the real business men of this town will put up an equal amount. There's only room here for one enterprise of the sort and only one possible location, as I understand it. I'm after that enterprise and that location. Lead me to some live members, let them appoint a treasurer, and I'll pass him this pile of documents tied up in a pink corsage bouquet ribbon. Money talks. Do you hear it?"

Jinks Woods put his fingers to his ears. "Put it away so I can think," he directed. "It seems to me, Mr. Daw, that you and that pile of noise—say, won't you please put it away?—should be very interesting to the Business Men's club."

"Jinks Woods," declared Blackie, with deep emotion, "I shall have you as my sole companion on the first roller coaster ride."

"That's a gospel promise," claimed Jinks and shook hands most cordially on it. He was glad he had lived long enough to meet Blackie Daw. They were tickled with each other.

Later Jinks Woods interrupted Blackie's peaceful practice.

"I bought the Business Men's club for you with that corner of a $1,000 bill you gave me and got some change back," Jinks telephoned. "Hurry right on over."

"Fine," said Blackie. "Wait just a minute. Listen to this." And, lifting his saxaphone to the telephone, he played quite perfectly the gem upon which he had been practicing all morning.

"I thought I asked you to put that money away," protested Jinks. "Now it's getting hoarse."

"That's my saxophone," indignantly returned Blackie. "I was playing you a strain from 'Home, Sweet Home.'"

Jinks Woods met Blackie at the top of the club's stairs.

"Just make yourself at home," he invited. "I'll have half a dozen local patriots up here in ten minutes," and he bustled out.

Blackie took instant advantage of his opportunities. He opened his portfolio and took from it an amazing collection of water color sketches, colored lithographs, half tones and zinc etchings of amusement parks and amusement devices from everywhere. Birdseye views of Luna and lost Dreamland vied for attention with crude newspaper sketches of the latest "switchback" erected at Thank's Grove. These pictures he placed upon mantelshelves, window ledges, chairs and tables until roller coasters ambled all over the room. Every neck breaking, nerve racking, heart stopping device known to the world of pleasure was represented and in place, and Blackie was playing wheezy ragtime off the antique melodion, when his firm friend Jinks ushered in near sighted Mr. Crompers, who was the city's leading stationer and bookseller. He said so himself.

"Mr. Crompers is the first man to seize upon any important public project in Prize City," Jinks stated. "He is president of the Business Men's club, which he founded, and was president of the Commercial club before this organization split off from that body."

"You are very lucky you did not fall into their clutches," avowed Mr. Crompers, who was given habitually to intemperance of the tongue. "They'll start anything over there, and in two weeks you never hear of the scheme again. There's no question that we do need a big amusement park here, but it's a pity that the project should have been taken up by men of the caliber it has. I understand that Mr. Wallingford is a very solid man, too, which makes it all the greater shame."

"He's no more solid than my friend, Daw," declared Jinks Woods. "Mr. Wallingford is not investing a penny in his amusement park scheme, whereas Mr. Daw has $100,000 in cold cash, right in that little black grip. I've got a piece of it. This large fortune he will turn over to any treasurer you fellows appoint until the members of the Business Men's club raise an equal amount. That sounds like on the level talk to me."

Blackie Daw flourished his hand in the direction of Mr. Woods. "I have nothing more to say," he observed. "Here are some of the amusement features I propose to build, to keep Prize City's money at home. Here is my cash share in the proposed investment, and I don't ask to handle either my money or yours. I guess you don't need any arguments as to the need of such an institution. The arguments are all in this morning's papers, and they're good. It's only a question of financing it now and of who shall build your park."

"It's a question of the sort of men we get to represent such an enterprise," corrected Mr. Crompers.

Blackie Daw adroitly shoved before Mr. Crompers' eyes a small clipping from the Clarion. "Here are the gentlemen who are financing the other company," he advised.

Mr. Crompers read that list with snorts of indignation surpassing any which he had yet emitted. "Hammond, $20,000!" He paused for an extra snort over the name of the other leading stationer and bookseller. "Daniel Blessus, $15,000; Walt Hubbard, $15,000; Lybarger, $10,000, and here follows a whole shoal of little fellows, running down to sums as small as $100! Why, it took nearly thirty members of the Commercial club to raise $120,000 cash! I notice your brother's name down for $1,000, Jinks."

"I didn't know he had that much!" complained Jinks. "He's been holding out on the family. Anyhow, I'll bet he hasn't paid it in yet."

"That'll be the trouble with the whole Commercial club," eagerly seconded Crompers. "Well, I'll guarantee to raise $100,000 among not over ten subscribers. I'll take $25,000 myself," and he again looked to make sure that Hammond had subscribed only $20,000.

"You will find the subscription list on the little desk to the right as you enter the door," stated Blackie politely and waved his hand in that direction.

Mr. Goodall, a brisk man with a wall eye, came in just then, full of indignation that Prize City's big amusement park was to be built by incompetents from the Commercial club and he subscribed $1,000 more stock than Dan Blessus, who also ran a furniture factory.

Sam Harvey, a lumpy shoe dealer, who looked about as well from one angle as another, was pained that such a man as Lybarger should give any portion of amusement to the public and he set down his name for $12,000 worth of stock.

"I'm only digging up live ones," Jinks confided to Blackie in a convenient moment. "I won't let a man up here who hasn't so much money his relatives hate him."

Blackie opened the little black grip and tore off the corner of another bill for his aid and ally.

"Thanks," accepted Jinks, with no trace of a grin. "I'll keep these till I get enough to make a whole one." And he hurried out to drag in those other members of the Business Men's club whom he knew to be the most profoundly bitter toward the Commercial club.

Some Cookery Suggestions

TOMATO SALADS.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Cream Toast.
Scrambled Eggs.
Tomato and Cheese Salad.
Stewed Peaches.
Ginger Cakes. Cocoa.

WHEN serving tomatoes in salads reserve for this purpose only the firm, ripe ones. Always remove the skins. This may be accomplished by plunging the tomato for a second in boiling water and pressing off the skin with a dull knife.

Nutritious Salads.

Whole Tomato Salad.—Take large, fully ripe and yet firm tomatoes, scald, remove skins and lay them on ice for several hours. Put a whole tomato on one or two lettuce leaves, dress with well chilled mayonnaise and serve on individual plates. This salad is meat and drink in point of nutriment, and many persons find it quite enough for the substantial dish of a summer night tea.

Tomato and Cheese Salad.—For tomato and cream cheese salad cut a tomato into eight parts and arrange to form a flower shape. Fill the center with chopped celery and cream cheese and garnish with celery leaves, mayonnaise dressing to be poured over at the last moment. Serve salad very cold.

Combination Salads.

Tomato and Corn Salad.—Pare and cut out the hearts of tomatoes, set on ice until they are chilled, fill with green corn boiled on the cob, then cut off and allow to get perfectly cold. In serving cover with French dressing or mayonnaise.

Tomato and Cucumber Salad.—Take the skins from three tomatoes, cut them into halves and remove the seeds. Peel the cucumbers and cut into quarter inch slices, letting the slices soak in the water for half an hour. Drain and cut the cucumbers into small dice, mix with a seasoning of salt, pepper, oil and vinegar, fill the tomatoes with this mixture and place a tablespoonful of mayonnaise or boiled dressing on each. Serve with a garnish of bleached lettuce leaves or parsley.

Luncheon Dish.

Tomato Cream Salad.—Take four nice ripe tomatoes, slice them and place in a dish on ice. To half a pint of smoothly beaten cream add one teaspoonful of salt and pour over the tomatoes. Let stand on ice one hour before serving in salad dish lined with lettuce leaves.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Sun Considers He Is Helpful.

"It makes me have freckles," she said.

IT had been a very hot day. The sun had beaten down with such force that many people could not stay out at all.

"Hasn't it been a hot day, daddy?" said Jack.

"It certainly has," answered daddy, "but do you know the reason?"

"No," inquired Evelyn. "Was there a reason?"

"Most certainly," continued daddy, "and perhaps it was this: A few days ago a little girl was sick, and the doctor said that the thing which would save her life would be the sun.

"Now, you can imagine, the sun was very proud when he heard that. 'To think,' said he to himself, 'that I am so necessary in the world! It makes me very happy to think that I may save a little sick girl's life. What could be finer! And doctors even admit I can help when they are quite powerless and have done all they can. Really when you think of it I am just like a splendid big specialist, but instead of paying me a lot of ridiculous money or maybe going many miles to see, here I am, and no one has to pay a cent.'

"He talked on to himself in this manner for some time. He wasn't really conceited. It was his pride and delight that he was able to save the life of a little girl, and he said that he most certainly would save her life. In the summer the days are longer than in the winter, and he was given more opportunity.

"But the next day when he was shining brightly and was making everything, oh, so warm, he heard a disagreeable little girl say to a friend of hers:

"'Oh, I do wish that horrid old sun would not shine so hard!'

"'Why,' asked her little friend, 'don't you like it when it is nice and warm? We can play and never have to put on any horrid wraps, and we can go in wading and swimming and just have the best time.'

"'No,' said the little girl; 'I simply hate it because it makes me have freckles. I just hate the freckles I have in the summer, and every one teases me so about them.'

"'Why, how absurd!' answered her little friend. 'What do you care if you have freckles in the summer?'

"The sun listened to the conversation with great interest, and he said to himself:

"'Well, if any one is going to make such a fuss about a few little freckles I am going to get mad and blaze. I am going to see that my little sick friend is cured by me, just as the doctor said she would be. And I shall see that it is a fine sunny summer so every one will have a good time and feel well.'

"You see, today was the first day since all that happened, and the sun most certainly kept his word."

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

8252

For the busy wife and mother the house dress is a garment of considerable importance. A very practical model for this purpose is shown in No. 8252. This design has a kimona blouse with front in raglan effect having a full-length sleeve which may be cut off at elbow length if preferred and a small collar forming revers. The skirt is in three gores having two plaits in front and back and a broader plait in the center-front. This dress may be effectively made up in gingham, chambray or madras; if intended for shopping or street wear, a flowered material would be appropriate. Size 36 requires 5 yards of 36-inch material with ½ yard 36-inch contrasting material for the collar, cuff facing and belt. Pattern comes in seven sizes, 34 to 46.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing fifteen cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Guimpes and chemisettes make such a really vital feature of present styles that this pattern is a most valuable one. The collar in each instance is of the flaring sort, sometimes known as Normandy, sometimes as Gladstone, sometimes as Marie Stuart, but becoming and smart.

The little chemisette or vestee is an exceedingly useful garment to slip on under a blouse or a coat.

The guimpe with its full front is somewhat more dressy in effect, but equally practical.

The collar can be utilized for almost any costume, inasmuch as it can be made of lace or net to be exceedingly smart or of organdie or pique to be quite simple, and pique for both collar and chemisette is one of the newest and latest fancies.

For the medium size No. 1 will require one-fourth yard of material twenty-seven inches wide; No. 2, seven-eighths yard eighteen inches wide, with two and one-fourth yards of lace six inches wide; No. 3, one-half yard twenty-seven inches wide.

This May Manton pattern is cut in three sizes—small 34 or 36, medium 38 or 40, large 42 or 44 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8335, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

WILSON IS READY TO RECOGNIZE REBELS

Will Aid in Getting Funds to Support Government.

Washington, July 20.—President Wilson and his advisers have agreed on a policy that will determine the further attitude of the government toward Mexico.

This policy contemplates no radical moves by the United States, but indicates what has been widely believed from the beginning—that is, that the Constitutionalists would be the instrument through which President Wilson means to bring order out of the Mexican chaos.

The details of the program as learned are as follows:

First—Recognition of the Constitutionalist government as soon as it is set up in Mexico City.

Second.—Assistance to that government to obtain funds for the support of an army to be used in crushing out all opposition.

Third.—Insistence that the new government agree to the creation of a commission to arbitrate all foreign claims.

Fourth.—Requirement that the new government protect foreign life and property.

Fifth.—Refusal on the part of the United States to recognize the validity of concessions granted by the Huerta government.

Sixth.—Unselfish declination by the United States to exact compensation for the expense to which it has been put in connection with naval and military operations.

Seventh.—Withdrawal from Vera Cruz when the permanence of the new government is established.

Eighth.—Restoration to agents of the Constitutionalists of the custom house at Vera Cruz.

Recognition of the new government and the use of all the power of the United States, short of actual intervention, to enable it to establish its authority throughout Mexico, are regarded by the president and his secretary of state as certain to restore complete peace at an early day.

NO ANSWER, SAYS WHITMAN.

Refuses to Reply Further to Statement Made by Duell.

Newport, July 20.—District Attorney Charles S. Whitman refused to make further statement regarding the Duell statements. He said:

"I am not going to enter into any controversy with anybody over this matter. I have made my statement and that's all there is to it. I have been a Republican all my life.

"Of course I never made any such statment as is charged by Duell. If I had a secret conference with Barnes, Duell would be the last man I would tell about it. I am not entering into controversies with every young man who wishes to rush into print with a lot of absurd propositions.

"I have never seen such absurd nerve. I am not concerned in it whatever. This is the only attitude for me to take, and I have nothing more to say.

"If I have voted for Roosevelt I am not going to tell. To ask any one how he voted under the present system of secret ballot is absurd. As far as Duell is concerned, I am through with him and I am through with the whole matter. They cannot make any substantial charges. Until they do I have nothing further to say. My statements of two or three weeks ago and again a few days ago have been clear and that is all there is to it.

"I have been in public office fifteen years and I am not in the habit of telling how I voted and I am forty-five years old."

Wilson, Recovered, Ready for Work.

Washington, July 20.—President Wilson had completely recovered from his recent attack of indigestion. He resumed his usual round of work. The president will see several business men, including S. R. Bertron, a New York banker, to discuss business conditions and anti-trust legislation.

MOB IN PASSAIC ATTACKS CLERGY

Women Hurt When Foreigners Disrupt Meeting.

CROWD FIGHTS POLICEMEN

Reason For Enmity Against Professor Getseff, an Austrian Agitator, Is Not Clear—He and Bishop Alexander Went to Rome on Mission For Russian Rite In Austria.

Passaic, N. J., July 20.—A mob of 500 foreigners egged and stoned Professor J. Getseff, an Austrian agitator, and a party of Russian Orthodox Greek churchmen in the streets of this city.

Missiles flew in all directions. Half a dozen women and children were knocked down and twenty-four policemen, re-enforced by details of policemen from nearby towns, were forced to fight the mob back with drawn clubs to rescue the imperiled party.

Bishop Alexander, an aged prelate of the church, who came to America with Professor Getseff to secure funds for promoting the liberty of Russians in Austria, escaped being mobbed by remaining out of the auto in which the professor rode.

The reason for the enmity against Professor Getseff here is not clear. He and Bishop Alexander came here, where the latter presided over a service in St. Peter and St. Paul's Russian Orthodox Greek church.

At 3 o'clock six church societies of Passaic and three from the adjoining town of Garfield, comprising altogether 150 women and 300 men, drew up in front of the hall.

In an auto at the end of the procession were the professor, the Rev. Joseph Stephanko, pastor of St. Peter and St. Paul's church; the Rev. Philip G. Dorbroff, editor of the Russian Immigrant, and J. Lutrik, editor of the Probas, of Philadelphia. As the procession halted cries of "Traitor!" and "Down with Getseff!" came from the crowd which had assembled along Second street.

SIX TOWNS SHARE HOSPITAL.

Mountainside Extension Will Be Big Enough For All.

Montclair, N. J., July 20.—A new Mountainside hospital extension that will be big enough to take care of the sick and injured in six municipalities—Montclair, Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Caldwell, Verona and Cedar Grove—is in course of erection.

The plans call for one of the most modern institutions of its kind in this section of the country. The addition to the hospital is located on the east side of Highland avenue and on the four acre plot of ground recently purchased for that purpose. The main building is to be 270 feet long and 42 feet wide, with three stories and basement and two abutting wards, each 54 feet long by 28 feet wide, with two stories, basement and solarium. The plans call for the expenditure of $300,000. Of this amount $225,000 was raised by popular subscription.

TWO FIRES IN NEWARK.

Gas Machine Explodes In Store—Blaze In Cement Plant.

Newark, N. J., July 20.—An automatic gas machine exploded in the dry goods store of Joseph Muller at 65 Market street, and five men who were arranging the stock had to flee. The blaze spread to the basement and the billiard parlor of W. E. Huntley on the second floor and burned through the roof. The damage was $5,000.

Shortly before this fire $5,000 damage was done in the kettle department of the Newark Lime and Cement company at Bridge and Ogden streets. The large gas tanks of the Public Service corporation are close by and two alarms were sounded for fear the fire would spread.

SHOT TO DEATH IN WORK CAR

"Didn't Know Gun Was Loaded," Says Workman Who Killed Another.

Bound Brook, N. J., July 20.—Joseph Perrone, thirty-eight years old, of 302 Oak street, New Haven, Conn., was shot and killed by John J. Danehy, thirty-five, of Boston in a work car here. Danehy says the shooting was accidental. He is corroborated by two Italians, who are now held in the county jail at Somerville as material witnesses.

According to Danehy, the shooting occurred while he was examining a gun which he was about to exchange for his own. He did not know the weapon was loaded, he says.

FIELDER TO BE AT FAIR.

Agricultural Association Sets Sept. 4 as Governor's Day.

Red Bank, N. J., July 20.—Governor James F. Fielder has accepted by letter to Melvin A. Rice, treasurer of the Monmouth County Agricultural Fair association, an invitation to attend the fair with his staff on Sept. 4.

In his honor this day will be known as Governor's Day, and an especially fine program of exhibitions and racing is being arranged. The Red Bank cavalry troop will escort the governor.

FORESTRY MEETING.

Concord, N. H., July 20—The annual Forestry Conference in the White Mountains will assemble tomorrow at Gorham, the headquarters of the National Forest in New Hampshire. The initial session tomorrow afternoon will be given over to a conference of foresters and timberland owners. Among those who will take part are Dr. B. E. Fernow, of the University of Toronto, and Clyde Leavitt, chief forest inspector of the Canadian Railway Commission. Speakers at the session tomorrow evening will include Dr. E. T. Fairchild, of the State College of New Hampshire; James P. Taylor, secretary of the Greater Vermont Association, and Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the National Conservation Congress. On Wednesday afternoon the subject of forest taxation will be considered, and the new taxation laws of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont and Pennsylvania will be discussed by Prof. Bullock, of Harvard University; W. O. Filley, State Forester of Connecticut; Austin F. Hawes, State Forester of Vermont, and Dr. Henry S. Drinker, president of the American Forestry Association.

MEDICAL DIRECTOR RETIRES.

Washington D. C., July 20.—Medical Director Frank Anderson, who for some time past has been acting as president of the naval examining board, was placed on the retired list of the navy today, on account of having reached the age limit for active service.

SUMMER PLANS IN THE CHURCHES

Majority of Local Pastors Will Take Their Vacation in August.

THE LIST OF SUPPLIES

Many Notable Preachers, Including Former Pastors, Will Be Heard in Plainfield Pulpits During the Next Month.

The first of August will see practically all of the local pastors of the city and borough on their vacations, and announcements have been made of the pulpit supplies for next month, the list of which includes many notable preachers, several of them having more than a State-wide reputation as preachers. A partial list of these preachers are noted below:

Congregational.

Rev. William A. Rice, of New York, and Rev. Paul Douglas, of Upper Montclair, will preach at the Congregational church the first two Sundays of August in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich. The services of the last three Sundays of the month will be omitted. Rev. Mr. Goodrich will spend his vacation in the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

First Baptist.

The pulpit supplies for the First Baptist church are as follows: August 2 and 9, Rev. Dr. John A. Chambliss, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; August 16, Rev. William T. Dorward, for many years pastor of the Stelton Baptist church, and who a few years ago accepted a call to the West; August 23, Rev. Dr. R. F. Y. Pierce, of this city; August 30, Rev. S. L. Skevington, of Newark.

Park Avenue Baptist.

Rev. Gabriel R. Maguire of this church, left on his vacation early this month, going to Europe for a two months' trip. The supplies at this church for August will be as follows: August 2, Rev. A. E. Finn, of Rochester, Pa.; August 9, Rev. W. T. Dorward, of Milwaukee, Wis.; August 16, Rev. C. M. Engle, of Norristown, Pa.; August 23, Rev. J. S. Braker, of Burlington, Vt.; August 30, Rev. Asa Reed Dilts, of Lowell, Mass.

Crescent Avenue Presbyterian.

Rev. Dr. John S. Zelie, pastor of this church, is spending his vacation in Maine, having left for that State last week. The supplies at that church for August are as follows: August 2, Rev. Charles A. Eaton, D. D., minister Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York city; August 9, Rev. J. G. Merrill, D. D., Lake Helen, Florida; August 16, Rev. Edward M. Noyes, D. D., minister First Congregational church, Newton, Mass.; August 23, Rev. William E. Brooks, minister First Presbyterian church, Allentown, Pa.; August 30, Rev. John McDowell, minister Park Presbyterian church, Newark; September 6, Rev. John T. Reeve, D. D., minister Fourth Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, Pa.

First Methodist.

Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of this church, will spend the greater portion of his vacation along the Jersey coast. The supplies are as follows: August 2, Rev. Dr. Charles R. Barnes, of Hoboken; August 9 and 30, Rev. S. J. Herben, D. D., of Orange, formerly editor of the Epworth Herald; August 16, Rev. Dr. R. K. Boyd, superintendent of Trinity Brotherhood House, Jersey City; August 23, Rev. Dr. George C. Wilding, of East Orange.

First Presbyterian Church.

The First Presbyterian church will have services on but the first three Sundays of the month, being closed the last two. The following have been anounced as supplies: August 2, Rev. R. W. Marks, of Woodbridge; August 9, Rev. Dr. L. Y. Graham, of Rahway; August 16, Rev. Dr. Bar, of Washington, D. C. Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, the pastor, will spend his vacation at Spring Lake.

Monroe Avenue Methodist.

In the absence of the pastor of this church, Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, who is to visit the Pocono Mountains during August, the pulpit will be supplied as follows: August 2 and 9, Rev. D. W. C. Ramsey, of Dunellen; August 23, Rev. D. C. Liu, of Foo Chow, China, at present of Wesleyan University; August 30, Rev. C. E. Scudder, of West New Brighton, formerly of this city.

Trinity Reformed Church.

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of this church, will spend his vacation in South Jersey in the vicinity of Point Pleasant. The supplies have been announced as follows: August 2, Rev. Edward Ralston, of the Netherwood Reformed church; August 9, Rev. Frank Fletcher, of this city; August 16, Rev. Dr. Johnson, of the New Brunswick Seminary; August 23, Rev. Dr. I. W. Gowen, of Weehawken; August 30, church closed.

ELIAS H. BONNELL'S FUNERAL HELD TODAY

Former Plainfielder Succumbs Following a Long Illness.

The funeral service of Elias Herbert Bonnell, a former resident of this city, and for a number of years president of the Second National Bank, of Orange, will be held in the Presbyterian church, Springfield, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Dr. George Liggett, the pastor, will officiate, assisted by Rev. William Hoppaugh, a former pastor. Burial will be in the Connecticut Farms Presbyterian cemetery, Union.

Mr. Bonnell's death occurred early Sunday morning at his home in Great Hill road, Millburn township. He had been ill for nearly a year, suffering from a nervous breakdown. Five weeks ago he was forced to go to bed. The death four months ago of Mr. Bonnell's wife, who was a sister of Augustus J. Brunson, president of the First National Bank, this city, is believed to have hastened the end. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bonnell prior to their marriage, were active workers in Hope chapel Sunday-school. The Bonnell home in Millburn township, in what is known as the White Oak Ridge section, was completed a short time ago at a cost of more than $100,000. Mr. Bonnell is survived by a sister, Mrs. M. S. Crane, of Caldwell, and a brother, Oliver Bonnell, of Millburn. There are no children.

MADE TOO MUCH NOISE IN EFFORT TO AMUSE "KID"

Lewis Augustine and Siro Sembrello, participants in a fight and disorderly scene that took place in the home of the latter on Leland avenue, Sunday night, were given suspended sentences on their appearance before City Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city court, this morning, in consideration of their previous good records and promise to do better in the future.

According to Patrolman Martin Flatly, who made the arrests, the men were fighting in a back room, apparently over a woman. In court this morning, Sembrello said that his friend had come to his house to call on his (Sembrello's) wife and the fracas described by the officer was nothing more than an effort to amuse the children whom Sembrello classed as "little devils." The entertainment he provided for the youngsters, however, was of a costly nature, a badly battered nose being his property in court this morning.

FIGURES FORCED HIM TO ADMIT HIS CULPABILITY

Charged by Motorcycle Patrolman Roy E. Martin with driving a four-passenger automobile along West Seventh street, Saturday afternoon, at a speed of twenty-seven miles an hour, Joseph Collins, of Cranford, was fined $10 by Judge William G. DeMeza in the city court this morning. Although he expressed considerable doubt as to whether or not he was exceeding the speed limit when first arraigned, the defendant was forced to admit his culpability when confronted with the figures registered on the patrolman's speedometer.

According to the officer he followed the speeding autoist for over half a mile and during that time an average speed of twenty-seven miles an hour was maintained. In the car besides the driver were an elderly couple.

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT.

The second of the series of band concerts, under the auspices of the Dutch Arms Band, of Trinity Reformed church, will be given this evening at East Front and Church streets. The concert given on July 9 was well attended, and the members of the organization were greatly encouraged by the interest shown by the public.

ATTENDING CONFERENCE.

The Misses Harriet Mattison, Elizabeth Wetheral, Lucy Douglas, Jessie Stewart, Margaret Hawkins and Sarah Cadoo left last night to represent the local Y. W. C. A. at the conference of the associations of the Northeastern States now being held at Silver Bay, N. Y. They will be gone ten days.

DANCE AT STONY HILL.

The regular monthly dance under the auspices of St. Mary's church, of Stony Hill, will be held tomorrow evening. If the weather is inclement, the occasion will be postponed until the next clear evening. Father McGrath will personally supervise the occasion. Good music is promised.

ANOTHER LAWYER.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Crane, of East Fifth street, are parents of a boy, born this morning.

FIGHT RENEWED FOR STATE TEST

S. A. Van Vechten Given Further Hearing at Elizabeth.

DECISION IS RESERVED

Applicant, Brother-in-law of Thomas A. Moore, Claims to Have Served Full Time As Apprentice in Plainfield.

Elizabeth, July 21.—Further hearing was given here yesterday by representatives of the State Board of Embalming Examiners on the petition of Samuel A. Van Vechten, who was debarred from taking the State tests at Newark last Wednesday, when it was declared that he had not served the required apprenticeship.

Van Vechten, who lives at 177 Hamilton street, New Brunswick, appeared, together with other applicants, before the examiners on Wednesday for the purpose of taking the tests necessary for the securing of a State certificate. His application was opposed by members of the Funeral Directors Association of Middlesex and Somerset counties. They claimed that the candidate had not been employed for three years as an embalmer's assistant and therefore was not eligible for the tests.

Van Vechten and his brother-in-law, Thomas A. Moore, of Plainfield, one of the signers of his voucher, declared that he had served more than the required apprenticeship. His case was laid over for further investigation.

The hearing yesterday was before John A. Maxwell, of Somerville, president of the State Board, and its secretary, John F. Martin, of this city. Appearing against Van Vechten were four embalmers of New Brunswick, Charles R. Moke, William H. Quackenboss, William H. Harding and John V. Hubbard. Van Vechten presented his own case. He claimed that he had worked with his brother-in-law at Plainfield for more than the time required. The New Brunswick men claimed that he was in Somerville during part of the period he claimed to have been working in Plainfield.

Dr. B. G. Illes, of New Brunswick, who had signed Van Vechten's voucher, said it was brought out at the hearing that he signed the paper, believing that he was merely attesting to the good character of the applicant and not to his experience. The third signer of the application was William J. De Mond, county clerk of Somerset, who is in the undertaking business.

At the conclusion of the hearing the examiners reserved decision until Wednesday, when the whole board will meet at the Marlborough-Blenheim, Atlantic City.

SUES TO RECOVER $1,148 ON A CONTRACT

Trenton, July 21.—Elwood Thorne, of Bound Brook, has instituted a suit in the Supreme Court against Wilbur Voorhees to compel the defendant to pay him $1,148, which he alleges is due him on a contract for building a dwelling house. Thorne charges that he entered into an agreement with Voorhees to erect the house, which cost $4,038.

It is charged in the action that Voorhees owes a balance of $744 on the cost of the structure and a commission of ten per cent., which was to be paid Thorne, or $404. This makes the total claim $1,148.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET.

The Plainfield Democratic Club will meet this evening at the Depew building on North avenue, at which time commission form of government will be discussed at length. Several other matters of importance will be presented at the meeting, among which will be several questions relative to the preliminary plans for the fall campaign.

LAW VIOLATED.

William Abbott, of North avenue, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning charged with allowing smoke to issue from an automobile which he was driving on Park avenue. After warning the defendant against a second infraction of the law the court suspended sentence.

BRIDE AND GROOM RETURN.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Vail have returned from their honeymoon, which included an automobile trip along the Jersey coast. They are now at home at the residence of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Vail, of Norwood avenue.

—Among the splendid fresh fruits which will be found at Neuman Brothers' Watchung avenue market tomorrow will be currants, gooseberries, red and black raspberries, blackberries, huckleberries, pineapples, peaches, Bartlett pears and plums.—Adv. •••

PLANS FOR NEW P. O. UNDERWAY

Congressman Tuttle Gives Encouraging News About Building.

IS CLASSIC IN DESIGN

Prospective Drawings Will Be Completed Within a Few Weeks—Structure May Be Built of White Marble if Appropriation Permits.

Work is now progressing upon the plans for the new postoffice building in this city, according to information received by the Daily Press from Congressman William E. Tuttle, today. The latter conferred with the supervising architect of the Treasury yesterday in regard to the prospects and learned that it will be several months before the plans can be completed, the specifications written and bids accepted.

The preliminary sketches show a classic building of Italian Renaissance design having a colonnaded front. It will be one story high, about one hundred feet square with splendid interior accommodations for the postal business in Plainfield. It is the intention to build the structure of marble, but this may be modified by reason of the limits of the appropriation.

Further details of the proposed building cannot be obtained until the plans are approved by the Postmaster-General, the Secretary of the Treasury and the supervising architect of the Treasury. This will probably be done in a few weeks.

Plainfield is to be congratulated that this building is so far advanced, considering the many other claims. There is now more than thirty-eight million dollars' worth of work in the office of the architect and the average output for the last five years has been something less than six million dollars annually. Some of the buildings must wait between six and seven years before construction begins. The Plainfield building was not authorized until June 25, 1910, and it ought to be underway some time next spring or next summer.

BURGLARS UNDAUNTED BY GUNS AND WOMEN

Wild Chase Through Fanwood for Night Prowlers Who Get Away.

Whether it is because the good people of Fanwood are not accustomed to being awakened with the chickens or whether the calibre of burglars that visit that hamlet are so very different from the ordinary type one may never know, but on thing is certain and that is that second story men are reasonably sure of making a good getaway from the Central Railroad town on Tuesday mornings if the scene enacted this morning is to be taken as a criterion.

Fifty able-bodied residents of that municipality armed to the teeth with shot-guns, razors, scissors, scythes, hat pins and revolvers let two insignificant little night prowlers make good their escape early today. Detected in the act of breaking into one of the windows in the house on the Lincoln Poultry Farm premises, the two men slid from the roof closely followed by a half-dressed occupant of the room into which they were trying to gain admission shouting at the top of his lungs. As the burglars proceeded down the thoroughfare they were joined by hastily awakened Fanwood residents who grabbed the first weapon they could lay their hands on. Everyone was intent on capturing the disturbers of the peace and the chase led over hill and dale. Shots were fired, women screamed and men called to the fleet-footed robbers to come to a halt but all efforts to scare the leaders of the chase into submission were futile. The race lasted until Terrill road was reached and at the sight of the city line the Fanwoodites were brought to an abrupt halt and turned back to their homes in disgust.

No clue as to the intruders' identity has been secured by the authorities but it is thought that someone familiar with the farm had a hand in the operations.

COPS ON VACATION.

Patrolman Thomas Flatley, Tobias Nolan and Cornelius Sullivan, began a ten days' vacation this morning. They will take short trips to near by places of interest.

COPPER RESIGNS.

Joseph Hayle, one of the recent appointees to the police force, handed in his resignation this morning. Failing health is given as the cause.

BOROUGH WOULD ANNEX THIS CITY

Dunellen Board of Trade Ridicules Idea of "Hooking up" to Plainfield.

'FAR TOO PROGRESSIVE'

Neighboring Citizens Think There's No Immediate Danger of Hustling Community Being Merged With This Town.

"Instead of Plainfield annexing Dunellen, this town will be annexing Plainfield, at its present rate of growth," said J. Newton Apgar, one of Dunellen's progressive citizens, at a meeting of the Board of Trade in that place, last night. This statement was prompted by an article agitating consolidation published exclusively in the Daily Press last week and evoked considerable discussion on all sides. Mr. Apgar's startling statement was received with a grain of humor when first offered, but the speaker expressed himself so emphatically on the issue before he finished talking that those present at the session are all firmly convinced that Plainfield, North Plainfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood and other suburbs tucked away in the nooks around this portion of Central New Jersey, will one day be included in a greater Dunellen.

H. D. Smith, another member of the Board, announced at the meeting that there was no immediate danger of Dunellen considering the consolidation question, intimating that that borough was too far progressive for this city and North Plainfield. It was stated that definite steps have been planned along this line, however, and each member of the Board will be sent a letter prior to the September meeting at which time the question will be given further consideration.

President E. J. Dusel suggested that a Boy Scout Day be conducted in Dunellen, on Labor Day, with the following events as a part of the program: A parade of scouts in full uniform, field day events, school children's events and an open-air dance. The report of Chairman J. Newton Apgar, of the finance committee, was received on the Fourth of July celebration and showed a balance of $108.24. Edward Daniels was admitted to membership.

Plainfield was further implicated in the civic affairs of the borough when Mr. Apgar complained that the gates at the Washington avenue crossing of the Central Railroad were let down when a train left Plainfield and traffic was therefore delayed unnecessarily for a period of ten or fifteen minutes. It was suggested that the gateman wait until the engine gets within sight of the Dunellen station before lowering the protectors.

METHODISTS PLAN FOR BIG DAY AT THE SHORE

One of the largest excursions from this city to Asbury Park, this season, will be that of the Methodist Sunday-schools of Dunellen, Monroe Avenue, Grace and First M. E. churches, Heavenly Rest Episcopal, Evona and Watchung chapels and New Market Baptist, which will go to the shore tomorrow. The excursion will leave the North Avenue station at 8:15 o'clock in two sections. Returning, the first section will leave Asbury Park at 7:10 and the second section five minutes later. They will stop at all of the Plainfield stations.

The committee in charge of the outing, of which Samuel Bingaman is chairman, has completed all arrangements for an enjoyable outing at the shore, where the season is now at its heighth. All of the attractions are in full swing. A dip in the ocean is alone worth the price of a ticket.

SPICER EMPLOYES' PICNIC.

Final arrangements have been made for the fourth annual outing of the Spicer Mutual Aid Society, an organization composed of the employes of the two plants of the Spicer Manufacturing Company. The trip this year will, as heretofore, be made to Highland Beach, a special train having been chartered. The start from this city will be made at 7:30, while the return trip is scheduled for 9 o'clock. Refreshments will be served on the train both going and on the return trip.

APPROACHING WEDDING.

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Louisa Adaline Kirch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Kirch, of West Sixth street, to Julius Henry Borman, of East Second street, the wedding to take place Wednesday, August 12, at the home of the bride's parents.

TRIFLED WITH COURT, HE IS SENT TO JAIL

"Paddy" Lyons Did Not Stay Out of Town and He Gets Two Months.

Charles, alias "Paddy" Lyons, Bert Vail, a sailor, and Mrs. Mary Cahill, were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning charged with disorderly conduct and Lyons and the woman were given terms of sixty days each in the Union county jail at Elizabeth. The trio were arrested by Patrolman Thomas Flatley after his attention had been called to a disorder in the west end of the city last night. Vail and the woman pleaded guilty to being in the vicinity of the disturbance and because of her previous bad record the woman was sent to jail. She has been arraigned eight times on a disorderly charge and has served time in jail. Vail was allowed to go back to his ship on which he is due today. When arrested the sailor had $40 in cash in his pockets and the apprehension ended a day of celebrating on land with Lyons.

Lyons was sent to jail in accordance with an order made by the court when he was last arraigned here on a charge of fighting. At that time he was allowed to go with a sixty day sentence suspended over his head providing he would get out of the city and stay out, having been classed as an "undesirable" citizen. Shortly after being banished he returned to town and has been hanging about the streets ever since. Two weeks ago Lyons was arrested on a warrant sworn out by the Middlesex county authorities and while waiting removal to that county in the local jail he twice attempted suicide. A close watch is being maintained over him at the present time to prevent a suicidal attempt.

COULD NOT PROVE THAT WOMAN STOLE THE MONEY

Accused of having taken $62 from a pocketbook concealed in the trunk of Mrs. Anna Pollack, in whose home she was a boarder at 352 Arlington avenue, Mary Rushneck was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, and after a lengthy hearing was given the benefit of the doubt and allowed to go free. According to evidence submitted in the case the defendant was seen coming from the room of the complainant, but the fact that she had the stolen money in her possession was not proven to the satisfaction of the court.

The Rushneck woman had been a boarder in the Pollack home, along with four others, for two years prior to the theft and during that time it is said that several minor robberies have been committed in the house. Isaac Kunzman represented the defendant and William Newcorn was counsel for the complainant. This was Mr. Kunzman's first case in the courts, he having recently begun the practice of law here.

PRINTER'S STATE LEAGUE TO MEET AT RAHWAY

At the Printer's State League convention, which will be held at Rahway next Sunday, the local Typographical Union will be represented by three delegates. The business to be transacted will include the consideration of a method by which the State organization may be supplied with funds. At a recent meeting of the organization in Jersey City, a committee was appointed to investigate various means, and this committee, it is understood, will recommend an annual payment into the State organization's treasury of $6 by each of the twenty-six local unions.

One of the chief uses of this money will be to send a fraternal delegate to the annual convention of typographical unions of the Eastern district of Pennsylvania. This district has organized in a manner similar to the New Jersey League, and has indicated that it will send delegates to the State conventions.

BACK TO ELIZABETH.

Patrick Donovan, aged seventy-three, who has spent considerable time as a prisoner in the Union county jail at Elizabeth, was sentenced to a term of sixty days this morning in the city court by Judge DeMeza when he was arraigned on a charge of vagrancy. Donovan was banished from the Industrial Home for creating a disturbance some time ago and since that time has been wandering at large about the city. He was arrested by Roundsman Saffron.

LEFT INFANT IN A VACANT HOUSE

Woman Who Attempted to Dispose of New Born Baby Arrested Here.

OTHERS IMPLICATED

Sergeant Higgins Does Good Work on Mysterious Case Brought to the Attention of the Local Authorities at Noon Today.

Some good sleuthing on the part of Sergeant Maurice Higgins, early this afternoon, brought to justice a woman who is being held at police headquarters on a serious charge and whose apprehension will probably result in the extradition of a colored man from Virginia to this State. Shortly after noon Chief Kiely received a telephone call from a woman living on East Third street, who stated that a mysterious woman had visited an adjoining house and left the body of a new born baby.

Apparently under the pretense of going through the vacant house as a possible tenant the woman was seen to enter the front door by the neighbor with a bundle in her hand. Fifteen minutes elapsed before she came out and it was noticed that she was minus her bundle. Suspicious of the woman, whose actions belied her guilt, the neighbor went to the house after the mysterious woman's departure and after a short tour of investigation found the bundle stuffed in a toilet. Removing the obstruction and unwrapping the strong paper which held it the neighbor beheld the body of the infant, life being extinct.

Chief Kiely put Sergeant Higgins on the case immediately upon being notified and by some good detective work pieced the meague evidence together until he centered the guilt around one Mamie Booker and brought her to headquarters. Confronted with the charge the woman broke down and admitting her culpability in the crime and implicated two others.

Through information secured from the prisoner, Chief Kiely learned that the baby was born last night at the home of the Rev. Alexander Trent, pastor of the Saints of Christ and Church of God, and that Eleanor Hatchett, his niece, is the mother. The latter is nineteen years of age.

City Physician Norman W. Currie was called into the case this after noon and the police are making a further investigation in the mater. According to the Hatchett girl a man now living in Virginia is the father of the child and it is probable that his arrest will be ordered by the local authorities.

SUCCEEDS TO BUSINESS OWNED BY HIS UNCLE

Will F. Williams, of Westervelt avenue, who was employed for the past twenty-five years by his late uncle, Mulford Estil, the Park avenue stationer, is now the proprietor of the business through a provision made by his uncle as a reward for faithful and conscientious work, during the lifetime of the deceased.

Edward Tomlinson, who was in the employ of Mr. Estil for fifteen years, will continue with Mr. Williams as clerk. The business will be carried on in the same efficient maner as during the thirty-nine years that it was conducted by Mr. Estil.

FUNERAL OF MRS. J. R. POPE.

Plains & Fanwood.

The members of the Fanwood Fire Company will meet in monthly session this evening at 8 o'clock. The maps of the borough showing the location of the fire hydrants and macadamized roads in the borough, presented to the company by Frank Palmer have been placed in a prominent place in the firehouse where they can be consulted in finding the nearest hydrant to a fire.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pence and children, of Brooklyn, are visiting the Misses Kyte, on Martine avenue.

Now that the books in the Fanwood Public Library have been newly indexed a rigid account of the time they are kept out over the prescribed time will be noted and a fine of two cents a day will be imposed. The board of trustees are adding new books as fast as possible and the library now numbers close to twelve hundred books. If Miss Bettman sells the dwelling to which the library as well as the postoffice is attached, other arrangements will have to be made. A larger circulation is shown each month and Librarian Anson is constantly adding new books to the Plains library.

The resignation of Miss Carrie Bettman as postmistress of the borough postoffice, after thirty-two years of service, takes effect August 1, and then the people will know the result. No one took the examination for the position and unless a special provision is made the office will have to close, as there will be no one to run it. Although the examination was taken a month ago it is not yet known who secured the position at Scotch Plains. Several people took the examination for the position.

The crusade against the speeding of automobiles in the borough and township has started, but in the opinion of Marshals Logan and Ashton, they will have to be supplied with motorcycles in order to catch autoists going at a thirty-mile an hour clip. They have called on different parties to stop and even tried to run them down on a bicycle, but were unsuccessful. Special attention is being paid to South avenue, a State inspector patroling that thoroughfare last week.

The Ladies' Aid Society of All Saints' Episcopal church, is making arrangements for the holding of a cake, candy and fancy article sale in the Fanwood firehouse on Saturday afternoon and evening. The members of the society will be in charge of the different booths and the proceeds will be for the benefit of the church.

A meeting of the borough Board of Health was held in the Fanwood firehouse last evening. From the reading of the minutes of a meeting a number of years ago, it was found that a plumbing ordinance is spoken of that none of those on the present Board were aware of and it was decided to look into the old ordinance before adopting any new one.

Mrs. James MacNamee, of Terrill road, is spending a few weeks at Asbury Park.

E. J. Rhoades has returned to his home on Midway avenue after a business trip of three weeks in England.

Mrs. Philip S. Dufford, of German Valley, is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Margaret Woodhull, of Morristown.

Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, of Elizabeth, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Enos Parker, of German Valley.

Somerville

Jacob C. Henry, proprietor of the Central garage, of this place, is carrying his left hand in a sling because of an accident received on Sunday while making some repairs to an auto. He was working at a bench, and in trying to dislodge a piece of metal a long precussion cap, which had been picked up in mistake for a piece of steel, was used as a punch. In the hurry to accomplish the work at hand the precussion cap was not noticed and when Mr. Henry struck it a smart blow the cap exploded, stripping almost all of the flesh from the fingers of his left hand. How the cap got into the box of miscellaneous metal is not known, but Mr. Henry blames no one for the accident, which he says was purely accidental. It is hoped that no serious results will ensue.

At a special meeting of the borough Council, held last night, to consider street matters, it was decided to purchase a carload of tarvia and a quantity of crushed stone for repairs to Franklin, Division and other streets. It was also reported that the trolley company will in the near future place its tracks in East Somerville in the center of the street east to the borough line, and also lengthen the switch in front of Somerset Hospital in order to do away with the nuisance complained of at that point.

M. H. Burke and daughter have gone to the Catskills for a stay of a few weeks.

Marshal Hanlon, yesterday, arrested Christopher Dapadopna, a Greek, for selling on the streets without a license. He was arraigned before Recorder Sutphen, who fined him $5 and costs.

Abram Smith, who is employed in Plainfield, was struck by the pony and cart driven by Joseph Duff while opposite Charles Taylor's place of business, last night, and knocked down. Mr. Smith received a number of cuts about the head, which required the attention of a physician. Mr. Smith was crossing the street leading to the depot soon after stepping from the train when he was knocked down. After being attended to by Dr. Long he was removed to his home on Fairview avenue.

Gaetano DiValo, who was arrested at Rocky Hill last Thursday charged with the murder of Gaeton Barbato, at Boston, in June, together with Mrs. Barbato, with whom he had eloped, were taken to Boston from the Somerset county jail yesterday afternoon, requisition papers having been secured by the detectives from that place.

Mr. and Mrs. James Amerman, of Stronghurst, Ill., are spending several months with the latter's brother, H. N. Amerman and wife, of West Main street.

Miss Frances Labaw is spending a few days with friends at Cranford.

Miss Esther Ensinger, of New Rochelle, L. I., is spending some time with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Keenan, of East Main street.

It now develops that the residence of Tom Cohen, of this place, was not entered by thieves on Sunday night. The young lady employed in the house by Mrs. Cohen had returned home after the family had retired for the night, and was sitting on the rear porch with a young man, and the family becoming alarmed at their presence, as she was not expected back until the next day, raised a hue and cry for the police and Mr. Cohen started out of the front door to look for an officer. The couple then hurriedly left, but acknowledged their presence, yesterday, when the police made an investigation.

WILL TOUR LONG ISLAND.

Clarence M. Haight, William Giles, A. G. Nelson and their families, left this morning in Mr. Haight's Cadillac and Hupmobile for a week's tour of Long Island. At the wheel of one car was Mr. Haight and at the other Roy Scandell.

CLOSES SEVERAL DEALS.

Real Estate Operator John P. Fenner has just closed a deal in which he sold two of his lots to Clarence Ball, of Toronto. One of these lots is on Second street and the other is on Mountainview Terrace between aforesaid avenues. Mr. Fenner has sold one of his lots on Washington avenue opposite Maurer Oval to Miss Brown, of Penfield place, who will build shortly.

COVERED NINETY-FOUR MILES.

William Taylor, of Lincoln avenue, and Horace and Charles VanArsdale, of Plainfield, cycled on Sunday through Trenton to Morrisville, Pa. The round trip totaled 94 miles. They made it in a leisurely fashion, leaving this place at 6 o'clock in the morning and arriving home at the same hour in the evening.

Albert Haver and son, Earl, of Front street, visited Mr. Haver's brother-in-law, John Thompson, of Whitehouse, on Sunday.

TO PRESENT A FLAG.

The local order of Juniors and the local P. O. S. of A., have "clubed" together with the intention of presenting the Board of Education with a large American flag for the new Lincoln School on Labor Day. There will be a large parade in which all the orders of Juniors and posts of the P. O. S. of A. from neighboring towns, who have no previous engagements, will participate. There will also be speaking. The committees in charge are: For the P. O. S. of A., Theodore Voorhees and Edgar and William Shively; for the Juniors, Lewis Schneider, Elwood Gary and Charles E. Tinsman.

Real Estate Operator John P. Fenner has rented his house on Front street east of Washington avenue, to a Mr. Mills, of South Orange, who recently accepted a position with the Harrington Leather Company.

MAKES SCORE OF 154.

Miss Luella Stryker knocked down the pins for the splendid score of 154 on the Presbyterian alleys, last evening. This is the highest score obtained by any person of the feminine gender this year. The highest score made on the alleys by any woman since their opening was made by Mrs. Fred Vail, who rolled 158 last year.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Titsworth, of New Market road, tendered their little son, Randolph, a party last evening in honor of his fourth birthday anniversary. The rooms in which the festivities were held were actistically decorated, the color scheme being blue. The evening was pleasantly spent by the young guests in playing games and listening to music on a victrola. The affair was wound up with the serving of refreshments at 9:30. In the center of the table around which the young host and his guests gathered was a large birthday cake with blue icing and lighted with candles, one for each of Randolph's birthdays. The young guests were Alfred Osmun, Jr., Gertrude Hamilton, Ralph Harris and Gladys Cictson.

One of the sections of this excursion will start from Dunellen. Tickets can be procured from any of the above committee.

FIREMAN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Charles Smith, of Dunellen avenue, who fires one of the night "pushers" on the Central Railroad, had the lids of his eyes badly blistered as the result of a back draught on Saturday night. While Smith was looking in the fire box to see how his fire was the engineer suddenly shut off the steam of the moving engine causing the flames to flare back in Smith's face. It was not until an hour after the incident that Smith fully realized that he had been pretty badly hurt. He at once telephoned to Jersey City for relief. He will not return to work inside of a couple of weeks, at least.

Contractor John Fedderman has been awarded the contract of laying a concrete walk along the frontage of the Frank Broshart residence on Front street.

GETS VERDICT FOR $100.

Vicenzo Tozze, the North avenue barber, was awarded a verdict of $100 by a jury in a case tried before Judge Connolly, at Elizabeth, yesterday, in which he sued Moose Lodge, No. 310, of Plainfield, for $500, for alleged sick benefits, interest and charges due him as the result of a thirteen weeks' illness in 1913. The defendants, through their physician, Dr. Carl A. Gesswein, claimed that Tozze was not ill at the time. Dr. Commorato, of Jersey City, testified for the plaintiff. A certificate of illness from a physician in Italy, where Mr. Tozze went for his health, was admitted into evidence. Victor DeLoio, of Elizabeth, was attorney for the plaintiff, and Francis J. Blatz, of Plainfield, for the defendants.

AUTO BREAKS DOWN.

An automobile proceeding in a westerly direction along North avenue, last evening, was driven close to the side of the street as it neared Jackson avenue and as a result one of the front wheels of the car dropped off of the crosswalk into a gutter, bending the axle and throwing the occupants against the windshield, breaking it. The fact that the car was only going at a moderate rate of speed at the time was the only thing that saved the occupants of the car from serious injury. The Stryker garage was notified and the machine was hauled there for repairs. The management of the garage was unable to give the name of the two who occupied the car.

Mrs. Roger L. Cooley, of Dunellen avenue, who has been in a very critical condition for the past three weeks, was very low last evening. Four physicians were called in consultation.

NEW USE FOR GASOMETERS.

London, July 21.—The well known Dutch aviator Lugard has come forth with a suggestion to put to a new use the huge gas tanks which are to be found in practically every city and town in Europe and America. Observing that these tanks are usually the first and most conspicuous object among the architectural features of a town, the aviator has suggested to the International Aerial Society that they be used as flying men's landmarks. He would paint the great flat top of the gasometer with the points of the compass and with great letters conveying the code indication of the town and district. A gasometer seen from above is a large circle, like no other erection, and experiments prove that letters painted on it can be clearly read at a height of 6,000 feet. It is suggested that the index letters be arranged so that one or a combination of not more than two letters represent the district. The numbers would refer to the various towns in the district according to an internationally drawn up list.

GOOD ROADS MEETING AT BUTTE.

Butte, Mont., July 21.—The fifth annual convention of the Intermountain Good Roads Association, which convened here today for a session of three days, is the largest and most important meeting of its kind ever held in this section of the country. SUPERFLOUS OFFICERS.

Former State Senator George O. Vanderbilt, of Princeton, has been contributing a series of interesting articles to the Trenton Times on the subject of tax burdens. He refers to "hundreds of unnecessary offices, many uncalled for laws, and a continual increasing of salaries, until both salaries and taxes have reached a high water mark, and threaten to drown the poor taxpayer." The subject is certainly a timely one, and a cause for comment everywhere in the State.

There is not a county where there are not unnecessary officeholders, whose work, or the work of whose departments could not be done by clerks under the direct supervision of one or two heads of departments. It is a well known fact that nearly every state and county office, and many city ones are held by men who do nothing but draw the salary, visit the office once in a while and look wise, leaving the actual work to be done by clerks who receive small pay, and who know more about the department than does the titular head.

In this condition, referring especially to Mercer county, but in words equally applicable to every county of the State, the Trenton Times sees an opportunity to editorially suggest that the people select legislative candidates pledged to a systematic reduction of salaries. Says the Times:

Within a few weeks nominations to the Assembly will be made. The Legislature at the instigation of the politicians and office holders fixed the salaries of the elective county officers and it alone can reduce them. The voters should nominate men who can be depended upon to assist in putting the salaries back where they belong. At the ballot box the taxpayers have an opportunity to make themselves felt. There should be a readjustment.

Neither the state, county nor city should pay more for service than is paid by individuals or private corporations for similar work. There is an advantage in the shorter days, the numerous holidays, steady employment, certain pay and protection of tenure that makes public office more attractive than private service. A Progressive movement looking toward more economical and efficient government would be popular in these days, under capable and honest leadership.

To which Mr. Common People will add "So may it be!"

There is not a Plainfielder, whether a member of the organization or not, who does not point to the new home of the local lodge of Elks, as one of the show places of the city. We doubt whether there is as handsome a building owned by any other lodge in the State. Founded upon the principle of loyalty, the organization has grown not only here, but all over the country into a powerful body with a wonderful membership, as was disclosed at the recent fiftieth annual session of the Grand Lodge, held at Denver. Statistics there made public show that there are now 308,083 Elks in 961 lodges, and the order is growing steadily. It is especially developing the benevolent features, and in its "Big Brother" movement alone is caring for 5,000 children. Of late years the order has become much stronger in the east, after having been most influential for good throughout the west, so that now all over the country its lodges are important centers of activity in every way.

More than a few people believe that Charles N. Fowler will "come back" this year, and be successful in landing the Republican nomination for Congress. He will have a worthy opponent in John H. Capstick, for he is the first Congressional candidate from Morris county for twenty years within his party. Fowler has one man out against him in Union conunty, and if they should divide the vote that Capstick does not get in Union and the latter pulls a strong vote in his home county, he will come pretty near to landing the nomination.

Begins to look suspiciously as if Bryan was already preparing to run for the presidency in 1916. Hasn't he seen the handwriting on the wall, and declared for woman suffrage, after a silence on the subject, which was more sphinx-like than "our Jim" when we were trying to find out something about the postmastership?

The new president of Mexico spells his name Carbajal, and it is pronounced Car-bah-hahl. We don't know whether it is worth while handing this information on or not, because there may be still another president by the time the paper is published today.

The members of the police department have started target practice. It's a good scheme to try their skill on a bullseye. Stray dogs as a usual thing do not permit as reliable practice marks as a stationary target.

Plainfield undoubtedly has a few kickers, but there are some people who would kick if they were born millionaires. They appear to be necessary evils, and make us appreciate the pleasant citizen all the more.

Heard on the street:

"By the way, what has happened to that Second street city hall proposition, and the auto-bus ordinance?" "Aw! quit your kidding, it's too hot."

FUNERAL OF VETERAN LETTER-CARRIER HELD

The funeral of Andrew R. Freeman, for thirty-three years a letter carrier in Newark, was held at 8 o'clock last night, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. DeWitt C. Fulton, in New Market. Rev. Dr. T. E. Vassar, pastor of the Baptist church, that place, officiated. The burial took place today in Fairmount cemetery, Newark.

Mr. Freeman was appointed a letter-carrier July 21, 1881, by the late General Ward, then postmaster, so that had he lived until today he would have rounded out exactly thirty-three years in the service. For a number of years Mr. Freeman spent the week ends at the home of his daughter.

Mr. Freeman for many years served the old "35 route," below the Pennsylvania Railroad, which included the lower end of South street, Thomas, Parkhurst, Emmet and Wright streets and Avenue C. The route was an extensive one and was composed mostly of factories up to within a few years ago, when it was split up. Besides Mrs. Fulton, Mr. Freeman is survived by another daughter and a son.

ANOTHER PARTY PREPARING FOR CAMP WAWAYANDA

C. William Bingeman, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A., returned from Camp Wawayanda, today, to take charge of the third section of boys who will leave for camp on Thursday morning on the 6:27 train from the North Avenue station. Ten boys will make the trip, while seven of the second section will return the same day, leaving thirteen local lads in camp. Those going are: Walter Brown, Walter Penny, Seymour Cone, William Urch, Randolph Stahl, John Endress, Norman McGee, Warren Mumford, Wallace Wegleu and Gustiv Wegleu.

The activities at camp have been greatly hindered so far by bad weather. Holmes Clawson won one of the principal events of the summer by capturing the 220 yard dash for the unlimited class. Aquatic sports are forming the principal pastime, all of those not able to swim being taught. During the last two weeks there has been one hundred and fifty boys at camp, establishing a high water mark, it being the largest number there at one time.

William D. Murray, president of the local association and a member of the executive committee, spent the week-end in camp and made the Sunday address. His subject was "The Necessity of Making An Early Decision," and was greatly appreciated by the boys.

Exposition and Sale All This Week of The Famous "Rivoli" Silk Hosiery

Don't fail to see the big window display showing the various processes in the making of Silk Hosiery. See the wonderful display of Silk Worms. "Rivoli" Silk Hosiery is a New Jersey product. Their factory in Newark, is one of the best of its kind in the world. We show a number of pictures of it in the window. Here are Silk Stockings that are different—different in the silk, different in the making, different in the wearing. Made by a special process having an inner lining of strong material under the silk sole, heel and toe, combining the strongest wear and best appearance. Yet they cost no more than the ordinary kinds. $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.98. In all the fashionable colors, also black and white.

There's a Reason

For the big Trunk business we're doing, the biggest in the history of the department. It seems like a steady procession coming and going all day long. You have only to take a glance at the trunks and the prices they are marked at to learn the reason for the immense selling. People have learned by experience that it pays to come here for trunks, knowing that we not only have the best at the very lowest prices, but that we also carry the largest assortments in the city. If you contemplate buying a trunk for your vacation trip, don't fail to see the big bargains we are offering in good wearing, reliable trunks.

PROPOSED SALE OF HOUSE FOR PORTERS CAUSES STIR

Roselle, July 21—Residents of the fashionable section of Roselle Park have been worried by the announcement that George Reiss, of Grove street, Elizabeth, is negotiating with the Pullman Car Company to sell his house in Grant avenue near Chestnut street, for a "layover" where colored porters of the company may rest between runs.

Mr. Reiss has been trying to dispose of his property for several months and declares that the representative of the Pullman company told him he would report the terms favorably. The Reiss residence is in the heart of the fashionable section of Roselle Park and directly opposite the new $30,000 First Methodist Episcopal church now under construction.

SAYS MANY MORE FARMERS COULD DO WELL IN JERSEY

Trenton, July 21—"New Jersey as a farming State has been overlooked by the immigrant, and is not appreciated as it should be by our citizens," declares Franklin Dye, State secretary of agriculture. "The fact that we have more than 1,000,000 acres of land still untouched by the plow is evidence of the first statement, and, secondly, we have not advertised our State as a leading farming and market garden State. Territorially, New Jersey is not large, so that her aggregate crop yields seem small compared with States with a much larger area, but when it comes to yield per acre and per man engaged, this State is in the first rank.

"All farm property in New Jersey amounts to $255,000,000. The annual yield of the State's 33,487 farms has been increasing from year to year. Our dairy animals have a value of $12,000,000. In poultry and poultry products New Jersey stands in the front rank of progress, having a value exceeding $5,000,000.

"For diversity of soils and products the State is unexcelled, all products indigenous to this attitude, being successfully grown there. Alfalfa, the coming crop of our entire State, is increasing in acreage each year, the sandy soils producing it luxuriantly. And it might be said that New Jersey offers an inviting field for up-to-date farmers with its many attractions.

"The great consuming population within the State and upon its borders must also be taken into consideration. Seaside resorts from Sandy Hook on the north to Cape May on the south, with their hundreds of thousands of summer and winter boarders; New York, Jersey City, Newark and other cities on the north, with Philadelphia on the south, with State road and railroad transportation not found in any other territory of equal size, give the producers of farm products an anusual opportunity for marketing what they produce."

CO. K PREPARING FOR A WEEK IN CAMP

Soldier Boys Will Leave Here Saturday on Special Train for Sea Girt.

The armory of Company K on West Front street will be open every night this week to issue necessary equipment and get in readiness for the annual encampment at Sea Girt, which begins Saturday. The majority of the local boys were examined last night at headquarters by Dr. Bunting, of Elizabeth, and those who were not will have a chance later. Captain Peterson has ordered all members of the company to be ready for assembly at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning and the company will march to the station, where they will board a special train. Company M, of Somerville, will also go at the same time.

The first day will be spent in getting the camp ready and the headquarters' tent will be erected by a corporal and several privates. Six hours a day will be spent in drilling. Wednesday afternoon the local company will start on a bivouac and the next day they will work out a war problem and return home Thursday night. Friday will be Governor's day and the camp will be inspected by Governor Fielder. The Plainfield boys will come home on Saturday, August 1.

OLDEST ODD FELLOW, LONG LOST, IS FOUND

Jacob Van Bruit Stilwell, ninety-four years old, and said to be the oldest living Odd Fellow, who disappeared after he came ashore from an excursion steamboat at the Battery, Saturday, was found in a helpless semi-conscious condition at Eighty-sixth and West Ninth streets, Gravesend, Brooklyn, by Mounted Policeman O'Brien. The aged man, whose home is in Morristown, was unable to walk further.

O'Brien asked him where he was going, and he said he did not know. He was sent to Coney Island Hospital, where his identity was disclosed by letters in his pockets, and later to the Kings County Hospital to recuperate. There his son, Edmund W. Stilwell, of Morristown, called upon him after being notified by the police.

KILLS WOMAN AND HIMSELF.

Washington, July 21—Lee Newcombe, a private in the United States Engineer Corps at the Washington barracks, shot and killed Mrs. Bessie M. Roberts and then killed himself in the woman's apartments early today. Mrs. Roberts was twenty-six years old and the wife of a fellow private in the same company as Newcombe.

GOING ABROAD.

Mrs. Calvin Sutton, of the borough, sailed today on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, of the North German Lloyd fleet for a visit with relatives. She will return in the fall. Miss Cecelia VanDyke, of East Ninth street, sailed on the same steamer, and will go to her native home in Pressburg, Hungary. Passage was secured through Williams' agency, established by Mulford Estil in 1888.

MISS ANNA GORDON.

Miss Anna Gordon, who succeeded to the presidency of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union upon the death of Mrs. C. M. N. Stevens some months ago, was born in Boston, July 21, 1853. Her education was received at Mt. Holyoke College. She first became interested in the temperance movement in 1877 and for twenty-one years she acted as private secretary to Miss Frances E. Willard. For a number of years she served as honorary secretary of the World's W. C. T. U. and as vice president of the National W. C. T. U. But it is as the friend of the children that Miss Gordon is perhaps best known on both sides of the Atlantic. As general secretary of the World's Loyal Temperance Legion (or that branch of the W. C. T. U. work devoted to the boys and girls of her own and other countries) she has made a large place for herself in the hearts and in the lives of the world's young people.

MANY BIDS RECEIVED FOR SCHOOL WORK

Borough Authorities Will Make Extensive Improvements This Year.

Many bids were opened last night by the North Plainfield Board of Education, at its special meeting, held in the Somerset School to consider proposals for the $11,000 improvement to be made in the Somerset School. Architect Charles H. Smith yesterday conducted the contractors figuring on the work through the structure, outlining the various suggestions and recommendations made by the Board at a recent meeting. Separate proposals were received for the mason work, carpenter work, electrical work and steam fixtures. Although it was at first proposed to have the work completed during the summer months and to put the structure in condition for occupany in the fall indications at the present time do not promise the completion of the work by the opening of the school term in September.

Last year the Board advertised for bids for the installation of new toilets and this work was not finished until long after the opening of school in the fall. The remodeling had to be done during school hours and caused considerable annoyance to the pupils and teachers. Those interested in the present plans are endeavoring to push matters as much as possible.

W. H. Denick was the lowest bidder for the mason work, presenting figures of $5,978. The other bids were as follows: Townley Brothers, $7,214; W. C. Smith, $6,932; W. H. Pangborn & Son, $6,697. C. T. McDonald was the lowest bidder for the carpenter work. His figures were $5,352. Other proposals were George D. Wilson, $6,791; Alexander Milne, $5,949; Fred Schuck, $9,000, Walter Apgar, $8,104.94. The electrical work called for a bid of $479 from H. R. Miller & Son, these figures being $506 lower than the firm's nearest opponent. Other bids were H. H. Apgar, $1,089.80; E. A. Craig, $987, and A. B. Laing, $1,185. Only one proposal was received for steam fixtures and that was offered by C. M. Dutcher, who bid $758.

W. L. GLOAK WILL BE A CANDIDATE, IT IS SAID

Rumors to the effect that former Councilman William L. Gloak, of East Second street, would become a candidate for the nomination for the office he held for several years at the primaries this fall, are current today. Mr. Gloak served about fourteen years in the Common Council, and was a member of all of the important committees, and was chairman of several of them. He declined to run two years ago, when U. B. Crane became the candidate of the Republican party to succeed him, and the present incumbent, A. D. Edgar, candidate for the Progressive ticket.

The latter won the contest in a three-cornered fight. Mr. Edgar has already announced his desire to retire, and the wish that Mr. Gloak would again become a candidate has been heard on many sides. Whether Mr. Gloak would seek the office which he declined two years ago is not known, but his being familiar with the routine of business of the city fathers would make him as strong a candidate as the Republicans could put forth at this time, his friends say.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE HOLDS ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

The Union County Republican Executive Committee held an enthusiastic meeting at Elizabeth, last evening, at which time every section of the county was well represented. The attendance was the largest that has been at the mid-summer gatherings of the committee for several years, practically the entire membership being present.

Formal announcement was made by Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, of his candidacy for the nomination for Assembly at the fall primaries. This was the only announcement of this character. Several matters concerning the pre-primary campaign were discussed to some extent, but no definite action was taken. The annual outing to Witzel's Grove, to be held this year on Saturday, August 15, was discussed at length, the final arrangements for this occasion being made.

The present committee, as is the case with those of other parties, goes out of office during the week following primary day, members of various committees being elected by the voters at that time. One representative is chosen from each election district. Committeemen are appointed by the central committee after its organization, for those districts failing to elect their delegates to these bodies.

NEW HAVEN SUIT A CERTAINTY NOW

McReynolds Refuses to Abandon Criminal Action.

Washington, July 21.—Attorney General McReynolds was requested by four members of the board of directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway company to abandon his contemplated criminal action against the directors of that company who were responsible for the looting of the road and the waste of millions of dollars belonging to stockholders in the company. The attorney general positively refused to listen to the proposition.

President Hustis issued a statement in which he said that the directors had found it impossible to yield to the restrictions placed by the Massachusetts legislature upon the sale of its Boston and Maine stock and that he expected the attorney general would proceed to file a suit.

The attorney general announced that he would take up the matter with President Wilson at the cabinet meeting. Officials of the department of justice admitted informally that the last doubt had been removed as to the filing of the suit.

The proposal which the committee of the directors submitted to the department of justice in an effort to stave off the projected suit was that the dissolution of the Boston and Maine be made a separate issue from the other phases of the reorganization plan which was agreed upon last January. They proposed to accept a decree embodying all other phases of the reorganization plan, leaving the Boston and Maine out.

TABLES TURNED ON WEISS IN BOROUGH POLICE COURT

When Henry Weiss, of Regent street, appeared in the borough police court last night as complainant against Grover Schuck whom he charged with letting his chickens run at large, he was given a reprimand by Recorder Hand and requested to keep personal grievances out of court. In disposing of the case originally lodged against Schuck, Recorder Hand took occasion to reprimand Weiss for taking up the court's time with such trival and groundless charges and the complainant in the case was made the defendant before the proceedings were ended.

Schuck was charged with not providing proper yards for his poultry to be confined in but the allegations proved to be without foundation.

GUNMAN EXTRADITED.

Dominic Shirrelo, the New York gunman, arrested by Sergeant Higgins, of the local police force in South Plainfield several weeks ago, was extradited to New York State this afternoon. He is wanted by the authorities of that State for a part in a holdup and robbery committed there June 15.

'I SHOT CALMETTE TO SAVE MY HONOR'

Mme. Caillaux Did Not Mean to Kill Editor.

WAITED HOUR FOR VICTIM

Stood at His Door With Pistol In Her Muff Until He Returned—Tells of Events Leading Up to the Tragedy. Feared Publication of Love Letters. Court Hears Thrilling Story.

Paris, July 21.—"I shot Gaston Calmette because I knew he was about to publish love letters sent by me to my husband, Joseph Caillaux, before he was divorced from his first wife, Mme. Gueydan.

"These letters were stolen from M. Caillaux by his first wife, who wished to ruin me because her husband loved me."

This is the essence, the note struck again and again by Mme. Caillaux, wife of one of the most powerful politicians in France, before the assize court in the Palace of Justice. She, whose husband was prime minister and minister of finance, was placed on trial accused of having killed Gaston Calmette, the influential editor of the Figaro, in his office on March 16 last.

Calmly Mme. Caillaux told of her life before her marriage to the ex-premier, of her divorce from Leo Claretie in 1903, after years of unhappiness. It was in 1911 that she married Joseph Caillaux, then prime minister.

"We had for each other the deepest affection," said Mme. Caillaux. "My husband confided in me his most intimate dreams. He made me his full associate, both in the home and outside; his political ups and downs were mine also.

Attacks Drove Her to Despair.

"The abominable campaign of Le Figaro began two years ago," said Mme. Caillaux. "It is impossible to enumerate the perfidies accumulated against my husband. They accused him of being interested in foreign banks and spread evil stories, all calumnies, on his private life. Upon opening a newspaper I would read 'Caillaux sells Kongo to Germany,' or some other vicious charge.

"When my husband became minister of finance the attacks became more and more exasperating. Mr. Calmette pretended that M. Caillaux struck bargains with financial houses, and having been met by repeated denials Calmette fell back upon private letters. Every night I saw my husband return home, preoccupied, harrassed.

"Friday, the 13th of March, Le Figaro published the letter signed 'Ton Jo.' Then it was no longer myself trying to calm my husband in our home, but he was endeavoring to allay my fears. I was stunned. Only one person could have given that letter to Calmette and the same person held two other intimate letters addressed to me by my husband before our marriage. Then must I but wait and see the publication of these, too?"

No Way to Silence Calmette.

Mme. Caillaux explained that these letters also contained references to her husband's political past and explained his attitude on certain questions. She told of seeing Judge Moncer, who told her there was no legal way of preventing the publication of the letters.

Every ear strained to catch each word as Mme. Caillaux falteringly told of the actual tragedy in the Figaro office.

"It was 5:15 when I reached the Figaro office in my automobile," said the witness. "I asked for Mr. Calmette, and he was not in. For about an hour I waited, thinking of the coming interview. I felt my revolver concealed in my muff. I did not expect to make use of it, but as a reflex action my hand pressed hard upon it as if to assure me it was there. It was shortly after 6 o'clock when M. Calmette arrived.

"I sent in my card in a sealed envelope by an attendant. Then I slipped the revolver from its case and held it naked in my hand. But I did not wish to kill him or even wound him. I only prepared for eventualities, not knowing what would happen."

Mme. Caillaux said it was her desire to keep her visit to the editor secret but she heard him say, "Show Mme Caillaux in."

"I knew every one in the building would know of my presence," she said. "The blood beat at my temples. There was a drumming in my ears. When the attendant again appeared I could only stand up and say, 'Here I am!'

"'You probably know the object of my visit,' I said.

"'I do not. Please sit down,' he answered.

"I had spoken without knowing what I said. I could not take my eyes from him. I lost my head. I killed him.

"After pulling my revolver from my muff I continued to press the trigger. I continued to shoot, though I had no desire to kill or even to wound when I entered the office."

SHEDS CLOTHES.

London, July 21.—Since the first of this month London has sweltered in heat such as has not been experienced since 1911, the coronation year of King George, when Britain had a summer of sunshine seldom experienced in this county. One can understand that a yearning to shed clothes during the present torrid spell has been almost overwhelming, but it is rather startling to hear a well known young society lady boasting to her friends that she motored for several miles through the most fashionable section of London clad in nothing but a white silk wrapper and a hat and veil. If the car had come to grief even that particular young lady might have been embarrassed.

HEARING IN IMPORTANT CASE.

Detroit, Mich., July 21.—The case of the United States against the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flakes Company, of Battle Creek, came up for hearing before the United States Court of Appeals here today. As the case is one of nation-wide importance, certification was granted to have the suit heard by the Court of Appeals instead of going through the District Court first. The question to be decided is whether the Battle Creek concern can fix the price of its product as sold by retail dealers. The company contends that a patent container permits this practice.

SOCIALIST CONGRESS IN VIENNA.

Vienna, July 21.—Representatives from every country of Europe, as well as from the United States, Australia and South Africa, will be present at the tenth International Socialist Congress, which is to be held in Vienna next month. Resolutions and reports on the following subjects will form the chief matter of discussion: Imperialism and arbitration, unemployment, the high cost of living, alcoholism, Russian prisoners, equal suffrage, militarism, emigration, co-operation, and the Democratic organization of the industries.

QUEEN VICTORIA LETTERS.

London, July 21.—Some letters of a very intimate character, written by Queen Victoria to the Duchess of Gordon, were placed on public sale at Sotheby's today. In one of these letters, dated in 1842, when King Edward was a baby two months old and his sister a year older, Queen Victoria wrote: "Our little girl is now at a very interesting and amusing age, and is very lively and intelligent. The boy is a fine, strong child, though not as pretty as his sister was at his age."

LEAGUES READY IF PLAYERS QUIT

Fraternity Calls on Members to Refuse to Play.

BAN JOHNSON IS DEFIANT

Says Club Owners Will Close Parks and Keep Them Closed if Strike Materializes—Magnates Hasten to New York to Handle Sudden Crisis—Minor League Player the Cause.

New York, July 21.—Unless every sign fails organized baseball will be plunged into a second war and one presumably more serious than that waged by the Federal league. David L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' fraternity, has ordered a strike among the members of his association, provided the national commission or supreme court of organized baseball does not yield to his point of view in the interpretation of the laws of the diamond. The national commission intends to stand obdurate. The players as stubbornly intend to obey the mandates of their chief.

Mr. Fultz also mailed orders for a walkout of players in both major leagues on Wednesday, providing the commission by that time had not rescinded its ruling in the case of Player Kraft, who, according to Fultz, must draw a salary from the Newark club of the International league instead of from the Nashville club of the Southern association.

It may be said that the commission, composed of August Herrmann, Ban Johnson and Governor John K. Tener of Pennsylvania, will refuse to recognize the fraternity's ultimatum, but it is barely possible that before Wednesday Kraft may be purchased from Nashville by one of the major league clubs, a move that would clear the present cloudy atmosphere.

There is no occasion for strike or dissension, and no question has arisen that would justify the players in taking such a course. J. K. TENER

Johnson Prepared For Fight.

Ban Johnson, boss of the American league, however, is prepared for a fight to a finish. He is eager for the issue. He said that if the American league players went on strike every ball ground in his circuit would be closed, all salaries would be stopped and the striking players would be heavily fined.

Mr. Johnson, after a conference with Secretary John Heydler of the National league, declared that the American league would stand for no compromise in the Kraft case. He said no deal involving Kraft would be recognized by the American league until after Wednesday, the day set for the strike.

President Johnson immediately got in touch with President Charles H. Ebbets and notified him that Kraft should be kept in Newark until after the fraternity had full opportunity to go through with its plan for a general strike.

"Nothing like a compromise will be accepted," said Mr. Johnson after the conference. "The fraternity has sent out its order and now we are going the limit in this case. We will meet a strike if one comes and we certainly will not go out of our way to prevent one."

Mr. Johnson admitted that he had telegraphed to all of the club presidents of the American league to attend a special meeting in this city.

"The American league is ready to meet the issue with a solid front," said Mr. Johnson. "Our club owners are a unit for war. It's about time that this fraternity nonsense should end. We have been very patient with Mr. Fultz and his associates, but they have gone a trifle too far and we intend to call their bluff in a way that will force them to show their hands.

"Mr. Fultz sent out to the fraternity members of each club in the American and National leagues on Sunday a notice to go on strike on Wednesday.

"This decision was arrived at at a secret meeting of the fraternity leaders who also subscribed to an ultimatum which was mailed to Mr. Herrman, chairman of the national commission.

"That this strike will be the last one conducted by Mr. Fultz and his fraternity, for we are prepared to keep our grounds closed for the rest of the season, no matter what it may cost us."

LIDGATE BALKS AND IS FIRED AND FINED

Not contented to wait and see whether the big league baseball strike comes or not, Eugene Lidgate, the Fanwood ball player, and five of his teammates of the Lancaster club, of the Tri-State League, refused to board the train for Allentown yesterday morning, and were consequently released. While at the railroad station the players kicked because they had not received their pay for two weeks back, and would not go to Allentown until they were in possession of their money.

Manager Hooper, who had charge of the team, cancelled the game for yesterday and immediately called the president of the club, who was out of town, to that city. After a short conference he suspended the six players and fined them all the pay that was due them. Besides Lidgate there were two pitchers, two outfielders and an infielder, which will weaken the team considerably. Recruits from big league teams that could be found were signed up so that the team could meet its appointment in Allentown today. Several of the good amateur players in Lancaster offered their services to the manager and the team will play at that place this afternoon.

Lidgate's release will cripple the catching department of that club, as the local leaguer did the majority of the backstop work for his team. As far as playing is concerned he has made good with that combination so far this year and has also been handy with the willow. He will return home today and probably play with some local team for the rest of the season.

ROD AND REEL

Some good catches are being made in Branch Brook Park Lake, in Newark. There are many fishermen who visit that place every day and are rewarded with large catches of perch and black bass. The fish are running from one to three pounds a piece.

Many large catches of weakfish are being made at Perth Amboy and off the Highlands.

Pickerel and bass are biting well at Lake Hopatcong and Bear Pond. Many good catches have been reported.

Morgan Station is a very popular place for fishermen these days. Weakfish and fluke are being caught there in large numbers.

Perch, catfish, eels and sunnies can be caught in the Morris Canal now. The season is now open for all of these fish.

The fishing season is at its height right now. The popularity of salt water angling for the city dweller whose work may keep him confined to store or shop during the greater part of the day and who cannot spare the time for an extended trip to some inland lake or stream where he can hope to land a satisfactory catch of fish, is increasing each season. There are probably ten thousand men and women in this State who go out fishing during the season. With the man who owns a motorboat, it is an easy matter to satisfy the craving for a day on the water, and he generally keeps posted on the places where the fish are biting, just what bait to use and how to rig the lines. But for the occasional fisherman who has a longing to renew the sport of his youth, it is sometimes a difficult matter to decide where to go for his day's outing, and how to proceed when he gets there. It is to these men that the open party fishing boats, similar to the fleet which leaves the Plank road bridge over the Passaic River, Newark, every Sunday morning, is a welcome institution. It takes care of all his wants even to the extent of furnishing bait.

The weakfishermen will be out in full force on the next two days. Good catches of weakfish are being reported daily from all the nearby grounds. Raritan Bay, Princess Bay and the water around Great Kills offer one of the nearest and best of spots. Either the Pennsylvania or Central trains will let one off at the Amboys, Morgan Station or Keyport, where boats may be engaged, and it is only a short distance to the fishing grounds. For those with plenty of time and money, Barnegat Bay points will be considered. Many Plainfielders prefer to fish there because there are plenty of fish. The same holds true of Jamaica Bay, where the weakfish are not only plentiful, but large. Catches are beginning to run up to sixty and eighty fish to a boat. Shedder crab is the best bait, and it is advisable for fishermen to take their own bait with them. Crabs are scarce this week, and the wise angler will place his order in advance if he does not want to meet with disappointment.

Sea bass, blackfish and ling are being gotten by the outside boats, while the catches of fluke are unusual for both numbers and size. Reports received this month indicate that this will be a banner fluke year, and those who like the big flat fish are overjoyed. Crabs, too, bid fair to be plentiful. They are getting some bood sized crabs on the Bayonne shore of Newark Bay, while those who go out from Elizabethport and Sewaren are bringing in big baskets-fulls.

Seventy-five striped bass were taken in the surf between Deal and Point Pleasant last week. A great many fishermen were along there yesterday.

LUYSTER AND BRUGGY ARE BIG MEN IN NEW ENGLAND

Bill Luyster, formerly of the Plainfield Pets, field captain of the Lawrence team, has passed Frank Bruggy, who has always played with the Pets, in the race for the batting honors at Lawrence. Luyster is sticking for .319, while Bruggy has a mark of .316. These two are the only players on the Lawrence team who have an average of .300 or better.

Luyster leads in runs with 81. He is first in base hits with 81. Thompson and Joyce have perfect fielding records, Thompson's work in the box being without an error. He has made misplays, but as an outfielder. Conley leads in sacrifice hits with 11. O'Connell leads in stolen bases with 29. Luyster leads in doubles with 22. O'Connell and Bruggy are tied in triples with four. Luyster and Conley are tied in home runs with six. Pennington has won three games for Lawrence.

COPS PUT ALL STARS TO ROUT

Play With Schoolboys in the Early Innings and Then Take Game 9 to 7.

HITTING A FEATURE

Good Combination From the Two High Schools is Erratic and Lose Many Chances—Fritts Pitches Good Ball.

Old-time ball players, who now wear blue suits with gold buttons on them and who parade the streets of Plainfield all night, looking for those who should not be out, put on baseball uniforms, yesterday afternoon, and defeated the All Star aggregation, a good combination made up of High School players from both sides of the brook, in a fast game by the score of 9 to 7. After the third inning, in which the coppers made five runs, the result of the game was never in doubt and they hit the ball hard when runs were needed.

Fritts was on the mound for the policemen and outside of one inning pitched airtight ball, which mixed with fair support, spelled victory. Maiden opposed Fritts and Moulton handled him. Both teams scored once in the first round and then the schoolboys took the lead by batting two runs across in the second and one in the third. Maiden was effective for the first three stanzas, but in the fourth he met his Waterloo when the cops hit for two doubles and two singles in quick succession. Two errors and a few steals gave Kiely's men five runs which put them two in the lead. In the fifth the Stars tied matters up on three singles and a pass. The bluecoats got to Maiden again in the sixth and cinched the contest with three tallies. Hanlon and Hall both singled and Fritts made his usual long one which went in the score book for a triple. He scored on a sacrifice fly.

The cops were invincible for the next three innings and in the ninth with two down the boys scored once. Hanlon and Hall each found Maiden for four safeties and Fritts made a double and a triple. For the Stars, Kyle pounded out three. Fritts fanned nine and gave eight free passes to first base, while Maiden did not issue a trip and struck out four.

PLAINFIELD MOOSERS SWAMP ELIZABETHANS

Elizabeth Moose leaguers received their worst jolt of the season Sunday, when they were defeated by the local moosers by the score of 12 to 0. The Elizabethans were not able to get into action until 5:30 o'clock, as another game was in progress on their field. When the homesters did begin to play, they had little heart and cared not whether they won or lost. Gus Schenck was on the hill for the Elizabethans and gave eleven hits. He fanned six and walked one. Conklin, the local flinger, held the Osmun boys to three hits. He walked two and struck out five. The Betsytowners made nine errors. They still lead the league.

PLAINFIELD COPPERS AFTER STATE TITLE

Local Bluecoats Polishing up to Meet Newark Locust Wielders.

The local policemen's baseball team will have its work cut out Thursday afternoon when the Newark bluecoats will appear on Parker Field for the first time this year. This team has a fine reputation and is out for the State championship. It has won many notable victories so far this season and has taken the measure of the Ironsides, one of Newark's strongest semi-pro teams. It has not lost a game yet this year and is coming here to take the bacon back to the Jersey metropolis.

The strongest lineup will be used and Plainfield will also present its best men, and Fritts will toss them over to the Newarkers. Should the local coppers win this contest and defeat the Elizabeth team on August 5, they will be in line for the title. The Newark team will come here Thursday by special car.

TENNIS.

Over five hundred tennis enthusiasts witnessed the first night's play of the men's double tennis tournament that is being held at the Westfield Golf Club this week. Three matches were played last night, in which Philip and Ludlow VanDeventer, of this city, won from W. S. Ellsworth and W. O. Titus, 6-4, 6-2. The local boys had an easy time with their opponents and qualified for the second round.

Throckmorton and Dunham, of Woodbridge, Union county doubles champions, won two matches, the first from Brown and Brown, 6-2, 6-4, and the last one from Wheeler and Kirkland, 6-2, 6-2. Play will be resumed tonight, when two matches will be played. Long and Mulford, of the Park Club, of this city, will meet Throckmorton and Ballard in the first match and Shield and Traynor, of Westfield, will play S. H. Prendegast and A. M. Glasbrook, of Elizabeth. The finals will be held next Saturday night.

POLITICAL NOTES.

There are six candidates for the shrievalty nomination in Middlesex county, two Republicans and four Democrats. The Progressives have not determined as yet whether or not they will place a candidate in the field. The G. O. P. candidates are John F. TenBroeck, of Perth Amboy, and Frank H. Pownall, of Jamesburg. The Democratic aspirants are Arthur B. Appleby, of Spotswood; Andrew Ely, of Dayton; Edward F. Houghton, of New Brunswick, and George Cathers, also of New Brunswick. Mr. Appleby is at present serving as sheriff, having been appointed six months ago by Governor Fielder to serve Albert Bolschweiler's unexpired term when he was named United States marshal. Mr. Houghton is the present deputy sheriff and has served as such under several administrations in the office.

The Republican outing to Witzel's Point View Grove, August 15, will be one of the most successful in many years, it is indicated by reports that have been made to members of the committee in charge. The interest taken in this annual event is an excellent barometer of the party's strength, it is claimed.

General Dennis F. Collins, Union county member of the Democratic State Committee, will attend the meeting of that organization tomorrow at Pleasure Bay, Monmouth county. A dinner will be given by State Chairman Edward E. Grosscup. The coming Congressional campaign will be considered, and there may be a strenuous debate over the differences that have arisen between Mr. Grosscup and Governor Fielder.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The schedule of union services for August is as follows, with the supplies in which they are held delivering the sermons: August 2, First Baptist church; August 9, First M. E. church; August 16, First Presbyterian church; August 23, Trinity Reformed church; August 30, First Baptist church.

The Misses May Randolph, Lucie Coriell and Edna Dilts, of Trinity Reformed church, are spending some time at the conference of religious work at East Northfield, Mass. Miss Elizabeth Chickering, of the same church, is attending the Young Women's Conference at Northfield.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 74 degrees; 11 a. m., 82 degrees; 1 p. m., 89 degrees.

THE DAILY PRESS IN SCOTCH PLAINS

WARBURG MAY MEET SENATE COMMITTEE

Washington Sure He Will Serve on Federal Reserve Board.

Washington, July 21.—Steps have been taken which probably will insure the services of Paul M. Warburg of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. on the federal reserve board.

Senator O'Gorman met Mr. Warburg at White Sulphur Springs, and as a result it can be said that Mr. Warburg will meet the senate committee on banking currency.

Just what is the arrangement for his appearance could not be learned, but it is known that Mr. Warburg will confer with the committee and will give the committee information that it may desire.

Friends of Senator O'Gorman in Washington received word that Mr. O'Gorman was satisfied after his talk with the New York banker that obstacles to his confirmation will be removed and that his services on the federal reserve board will be secured.

There is no doubt in Washington that with a meeting between Mr. Warburg and the senate committee arranged the backbone of the opposition to his confirmation will have been broken.

Members of the administration who heard that Mr. Warburg would meet the committee were elated over the news. The loss of the New York banker from the federal reserve board was the worst blow that has threatened the administration in connection with the establishment of the new banking system. It was realized that the appointment of Mr. Warburg more than that of any other member of the board had created confidence in the new organization among conservative bankers and business men the country over. Mr. Warburg was the one man to whom the banking interests of the country looked for wise guidance in the matter of foreign exchange and other problems involving intimate knowledge of European financial conditions.

HIRED FOR CRIME, DECLARES YOUTH

Was Offered $60 by Boarding House Keeper.

STORY IMPRESSES JURY

Boy Being Tried in Somerset Court at Somerville For Crime Hits Defense of Influential Italian Who Is Held For Committing Murder—Denies Accusations Against Him.

Somerville, N. J., July 21.—Stefano Ruggirie, seventeen years old, who is being tried in the Somerset court here for the murder of Pasquale Folarano near Millington on May 17, told a damaging story on the witness stand to the effect that he had been hired by James Falzarano, a boarding house keeper, to kill Luigi Dagostini because the latter had been intimate with Falzarano's wife.

Ruggieri is a clean cut youth without the earmarks of a criminal. He told the jury of his past life, which was spent on the mountains in Italy as a sheep herder. He had lived with Falzarano since he came to America, a year ago, and the latter had repeatedly urged him to shoot Dagostini and had finally threatened to turn him adrift if he failed to do his bidding and offered to give him $60 if he committed the crime.

Ruggieri said that his hand was unsteady when he aimed at Dagostini, and the shot meant for him had killed Pasquale Falzarano and seriously wounded two others who were seated at a card table at the time.

An odd feature of the case is the effort of the prosecution to protect James Falzarano, who is now held in the county jail on a charge of committing the murder for which young Ruggieri is now being tried. The complaint against Falzarano, who is an influential Italian, was made by a special committee of the grand jury, who went over the head of the county prosecutor's office in causing his arrest. Falzarano as a witness for the state denied the charges made against him, but the boy's story remained unshaken when he left the witness stand when the court adjourned.

POISON KILLS YOUNG NURSE.

Just Out of Philadelphia Hospital, Mistakes Tablets on Visit.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 21.—Miss Grace Babcock, for two years past a student nurse in the Philadelphia hospital, died in the City hospital here from poison taken by accident. She was nineteen years old.

Miss Babcock was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Babcock, of Chelsea. Friday, having successfully passed her examination, she came home for a brief vacation. Saturday night she suffered from a headache and went to the family medicine cabinet for a remedy. In the darkness she mistook a bottle of poison tablets and swallowed one.

FLOATING BOY IDENTIFIED.

Corpse Taken From River Was That of William McMahon.

Jersey City, N. J., July 21.—Assemblyman Francis V. Dobbins of Union county, N. J., identified the body of a man found in the Hudson at Exchange place, this city, as that of William McMahon, formerly a resident of Rahway, who had been living with his son in the Mansfield apartment, Washington. McMahon disappeared from his home on Friday last.

It is supposed that on leaving the train at the Central railroad station at Communipaw on Friday night he wandered out upon the bulkhead and fell into the river.

Mrs. F. J. Arend Is Sleeping When Blaze Starts in Her Home.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 21.—Damage estimated at between $20,000 and $25,000 was caused by a blaze in the residence of Francis J. Arend at Allenhurst. The loss, which resulted chiefly from the drenching of the furniture and walls, is covered by insurance.

Mrs. Arend, who was asleep in the room adjoining that in which the fire started, supposedly from an insulated light wire, was awakened by the smoke and telephoned for the fire department.

Approximately 25,875 children less than 16 years old are employed in factories and commercial establishments in Philadelphia.

There are two million industrial accidents annually in the United States, entailing loss in earnings of approximately $40,000,000.

The workmen's compensation act passed by the Minnesota Legislature last year has been declared constitutional by the supreme court of that State.

Indianapolis has been selected as the meeting place for next year's convention of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders of the United States and Canada.

The Wisconsin State Industrial Commission has issued a bulletin entitled "Gear Accidents and Their Prevention," in an effort to reduce fatalities caused by unguarded gears.

State Labor Commissioner Cunningham, of Michigan, will ask the next legislature for power to enlarge the present labor bureau system by having county supervisors establish labor bureaus to co-operate with the State bureau.

The average weekly pay in Belgium of mechanics, machinists and tool makers is $6.74; helpers, $3.86, and usually time and one-half for overtime. The work day is ten hours for six days of the week.

New York teamsters are demanding a sixty-six-hour working week, with a wage scale calling for $15 a week for driving a one-horse truck, $17 for two-horse, $19 for three-horse and $21 for four-horse trucks.

At the end of last year the organized garment workers in New York city numbered 226,528, or nearly thirty thousand more than the organized members in the building trades, which is the second industry in point of numbers.

Experience teaches us that there is Economy in buying the best

The business-getting value of printed matter is wholly determined by the quality you buy and its suitability to your needs.

Almost anybody can print--somehow, if he has the tools and material; but it takes brains, artistic taste and long experience to lift printed matter out of the commonplace and make it attract favorable attention.

We have these qualifications backed by thirty years' practical experience.

Will you put our ability to the test?

CHAPTER XXIII.

An Amusement Park Deal.

Farmers and Traders' bank; it was of three to deposit his funds in the ie appointed an arbitrary committee T was nearing 3 o'clock when Blacknearing 4 when he had his full additional $100,000 subscribed, and it was nearing 9 before he got all his tentative stockholders together for an after dinner meeting of organization.

"The first thing of all to do," Blackie told them, "is to secure the ground. Suppose you appoint a committee to go out with me and inspect Thompson's lake, which I understand to be the only choice location you have?"

They appointed that committee, and they did any other little thing that Mr. Daw suggested, and then they settled down to the real business of the evening, that of entertaining and being entertained.

The news flashed from club to club of all that was being done, and the sessions at both headquarters lasted until quite a late hour, with the excitement growing more and more intense.

Dad Thompson's farm was a diversified tract of land, quite picturesque enough to look at, but of no delight at all to a farmer whose artistic imagery ran to fields of waving grain.

Jinks Woods, who had hunted over Dad's farm until there wasn't a rabbit or a squirrel left, was the guide for Blackie's party of exploration, and he landed them on the creek road side of the farm in two automobiles and a gasoline buggy.

"I know what you want," he said. "There's a bunch of lovers' lanes down this way that you'll spoil with electric lights, but they'll make a fine approach for the carriage and motor crowd. First you'll hear the tinkle of the waterfalls; then you'll hear the whiz of the roller coaster; then you'll hear the jingle of money, and that's the end of the route."

Blackie turned to Crompers almost tearfully. "And to think that we only gave Jinks Woods $2,000 worth of stock!" he regretted.

"He should be fined," protested Crompers, who could always find the fly in the ointment no matter how microscopic. "If the Clarion and the other papers had kept still about this location Dad Thompson would have been glad to sell his rock farm for little or nothing. There's only a hundred acres of it, and $50 an acre on the average would be an extravagant price for it. That's $5,000. Now, with all this newspaper talk, he'll probably want oil field prices for it."

"It's worth oil field prices to Prize City," enthusiastically stated Blackie. "But why talk of such sordid things as money, gentlemen, in the face of such beauties of nature?"

A group of gentlemen, headed by the commanding figure of J. Rufus Wallingford, turned out of the woods at the other end of the lake, having come in by the traction entrance, and paused abruptly to cast looks of black rancor across the prettily rippling water.

"Jiminy Jinks!" exploded Woods. "Look who else is here! Foxy Dad Thompson."

"Hold my hat and saxophone," hurriedly directed Blackie, passing over the former article and merely imagining the latter, whereupon, in his bare head and the tails of his black frock coat flopping behind him, he sprinted at top speed toward the gray haired farmer who had just emerged from the woods above the side of the lake.

Wallingford, with his weight and dignity, could not afford to sprint, but he hastened. Dad Thompson was a sturdy, low backed old chap, with a face the color of a russet apple and two extremely blue eyes far overhung by bushy gray brows.

"What will you take for your farm?" exclaimed Blackie.

"I never do business on Sunday," asserted Dad Thompson sanctimoniously. "How much will you give?"

"Ten thousand dollars, spot cash, on Monday," Blackie hastily offered.

"Well, I couldn't give you any answer today," avowed Mr. Thompson, with twinkling eyes, "but that don't seem like much of a price."

"It's twice the value of your farm," urged Blackie.

"I didn't know how valuable it was till I see all this stuff in the papers," retorted Dad.

"Is this Mr. Thompson?" asked the suave voice of Wallingford.

Blackie Daw was instantly indignant at the intrusion. "I beg your pardon, sir," he objected, eyeing Mr. Wallingford fiercely. "I am at present engaged with Mr. Thompson in a perfectly private conversation."

Mr. Wallingford, coldly dignified, paid no attention to Mr. Daw's objection.

"I wish to buy this farm, Mr. Thompson," he persisted, "if I can obtain it for a reasonable price. What will you take for it?"

"I couldn't give you a figure, this being Sunday," announced Mr. Thompson, "but I've just been offered $10,000."

"I'll give you $20,000," quickly returned Wallingford.

"I might offer you $25,000 if I was handling nothing but other people's money," snapped Mr. Daw, "but since half of the funds of my company is my own I must consult with my partners."

"Give him $25,000," directed Mr. Crompers, at Blackie's elbow, and nodded with thin affability to Mr. Hammond, who was just behind Wallingford.

"I'll give you $20,000," quickly returned Wallingford.

"I'll make it $25,000," bid Blackie eagerly.

Wallingford turned to his committee with pursed lips. He consulted for a moment with his Commercial club friends in low mumbles, then he came to Mr. Thompson and Mr. Daw with a new proposition.

"We may as well make short work of this absurd contest," he suggested. "If it is agreable to all of you we shall take five minutes for consultation, and then offer Mr. Thompson written bids for his farm, the highest bidder to get it."

Mr. Daw and Mr. Wallingford retired with their parties.

"There's no use fooling with this proposition," said Blackie. "This man Wallingford is a reckless cuss. I could see that from his eye. I had a good look at him while we stood there talking. He figures that mere ground is cheap at any price, and he's going to bid high to settle it. I propose that we offer Mr. Dad a cool clean $50,000 and have it over with."

Crompers groaned. "Why, there ain't a hundred acre farm in the state worth that much. Much more than that, I hate to think of Dad Thompson walking off with all that money. He'll take every cent of it and go away from the town and buy a big wheat farm in Dakota, like he's threatened all these years."

A laugh broke out in Wallingford's crowd.

"Ha, ha, ha!" scorned Jinks Woods. "Let's go right to it, boys. Make this sporty offer that my friend Daw suggests, and I'll give you back all my stock except $100 worth. I want to save one share partly for luck and partly so I can kick against the management."

"Gentlemen, Mr. Wallingford has his envelope ready," observed Blackie. "We'd better take a vote on this."

They looked. Mr. Wallingford held a white envelope in his hand, and he was smiling confidently. Mr. Hammond was smiling confidently. Mr. Lybarger and Mr. Blessus were smiling confidently, and so were all the others of the Commercial club crowd.

"Damn!" remarked Mr. Crompers. "I vote $50,000."

That vote was unanimous.

Dad Thompson received a bid in each hand and smiled so broadly that his mouth was entirely surrounded by leathery curves. When he opened the bids, however, he stretched those horizontal curves into vertical ones.

"Ho, ho, ho!" he pealed. "It's a dead heat, boys."

"Who gets it?" demanded Jinks Woods, standing on tiptoe in his eagerness.

"Nobody, this being Sunday," responded Dad happily. "Anyhow, it's a tie vote; $50,000 apiece. Guess you'll have to bid again, boys."

Both parties wore most mournful faces. The price of land was reaching an uncomfortably dizzy height. Wallingford looked particularly gloomy, and Blackie called attention to that fact.

"They won't go much higher," he confidently asserted.

"They'd better not, or I'll let them have it, as far as I'm concerned," growled Crompers. "It'd serve old Dad Thompson right if we'd refuse to bid any more. Anyhow, if this crowd decides to offer above $5,000 more you may count me out."

Since Crompers hung to that resolution, and since Blackie did not seem anxious to shake his resolve, $5,000 more was all they bid, and Wallingford's crowd won the contest at $60,000.

"If this was a business day I'd take something to bind the bargain," announced Dad, "but, seeing that it ain't, if Mr. Wallingford will just put some real cash, say $1,000, in this envelope with his bid, I'll open it the first thing tomorrow morning and do business." And he looked Wallingford hard in the eye.

Wallingford, returning that steady gaze critically, finally smiled and emptied his pocketbook. It contained $800 and he obtained the balance from Hammond.

Mr. Wallingford's party was jubilant, but sober and thoughtful about it, for half their capital they felt was a staggering price to pay for even this wonderful site. Mr. Daw's committee was disappointed, though relieved. Jinks Woods was broken hearted, but Blackie Daw was furious.

"Let me at him! Let me at him!" yelled Blackie, pushing toward Wallingford and whirling his arms over Jinks' shoulders.

"Be game!" pleaded Jinks. "Listen. Let me show you how game I am. Will you listen, Daw? Now! Three cheers for the Prize City amusement park, whoever builds it! One, two, three, whoee!" And Jinks' voice shrilled a cheer with all his lungs.

He cheered alone, but his plucky losing spirit produced one good effect. Blackie Daw clasped his hand to his brow and thought quite conspicuously; then he mounted a stump and spread forth his long arms commandingly.

"Gentlemen, I am about to make a speech," he warned them. "First of all, I apologize to everybody for my hasty temper. Get together, gentlemen; get together!"

"Three cheers for everybody!" demanded Jinks Woods, having replenished his breath.

In the proceedings that followed the two factions mixed with a cordiality they had not known for years, and Mr. Hammond found himself standing beside Mr. Crompers in perfect amity.

As they rolled out of Prize City on the same train on Tuesday night, Blackie inquired, "Well, Jim, did Dad sting you on the settlement today?"

"No," chuckled Wallingford, "except to keep that $1,000 he worked out of me at the auction. I knew he meant to do that when I gave it to him."

"He's a queer old cuss," laughed Blackie. "He had more fun out of it than any of us. He's some actor too. It's a wonder to me he didn't feel grouchy, giving up all that money to you."

"Why should he?" demanded Wallingford. "He's been trying for years to sell that farm for $5,000. I paid him $10,000 for it the day after I landed here and sent him away till I wired for him. He was glad enough to come back and conduct the sale for us at a $5,000 profit, and besides that, every farmer loves to sting the smart Aleck folks in his nearest town."

"They're not stung!" indignantly denied Blackie. "We've done them more good than your dinky little $30,000 worth of stock, and my bringing them together was worth the $50,000 we cleaned up on the land deal."

"It was a happy thought," admitted Wallingford. "By the way, Blackie, you overacted at the auction. For awhile I thought you were half in earnest."

"I was," confessed Blackie. "I wanted to win that bid in spite of our understanding as to prices."

"To win it!" protested Wallingford. "Why, you crazy lollop, you had real money up!"

"I'd have left it up," Blackie in-

"I was," confessed Blackie. "I wanted to win that bid."

formed him. "Jim, I was plumb wild to stay there and build that park."

"To have the first ride on the roller coaster," guessed Wallingford, eyeing him in wonder, even while he laughed. "I believe you'd do it."

"Well, why not?" defended Blackie.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Some Cookery Suggestions

PORCH DRINKS.

DELICIOUS drinks to serve with the veranda or garden party collation may be made with a lemon sirup as a basis. Such a sirup may be prepared as follows:

Mix together one pint of sugar and one quart of cold water and when the sugar is dissolved heat gradually to the boiling point. Boil fifteen minutes; then add to it two cupfuls of strained lemon juice. Cool and turn into a covered vessel; cover and keep in a cool place.

Serve Daintily.

Raspberry Shrub.—Wash and pick two quarts of ripe, fresh berries; place them in a bowl and sprinkle over them one cupful of sugar. Let them stand two or three hours; then strain through a flannel jelly bag. To the juice add one pint of lemon sirup and one quart of ice water. Serve in sherbet cups topped with sprigs of mint.

Ginger Lemonade.—Cook one-half pound of Canton ginger, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar and the grated rind of two lemons and one orange in three pints of water for twenty minutes. Squeeze the juice from six lemons and two oranges and add to the boiling sirup. Remove from the fire, strain and set on ice until needed. Dilute with ice water as desired.

Orangeade.—For each glass of orangeade add the strained juice of one orange to two tablespoonfuls of prepared lemon sirup and three-fourths of a cupful of plain cold or ice water. Ornament the top of each glass with a slice of the fruit and dust with nutmeg.

Sparkling Punches.

Pineapple Punch.—A simple and delicious drink is made by adding one pint of grated pineapple to one pint of sirup and three pints of water. Set on ice for three or four hours; then strain and serve.

Mint Punch.—Make a sirup by boiling one quart of water and one pint of sugar in the same manner as for lemon sirup. Pull a good sized bunch of fresh mint in pieces and add to two cupfuls of boiling water; cover and let stand five minutes; then strain into the sirup, with one pint of strawberry juice, the juice of two oranges and six lemons and cool. When ready to serve add ice water to suit the taste and strain. Place a block of ice in the center of the punch bowl and pour the punch over it; then garnish with fresh mint leaves and whole strawberries.

Taking a Surprise to the Fishes.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Circus Given by The Fishes.

THE fishes had had a circus a few days before, and naturally daddy had to tell Jack and Evelyn all about it.

"Which fishes performed?" asked Evelyn.

"Oh, ever so many!" replied daddy. "And, first of all, they had a procession.

"The porpoises headed the procession; then came the drumfish, furnishing the music for the parade, as, of course, you can imagine; then came the bass, for they think they are very important. A number of turtles followed next, being drawn in wonderful chariots by the alligators. The jellyfishes, who took the parts of clowns, came next, and the crabs followed behind them, wiggling and making bows to the audience."

"Who were in the audience?" asked Jack.

"All the fishes who had not entered the circus and did not care to perform tricks themselves were in the audience, and there were many of them.

"Then the little fishes finished up the parade, riding on the backs of the bigger ones or just swimming along as fast as they could to keep up.

"After the paraders had marched around the circus ground twice the circus commenced.

"The porpoises performed first. They did some wonderful tricks, splashing with their tails every time they were applauded, which was very often.

"The jellyfishes were around all the time making funny remarks in fish language and performing very silly tricks.

"All the fishes did their various little stunts, and the onlookers thought it was the very best circus that they had ever seen.

"Then both the performers and audience gathered together and had some fish lemonade, which is a very nice drink, the fishes think.

"The audience told the performers how much they had enjoyed the circus and encouraged all the ones who had acted so much that they then and there decided that they would practice every morning and that every Saturday afternoon they would have a circus with an audience.

"The audience then said that they would be only too happy to come and that they would furnish the fish lemonade, and sometimes when they felt very rich and prosperous they would have seaweed ice cream.

"At that the performers wiggled their tails some more and said that that arrangement suited them perfectly.

"And then, to the surprise of all the performers, what should they see but two of the oldest families of fishes, each with a fin on an enormous platter, upon which was some delicious seaweed ice cream, all ready for a surprise for the fishes who had given so much amusement."

Practical Fashion Hints

Ratine, linen, heavy cotton crepe or a thin serge are excellently suited to this misses dress, No. 8287. It has a drop shoulder blouse with full or elbow length sleeve, and a three-gored skirt with just a suggestion of fullness at the waist line. The stitched yoke is a feature of the blouse and the inset vest and draped Japanese collar are two of the smartest style notions of the season.

If a cotton material is used with this design, it is effective to have collar, cuffs and vest of batiste embroidery or all over lace. One of the printed muslins is also attractive. If the material of the frock is plain white, a touch of relief may be given by a row of colored glass buttons and a folded sash of satin. For the girl of 16, this pattern requires 4¼ yards of 36-inch material. It is cut in four sizes, 14 to 18.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wipsy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Adv.

PLAN TO INCREASE INTEREST IN SCHOOL

Attractive Program Arranged for the Summer at Temple Baptist Church.

During the vacation time, when many of the people are out of the city, the churches and Bible schools suffer in consequence, and their attendance is usually the smallest for the entire year. The Temple Baptist Bible School, of East Third street, has, however, inaugurated a plan for increasing the attendance, rather than allowing it to diminish.

Beginning with last Sunday, cards will be distributed for punctuality, and each Sunday, until the last of August, cards of a different kind are to be given all who are on time, it being stipulated that a certain number of these cards must be secured, in order to receive the reward that is to be issued at the end of the season.

During August quite elaborate preparations have been made to provide a distinctive program for each Sunday. A particular object being designed for each date, as follows: August 2, home Sunday; August 9, souvenir Sunday; August 16, white Sunday; August 23, musical Sunday, August 30, teachers' Sunday.

The object designated for each of these dates will be worked out in the program, there being no lesson taught in the classes, but a general service for the entire school.

Already acceptances have been received from a number of prominent Sunday-school workers who are to address the school. A prominent clergyman in the Middle West is one of the speakers. Special music is to be provided, and in addition, a number of interesting surprises have been arranged, and the members of the school are already anticipating the novelty of the services that are to be inaugurated.

This school has probably the distinction of having the only department superintendent of its kind in the State,—that of superintendent of methods—a department created by this school for its own benefit. During the month of August, the department superintendent will be in charge of the school.

Visitors are always welcome, and may be sure of a cordial greeting. The school has made a steady and decided growth during the past year, and under the leadership of Rev. E. C. Conover, and the superinendent, L. W. Randolph, there has been created permanent and enthusiastic interest, which predicts a most attractive future for the church and school.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Stables and Flies.

The announcement that fly-breeding places were found in 114 out of 390 stables inspected in Montclair is not appetizing, and it would be alarming were flies not such familiar objects everywhere. Usually stables are not far from houses—many times only a few feet. Consequently it is a flight of but a few seconds from the manure pile or the unclean stable to the kitchen.

Flies are born in filth and they never get over their liking for filth as long as they live. Wherever there is filth, there flies are found. But flies also like the delicacies and the substantials that are found on the tables of human beings. That is why the unscreened kitchen swarms with them, why the butter dish is not infrequently graced with a fly or two, why the sugar bowl is a centre of attraction whenever flies are around.

The most careful of screening does not avail to keep a house absolutely free of flies, for the pests are adept at flying in whenever a door is opened. And the fly does not stop to wipe his feet, thus bringing with him any pollution, any disease germs he may have clinging to him. The latter probably come from some sick chamber, the scene of a recent visit. All these things are well enough known generally. The discovery in Montclair is valuable as a reminder of the menace in the stable-born house fly. —Newark Evening News.

Enemies of commission government in the city of Pueblo, Col., recently started a campaign for a return to the old style of ward representation, with all of the officials, from the Mayor down, excepting the chiefs of the fire and police departments, elective. They succeeded in securing the necessary petition for an election, but when the vote was taken the proposal was defeated by a vote of 5,219 against to 1,679 for. The showing of a more than three-to-one majority for commission rule in Pueblo is in line with all precedents. The record that no city in the country which has tried the new style of government has ever relapsed to its previous condition is still clear. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof."—Newark Evening News.

ARMY WORM MOVING.

New Brunswick, July 21.—The army worm is marching across New Jersey and Delaware. Dr. Jacob G. Lipman, director of the New Jersey State Experiment Station, has sounded a warning. On a visit to Atlantic City last week he found many lawns destroyed, including that at the United States Coastal Survey Station. Arsenate of lead is recommended as the best ammunition of defense.

APPROVE GOV'T COMMISSION PLAN

Plainfield Democratic Club Will Circulate Petitions for Special Election.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

Fred Endress, LeRoy J. Ellis and Jeremiah Callahan Chosen to Advance Interest of the Proposition Here.

The Plainfield Democratic Club, at its meeting, last night, following an interesting discussion, approved the commission government plan and a committee comprising Fred Endress, LeRoy J. Ellis and Jeremiah Callahan was named to circulate petitions calling for an election to vote on the proposition in this city.

The meeting was well attended and all joined in the discussion of the subject, "Government—By Council or Commission?" Howard G. Lapsley, president of the club, who presented the matter before the club, pointed out Plainfield's present system, which consists of a Mayor, two councilmen elected from each of the four wards and three elected at large, making eleven in all, that the Council is divided into sub-committees and that the Mayor receives a salary of $300, while the councilmen serve gratuitously.

In contrast Mr. Lapsley called attention to the fact that under the commission plan the city would have a Mayor and four commissioners who would administer the duties of the municipality, each commissioner to have charge of one department of public affairs. The Mayor would receive a salary of $1,800 and each of the four commissioners a salary of $1,[illegible], a total of $7,800.

Speaking further on the subject, Mr. Lapsley said:

"The question of commission government in Plainfield is not one of the abstract desirability of this form of government, but the concrete proposition of its necessity and desirability for Plainfield.

"This innovation in municipal government has been tried first in cities overwhelmed by some disastrous outburst of nature, secondly in cities where the existing government had degenerated into extreme inefficiency or corruption. Cities electing to try

DETECTED DISPOSING OF COSTLY ARTICLES

Trio Arrested By Wicht Were Using Veteran's License Unlawfully.

While doing plain-clothes duty on Park avenue, yesterday afternoon, Patrolman Charles Wicht's attention was called to a United States Express wagon in which there were three men and a quantity of goods in boxes. The vehicle was similar to those now in use in this city, but the actions of the men aroused the suspicions of the officer.

When the leader of the trio approached a pedestrian in an effort to dispose of some of the articles in the wagon he was placed under arrest by Wicht. Arraigned in court this morning on a charge of peddling without a license the defendant, Charles Quimet, of Philadelphia, was fined $8 with the option of spending forty days in the county jail.

Examined at police headquarters the contents of the wagon were found to include costly furs and dress goods. When arrested the leader had in his possession a veteran's license made out to Charles Fitzgerald, but the latter did not accompany the men at the time of their apprehension. Although the defendant contended that he had used the credentials in other cities, including Trenton, the court ruled that they did not hold good in this city.

GIRL WHO DISPOSED OF INFANT IS BEING HELD

Mamie Booker, the colored girl who left a new-born infant in a vacant house on East Third street, yesterday afternoon, is being held a prisoner in the local jail awaiting the outcome of an investigation being conducted by the local authorities.

The girl will be arraigned before City Judge DeMeza tomorrow morning and it is probable that other arrests will follow in the case prior to the hearing. It is said that several had knowledge of the deed before it was committed and they will be asked to give testimony in the case.

DOG CATCHER WOULD STARVE IN THE BORO

Homeless Canines Too Rare For Newark Professionals to Operate.

After operating in the borough for a day and a half three professional dog catchers threw up the job as a bad one last night declaring that stray canines were too rare in North Plainfield to make the task a paying one. Engaged by Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., to begin work, Monday morning, the trio came to the borough and after collecting their traveling expenses from Newark, amounting to $2, started out in search of the luckless animals.

All of the borough's streets were canvassed and every method of enticing the dogs to make their appearance on the public highways were exhausted by the three catchers. The professionals were well acquainted with the fine points of the job and attempted some novel "stunts" in an effort to rid the borough of its supposed pests. All day Monday and up to noon yesterday they tramped the hot streets without corraling a single homeless cur.

All of the animals on the thoroughfares were either accompanied by pretty damsels who held them securely on long chains or were too fleet of foot to be overtaken. Returning at noon yesterday the trio squatted in front of the North Plainfield police headquarters, evidently debating their next action.

When Chief Weiss looked around for the new employes this morning he failed to find them. They had departed without leaving address or reason. Now that it has been proven conclusively that the borough is practically free from stray dogs it is probable that further steps to locate a dog catcher will be abandoned.

1,200 EXCURSIONISTS LEAVE FOR THE SHORE

Methodists Favored With Ideal Weather For Outing.

Eight Sunday-schools, comprising the Methodist of Dunellen, Monroe Avenue, Grace M. E., Heavenly Rest Episcopal, Evona and Watchung avenue chapels and New Market Baptist, are represented on the excursion which left this morning for Asbury Park. There were two sections of twelve cars each, which carried over twelve hundred excursionists to the popular resort.

The excursionists reached the Park shortly after 10 o'clock and were greeted by a fine ocean breeze, the weather being ideal. The return trip this evening will be made at 7.10. Samuel Bingaman is chairman of the committee in charge, and every detail looking to the comfort of the excursionists was attended to by the committee.

"SURPLUS MATERIAL."

Rev. Samuel D. Price, of Camden, will speak at the Temple Baptist church, tomorrow night, on "How Surplus Material Can Be Utilized." His discourse will be illustrated with a large number of attractive lantern slides. Mr. Price is superintendent of the department of surplus material for the World's Sunday-school Association. He will tell how to make use of discarded pictures, post-cards, books, lesson helps and numerous other articles. There will be no admission and no collection.

FOUR ARE COMMITTED.

Charles P., alias "Paddy," Lyons, Joseph Green, Patrick Donovan and Mrs. Mary Cahill were removed from local police headquarters to the Union County Jail at Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon, in charge of Patrolman Charles Wicht. The four all face sixty day sentences on disorderly charges.

SPECIAL MEETING OF MOOSE.

WANTS TO BE A CONGRESSMAN

Former Assemblyman W. de la R. Anderson Announces His Candidacy Today.

OUTLINES HIS POLICY

Says If He Is Successful He Will Select Secretary On Civil Service Merit System—Other Reforms Are Promised.

Under the caption, "Opportunity for Young Men. Congressional Candidate William de La R. Anderson will Select Secretary on Merit—Open to All Young Republicans" the former Assemblyman today announces his candidacy for the Congressional nomination. In a personal note to the editor of the Daily Press, Mr. Anderson says:

"In fairness to your young Republican readers and subscribers, give this proposition all the publicity possible as one of your people may be the one."

Mr. Anderson, who is a Republican candidate for member of the House of Representatives for the district comprising Somerset, Hunterdon and Mercer counties, announces that in the event of his nomination and election, he will select his secretary on merit, determined by an examination on the order of, and upon somewhat the same plan as a Civil Service examination. This will be open to all young Republicans in the Fourth Congressional District. Mr. Anderson's statement is as follows:

"Being a firm believer in the merit system for all public offices and in Civil Service examinations to determine merit and in the fact that the efficiency of a public official is increased or decreased to the caliber of those with whom he surrounds himself, I take this opportunity to announce to the young Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District that, in the event of my nomination and election to Congress, I shall take, as my secretary, the man who passes best and fulfills best, the requirements of an examination which Mr. Charles H. Bateman, former member of the State Civil Service Commission, has kindly consented to prepare for this purpose of determining him who is best fitted to act as secretary to the Representative of the Fourth Congressional District of New Jersey.

"In order that there shall be absolute fairness to all who enter their names, I shall appoint three well-known men of high standing, one from each county, who shall be the judges of the winner. Those who wish to enter their names, may do so at any time by communicating that wish to me by mail, addressed to Watchung, N. J., and I will make record of them and will mail to them the examination requirements, should affairs so shape themselves as to make this plan effective."

JOSEPH W. GAVETT SPEAKS AT NETHERWOOD HOME

Joseph W. Gavett was in charge of the mid-week meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, last night, the kiddies being greatly interested in his remarks, which described Mr. Williams, founder of the Y. M. C. WOMEN AND ESCORT INDULGE IN FRACAS Prisoners Extraordinary Arraigned Before Judge DeMeza This Morning.

The peace and quiet of North avenue and vicinity of the railroad depot was treated to a rude jolt at 1.30 o'clock this morning when Charles Kune and Miss Nella K. Brown, of New York city, engaged in a noisy fracas with an automobile driver that resulted in their arrest by Roundsman Andrew Saffron. The apprehension of the expensively gowned woman and her male escort came as the culmination of an outing which included a dinner party where it is said the amber fluid was as free as water.

Taken to police headquarters by Saffron the couple continued their noise-making and the residents of Sycamore street in the immediate vicinity of headquarters was kept awake for the rest of the night. According to Kune, both he and his attractive companion were under the influence of liquor, it is said, and after an argument with the taxi-cab driver, concerning the rate levied on them, the woman became hysterical. Uttering protests and swinging her arms in a wild manner at Kune she created a big rumpus and Saffron locked both up to prevent any possible violence that might result.

Arraigned before City Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, the woman was in a highly nervous condition and wept continuously. Miss Brown, apparently about twenty-three years of age, is a decided brunette and unusually attractive. She presented a remarkable contrast to the other prisoners coming before the bar of justice, wearing many costly and brilliant jewels. She was gowned in pure white with a large picture hat to match.

W. A. Coddington, who appeared as counsel for the defendants, entered a plea of guilty with a request for leniency. According to counsel the pair had never been arrested before and Kune is said to be a highly respected business man with offices in New York city. In consideration of their past good record the pair were allowed to go with a reprimand.

COUNTY SHREIVALTY RACE GETTING HOT

Republicans Getting Uneasy Owing to the Large Number of Candidates.

Union county Republicans already have a five-cornered fight on their hands for the shrievalty nomination, with every prospect of another candidate and probably two entering the race before the time expires for filing petitions of nomination.

The Progressives also will have a contest for the nomination, while there are three Democrats anxious to succeed Sheriff William Wright, Republican, whose term expires this year.

The number of candidates in the field is causing some uneasiness in the ranks of the Republicans, who fear that the fight will be carried to Election Day, thereby causing them a loss of votes. Sheriff Wright cannot succeed himself, under a State law, but will probably be a candidate for the county clerkship.

Those who are seeking the shrievalty are: Republicans—Former Assemblyman George C. Otto, of Elizabeth; George J. Stewart, chairman of the Elizabeth City Republican Committee; Joseph H. Neill, of Elizabeth; John H. Cose, of this city; Freeholder Peter Meisel, of Springfield, and Samuel P. T. Wilbur, of this city. Democrats—Michael P. Devine, president of the Elizabeth Board of Excise; Mayor Thomas Fiffe, of Rahway, and former Assemblyman Hugh McLaughlin, of Elizabeth.

Although it was announced that former Postmaster Warner, of Cranford, would not be a candidate for the shrievalty nomination, it was said this afternoon that he will enter the race, adding to the contest already on among the Republicans.

That the Progressives also will have a contest on their hands for the nomination of sheriff became evident today, when it was announced that William R. Richart, of Elizabeth, would be a candidate for the office. Fire Commissioner Fred Bender also is being spoken of as a candidate, as is former Mayor James B. Furber, of Rahway.

BOY FOUND GUILTY OF MURDERING MAN

Seventeen Year Old Italian Youth Faces Death In Electric Chair.

After a short deliberation the jury trying seventeen year old Stefano Ruggiero, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree and recommended that the convicted youth be shown mercy in passing sentence, yesterday afternoon. The boy was convicted of the murder of Pasquale Falzarano near Milliagton, May 17, after a trial which lasted for two days.

Dr. Britton D. Evans, of the New Jersey State Hospital for the insane, at Morris Plains, was called as a witness for the defense. He testified the boys' mind had never been normal, a fact caused by his hard struggle in life.

The alienist asserted that Ruggieri was insane at the time of the murder. This belief, he said, was borne out by Ruggieri's statement that he didn't believe he knew he had done wrong, and by his later statement that he expected to have his head cut off for what he had done.

The youth had told him, Dr. Evans said, he had no motive for the murder.

JUSTICE FINED $10 FOR AUTO SPEEDING

South Plainfield Magistrate Appears In the City Court As Defendant.

Judge Patrick Kaine, of South Plainfield, appeared in court in a new role this morning in answer to a complaint filed against him by Motorcycle Patrolman Roy E. Martin, who charged him with speeding his automobile along Park avenue at a twenty-seven mile an hour clip. In sentencing the magistrate to pay a fine of $10 Judge DeMeza told Kaine that a justice was supposed to know the laws and if he violated them he shoul be dealt with accordingly.

The defendant admitted his guilt as a speeder, but, contended that his speed did not average the rate given by the officer. The motorcyle speedometer was again brought into evidence, however, and the defendant could not refute these statistics.

POSTAL FEES ARE GREATLY REDUCED

Affect Charges On Money Orders Payable In Foreign Countries.

Washington, July 22.—Postmaster General Burleson directed today that, beginning August 1, 1914, the fees charged for the issue of postal money orders payable in 39 of the foreign countries with which international money-order business is transacted shall be very materially reduced. This is to be done because it was found that under the present schedule of fees the remitters of small sums, and they are usually of the poorer classes, who send a regular pittance to dependent relatives in the old country, are burdened with more than their proportionate cost of the service. This change is for the purpose of adjusting this inequality.

By the change the fees for orders of small amounts are in many instances less than half of the former rate, and a uniform scale of fees is established for all orders issued in the International Money-Order form, thus treating remitters of all nationalities alike and avoiding confusion on the part of patrons and postmasters.

Under the new schedule the ratio of charge is exactly the same whether large or small sums are remitted. It has been found, however, that the former practice of remitting large sums abroad for deposit in savings banks is being generally discontinued since the establishment of the Postal Savings system.

200,000 MEN STRIKE.

St. Petersburg, July 22—The street car service in the Russian capitol was suspended today owing to the employes of the Central Railway Company joining in the general strike called by the workmen as a protest against the drastic measures of the authorities at Baku and other towns against strikers there. It is estimated that nearly 200,000 men in all have laid down their tools.

LIGHTNING BOLT FATAL TO YOUTH

Seventeen Year Old Stirling Boy Dies After Being Terriby Burned.

WAS DRIVING WAGON

One Horse Killed and Other One Stunned—Companion of Dead Man Also Hurt—Flash Came Without Warning.

Struck by a bolt of lightning coming from a clear sky at 5 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, a horse attached to a load of hay in Stirling was instantly killed and the driver died as the result of burns sustained when the hay went up in flames. Charles Peuker, Jr., a sixteen-year-old Italian boy, was finishing his day's work and mounted the load of hay to drive home from the field in Stirling. He had no sooner started his team than a sharp flash of lightning appeared in the sky and instantly the hay became a mass of flames.

At the same time both of the equines dropped to the ground. One of the animals was only stunned, but the other one was instantly killed. Perched on top of the load of hay the Italian youth made frantic efforts to scramble to safety, but before he could get down his clothes were burning on his back. Farm hands lent their assistance in putting out the flames, but before this could be done the upper portion of the boy's body was burnt to a crisp. Peuker's hair was burned from his head and the victim writhed in agony while his rescuers did all in their power to aid the victim. Dr. P. J. Zelio happened to be passing and gave "first aid" treatment. Peuker was removed to his home in a dying condition and lingered in agony until 11:30 last night. Dr. McGrath, of Stirling, attended the young man.

Louis Ortman, who was with Peuker at the time of the fatal incident, was only slightly stunned by the bolt and soon recovered. Cries of fire went up about the village when it was seen that the wagon and hay were being consumed and the fire department was called out. The stunned horse was unhitched from the burning wagon and the vehicle and contents went up in flames in a few minutes.

The phenomena is without precedent in this section and the fact that it happened with an apparently clear sky makes it all the more astonishing. The sun was shining brightly at the time and not a drop of rain had fallen.

G. O. P. CANDIDATES TOURING THE COUNTY

County Clerk Calvert and John H. Capstick Call On Friends Here.

County Clerk James C. Calvert, of Elizabeth, who has announced his candidacy for a renomination on the Republican ticket, was in this city, yesterday, calling on friends in the interest of his campaign. He was accompanied by Augustus Schwartz, formerly county sealer of weights and measures, who is soon to take a State job, and Charles W. Runyon, clerk in Mr. Calvert's office.

Mr. Calvert says that the outlook is most promising and that he is receiving assurances of support at the fall primaries from all parts of the county. He also says that he believes the entire party ticket will be successful this fall.

John H. Capstick, of Morris county, who last week announced his candidacy for the Congressional nomination on the Republican ticket was in town today greeting many of his friends. He also predicts success for the Republican ticket this year.

NOT SURE OF PEACE.

Washington, July 22.—Gen. Carranza is expected at Tampico within two days, the State Department was advised, today, in connection with the delivery there of a cargo of arms. The receipt of arms is regarded here as an ominous sign that Carranza himself is not sure of permanent peace and tends to emphasize the break between that official and Villa. The fact that he is going to Tampico in person indicates he is suspicious that the arms might fall into unfriendly hands.

CARTER MATHEW.

Carter Mathew, aged 35 years, of Atlantic City, who was well known in this city, died at his home Sunday afternoon and will be buried in the Methodist cemetery here this afternoon. The services will be held at the undertaking parlors of William Page and the Rev. W. M. Vaughan will officiate.

With today's issue the Daily Press inaugurates a unique contest, in that it is started for the purpose of stimulating home trade, and anyone can enter without the expenditure of a cent direct to this newspaper. It is to be known as the "Trade-in-Plainfield" Contest, and will continue for the next three weeks.

Make a careful study of the local advertisements in today's Press, for a beginning, and continue to study them until the close of the contest. Especially on Fridays will you find prize winning suggestions.

Do your buying with these "ads" as your guide and write your experiences for the Press contest editor. The best letter of 500 words or less will be rewarded with $10 in gold. Four prizes will be awarded, and any of them will be welcome.

To win a prize will be to show your ability as a writer, but best of all, will be the proof which you gain that it pays to trade in Plainfield. Suburban readers of the Press are invited to enter the contest. They can buy to better advantage in Plainfield than in smaller towns or larger cities. Their shopping experiences ought to be unusually interesting and the Contest Editor will be especially glad to get their letters.

Plainfield's leading merchants advertise in the Press and they are offering unusual inducements to buyers at this season of the year. This will be especially so each Friday. Read their advertisements carefully and you will learn how to buy to good advantage, not only now, but all the time.

Make your shopping doubly worth while by doing it in keeping with the Trade in Plainfield Contest. It pays to read Press "ads." and it pays to trade at home.

People who have been going to New York and Newark to shop have been wasting both time and money. It pays to trade in Plainfield both for convenience sake and for the actual cash saving.

For money saving bargains study the advertisements that appear daily in the Press. That will enable you to save money.

Then to make some extra money or supplies for vacation spending enter the Trade in Plainfield Contest of the Press.

Four prizes, beginning with $10 in gold, will be given by the Press for the writing of short letters giving experiences of buying of articles from any of the many merchants who advertise in this newspaper. The contest will begin July 22 and end August 12. It will not be conducted in the interest of any particular advertiser, but to show the readers of the Press that it will pay them to study the advertising columns of the Press as carefully as they do the news and feature columns.

Letters should not exceed 50 words in length. They should be written on one side of the paper only and mailed to the Press office not later than the day following the closing of the contest. In judging the letters consideration will be given to those best illustrating the advantage of buying from Daily Press advertisers, to those best illustrating the advantages of buying in Plainfield, to the brevity and simplicity of the illustrations.

The size of the purchase will have no bearing on the contest. It may be either large or small. The only conditions are:

The instance related in your letter must be bonafide, contain a description of the purchase and the name of the store and a copy of the advertisement showing the character, amount and date of purchase. The advertisements must be taken from the Press, within the time limit of the contest, July 22 to August 12.

No one is barred from the contest excepting persons connected with the publication of the Press.

Read the Press advertisements, make your purchase within the contest period, write about it and send it to the "Contest Editor of the Daily Press."

The prizes to be awarded follow: First, $10 in gold; second, $6 order on any advertiser in the Daily Press; third, year's subscription to the Daily Press ($5); fourth, $4 order on any advertiser in the Daily Press.

MEETING OF COUNCIL.

The adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Common Council in the borough hall, last evening, was a short one. A communication was received from the State Board of Health relative to the claypits of Albert Rajotte on the outskirts of the town. This communication was laid on the table pending action by the local Board of Health.

Samuel Schwartz, president of the Equator Building and Development Company, was present and stated that if the Council would accept the streets of the extensive tract, known as the former Sandford property, owned by his company, that they (the streets) would be put to the grade established by the borough engineer. The matter was placed in the hands of the street committee with instructions to report at the next meeting of the Council. The street committee was instructed to submit plans and estimates of a concrete culvert to be made on Lincoln avenue at Third street.

FAVOR BAND CONCERTS.

The question of the Board of Trade in pushing the matter of erecting a band stand at Washington Park, forming a local band and giving concerts on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, is meeting with approval on all sides.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anger, of Greenbrook road, have been ill since Thursday of last week with the chills and fever.

Borough Engineer Lewis T.Churchill was in Garwood, yesterday, on business.

Carl Marx, of Dunellen avenue, is enjoying his annual vacation.

Miss Pearl Dodwell, of Jackson avenue, one of the assistant postmistresses, is enjoying one week of her annual vacation.

CONFERRED THIRD DEGREE.

The degree team of Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of Somerville, fifty strong, preceded by a fife and drum corps, marched through the main street of the borough, last evening, to W. G. Holton Hall, where they conferred the third degree on a candidate for the local order of Juniors. After the business of the evening had been transacted the local order provided its guests with a general good time, refreshments being served, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kochendoerffer, of Brooklyn, are spending two weeks in the borough as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Marx, of Dunellen avenue.

BOWLING TOURNEY.

A full account of the games of the Women's Two-team Bowling Tournament on the Presbyterian alleys, last evening, will be found on the sporting page. According to the schedule in tomorrow evening's games of this tournament it will be Miss Florence Smith and Mrs. W. G. Smith vs. Miss Ruth Voorhees and Miss Pearl Dodwell vs. Mrs. Fred Vail and Mrs. William Johnson.

GOES ABROAD.

George Cundluff, of Dewey Park, sailed on the S. S. Asquitania of the Cunard Line, for South Hampton, England, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Cundluff goes there to join his wife who was summoned from across the sea by the illness of her mother last February. They will return to this country some time during April or May. On Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Anger tendered Mr. Cundluff a farewell party at Hazelin's Hotel. Among the party who saw him sail were Mr. and Mrs August Anger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murphy and the Misses Annie, Jennie, Rosie, Fannie, Emma and Helen Hazelin.

LIKE COLORADO SPRINGS.

In a letter received by Mrs. Staten R. Titsworth, of New Market road, from Mrs. C. T. Rogers, a former resident of New Market, who together with her family recently moved from Fort Pierce, Fla., to Colorado Springs, Colo., Mrs. Rogers states that they like Colorado Springs much better.

William W. Giddes, of Lincoln avenue, has returned from a three days' visit at Niagara Falls.

NOVELTY DANCE.

The Crescent Tenis Club will make another attempt to hold its novelty dance on their Madison avenue courts, this evening. The courts will be lighted by Japanese lanterns. Music will be furnished by Emanuel Appert's victrola.

TENNIS IS VERY POPULAR.

Tennis appears to be taking the place of baseball in the borough, as evidenced by the small crowds each Saturday to Maurer Oval and the fact that tennis courts seem to be springing up, in the night as it were, all over the borough. The latest court is one on Madison avenue opposite Mountainview Terrace. The Maurers, Hardinghams and the Currys are said to be interested in this court. It is believed that the coming international matches for the Davis Cup have quickened interest temporarily at least, in tennis, while the constant squabbling, fighting and bickering of organized baseball has unmistakably detracted considerably from the lure of the national pastime.

The Misses Luella Stryker and Ruth Voorhees were the guests of their cousin, Edward Swaney, at Cranford, last evening.

The Misses Harriett and Hilda Meyers, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Winters, of North avenue, during the past week, returned to their home at Shelton, Conn., yesterday.

TWO HUNDRED EXCURSIONISTS.

Fully two hundred excursionists from this place went on the annual excursion of the Methodist Episcopal and Baptist Sunday-schools to Asbury Park, today.

Contractor Edward Herlich was a business visitor at New York, today.

GRANTED A CHARTER.

Secretary E. L. Field, of the newly formed council of the local Boy Scout movement, has received a letter from the national headquarters informing him that a charter has been granted and will be forwarded as soon as embossed. There will be a regular constituted and authorized meeting of the council in the borough hall on Friday evening. All the fathers and mothers of the borough are urged to be present at this meeting, as it is the desire of the council to have them hear exactly what is going to be done.

Plains & Fanwood.

Rev. J. Madison Hare will conduct the weekly prayer meeting in the Baptist church this evening.

Work is progressing rapidly on the building of the culvert across Terrill road in Willow Grove. The building of it is under county supervision.

People are protesting against the way in which the ditches opened for gas and water pipes are filled in. It is said that the soil is just thrown in the ditches without being tramped down and when a vehicle passes it sinks to the hubs. This has happened a number of times on Martine avenue and Terrill road.

The street and sidewalk committee of the borough has been looking at different styles of street signs preparatory to a report at the next Council meeting, and seems to be in favor of those made of metal. It is expected that it will cost in the neighborhood of $50 to place signs at all of the street corners in the borough.

Mrs. John Boss and son, of Jamaica, L. I., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Alberts, of Westfield avenue.

Norman and Maurice Mathiews have returned to their home in Montclair after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Hand, of Park avenue.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle of the Willow Grove chapel is making elaborate preparations for the annual picnic to be held in the grove near the church on the afternoon and evening of August 19. Booths for the sale of refreshments and fancy articles will be distributed about the grounds and electric lights will be strung among the trees. There will be various forms of amusements for the young folks and it is probable that a band will be present. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the chapel.

Richard Vincent, of Martine avenue, is among the group of Plainfield Grace choir boys who left Monday for a several weeks' camping trip to Barnegat Bay.

A regular meeting of the Fanwood township Board of Education will be held in School No. 1, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The report of the building committee will be made and other business will be transacted.

Miss Beatrice Head, of Mountain avenue, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Williams Joule, of Newark.

Miss Edith Palmer, who is spending the summer at Center Moriches, L. I., has returned to her home in the borough for a few days.

John Alberts, Fred Coombs and Harold Hodge went on a fishing trip along the Passaic River on Sunday, and brought home four bass. For fear their friends would not believe the fish story they kept the result of their trip as proof to show those in doubt.

A routine session of the Fanwood Fire Company was held in the firehouse last evening. There was a poor attendance due to the fact that many members are out of town. A communication from the Plainfield-Union Water Company was read, in which they agreed to paint all of the fire hydrants in the borough red, so that they can be distinguished easily.

Somerville

The funeral services of the late Charles J. Smith, aged fifty-one years, who died suddenly in New York city on Monday night, were held at the house on West End avenue, this afternoon, and were private. Interment will be at the convenience of the family. Rev. Dr. William S. Cranmer, pastor of the First Reformed church, officiated, and burial will be in the new cemetery. Mr. Smith was one of the prominent business men of the town, being head of the Charles J. Smith Company, Inc., which conducted a large lumber and coal business on Warren street. Mr. Smith was born near Liberty Corner, and was the son of Job Smith. At the age of sixteen years he came to Somerville and entered the employ of his uncle, now county clerk, A. G. Anderson, and when he became twenty-one years of age was taken into the business as a partner. For a while he conducted the busines alone, and afterwards the firm became the Smith-Schoonmaker Company, former Sheriff S. Schoonmaker being associated for many years with Mr. Smith.

TELLS ON THE KIDNEYS.

Plainfield People Have Found This to Be True.

The strain of overwork tells on weakened kidneys. The hurry and worry of business men, the heavy lifting and stooping of workmen, the women's household cares, tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they can no longer filter the poison from the blood and the whole body suffers from the waste matter that accumulates. Weakened kidneys need quick assistance. Doan's Kidney Pills are prepared especially for weakened kidneys; tired, worn-out backs—have proven their merit in thousands of such cases. Convincing proof of their worth in a Plainfield citizen's statement.

Mrs. C. B. Coriell, 60 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered from kidney disorder for years and the principal symptom was a severe backache. Since I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I have taken them off and on and they have always acted like magic, giving me prompt relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Coriell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Last January, Mr. Schoonmaker retired, and a nephew of Mr. Smith, T. P. Edwards, joined with Mr. Smith and the firm then was known as the Charles J. Smith Company, Inc. Besides his mother, Mrs. Jennie M. Leigh, Mr. Smith is survived by one brother, Edwin F. Smith, of New York, and three sisters, Mrs. T. P. Edwards, Mrs. T. G. Winsor and Mrs. Guy H. Noble, all of this place. He is also survived by a wife and four children, Misses Mary and Louise Smith, and Royal and Thayer Smith.

Miss Jessie Tyler is visiting friends at Riverpoint, R. I.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles will have a big time tonight, when it is expected that a number of visiting brothers will be present. One of the features of the gathering will be a monster parade. Exercises will be held in Germania Hall.

Fred N. Messler, of Chicago, has been visiting his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Messler, of West Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Messler, of Roseville, have been visiting relatives in town.

John Ceri has commenced the erection of a fine residence on Middagh street. The house recently purchased by D. N. Messler and P. G. VanNuys, on this street, has been raised four feet about ground level, and is being converted into a two-family house. The two houses, also on Middagh street, recently commenced by S. Schoonmaker, are nearing completion.

D. N. Messler has sold his two-family house on South Bridge street to Miss Martha Bellis.

An over-zealous game warden arrested a man, last night, for killing a pole cat out of season and brought him before Justice Sutphen. The party were accompanied by the animal in a bag, and which it was claimed had been killed by being accidentally run over. As there was no evidence to the contrary, the man was released, much to the relief of the neighborhood.

Raritan

Mrs. William Scowcroft and daughter, Marie, of Paterson, are spending some time with Mrs. Scowcroft's father, Thomas Phelan, on Anderson street.

The Misses Jennie G. and Mae H. Burns have been entertaining friends from New York city.

Miss Grace Kelley has returned to her home in Bayonne, after spending some time with relatives here.

Miss Marie Bearkman, of Newark, is visiting Miss Cecelia Winters.

Charles Henry, of Dunellen, has been visiting friends in town.

Bound Brook.

The July meeting of Somerset County Past Councilors Association, Jr. O. U. A. M., was held in North Star Council room at Peapack on Monday night, with over 150 members present, and the following county officers presided: Councilor, Isaac N. Wyckoff, of No. 72; Vice Councilor, Simon V. DeMond, of No. 237; Jr. past councilor, William B. LaRue, of No. 58; recording secretary, Harry S. Johnson, of No. 58; treasurer, P. Finley Wyckoff, of No. 150; conductor, Herbert VanPelt, of No. 263; warden, Ralph Young, of No. 150; inside sentinel, Harry King, of No. 72; outside sentinel, Harry L. DeMond, of No. 237; chaplain, Rev. B. V. D. Wyckoff, of No. 263. At the roll call of councils the following were represented: Bernards, No. 242, 2 members, 1 visitor; "Hiawatha," No. 110, 3 members, 6 visitors; Ivanhoe, No. 72, 5 members, 4 visitors; North Star, No. 222, 10 members, 68 visitors; Oakland, No. 263, 6 members, 15 visitors; Pioneer, No. 58, 4 members, 1 visitor; Raritan Valley, No. 150, 3 members, 4 visitors; Round Top, No. 237, 5 members, 3 visitors; Wide-Awake, No. 79, 1 member. Former Governor Stokes was to have been the speaker at this meeting, but he was unable to be present. Rev. B. V. D. Wyckoff gave a short address on "Patriotism." Mr. Seeley, of New Brunswick, and William B. LaRue, of Dunellen, gave short talks. Six new members were admitted into the association, making the total membership ninety-five. North Star Council served refreshments. The August meeting will be held on August 19, at North Branch, with Branchburg Council, No. 121.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Duryee, of Cedar street, South Bound Brook, spent Sunday with friends in New Brunswick.

Arthur A. Teeter, of South Bound Brook, is spending some time at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Sarah Fenner, of Plainfield, was a visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson M. Giles, at Harris Lane, yesterday.

Miss Catherine Walker, of Elizabeth, is spending a few days with Mrs. DeCamp.

Mrs. John V. Powelson, of Franklin street, is visiting her cousin, Miss Willis Mount, at Hotel Osborn, at Manasquan.

Miss Dorothy Du Four is spending some time at Manasquan.

Miss Dorothy Haelig, of Thompson street, is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. George Lyons, at Bernardsville.

German Valley. and Chester

A debate on "Prohibition vs. Local Option" took place last night in the Methodist Episcopal chapel, Chester, between Stanley Keller and Elmer C. Searle, Jr.

David Alpaugh, Preston Alpaugh, William Alpaugh, all of Newark, are visiting in Chester.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Moot, of Rockaway, are guests of Mrs. Emma Drake, of Chester.

John W. Van Arsdale, of Chester, was a guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spangenberg, of Far Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. William Strait, of New York, are spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Austin S. Young, of Chester.

The congregation of the Chester Methodist Episcopal church netted $170 from its recent fair.

Mr. and Mrs. John Quimby, of Trenton, are guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Quimby, of Chester.

Samuel Steice, of Morristown, spent Sunday with his family in Chester.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Nunn, of German Valley, are entertaining Robert Amerman, of Mendham.

Rev. Harold Witman, of Madison, will preach in the German Valley Methodist Episcopal church Sunday afternoon.

RECREATION NOTES

The Washington Dramatic Club met last night in the Washington School. The club has a membership of over twenty and the attendance of its members at the Tuesday night meetings is increasing. A short business meeting was held last night, Harry T. Shirley presiding. Three new members were elected into the club. After the business session, Henry C. White, who was recently made an honorary member of the club, read the play, "My Lord in Livery," which the club has decided to give at the opening of the High School Auditorium.

The Folk Dancing Class will meet tonight at 8:15 in the Bryant School Auditorium. The membership of this club has increased very much since its meeting place has been changed to the Bryant School. Miss Morris is in charge of the class work.

The Civic Club, which has been meeting for several months, under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee, with R. Story Rowland as director of the club, will hold its meeting tonight in the Stillman School. This will be the last session the club will have until further notice, as it has been decided to give the members a short vacation during the coming month. All members are urged to be present tonight.

LODGE NOTES.

Lodges scheduled to meet tonight are as follows: Plainfield Lodge, No. 327, I. O. B. A., at Coward Hall; Queen City Lodge No. 226, I. O. O. F., at the Babcock building; Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. Red Men, at K. of P. Hall, and Plainfield Camp, No. 10,210, M. W. of A., at Coward Hall.

EYESIGHT NOT IMPAIRED.

Joseph Galligan, the South Plainfield lad, who narrowly escaped losing the sight of his eyes on July 4, as the result of a premature explosion of a flower-pot, has been discharged from the hospital, having recovered from his injuries. His sight is not impaired in the least.

COMMITS SUICIDE.

Boston, July 22—Lawrence Robinson, on trial for the murder of Police Inspector Thomas J. Norton on June 19, committed suicide this morning about 7 o'clock.

CHAMBERLAIN IS IMPROVING.

Victor Chamberlain, who has been in Muhlenberg Hospital under treatment for injuries received last week when struck by an automobile, is steadily improving.

CAILLAUX TRIES TO SAVE HIS WIFE

Told President of France He Would Kill Calmette.

MAKES A DRAMATIC APPEAL

Ex-Premier In a Thrilling Three Hour Story—Deposition of Poincare Tells of Threat—Day Ends In Tumult, and Entire Court Is Aroused—Shooting Re-enacted Before Jury.

Paris, July 22.—"I shall kill Gaston Calmette if he publishes those private letters in the Figaro."

So declared to the president of the republic Joseph Caillaux, his minister of finance, before the tragedy of March 16, when Mme. Henrietta Caillaux, anticipating her husband, shot down Calmette in the Figaro office and, like a woman, turned her head as her nervous finger dallied with the revolver's trigger.

The pent up under current of political hatred and strife which burst upon Paris with the fury of a storm following the murder of Gaston Calmette, editor of Figaro, all but again came to the surface. It was during the trial of Mme. Joseph Caillaux, who shot the editor because of the bitter campaign he had waged against her husband and because she believed intimate letters he had written her before their marriage were to be published.

The direct cause was the deposition of Raymond Poincare, president of France, read in court. This alone is an unprecedented procedure. In his deposition the president told of Caillaux, then minister of finance, coming to his office and telling of his belief that Calmette intended to publish these personal letters.

"If he does that I will kill him," Caillaux declared to the president.

When this was read by the clerk there was first a restless movement throughout the courtroom, then low murmurs, gradually growing in volume until Presiding Judge Albanel sharply called for order and threatened to arrest the disturbers.

Caillaux a Witness Also.

Caillaux himself was the principal witness, his story all but rivaling the sensation created by the reading of the deposition of the president. He told of the threat he had made against Calmette to his wife, how she apparently pondered over it and how wounded, harassed and nerve shaken, he left her when he went to the senate.

It was long after Mme. Caillaux's visit to Judge Monjer, when she was told that nothing could be done to prevent the publication of the letters to Calmette, that Caillaux made his threat. Mme. Caillaux arrived at the ministry at midday, Caillaux testified. She asked him what he proposed doing.

"If that's the way things stand I'll smash his face," Caillaux said he replied. (The French slang expression, "casser la gueuel," might mean intent to kill or merely what it says literally.)

"On the way home in the automobile my wife was evidently pondering my threat," continued Caillaux. "She asked when I intended to carry out my threat. I said, 'Not today, but soon.'"

Only by stretching two articles of a law promulgated by Louis Philippe in 1832 was it possible to arrange that the evidence of President Poincare might be read in the trial. In his deposition the president stated that on the day Calmette was killed a cabinet meeting was called at the Elysee.

Before entering upon official business he said he talked with various ministers, including Prime Minister Doumergue and Caillaux. As the cabinet ministers were filing into the room where the meetings are held Caillaux asked Poincare if he could speak to him privately. The doors closed, leaving the two men alone, and in a voice filled with emotion Caillaux told of his fears.

"I have it from the best source," Caillaux told Poincare, "that letters written by me to the lady who is now my wife have been given to the Figaro, and that Gaston Calmette, the editor, intends using them. I know that he will publish them."

MELLEN'S MALIGN MISSION.

He Goes to Boston to Steal the Liberties of the People.

Boston, July 22.—"Tell the dear Boston public that I am here to steal away the liberties of the people of Massachusetts."

Thus spoke Charles S. Mellen when newspaper men sought an interview with him.

The former president of the New Haven at first refused himself to all interviewers. When he was asked what business brought him to Boston he said, "Didn't I say I would not be interviewed?"

The reporters hastened to assure him that the public had some interest in his movements, and he then unsmilingly announced his mission.

Driven Through Brick Wall.

Springfield, Mass., July 22.—Dr. Roy H. Peck neglected to throw out the clutch when his automobile engine stalled, and when he cranked the machine he was driven through the brick wall of a garage. He is in Hampden hospital, but his injuries are not considered dangerous.

WILSON ORDERS NEW HAVEN SUIT

Calls For Grand Jury Action Against Directors.

SAYS ROAD BROKE FAITH

Failure to Carry Out Agreement "Inexplicable and Unjustified," the President Says In Letter to Attorney General—Suit to Be Brought In New York City, It Is Said.

Washington, July 22.—President Wilson instructed Attorney General McReynolds to proceed civilly and criminally against the New Haven railroad and certain of its directors for alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The president in a letter of instruction to the attorney general charges the New Haven management with breaking faith with the government by repudiating the reorganization agreement entered into last January.

Mr. Wilson referred to the reasons given by the New Haven directors for refusing to sell the Boston and Maine stock under restrictions proposed by the Massachusetts legislature "as a slight pretext" and characterized their action as "inexplicable" and "entirely without justification."

The unexpectedly severe tone of the president's letter revived reports which have emanated from persons close to the department of justice that the administration suspected the New Haven management of having accepted the reorganization plan originally in the hope of staving off criminal proceedings. Intimations were plain that since Attorney General McReynolds had indicated the likelihood of criminal proceedings the attitude of the management had changed.

Call Suggestions Unfair.

Persons in Washington familiar with the New Haven side of the controversy characterized these suggestions as unfair. The attorney general in correspondence made public denied specifically that he ever had held out any hope that persons responsible for the New Haven "monopoly" would escape prosecution by assenting to a "peaceful settlement."

The correspondence discloses the fact that the attorney general will refuse to recognize the claims of immunity advanced by Charles S. Mellen because of his appearance before the interstate commerce commission in the recent New Haven inquiry. It is made clear that the department intends to proceed criminally against Mr. Mellen and certain of the directors who are regarded as responsible for the alleged monopoly. The names of the men against whom criminal prosecutions will be directed were not made public.

The correspondence given out at the department of justice discloses that the administration was fully alive to the "calamitous results to the public interests" that are likely to follow the filing of a suit, but the department lays the entire responsibility upon the directors of the New Haven and calls the country to witness that they must bear the burden of the consequences that may flow from the litigation.

The civil suit for the dissolution of the New Haven which the government will file within a few days will contain several features harsher than those embodied in the voluntary agreement. One of these will be a demand for the divorcing of the steamship lines, the disposition of which were left, under the agreement, to a decision by the interstate commerce commission.

The criminal proceedings probably will be before the federal grand jury in New York city.

The president's letter to the attorney general follows:

The White House, July 21, 1914.

My Dear Mr. Attorney General—I have your letter of today inclosing a copy of your letter of July 9 to Mr. J. H. Hustis, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, which together disclose the failure of the directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company to comply with the terms of settlement proposed by them and accepted by us in the matter of their railroad holdings. Their final decision in this matter causes me the deepest surprise and regret. Their failure upon so slight a pretext to carry out an agreement deliberately and solemnly entered into, and which was manifestly in the common interest, is to me inexplicable and entirely without justification.

You have been kind enough to keep me informed of every step the department took in this matter, and the action of the department has throughout met with my entire approval. It was just, reasonable and efficient. It should have resulted in avoiding what must now be done.

In the circumstances the course you propose is the only one the government can pursue. I therefore request and direct that a proceeding in equity be filed, seeking the dissolution of unlawful monopolization of transportation in New England territory, now sought to be maintained by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company and that the criminal aspects of the case be laid before a grand jury. With my regards, sincerely yours,

WOODROW WILSON.

POSTMASTER RESIGNS.

Gives as Reason His Grievances Against Wilson and Administration.

Rochester, N. Y., July 22.—Declaring that the administration in Washington prefers personal gratification to the well being of the Democratic party, Edward Rigney, Democratic state committeeman for the counties of Yates, Wayne and Ontario, has forwarded his resignation as postmaster of East Bloomfield to Postmaster General Burleson.

FAVOR COMMISSION GOV'T

commission government, by so doing admit their own neglect of public affairs. A paid commission of five cannot govern a city like Plainfield better than twelve men who through public spiritedness serve gratuitously and are backed by the advice and encouragement of those who elect them.

"Plainfield has always had councilmen of a calibre well beyond the average obtaining in most cities, men whose time estimated on a financial basis is well worth more for the time they give to municipal matters than the law allows under commission government for a commissioner giving his entire time to the work.

"Commission government is a comparatively new proposition in New Jersey. Innovations in public affairs cause a considerable civic awakening. Old systems of government are generally accompanied by public apathy. Commission governmentshould therefore have demonstrated its success right at the start in cities of this State which have accepted it.

"Taking tax rate and efficiency as the criterions of success, commission government has not been an unqualified success in any of the Jersey towns which have accepted it. The friends of the movement cannot show lower tax rates or any marked increase of efficiency.

"The cost of citizenship is easily obtained by dividing the gross assessed value of a town by its total population and multiplying the average assessment by the obtaining tax rate. The average annual cost of citizenship in towns within a radius of fifty miles of New York city is between $25 and $35 per capita.

"The value of the citizenship is problematical and can only be estimated from the individual man's point of view. What you receive in the way of streets, street lights, policing, fire protection, school facilities, health supervision and hospital service, free libraries and privately owned public utilities such as railroads, water works and street railways.

"Plainfield will stand comparison, item for item, with cities anywhere in the United States. To have these facilities within reach and not to use them is not a just basis of complaint. For example, Plainfield has a very fine public library, it is there for everybody's use. Richmond, Virginia, a city five times the size of Plainfield and lately designed as a federal reserve banking centre, has no such institution. Make a comparison between Plainfield and other cities and draw your own inferences as to the value of citizenship here.

"What is the basic difference between commission and council government? By what law of nature can five men be designed more responsible, more capable, more honest than twelve?

"The success of any form of municipal government hangs not on the office-holder but on the electorate and the way the individual elector helps and encourages the office-holder. If you do your duty as a voter, whether you are governed by five men or twelve, will make no difference."

Plainfield, N. J., July 22, 1914.

A SPLENDID PLAN.

The Business Men's Association and the Building Trades Council—one an organization of capital, and the other a union labor body—are each receiving delegates of the other at their meetings, the object being to co-operate on civic matters. This spirit, which has recently come into being with these two representative organizations, should be commended. It is the foundation of what might be developed into a mighty force of true citizenship.

This theory of inter-change could be extended to such a degree that representatives of every civic organization, duly appointed for such purposes, might regularly visit sister bodies in the spirit of co-operation. It would add strength to all movements which need the support of the entire city and aid in the suppression of those things which from time to time threaten to bring disruption.

Business men and working men cannot do without each other in this or any other city. The aim should be but one, and that to make Plainfield known throughout the State and nation as a city of progress, cleanliness, good citizenship and prosperity, a city not ashamed of her record, and one proud of citizens and her homes. May the merchants and the local working men realize that to reap the largest possible benefits for themselves as members of the community, thay must seek the best for the municipality as well as the best for the individual.

FRELINGHUYSEN FOR SENATOR.

Former State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen has declared his intention of entering the race for the United States Senatorship, to succeed Senator Martine. He will of course seek the place as a Republican, having been identified with that party for many years. All over the State the Senator has a large following, and he has been favorably considered in the past by State conventions as a candidate for Governor, having been well up in the running when Vivian M. Lewis was nominated four years ago.

The name of Frelinghuysen, as the Newark Sunday Call says, is an honored one in New Jersey, and has long been associated with the history of the State. Everybody who knows "Joe," as many of his close friends call him, are not surprised that he has made an announcement that he is a candidate for the nomination. In Somerset county, where Frelinghuysen makes his home, his place is one of the show places of the State. The Senator has some of the finest horses and cattle there are and, what is more, he knows all about them personally. He is a practical farmer, as well as a big business man, has served as president of the State Board of Agriculture and by reason of his close contact with the farmers he is popular throughout the State. He has been a hard-working member of the State Board of Education and he has hundreds of friends among the educators of the State. Now that he has decided definitely to look for the nomination he will undoubtedly make a good fight for it, and anyone else who has similar aspirations will find it necessary to do some active hustling, because Frelinghuysen will be out to win.

We submit for the consideration of the proper committee of the City Council, the suggestion that it might be a good idea to flush early each morning those streets in the business section that have permanent brick pavement. While the water wagons which travel over these thoroughfares periodically through the day manage to lay the dust, they do not remove the dirt. The street men gather up a fair portion of it, but no broom is so constructed as to remove dirt which has become attached to the pavement, as is the case in some spots. A thorough cleaning and flushing in the early hours of the day before the heavy traffic of the forenoon would alleviate to a great extent the dust trouble, and make it unnecessary for so many trips of the water wagon during the day.

Camden is supposed to be a boss ridden town, because of the continued success of the Republican machine, but a whole lot of communities might take a hint from the city. The municipal expenditures for each month are printed in detail in one of the Camden papers, so that the taxpayers know exactly where every cent of their money goes.

It cannot be said that W. de la R. Anderson is not forehanded in deciding what he will do if he is elected to Congress. He is going to choose his secretary by a competitive examination, open to every young man in the district. In view of the IF we doubt whether anyone will begin studying up right away.

"Value of newspaper advertising first recognized 250 years ago," says a headline. Probably means that the fellow who does not advertise is 250 years behind the times.

LOSS ON OIL $100,000.

New York, July 22—It is officially estimated that the loss to the Texas Company as a result of fire which destroyed two tanks at Mounds, Okla., was about $100,000. A 55,000 barrel tank containing that amount of oil was struck by lightning July 18 and another tank containing 49,000 barrels also ignited and was destroyed.

COURT HOUSE ALTERATIONS.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

The Democratic primary election in Delaware will be held August 29.

All three political parties in Idaho have indorsed State-wide prohibition.

Missouri will vote on the question of women suffrage at the November election.

Senator Stephenson, of Wisconsin, now in his eighty-sixth year, may be a candidate for renomination.

George W. Woolsey, of Danville, is the choice of the Illinois Prohibitionists for United States Senator.

Senator Elihu Root is to be temporary chairman of the New York Republican State convention next month.

Representative Carter Glass, of Virginia, may try for the seat of Senator Swanson, whose term will expire in 1917.

Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, has filed his declaration of candidacy to succeed himself in the United States Senate.

Representative C. B. Slemp, for many years Virginia's only Republican Congressman, has been renominated for another term.

Geeral primaries will be held in Michigan on August 25 for the nomination of candidates for governor and lieutenant governor.

The Progressive party of Iowa, at its recent State convention in Des Moines, went on record in favor of State-wide prohibition.

Prohibition is a leading issue in the Missouri senatorial contest, between Senator William J. Stone and Judge William H. Wallace.

Joseph Brown is campaigning for the seat of Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, on a platform which seeks to break up labor unions and anarchy.

Albert H. Morrill, of Cincinnati, a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor of Ohio, has been a sailor, a parlor car conductor, a circus employe, a baseball player and a newspaper reporter.

Former Governor Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., of New York, who has been a member of the Republican State Committee for over twenty-five years, will not be a candidate for re-election to the committee this fall.

George A. Carlson, an attorney of Fort Collins, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor of Florida, subject to the action of the Republican State assembly and the primary election.

The Progressive party in Wisconsin has decided to have no candidate for United States Senator, but it is circulating literature urging the nomination of Governor Francis E. McGovern, Republican, who supported Roosevelt for President two years ago.

Republicans are preparing for a vigorous campaign next month in Maine, where the State election will be held early in September. Among the noted party leaders expected to take part are ex-Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks, former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Governor Goldsborough, of Maryland; Governor Hooper, of Tennessee; Governor Eberhart, of Minnesota, and former Governor Hadley, of Missouri.

Ex-Senator Harvey D. Hinman of Binghamton declared himself a candidate for governor of New York in the coming Republican primaries on a platform against the leadership of State Chairman William Barnes and declared "that the time has come for the destruction of the bipartisan system in this state."

CALL ON THE PRESIDENT.

Washington, July 22.—Accompanied by Secretary Bryan, the three A. B. C. mediators made a formal call on President Wilson at the White House and by the envoys themselves that the call was merely one of respect and to announce formally the close of their services at Niagara Falls.

FIGHTING THE PLAGUE.

Washington, July 22—Surgeon-General Blue, today, sent one of his most capable assistants to New Orleans to aid in the work of stamping out the bubonic plague in that city, while reports of new cases continue to come in it is believed that the worst is over.

INCREASE STORAGE RATES.

London, July 22 (Central News)—It was officially announced today that the North German Lloyd and all the other continental steamships companies had increased their steerage rates to the United States ten shillings.

BIG GOLD SHIPMENT.

Seattle, July 22.—About $800,000 in gold, the largest consignment received from the North this year, was brought from Nome by the S. S. Victoria today.

To Facilitate Rate Fixing.

Washington, July 22.—Railroads will be required to separate their operating expenses between freight and passenger services in making statistical reports to the interstate commerce commission hereafter according to a ruling by the commission. The commission believes that such a regulation will facilitate inquiries into the reasonableness of rates.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Smith and son, Frederick Smith, Jr., of Netherwood avenue, have returned from a week's sojourn at Lake Hopatcong.

Archie Bailey, of Summit avenue, is spending a week at Camp Ram's Horn, Lake Hopatcong.

Miss Avis Laing, of the borough, who has been visiting relatives in Scranton, Pa., returned last night, accompanied by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gravatt. The trip was made in Mr. Gravatt's car. The latter was suddenly called to Freehold by the death of his mother.

Mrs. Cornelia Zabriskie and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. A. M. Zabriskie, are sojourning at Douglas Hill, Maine.

J. H. Searing and family, of Watchung avenue, have gone to Union.

Dr. F. C Ard, of Park avenue, is sojourning at Point o' Pines, Hydeville, Vt.

Russell Leonard, of Roseland, has been spending a short time with Roy Love, of Duer street.

Miss Edith Bailey, of Mountain avenue, has returned home after spending a short time in Whitehouse.

Robin Hamilton, of Verdon street, is spending the summer at Camp Ram's Horn, Lake Hopatcong.

REGAINS BATTING EYE.

Albin Carlstrom, formerly a member of the Plainfield Pets, but who now plays with the Buffalo team in the International League, has regained his batting eye and now has an average of .250. This is a great increase in the past week and in yesterday's game against Rochester he pounded out three hits, one being a two-bagger. He has been put in fourth place for "clean up" purposes and play first base. In yesterday's game he made ten putouts and one assist without a misplay.

SOMERVILLE WILL HAVE GOLF TOURNEY

Board of Governors May Decide to Have Open Tournament In October.

It is quite probable that the board of governors of the Somerville Country Club will decide to hold an open tournament some time in the fall. Just what conditions will govern the competition remains to be seen, though it was hinted today that there is a likelihood of match play being introduced in some manner or other with a liberal amount of prize money.

There has been considerable agitation lately with regard to more tournaments for the professional golfers. The Somerville club feels as if it would not only be staging something attractive, but would also contribute to golf to a large degree by encouraging the salaried brigade to pay more attention to playing. The dates likely will be set for late in October so as to avoid a conflict with any other fixture.

The fascination of golf is not easily resisted at a holiday time, even by those who play all the year round. How the lesser lights in all the professional world spend their vacation—if they take one apart from attending the open championship—is not a matter of general knowledge.

Vardon is fond of playing golf at Le Touquet as a means of relaxation from the strenuous round of tournament and exhibition games, and Taylor a few years ago spent holidays at Dornech. Golf to the amateur is always a recreation, but to those who spend their spare time year in and year out on the links a golfing tournament might appear to lack that element of change that is supposed to be the most beneficial feature of a respite from one's ordinary avocation. The enthusiast, however, finds sufficient change in environment, no matter though he may spend three weeks of a month driving balls over sand dunes, just as he does over less inviting places on summer evenings and Saturday afternoons.

RED STARS DEFEATED.

The fast Laurel aggregation defeated the Red Star at Parker Field this morning by the score of 5 to 1. The Stars could not hit the opposing pitcher and were wild on the bases. The score by innings:

Laurels .....1 0 3 0 0 1 0 1 x—5

FLEMINGTON WILL BE ATTRACTION SUNDAY

The Flemington B. B. C. will be the attraction at Woodland Park next Sunday when they clash with the Plainfield Sunday B. B. C. Jackie Hayes, the New Brunswick pitcher, who received an offer from Andy Coakley, of the Asbury Park team of the Atlantic League last Sunday, will be on the mound for Plainfield, and Plainfield fans who saw him perform here two weeks ago know how good he is. Conti will be back on third and Miller will be in the outfield.

Flemington has defeated some of the fast teams of this section and this game will surely be interesting.

PERTH AMBOY WILL NOT DISBAND

The Manager Says That the Club Will Play For the Rest of the Year.

Baseball fans in Perth Amboy went wild yesterday, when it was announced that the Perth Amboy club, of the Atlantic League, would remain in the league for the remainder of the season, and not quit as was announced in a paper of that city yesterday. The manager stated that the club would fulfill its contract for the rest of the year at any cost. This team has been playing poor ball all year and it was only this week that the club climbed from last place to sixth. The team has been playing to poor crowds and the finances of the organization were low. However, the team will continue to play and it is expected that it will receive more support than heretofore.

Cliff Randolph and "Nibs" Hand, two local ball players, are still with the club and will probably remain there for the rest of the season. Randolph is a pitcher and Hand does the backstop work in the majority of the games. Both are playing a fine article of ball and are prominent with the stick.

Statements to the effect that the Atlantic League will not complete the season have been made and there are other teams that are as ready to quit the game as well as Perth Amboy. There have not been as big crowds as were expected from the beginning and the league is not at the present time an extra prosperous organization.

BIG SURPRISE IN DAVIS CUP CHOICE

Team Selected to Represent America in Big Court Games Minus Johnston.

Boston, Mass., July 22—It was announced at Longwood yesterday, that the Davis Cup defense team would be Maurice E. McLoughlin and Thomas C. Bundy, of California; Karl Behr and R. Norris Williams. This explains Behr's default here in the Longwood singles and also the announced intention of Williams to default.

The official announcement will be made today, and although there may be a change from the above-named selection, it is not thought probable there will be. McLoughlin and Bundy are the national doubles champions at present. With McLoughlin, Williams played on the successful American cup team last year in England, and Behr was an internationalist in 1907. He is now holder of the Middle States championship.

It came as a surprise to tennis followers that William M. Johnston, of California, present Longwood singles champion and New York State champion last year, was not selected.

PLAINFIELD COPPERS ARE MEETING GREAT PLAYERS

That the Plainfield policemen are facing great ball players in their weekly games with other forces of this State is becoming more apparent every day. Another great player has been picked up by one of the fast semi-pro teams of New York from Perth Amboy and that person is one Roemer, who played first base against the local cops last week, when the Perth Amboy team appeared here. This player is really a pitcher and will twirl for the Pittsfield nine against the Lincoln Giants next Sunday at Olympia Park. Those who saw him defeat Cyclone Joe Williams last year at that place witnessed one of the greatest pitchers' duels ever fought. When Roemer played on Parker Field last week he hit the ball safely a number of times and also hit it hard.

Hank Mathewson, who has pitched several games for the Pets this year, will oppose Redding, also known in these parts as a fine pitcher, in the first game of a double-header on the same day.

OLD TIME PLAYERS WILL MEET DORFLINGER'S NINE

Later in the season local baseball fans will have a chance to see some of the old-time ball players that used to be the pride of this city perform against the present aggregation that goes under the name of the Pets. Brit Martin, one time second baseman on the Plainfield team and at present holding down that position with credit on the fast Saurer team as well as the office of captain, and his brother, Jack, who is as well known here as any ball player and who is now in the fastest kind of company, are going to organize a team of players that represented this city many years ago and play the local team. This will be a great game as some of those old "has beens" are still in the running with the younger set.

Adam Schott, Jim Emery, Norman Barnes and others will appear in any old kind of uniform to beat their successors. Warry McLaughlin, another popular ball tosser, will probably do the mound work against the Pets and he is good enough yet to make Dorflinger's boys sit up and take notice. No definite date has been set but it will be announced shortly.

NEWARK COPPERS EXPECT TO WIN

Will Appear On Parker Field Tomorrow Afternoon With Their Strongest Lineup.

The outcome of tomorrow's game between the local policemen and the locust wielders from Newark may have an effect on the claim for the baseball title for this section of the State. Both teams are ready for the battle and expect to win the game that means much to both cities. When it comes right down to fine points the visitors will have a small advantage but the local players will not let that curb their ambitions and are going out for the decision despite the odds.

The Plainfield guardians of the peace have lost four games so far this year and two of these were to Elizabeth which team has championship aspirations. The local men have downed Amboy twice and New Brunswick once and displayed good form when they took the measure of the schoolboys on Parker Field Monday. If they play as good tomorrow as they did in the last game the Newarkers will have to step a few for the most runs.

On the other hand the visitors have made a fine record, in preparing for this game. They have played some of the fast semi-professional teams of that vicinity and generally get the larger end of the score. Among their notable victories was the Ironsides, one of the fastest teams in Newark. They will have their strongest lineup and if they win will only have to defeat the Betsytown coppers to claim any kind of a title. Should the local men take the game they will have another chance at Elizabeth next month.

DICE-LATHAM DUO BREAK ALL RECORDS

Great Pinning In Regular Matches Last Night Shatters 3 Good Records.

Three records were broken in the games of the Women's Two-team Bowling Tournament on the Presbyterian alleys, Dunellen, last night, when Mrs. Emmett Dice by knocking the pins over for the splendid score of 187 in the last game of the evening, broke the high alley record of 158 made by Mrs. Fred S. Vail in 1913, the high previous score of the tournament of 143 being held by Mrs. H. B. Arnold, and aided her team materially in breaking the previous high team score of 266 made by the Arnold-Apgar duo. Mrs. Dice marked in every frame with the exception of the sixth, when she had the misfortune to split the pins badly with her first ball. Her work was loudly applauded by those who thronged the alleys.

The result of the night's matches was three victories and one defeat for the Dice and Latham and the Russell combinations and four straight defeats for the Kelley and Craig duo.

Cementing them solidly in last place with a percentage of .083, the two winning teams of last night are now tied for fifth place together with the Arnold-Apgar team.

Mrs. Dice, as the result of her splendid evening's work, increased her standing from 130 to 111, which is ten points above that of her nearest rival, Mrs. Fred Vail. Mrs. Kelley jumped eight points in the standing, while her partner, Mrs. Craig, lost four. Mrs. Carpenter also had a good night, her individual average jumping seven points to 173; Mrs. Russell, her partner, dropped one point, from 87 to 86. The scores of last night's play and the official standing follow:

YALE SETTLES UP OLD SCORE WITH PRINCETON

In a well played game of ball, this morning, the team known as Yale men, defeated their most hated rival, the Princeton combination, by the score of 3 to 1. The "Eli" boys played the best game and only one error was made while their opponents were guilty of four bad ones. Melville pitched for the winners and had the Tigers at his mercy at all times.

The Princeton batters pulled their only run of the game over in the initial round on a hit and a pass, but they could not hit him after that. The winners scored their runs in three innings.

The score:

VAN DEVENTER BOYS AFTER COUNTY TITLE

Local Brothers Playing Strong Game of Tennis at Westfield.

In the second night's play of the Westfield Golf Club men's doubles open tennis tournament, one Plainfield team won a match and the other was put out after a hard fight after rain had interfered with the deciding set. Three matches were played in all and this city was represented in two of these. There was a large crowd of tennis enthusiasts present to witness the play and some very exciting matches took place.

In the first match of the evening 'neath the powerful arc light, Monroe Long and Walter Mulford, representing the Park Club, of this city, lost to B. H. Throckmorton and L. S. Ballard, of the Sewaren Tennis Club, two out of three sets. The scores were 6-4, 3-6, 3-1. The third set was in progress when rain interfered and after it was fit to play again the local pair defaulted. The VanDeventer brothers, who won their first match Monday night, were again victorious last night over G. O. Delatour and H. M. Bartlett, of the Terrace Park Tennis Club, in straight sets, 6-2 and 7-5. The last game was the hardest and proved exciting and close at times. This qualifies the local team for the second round.

A Westfield pair lost out last night, when E. F. H. Prendegast and H. Glazebrook, of Elizabeth, easily defeated Edwin Shield and Paul Traynor in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1. The play will continue every night this week and the finals will probably be played Saturday night provided the weather conditions are favorable.

PLUNGES DOWN QUARRY SHAFT

Supposed Suicide Once Owned Most of Nutley.

EITHER FELL OR JUMPED

Nearly Every Bone In His Body Was Broken From Eighty Foot Fall—Woman Recently Fell While Wandering Too Near Edge of Shaft and Was Killed.

Nutley, N. J., July 22.—Boys playing near an abandoned quarry here saw a man walking near the edge of the shaft. Suddenly he either fell or jumped eighty feet to the bottom of the shaft. The boys ran till they found Policeman William Johnson and brought him to the spot.

There was water in the bottom of the shaft, and the man was lying with his head partly submerged. With difficulty Johnson got down the steep side of the rock and found the man was dead, nearly every bone having been broken.

In the man's pockets Johnson found a gold watch and a few cents in change, also a card bearing the name of Eli Peeters. The body was removed to Kuntze's morgue. Later it was identified by George M. Peeters of 35 Fullerton street, Newark, N. J., as that of his cousin, Eli Peeters, whom he had not seen in many years, but who he believed lived in Hoboken.

Old time residents of Nutley remembered that twenty years ago Eli Peeters was one of the best known men there. He was reputed to own most of the town and was especially interested in East Nutley. He left, and nothing was heard from him.

The quarry where Peeters died was the scene of another death this month. July 4 Mrs. Catherine Gastner wandered too near the edge of the shaft and fell to the bottom. Her body was found by her dog.

ERIE ROAD SUES JERSEY CITY.

Alleges an Overcharge of $50,780 For Water Used.

Trenton, N. J., July 22.—The Erie Railroad company filed suit against the mayor and aldermen of Jersey City to recover $50,780.39 damages and interest under an agreement made on Feb. 20, 1908, with that city by which it was to get water for twenty-five years at 60 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The railroad company contends that under a clause in this agreement it was entitled to lower rates made later to other parties.

It is charged that on Jan. 1, 1911, without the knowledge of the plaintiff, the Jersey City authorities began to furnish water to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad at 45 cents per cubic feet and has continued to do so.

MARRIES WHEN HER SON DOES

Mother a Bride, Too, at East Orange Double Wedding.

East Orange, N. J., July 22.—Before the same altar, in the same house and by the same clergyman a mother and son were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Ballentine of 24 North Burnett street, East Orange, when their daughter, Miss Angie Ballentine, became the bride of Clarence M. Dally and Mrs. Maud Dally became the bride of Silas Carpenter of Park Ridge, a suburb of Chicago.

Both ceremonies were performed by the Rev. Dr. Charles Townsend, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Orange.

NUN'S NECK IS BROKEN.

Sister Falls to Death Down Convent Stairs.

Trenton, N. J., July 22.—Falling down a stairway in St. Stanislaw's convent, Randall street, Sister Mary Veronica, thirty-one years old, had her neck broken and died instantly.

She was hurrying to join several sisters in the yard, when her foot caught in a rug. She landed on the first floor, fifteen feet below. Sisters who had heard her fall found her dead.

Sister Mary Veronica was a native of Shamokin, Pa., and had come to Trenton recently. She was a teacher in the parochial school.

TONS OF LIMESTONE FALL.

Workman and Pedestrians Have Narrow Escape From Injury.

Morristown, N. J., July 22.—Several workmen on the new bank building of the American Trust company on South street, this city, had a narrow escape from death.

Twelve tons of limestone fell from the top of the building to the sidewalk. Pedestrians also narrowly escaped injury. The men were laying the top course of the stone at the peak in the roof when the large block of stone slipped and crashed to the pavement.

Wallingford In His Prime

CHAPTER XXIV.

Getting Away With It.

"TRUNK checks," demanded a muscular faced boy, as he deposited the hand luggage of the two travelers in the filled blue bus.

"Be careful of that black wardrobe," warned Wallingford. "I think there's a hinge loose."

"All right," answered the boy, deeply grieved. "I'll write that on my report."

He was embellished with a green band on his faded blue cap. A yellow banded man, with a ladder under his arm, crossed the station platform and fixed an electric light bulb.

"I know, it's a comic opera," guessed Wallingford. "Who wants to read about my trunk hinge?"

"The Spanglerville city council. I'm the official baggage carrier," and he clomped away.

"Don't you get it?" laughed Blackie Daw. "His is a political job. The other one is the official bulb fixer and here comes the official bus driver. I've seen municipal ownership towns, Jim, but this one must be the limit."

"That means there isn't a live dollar in the burg, and our train's pulling out," regretted Wallingford, and with some disfavor he viewed the approach of the official bus driver, who wore a blue band on his cap and carried a grin full of holes.

"Good evening, gents," hailed the tooth shy officer. "I got two good seats left in the grand stand," and he produced a pair of faded blue pastboards from which the printing had long since worn away. "I reckon most of the councilmen have sold their regular seats by this time, but these is good. Front row, right next to the official box."

"We're in luck, Jim," declared Blackie, inspecting the penciled numbers on the tickets and slipping them into his pocket. "I was afraid we wouldn't get seats at all. By the way, Sergeant, what are they for?"

"Why, don't you know?" inquired the driver in surprise. "It's the regular Saturday night festival. Why, people come from miles around, from all these summer resorts and health cures, to see the fireworks. The city council makes a heap of money off of 'em. The whole courthouse steps is covered with a grandstand that's left there winter and summer."

"Don't people ever have business in the courthouse?" asked Wallingford.

The driver paused to help the luggage carrier lift a trunk on top of the bus. "They go in by the back door," he briefly explained.

"Do we get ice cream cones?" demanded Blackie.

"Anything you want," asserted the officer largely. "The city council ain't overlookin' any chances."

"They must be the leading industry," surmised Wallingford.

"They're a right peart lot," assented the official driver, as the muscular boy approached with the last trunk. "Some of 'em's been in the council fifteen year. I've held office twelve year myself. Do you know how much money there is in the city treasury?"

"I'll bite," consented Wallingford. "What's the answer?"

"Nigh on to $100,000!" proudly stated the citizen.

"And what might your business be?" asked the office holder, looking back with cordial interest.

"Hush!" warned Blackie in a hoarse whisper, and, leaning forward, he confided, "We are detectives."

"You don't say so!" responded the shocked driver in the same breathless fashion. "Who are you after?"

"Maybe you can help us," went on Blackie solemnly, though wincing from the pain of a vigorous kick that Wallingford had secretly administered.

"Do anything I can for you," offered the driver so hastily that he forgot to whisper. "I don't reckon there's anybody in town better posted than me."

"Being an official suspector, I suspected as much," returned Blackie, keenly interested. "There is a man in this town who goes away every little while, and no one knows where he goes or why."

"Henry Closby," affirmed the driver with a promptness that shocked Blackie, for he had only talked at whimsical random, forgetting that in every town there is at least one man whose unexplained goings and comings are an aggravation and an insult.

"Describe that man," demanded Blackie.

"Well," obeyed the driver carefully and accurately, "Henry Closby is a bachelor, about five foot nine, fair to middlin', heavy set, dresses like a dude, has a pink face, wears fancy eyeglasses, with a little dingus like a spring tapemeasure to wind up the string; has blue eyes and shiny black hair and beard and mustache. He keeps the general store."

"Not the party," declared Blackie dejectedly and with an honest impulse to clear the unknown Closby from unjust suspicion. Then his whimsical nature came uppermost again, and in spite of himself he added, "Unless he disguises."

"By jinks, I never thought of that!" exclaimed the driver, struck by the startling supposition. "Whiskers is the easiest disguise there is, I reckon."

"It isn't the man," hastily insisted Blackie, angry with himself for having persisted in harming a total stranger. "Is it, Jim?"

"No," snapped Wallingford, struggling between amusement and annoyance. "The man we're after is small and skinny."

The driver was silently thoughtful for three full blocks. "Well, Henry Closby might be padded up," he sagely concluded.

Opposite the hotel stood the courthouse, a Greek temple with ex-sanded wooden columns. Down the steps and back into the portico had been sloped a warped and rickety wooden grand stand. Along the two sides of the square, stretching in front of the hit-and-miss board sidewalks, from the hotel to the courthouse, stood permanent booths, which were now providing indigestion and amusement to the visitors from the resorts in the surrounding hills.

"Come on, Jim; let's join the festivities," urged Blackie.

"Let's finish our dinner," implored Wallingford, who was heavy after meals.

"I've got a little information for you." Wallingford turned and found, stooping to sit beside him, a fat faced, thin old man with a big silk bow at his collar. He put his hairy forefinger on Wallingford's knee for impressiveness. "Henry Closby goes to Chicago, but he gets his letters from New York. I reckon that's queer."

"I don't know Mr. Closby," returned Wallingford uncomfortably and with a vicious glance at Blackie.

"Certainly not," agreed the native, with a sly smile and a tap of his finger. Wallingford moved his knee, but the finger followed. "That's the trouble with Henry Closby. Nobody knows him. Now, I'm the postmaster and a member of the city council, and I reckon I know more about folks than any man in this town."

Wallingford suddenly gripped the postmaster by the hand, and his big pink face radiated with pleasure.

"The very man I wished to meet," he heartily asserted. "Won't you have a cigar with me?"

"Much obliged," accepted the postmaster, putting the cigar in his pocket. "I don't smoke, but my brother Enoch does. He's a member of the city council, too, and runs the livery, feed and sale stable and undertaking establishment."

"Present my compliments to your brother Enoch," offered Wallingford. "Does your son or your son-in-law smoke, Mr.—Mr."—

"Boyler—Postmaster William Boyler," admitted that gentleman, accepting another cigar quite promptly. "I handle all the mail, and I can get facts that nobody else can. If there's any reward"—

"You'll get yours," interrupted Wallingford. "Just now I don't think it would be wise for us to be seen talking together too much."

Wallingford found Blackie in earnest converse with a lean and sallow gentleman, who cracked the joints of his knuckles ceaselessly when he talked.

"Listen!" said Blackie to Wallingford in a hoarse whisper and, clutching him by the arm, drew both men into the darkest corner of the porch. "This is Mr. Walter Kerr, a member of the city council and proprietor of the drug store, and he probably knows more about folks than any man in this town."

Mr. Wallingford shook hands with the gentleman whose elbow creaked and listened.

"Now, see what you make of this," whispered Blackie impressively. "Mr. Kerr says that Henry Closby frequently buys powdered orris root!"

"More than all the rest of my customers put together," supplemented Mr. Kerr in a whisper that cracked into a shrill falsetto at all the emphatic words. "Buys more than a pound a week and always a fresh pound when he goes to Chicago."

"See!" eagerly triumphed Blackie. "Isn't that about in line with what we suspected, Yard?"

Wallingford, suddenly aware that Blackie was addressing him, grunted.

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Wallingford," corrected Blackie, covered with confusion. "The secret slipped. Mr. Kerr, this is Mr. Scotland Yard, the great English detective, but of course he doesn't like his name used here."

"Your secret is safe with me," promised Mr. Kerr, bowing with becoming deference to the famous Scotland Yard. "I'll hurry your telegram right off, Mr. Holmes."

"Telegram?" asked Wallingford wonderingly, and perturbed, too, as he speculated upon what Blackie's new move might be.

"Yes," explained Blackie smoothly. "I told Mr. Kerr about our misfortune in losing our disguise trunk. He knows the telegraph operator and can get away a secret message for us."

He took the message in question from Mr. Kerr's hands and displayed it to Wallingford, who read:

Violet Bonnie Daw—Send complete assortment whiskers immediately.
BLACKIE.

The city councilman creaked away to get Blackie's secret message on the wire.

As they walked across Courthouse square to the official box, Wallingford turned to Blackie with a half vexed laugh.

"I hope you didn't have the nerve to tell that piker your name was Sherlock Holmes," he observed.

"Certainly not," grinned Blackie. "I only gave him my initial, 'S.'"

A councilman with a three haired mole on his chin, who sat next Blackie, nudged his arm. "There goes your man," he whispered, pointing to where Henry Closby, a neatly dressed and prosperous looking merchant, with a jet black beard of which he apparently took justifiable care, emerged from his store, behind the rag baby booth and the ice cream-taffy stand, crossed the square with the entire indifference of one traversing a vacant field and disappeared down a side street for his evening stroll.

"Looks like a real sport to me," Blackie commented approvingly.

"He's a point shy or he wouldn't stay there," growled Wallingford, whose distaste for the town was growing deeper every minute.

Blackie's neighbor nudged him again. "My name is Scorpine. I'm the proprietor of the Spanglerville Advertiser," he confided. "I probably know more about our citizens than any man in town. Henry Closby goes to Chicago on the first and third Sunday of every month and he stays till Tuesday morning every time. He carries a hand bag and a big suit case."

"Yellow?" asked Blackie excitedly.

"The suit case is."

"Do you hear that?" demanded Blackie of Wallingford, but J. Rufus had turned his back. "The hand bag is black."

"No, brown," asserted the best posted man in town.

"Brown?" repeated Blackie in distress. "That throws me off my calculations. What does he carry in them?"

The best posted man shook his head sadly. "Nobody knows," he confessed.

"I can tell you something else about him, though. Once every month or six weeks he expresses a heavy box to New York."

Blackie caught his breath loudly. "Not a wooden box!"

"A wooden box!" repeated the other triumphantly. "It is always addressed to B. F. Tuttle, at Fifth avenue and Forty-second street; prepaid."

"Tuttle," mused Blackie, as if to himself. "I never dreamed that he would be in this."

Before they returned to their hotel Councilman Brand, who operated a brickyard just behind Henry Closby's store, and who was the best posted man in town, told them that Henry went to Chicago about every two weeks and was in the habit of digging holes in his back yard. Before they went to bed Councilman Smith, who sold farm implements, ammunition and lightning rods, and who, besides being the best posted man in town, suffered from insomnia, told them that he frequently saw lights in Henry Closby's upstairs windows as late as 2 o'clock in the morning; also that Henry paid mysterious visits to Chicago.

"I owe Henry Closby an apology, and he gets it," stated Blackie before he turned out his light.

Henry Closby was alone in his store on Sunday morning, taking an invoice of his goods, when they called on him, and he came forward to meet them with the engaging air of a man who is quite sure of himself.

"We don't want a thing in the world," said Blackie, genuinely regretful. "I owe you an apology for starting some gossip about you here."

"Nobody ever starts any gossip in this town," observed Mr. Closby dryly. "It's always under way."

"I think we gave it an injection of hurry-up hop," insisted Blackie, and he explained exactly how the thing had come about.

Mr. Closby only laughed. "It can't hurt me," he said, very much to both Blackie's and Wallingford's relief. "The town wasn't so bad, though, till a long haired Socialist converted the place to public ownership."

"A little soft music and I'll tell you the story," offered Wallingford, with a chuckle. "First they confiscated the electric light plant, the gooseberry industry and the ax handle factory; then they bought the mortgage on your father's hotel and foreclosed."

"You must be detectives, after all," wondered Closby. "Oh, I see. You got the name from the old advertising register."

"How did you get by with the store?" inquired Wallingford, looking with interest at the well stocked shelves.

"They tried that, but they were glad to let go. They gobbled everything else, though. I started these fireworks festivals, and as soon as they saw I was making money at it they absorbed it."

Wallingford laughed appreciatively. "It's better than the legitimate municipal graft, I believe," he commented. "The councilmen draw fat salaries, and half the voters are working for them, so re-election doesn't cost a cent."

"And the place is dead," supplemented Closby. "They've killed ambition, enterprise and progress."

"And they've made it a dry town," added Blackie. "I can't forgive them for that."

"There's a cellar under every house," Closby informed them. "If you gentlemen are suffering from thirst I think I can relieve you."

Some Cookery Suggestions

STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Creamed Eggs on Rice.
Stuffed Green Peppers.
Bran Bread and Butter.
Grated Pineapple.
Tea or Milk.

THERE is a growing fondness for this favorite Italian vegetable, the green pepper. No matter with what food it is combined, the flavor of the pepper will predominate.

Stuffed With Vegetables.

Peppers With Tomatoes.—Cut the tops from sweet green peppers, remove the white membrane and seeds and cover the peppers with boiling water. Boil them for several minutes, then take from the stove and allow them to get cold. Make a filling of breadcrumbs and chopped tomato pulp from which all the juice has been pressed, and season with salt and pepper. Fill the peppers (first draining them) with this mixture, set them close together in a baking pan, pour a little stock about them or pour around them a little hot water, and cook until tender, but not broken. Put upon a dish, make a thick tomato sauce of the remaining tomato juice and pour it about the peppers just before serving.

Served With a Cereal.

Make a stuffing of boiled rice and canned tomato and a small minced onion. Season with salt and add a half teaspoonful of curry powder dissolved in a dessertspoonful of water. Fill the peppers and bake, basting with hot water.

Mix a can of chopped mushrooms and a large cupful of breadcrumbs. Cook to a smooth paste, moistening with tomato sauce. Season with salt. Stuff the peppers and bake.

Putting Up Peppers.

Stuffed Pickled Peppers.—Take large bell peppers (the sweet peppers are best) as soon as they are grown, cut out the stem end and get the seed well out. Push the stem into the pod. When all are prepared pour over them hot soda water to keep them green, then boil a few minutes in alum water to make them firm, plunge them into cold water slightly salted and let remain all night.

Make a filling of equal quantities of cabbage, green tomatoes and cucumbers chopped fine, adding a little chopped onion if desired. Cover with water, add one teacupful of salt and let stand all night. In the morning take out of the water, drain. Add half a cupful of mustard seed, a tablespoonful each of cloves and cinnamon and a teacupful of grated horseradish.

Fill the peppers with this, fit in the stems, fastened in with toothpicks, place in jars and cover with boiling vinegar, sweetened with one pound of sugar to each quart of vinegar. These are nice served with meat.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Prize For the Fairy Queen.

Giving the Prize to the Fairy Queen.

IT dawned on daddy that it was high time for him to tell the children a fairy story, but before he had had time to suggest it Evelyn said:

"Oh, daddy, do tell us a story about the fairies! You haven't for just ever and ever so long."

"No," said daddy; "that is quite true. I was thinking that myself this evening and had planned to tell you one. Besides, I haven't told you about the swimming party they gave the other day.

"The chief feature of this party was the diving competition. For this competition the fairy queen offered a prize of a great big bunch of pond lilies.

"All the fairies entered the competition, of course, and they all were such excellent divers and able to make such wonderful leaps into the water that the fairy queen could not make up her mind. Finally, though, she decided that perhaps little Lightfoot fairy had made almost the most wonderful dives. But then, just at that moment, Silver Wing made one of the most perfect dives the fairy queen had ever seen. And once more the fairy queen could not for the life of her decide who should win the prize.

"So she decided she would make a little speech. She called all the fairies over to the bank and began:

"'Little fairies,' said she, 'I cannot begin to tell you how I have admired the diving of every one of you.'

"At this all the fairies looked so happy and so proud.

"'But what has been puzzling me,' continued the fairy queen, 'has been to decide on the winner of the prize. So I have decided that every one of you will be given a pond lily instead of giving the whole bunch to one prize winner, for it would be quite impossible to do that.'

"Whereupon the fairy queen presented to each little fairy a beautiful big pond lily. And, oh, how happy and proud they all were!

"Then they suggested that the fairy queen should show them some of the wonderful dives she could make.

"She was perfectly willing, for she loved to dive, and she always liked to help along the parties all she could. So she made all the different dives she knew, and the fairies clapped their hands and were absolutely delighted.

"But one little fairy seemed to be missing.

"'Where has little Golden Hair gone?' some one suddenly shouted.

"The fairy queen stopped diving, and the fairies were just arranging to look for her in various coves of the little lake when she came in view, swimming for all she was worth and carrying with her an enormous pond lily and breathlessly shouting:

"'Here is a prize for you, beautiful fairy queen.'"

By Alice Gibson

One of the most convenient and practical of present day fashions is the little short coat of moire, cloth or serge which may be combined appropriately with almost any separate skirt. Most of us have in our wardrobe several of these skirts, which could be worn providing one had a suitable wrap to accompany them. In this design, No. 8345, is shown a short bolero-like coat with a raglan shoulder and flaring collar and a shaped flaring peplum at the bottom. It is suitable to moire, poplin, taffeta or serge and may be worn with almost any skirt. In size 36, this coat requires 2 yards of 42-inch material. The pattern comes in five sizes, 34 to 42.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Capes may fairly be said to have taken the world of dress by storm.

This one is charmingly graceful and attractive and makes a really ideal summer wrap, while, treated a little differently, it would also be charming for the street suit of autumn, for capes undoubtedly will be used in place of coats throughout the coming season.

In the picture the material is charmeuse satin lined with thin silk. For the street suit the cape would be pretty made of serge, gabardine or any similar material. It takes extremely graceful lines and folds, shows exceptionally becoming shaping and withal is the simplest garment possible to make.

SHORT CAPE.

For the street suit navy blue serge or gabardine with the cape lined with plaid or striped silk would be exceedingly smart.

The cape will require two and one-quarter yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with one-quarter yard twenty-seven inches wide for the collar.

This May Manton pattern is cut in one size only. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8330, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER
Eat Less Meat Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

The Suffrage Situation at Home.

The President's attitude toward suffrage is of prime interest and The Outlook has contributed an original thought to the discussion of President Wilson's statement to the deputation of clubwomen which waited upon him June 30. It says: "A great deal might be said in favor of an amendment to the Constitution conferring upon the Federal Government power to determine the conditions of suffrage for all citizens and in all States. But The Outlook cannot see that anything can be said for giving to the Federal Government power to determine the conditions of suffrage for women when it has no such power for determining the conditions of suffrage for men." The writer of this editorial evidently forgot for the moment that the men of the negro race were enfranchised by Federal amendment, and that all foreigners who become citizens in our country, and therefore voters, enjoy these rights under Federal laws. And what is this curious phrase, "determining the conditions of suffrage" for women? A Federal suffrage amendment merely forbids a State to disfranchise a woman because she is a woman, and leaves it in the power of the States to determine under what conditions women shall vote, as well as men.—"Suffragist" editorial.

Petitions continue to pour in on Congress asking for the passage of a national suffrage amendment. In the Senate petitions to this effect were presented, on behalf of their constituents, by Senator Stone, of Missouri, on July 6; by Senator Martine, of New Jersey, on July 7; by Senator Hughes, of New Jersey, on July 8, and by Senator Warren, of Wyoming, on July 9.

In the House of Representatives similar petitions were presented on July 6 by Representative Clancy, of New York; Copely, of Illinois; Ferris, of New Mexico, and Smith, of Michigan; on July 7, by Baker, of New Jersey; Byrnes, of South Carolina; Gillett, of Massachusetts; Gregg, of Texas; Hamilton, of Michigan; Scully, of New Jersey, and by the Speaker on behalf of certain petitioners from Ohio; on July 8, by Dunn, of New York, and Palmer, of Pennsylvania; on July 9, by Butler and Temple, of Pennsylvania, and on July 11, by Beakes, of Michigan, and Korbly, of Indiana.—(From the Congressional Record.)

Not waiting for the Federal decision in regard to the enfranchisement of women, the separate States are at work to win their own freedom. There are seven campaign States waiting for the coming November (1914) to decide their fate, to say nothing of the group (including New Jersey) which must wait for another year.

The group of seven comprises Nevada, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Missouri and Ohio.

Ohio women have gathered for suffrage the largest initiative petition that ever has been secured in the world. Nearly 104,000 signatures were needed, and 110,000 have been secured. The petition will be presented on July 30 to the Ohio Secretary of State. If Ohio carries next November, as the women of that State are determined it shall, the national strength of women will be increased by twenty-four Representatives in Congress, and the right to vote for twenty-four Presidential electors.

All the States are hopeful of success. The suffrage movement in North Dakota, for instance, has been endorsed by the Republican party, the Progressive, the State Democratic organization; the State Educational Association, the State Socialist organization, the labor organizations, the clergy of the State, the Tri-State Grain Growers' Convention, the State Sunday-school Convention, the Graduate Nurses' organization—in fact, by every organization in the State that stands for progress and justice.

To return again from State to national affairs, we are reminded of the endorsement of equal suffrage by the National Education Association—and this follows close on the heels of like action by the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Moreover, women doctors have declared for suffrage no less emphatically. At a recent convention of the American Medical Association, held in Atlantic City, there were present about 100 practicing women doctors. These women delegates held a banquet of their own. After dinner a resolution was put endorsing woman suffrage and was carried without a single dissenting vote.

An endorsement of political equality that delights the hearts of "Progressive" Suffragists comes from the Great Bull Moose.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt has written a letter to Miss Lillian D. Wald, chairman of the executive committee of the Woman's Temperary Committee which is working to have women represented in the Constitutional Convention to be held in New York next year. He said he was strongly in favor of the plan.

"It seems to me," wrote Mr. Roosevelt, "that any discussion as to whether women are eligible to hold public office in this State is really academic, in view of the fact that, thanks to the change in the will of the people, many women do at the present moment hold public office in this State."

"It is to my mind rank injustice to fail to have women represented in the Constitutional Convention," he said. "Moreover, many of the women can give information and assistance such as few men can give in matters in which men themselves are primarily interested. I earnestly hope the Progressive party will give a full representation of women on its Constitutional ticket."

While rejoicing over this generous statement of the case, it should be remembered that Suffragists are of all parties, Progressive, Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Prohibition.

The Suffrage Situation Abroad.

Suffrage victories are reported abroad as well as at home.

Votes for women was practically won in Denmark, on Friday, July 10, when the election for the Landsthing, or Upper House of the Danish Parliament, resulted in the return of a secure majority of progressive members who will support the Government bill establishing universal suffrage for men and women.

A significant demonstration, the first of its kind, was held in France on July 5. A procession in which fully two thousand women took part, marched through the streets of Paris.

But looming so large that no Suffragist nor Anti-Suffragist can help being depressed by it, are the deplorable conditions in England. Mrs. Pankhurst is being re-arrested and released in the same miserable fashion—and precious objects of art (not lives be it noted) are being destroyed by the Suffragettes—and so the degrading tale runs on to its finish—what finish we hardly dare to ask.

S. K. Radcliffe, writing in "The Outlook," says:

The case against Militancy has never been put so well as by Mr. Gilbert Chesterton. In revolutions, he says, something happens; in the Suffragist business nothing happens. "You can only knock the King's head off once, but you can knock his hat off a hundred times." Quite true; but no man, certainly no monarch, will endure to have his hat knocked off a hundred times. If his ministers can't protect him, he will dismiss them. And no politician's nerves can bear up against the multifarious persecution of his women opponents. He will give in.

Yes; it is not only possible, but inevitable. I believe that at bottom every serious student of English affairs realizes that, in one form or another, the demand of women for full citizenship is certain to be recognized. The Prime Minister who, in the near future, shall propose to do this (Sir Edward Grey or some one else) will explain that the vote is being given to women as a measure of justice fully due, and in spite of the wicked and shameful antics of a few decadent and hysterical members of the sex. And when he says that the nation will agree and applaud. The other day, in reply to the question whether the hunger-strikers should be allowed to die, Mr. Bernard Shaw wrote:

As we have neither conviction enough to dare starve the Militants to death nor common sense enough to pledge ourselves to an inevitable reform, there is nothing to be done but wait until the women provoke the mob to lynch them and the Government hangs a satisfactory number of the mob in expiation. Then the women will get their votes, after the last inch of mischief and suffering has been squeezed out of a situation which several civilized and reasonable countries have already disposed of without the slightest trouble. That is England all over.

STRAY TOPICS FROM LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

New York, July 22—A falling off in the appetite of New York for home-made pies, due to the decrease in the number of those coming here from New England, is said to be the reason for the failure of Mrs. Eunice E. Huff, the proprietor of a large bakery establishment, who recently filed a petition in bankruptcy. Mrs. Huff used to sell more than 300,000 pies annually, but recently, she says, the metropolis seems to have lost its taste for that incomparable dessert.

Under the direction of the New York Bible Society the Bible is now being distributed in 53 tongues in this city. Every three months 1,000 vessels are visited, and amid the Babel at Ellis Island care is taken that the immigrant finds at his disposal at least one book in his own language. Some time ago the society distributed 1,000 copies of the Bible among the attaches of a circus showing in New York. The total number of volumes yearly put into circulation in all quarters of the world is estimated at 18,000,000.

Mrs. Mary E. Kampe, a widow living in Newburg, has received from her lawyer a check for $30,000, drawn to her order by John Patton. Mrs. Kampe says that forty years ago Patton had a quarrel with his father, who was a hotel keeper in this city, and the boy wanted to go West to grow up with the country. He borrowed $10 from Mrs. Kampe and told her he would pay $1,000 for every dollar of it if luck favored him. A month ago Mrs. Kampe received her first letter from Patton asking the name of her attorney. He recalled the loan and his promise, and said he had prospered and was desirous of helping his friend in her old age.

William A. Heitler, the oldest rat catcher in New York, is dead. He was one of the three best known rat catchers in the world, the others being Henri Dayve, of Paris, called the "King of Rat Catchers" in 1870, and Harry Jennings, called "Pick the Rat," who came to this city in 1838. Heitler is said to have captured more than half a million rats during the last forty-five years. He caught the rats with his bare hands or a pair of tongs. One night at the old Willard Hotel in Washington, he caught 906, and once on a bet he captured eighty-seven in an hour. Like other famous rat catchers, Heitler would never divulge the secret of his ability to catch rats.

Announcement of the intention of the National City Bank to establish branches under the new Federal Reserve act at Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires has brought out a flood of inquiries from manufacturers who have been kept out of the South American field by the lack of banking facilities. It now appears that other American banks will take advantage of the new law to go into foreign countries to maks way for business houses which in the past have been forced to leave the field to the German, British and French exporters.

Annie Wright, a vivacious girl of five years, whose parents abandoned her when she was eight months old in a dark hallway, has found a real home. The court has signed an order permitting Mr. and Mrs. Harrison B. Moore to adopt Annie, and to bring her up as their own child in their luxurious home in Sixty-second street, just off Fifth avenue. Annie was born in 1908 to parents of whom nothing is known. One day she was found in a house on the East Side playing by herself, quite contentedly, on the stairs. An attempt was made to find her parents. Persons living in the house were questioned, but all denied knowledge of how the baby had come there. When no one claimed the child, she was sent to the New York Infant Asylum. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Moore saw Annie and took such a fancy to the little girl that they decided to adopt her as their own.

Figures submitted by one of the principal manufacturers of moving picture films show that the profits in the production of the so-called "feature" films are tremendous. By feature films is meant a whole play or a novel, running to five reels or more in length, or 5,000 feet of films. A film of this class that will command a good deal of public interest, either through the prominence of the "star" or through the popularity of the subject under discussion, will cost, if an elaborate production, between $10,000 and $15,000. This seems like a large outlay, but it is insignificant when the returns on the production begin to come in. The amount mentioned above is for the first negative. From that negative some twenty positives are made, or films ready for exhibition. These films rent for about $100 a day. Thus, the twenty copies immediately begin returning $2,000 daily. In the course of a week the film has paid for itself. In the course of a few months the profits begin to run into the hundreds of per cent. As the popularity begins to wane, the price of the rental of the films is decreased, it goes to smaller theatres, and at the end of a year it is still bringing in money.

James W. Wadsworth, who is now looked upon as the most likely candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator to succeed Elihu Root, comes of a family which for four generations has furnished men prominent in the public service. The first of the Wadsworths in New York State was James, known as the "American philanthropist," who was one of the largest landowners in Western New York. He had a son, James Samuel, who took part early in life in public affairs as one of the founders of the Republican party in New York. He was military governor of the District of Columbia and Republican candidate for Governor of New York in 1862. James Wolcott Wadsworth, the third of the family in the public life in New York, was for many years a representative in Congress. James W. Wadsworth, who has announced his candidacy for the senatorial nomination, is a son of Cogressman Wadsworth. Like all of the members of his family for four generations back he is a graduate of Yale. He was elected to the general assembly in 1904 and two years later elected speaker of that body. In his fight for the senatorial nomination Mr. Wadsworth is certain of the support of the conservative element in the Republican organization.

James T. McDermott of Illinois, a Democratic member of the house, whose name was mentioned in the Mulhall lobby charges, resigned as a member of congress. Mr. McDermott intends to appeal to his constituents for a vindication, and he will be a candidate for the vacancy in the house created by his resignation. Friends of Mr. McDermott say that he preferred to retire from the house rather than be censured for his conduct in transactions set forth in the report of the judiciary committee, which is scheduled to come up on Thursday.

KILLED AS MOTOR SKIDS.

Francis Mulvey, Athletic Star, Suffers Fractured Skull In Plunge.

White Plains, N. Y., July 22.—Francis Mulvey of Tuckahoe, twenty-one years old, graduate of Fordham college and one of the college football and baseball stars last year, was killed in Hartsdale, when he fell or was thrown from a motorcar driven by John Dalva, an employee of the Colonial garage of Tuckahoe.

Mulvey, with a party of four young men and two girls, were returning to the Gramatan inn at Bronxville, after a ball game at Briarcliff, where Mulvey played with the Gramatan inn team.

The machine, Dalva says, did not respond readily to the foot brake, and at the top of the steep hill in Inwood avenue, Hartsdale, the car skidded on the wet roadway and Mulvey was thrown out.

His skull was fractured by the fall.

BASEBALL NOTES

Infielder Gurtz, of the Bloomington Club, is clouting for an average of .488 and leading the Three-I League in batting.

The Detroit Americans have purchased Fred Nicholson, the hard-hitting outfielder of the Dinison, Texas-Oklahoma League team.

Young Morton, Cleveland's new pitcher, has made a nice showing in several games in which he has done the firing for the Naps.

Both Ruth and Shore, the Baltimore Oriole pitchers, have caught the fancy of Boston fans and look like winners for the Red Sox.

California promoters are trying to secure two or three major league teams to make a trip to the coast next spring for training work.

Ralph W. Reeve, the former Dartmouth College shortstop, has succeeded Pat Flaherty as manager of the Lynn team of the New England League.

Recent averages of the Canadian League show twenty men batting for .300 or better. Kelley Harris, of the Erie team, tops the list with an average of .361.

The fine stick work of Frank Shulte has been a great help to the Cubs of late. Frank threatens to duplicate his heavy hitting of 1911 before the close of the season.

Pitcher Higginbotham and Catcher Hammerschmidt form a battery with the Dubuque Three-I League team. Nice monikers for umpires and scorers to wrestle with.

The Washington Senators have fattened up at the expense of the Yankees this season, the Griffithites having copped 10 of the 14 games played with the New Yorkers.

"Rabbit" Maranville's swell work both in the field and at bat has been the big hit of the Boston Braves' visit to the Western cities of the National League circuit.

Bill Bernhard, former star twirler of the Phillies and later with Cleveland, is now doing great work on the mound for the Salt Lake City team of the Union Association.

Bobby Wallace did not take the Eastern trip with the Browns. The veteran shortstop is out of the game with an injured hand and is not expected to do any playing for several weeks.

Animals as mascots are quite the thing in the big show this season. The Chicago Cubs have a bear cub, the Detroit Tigers carry a black cat and the Phillies pin their faith to a red fox as a jinx chaser.

WITH THE BOXERS

Through his victory over Gilbert Gallant, Matty Baldwin wins back the title of New England lightweight champion.

Dave Cross, featherweight pugilist and brother of Leach Cross, has been putting up some classy battles in and around New York.

Grover Hayes, the Philadelphia lightweight, is training at Juraez, Mexico, where he is billed to box Johnny Dundee in a 20-round bout on July 26.

The Sullivan twins, Jack and Mike, are still doing business at the old stand. Mike is hot on the trail of Jimmy Clabby and Mike wants to tackle any of the promising white heavies.

PLANS ARE APPROVED.

Washington, July 22—Approval for the proposal that the annual football game between the Army and Navy be played next autumn in Washington was given yesterday by Secretary Garrison, the chief engineers of the Army and the House Military Committee. If final arrangements are made for bringing the game here a gridiron will be marked off on the polo grounds in Potomac Park. The athletic academies have not yet passed on the matter.

BIG BOUT OFF.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 22—The boxing bout between Joe Rivers, the Mexican lightweight, and Leach Cross, of New York, which was to have been held at Vernon next Tuesday, has been called off. Plans for the bout were terminated at the request of Rivers, who says he is not physically able to box at this time.

EBBETS AND KRAFT.

Owner Who Averted Strike and Player Who Nearly Caused It.

The strike of the organized baseball players was averted when Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn club, announced that the Newark club of the International league, which he controls, had purchased the release of Clarence Kraft from the Nashville club of the Southern association.

PLAYERS WIN POINT AND CALL OFF STRIKE

Kraft Bought by Ebbets and Cause Is Removed.

New York, July 22.—The cloud which on Monday settled over the baseball world when announcement was made of the threatened strike of the 750 professional baseball players, members of the Players' fraternity, lifted as suddenly as it had gathered.

While the club owners of the American league were in session planning radical war moves against the fraternity the whole crisis passed over.

This state of affairs was due entirely to the action of Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn Baseball club of the National league and part owner of the Newark club of the International league. Mr. Ebbets cleared the cloudy skies by purchasing Player Clarence Kraft from the Nashville club of the Southern league, which claimed his services.

The news of Ebbets' purchase and of the statement by President David Fultz of the fraternity that this solution was so agreeable to his organization that the strike order would be rescinded was met with varied emotions by the American league men. They were of the opinion that the National league had fought shy of the issue and knuckled under to the players and expressed themselves to that effect. Ebbets hastened to assure them that the National league had nothing to do with his purchase and that he had spent the $2,500 demanded by Nashville only on behalf of the Newark club.

WORLD'S MARK.

Cleveland, O., July 22—The Indiana colt, William, set a world's record for four-year-old pacers here, yesterday, when he beat the local pacer, Dr. Burns, Jr., in the first heat of the 2:05 pace in 2:02. The former record was 2:02¾, made by Braden Direct at Lexington in 1912.

EUGENE LIDGATE SIGNS UP AGAIN

Fanwood Ball player, Formerly With Lancaster, Will Play With Clarion (Pa.)

Although Eugene Lidgate, the Fanwood leaguer, and five of his teammates, were fired from the Lancaster team of the Tri-State League, the local player will not return home at present, but has signed up with one of the semi-professional teams of that section. He will start playing immediately and will not come home as previously stated.

He and three others of the same team, will play with the Clarion Club, and one of the other fellows will go to the Johnsonburg team. One of the players, who was fired, was sorry for his actions afterward and told the president of the club that he had been led into the scheme, but the official of that organization was firm and did not take him back Those who signed up with other teams were greatly decreased in salaries.

The Lancaster team, which is playing in Allentown, is composed of many of Connie Mack's recruits, which he offered to fill in. Several of the players about the town offered their services and may get regular jobs. Some consider this action of firing some players is a good thing for the team and Lancaster fans expect to see a better team when it returns to its home town.

ROD AND REEL

The weakfishing in Raritan Bay, yesterday, was erratic, if the number of fish caught by the different boats is taken as a criterion. There was a big fleet of boats out around the monument from early in the morning until sundown, and the catches ran from nothing up to more than sixty fish to the boat. There was a strong westerly wind blowing all day, and after the tide turned, around 10 o'clock, a nasty choppy sea set in, which made the work uncomfortable. This, and the fact that the wind against the tide caused loops in the lines, made it difficult to tell when the fish were biting. The boats that went down to the Hook also ran into rough water, as well as those which were off Seabright, but nearly all of them managed to land nice catches of fish for their passengers.

Several local anglers have gone to Barnegat Bay, where they will spend the rest of the week hooking weaks.

Several fishermen ran into a school of weakfish yesterday, and each had a good number before the school broke up. One man went early and landed twenty-five big ones.

Greenwood Lake is full of bass and pickerel according to recent reports. One angler caught seven bass and five pickerel in a short time.

Sea bass are biting fine at Corson's Inlet. Tunas are also very plentiful.

The largest catch that has been made in Raritan Bay so far this year was reported yesterday, when one man landed fifty-seven weakfish, three fluke and an eel.

Morgan Station is still popular with anglers looking for weaks. Large numbers are hooked there every day.

Blackfish, sea bass and fluke are biting heavy at Seabright.

Kingfish are biting in what is known as Lorillard's "hole," between East Point and Lorillard's dock in Raritan Bay. The exact hole in which these fish feed every year is hard to locate, but once sounded and fished, it will never be forgotten.

Weakfish are driving up the coast in large numbers and some say that they are coming out of the hundreds of bays south of Barnegat. They seem to be following the fingerling menhaden, of which great schools can be seen from Bayhead to Sandy Hook.

GREAT GAME ON LOCAL DIAMOND

Pets and Saurer Team Will Have Great Struggle On Parker Field.

Although Plainfield is not a baseball crazy town as it was a few years ago it is expected that a record-breaking crowd will journey to Parker Field next Saturday afternoon and witness a great exhibition of the national pastime when the Plainfield Pets and the Saurer teams come together for the first time this season. This battle will undoubtedly be the attraction of the season as both clubs have played the best kind of ball in this vicinity and have made good records.

So far this year the Saurer team has lost but one game and have won several notable victories. Some of the best players in this city and vicinity are wearing Saurer uniforms and any pitcher could pitch a good game of ball with such a stone-wall infield in back of him. With Dixon, Wilson and Miller in the outfield any bater will have to hit them "where they aint" in order to get a safety, and then when they do get on first it is a fair bet that the Alberts-Martin combination will nail them at second. Warry McLaughlin will twirl for the Saurer team and will be received by Alberts. This team is also composed of a bunch of sluggers and will make the Pets work for all they get.

George Townley and Walter Nelson will be in the points for the Pets and the regular crack lineup will be behind them. The locals have lost two games so far this year, a 3 to 2 eleven inning affair and a 6 to 4 contest last week, that went for thirteen rounds. These games are almost as good as victories in one way and the Pets are going after the championship seekers from the start. With Townley in his best form and McLaughlin in the come-back role, there is bound to be a fine pitchers' duel and both will be given the finest kind of support.

WILSON RECEIVES CARRANZA LEADER

Much Significance Seen in Call of Senor Calderon.

Washington, July 22.—President Wilson received at the White House for the purpose of informal conference Senor Fernando Iglesias Calderon, head of the Liberal party in Mexico, who is slated to be minister of foreign relations in the provisional government of the Constitutionalists when they enter Mexico City. Senor Juan Francisco Urquidi, secretary of the Constitutionalist agency here, accompanied Senor Calderon and acted as interpreter.

Considerable significance was attached to the meeting. It was the first time that the president had received any Constitutionalist or in any manner communicated directly with them.

While no announcement was forthcoming from administration circles touching the conference, it is probable that the president gave Senor Calderon an oral message to General Carranza. It could not be learned whether the question of a general amnesty was touched upon during the talk.

President Wilson wants such amnesty granted to the federals. Senor Calderon has been opposed to granting wholesale amnesty. He contends that while the rank and file of the federal army and certain others might receive amnesty, it would be unwise to pardon ringleaders in the plot against Madero and that these and certain other adherents of Huerta should be brought to trial and punished if found guilty.

Senor Calderon holds that the trial and punishment of some of Huerta's "accomplices" would have a powerful moral effect. He has argued since coming here that the execution of Maximilian following the French intervention in 1867 had curbed all ambitions of other European powers to repeat that venture.

URGE AUTOISTS TO JOIN PARADE

Street Demonstration Will Pre-cede First Concert Tomorrow Night.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED

Band Stand Erected, Adequate Seating Capacity and Illumination Provided For By West End Civic Association.

Members of the West End Civic Association comprising the various committee and sub-committees having in charge the contemplated series of open-air concerts on each Friday evening for the remainder of the summer, report that all is in readiness for the first concert to be given by the Dutch Arms Band, tomorrow evening, at Monroe avenue and West Fifth street.

The band stand has been erected and adequate seating capacity constructed about the big open lot. The refreshment booths are in place and the Public Service Corporation is now stringing the lights throughout the grounds over the band stand and booths. Special street car service has been promised by the railway officials so that there will be no unnecessary delay or crowding in arriving at and leaving the park, ample siding and switching facilities having been arranged for.

The association purposes to inaugurate its open-air concert season auspiciously. Already twenty-five automobiles have been procured to take part in the parade which will start from Trinity Reformed church, West Second street, at 7:30 o'clock. The "fleet" of automobiles will be preceded by a big van in which a portion of the band will ride to the grounds. As the band consists of forty-one pieces at the opening concert, it is not possible for all the musicians to participate in the street parade preceding the concert proper.

Arrangements for the parade are in charge of Frank A. Weeks, of West Seventh street, and all owners of motor cars interested in the West End who have not been approached are earnestly requested to notify Mr. Weeks of their willingness to take part in the parade and come with their cars decorated to the starting point prior to 7:30 o'clock.

Arrangements have been made with F. H. Cramer, of North avenue, to serve ices and cooling, nonspirituous drinks to all who attend the concert, the caterer promising to have a capable and adequate corps of waiters on hand. Charges will be moderate and the service prompt.

Unusual interest centers in the concerts and the West End Civic Association feels that in taking this initiative they are but paving the way towards arousing sufficient interest in the movement to insure a series of concerts for next summer, and succeeding seasons, of a much wider and more pretentious scope. Plainfield is lacking in facilities for out-of-door amusements in the summer, and the association is the pioneer in a movement which many here contend the city should have fostered many years ago. The Common Council, when approached on the subject, heretofore invariably has pleaded its inability to make an appropriation that would aid in providing amusement, or entertainment for residents of Plainfield. The civic association therefore set to work to prove that such a feature could be inaugurated and at nominal cost.

The activity of the association in all matters of civic interest has been so marked in its brief existence that already it has become a powerful factor in the city's affairs, and its influence in all matters pertaining to the extension of and safeguarding the interests of the West End will become more and more potent as it grows older, since it reckons among its members some of the most prominent and influential property-owners of the city.

RECOVERING RAPIDLY.

Ralph Smalley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smalley, of Greenbrook road, is recovering rapidly from an operation that he had two weeks ago at Muhlenberg Hospital. He is now at his home and will be able to be about in a few days.

MRS. CARMEN RITZEN.

Mrs. Carmen Ritzen, aged seventeen years, of 309 Duer street, died this morning at Muhlenberg Hospital, after a short illness. Mrs. Ritzen is survived by her husband. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

DEATH OF CHILD.

Frederick Katz, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Katz, of 426 Madison avenue, died last night at Muhlenberg Hospital after a short illness. The funeral services are being held this afternoon.

WANT STATE S. P. C. A. AGENT IN THE BORO

Job Provides For An Annual Salary and Comes Under Somerset Co. Supervision.

Agitation for the appointment of a special agent for the S. P. C. A. in the borough of North Plainfield has been started and it is probable that Colonel Edwards, of Newark, State superintendent for the organization, will accede to the desires of the people of that municipality and select someone to head this humane work at once. The movement has been prompted by the return of dog days and the question of the execution of stray animals, with which the borough has recently been confronted.

There have been several cases in North Plainfield, recently, where the local agent has been called in and it is deemed advisable that someone living in the borough should take charge of the work. The visitation of the local representative in cases of this nature has caused her no little amount of inconvenience as there is enough work of this nature in Plainfield to keep one person constantly employed. Somerville has a society of this nature and the borough is supposed to come under the jurisdiction of this body, which is a county organization.

The appointment of State agent in the borough carries with it a specified remuneration and it is likely that the incumbent would be required to take entire charge of the work in this end of Somerset county.

FREEHOLDER KIRCH GIVES UP BUSINESS

Borough's Oldest Grocer to Enjoy Fruits Of His Labor.

Announcement was made this week of the transfer of the grocery business of Freeholder George Kirch, of Somerset street, the borough, David E. Coons, until recently of Stirling, being the buyer. Mr. Kirch has been in the grocery business in this section of the State for the past twenty-five years. He conducted a store at Liberty and West Fourth streets, which he afterward sold to his son-in-law, Charles O. Smith. After disposing of his business in the West End, he opened a store at Manning avenue and Somerset street, which he conducted until the first of the present month.

Mr. Kirch is a native of Somerset county, and from young manhood has been interested in politics, being a worker in the Democratic party. He has represented North Plainfield on the Somerset county Board of Freeholders for several years, being endorsed by both Democrats and Republicans during the campaign of last fall. At the time of his retirement, Mr. Kirch was the oldest grocer doing business in the borough, with Philip Curren a close second, Mr. Currin, having formed a partnership with Henry Zimmerman, who afterward went to Florida.

Mr. Coons, the purchaser of the business, has had a wide experience in the grocery world, and was connected with the Kirch store for some time prior to his taking over the business. He has engaged Joseph Kirch, a son of Mr. Kirch, as manager of the establishment.

TRINITY BAND OF WORKERS ENJOY PICNIC

Twenty members of the Band of Workers of the Trinity Reformed church and a large number of friends enjoyed a picnic at Wayside Park yesterday afternoon. The time was spent in playing various games. Chariot races and suffragette parades were held. Mrs. Pangborn won the first prize for being the best chariot rider.

Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Tunis entertained with piano selections and Mrs. Utzinger rendered several pleasing vocal solos. A picnic lunch was enjoyed and everyone voted the affair a most successful one.

REMODELING FIREHOUSE.

During the remodeling of the interior of the fire headquarters on East Second street the apparatus is being stored in the yard under canvas cover. The extensive alterations made it necessary for the removal of all interior furnishings and the apparatus is now ready for immediate use in its temporary quarters.

—Fancy pineapples, Georgia peaches, muskmelons, huckleberries, blackberries, red raspberries, bartlett pears and table plums are included among the fresh fruits offered at Neuman Brothers at their Watchung avenue market.—Adv. ***

SUBURBAN PEOPLE ARE AMBITIOUS

South Plainfield Leaders Want the Place Recognized As a Borough.

VILLAGE IS FLOURISHING

Municipality Has a Board of Trade and Influx of Population Is Anticipated—Census Figures Now Placed at 1,200.

South Plainfield, now a village with a population of 1,200, is due for a big boom in the near future, according to information coming direct from that municipality today. With the prospects of having a trolley line as a connecting link between South Plainfield and this city, and the fact that the Spicer Universal Joint Company, of this city, is contemplating the removal of its plant to that place, there is sufficient ground for the belief that the advancement of the historic little town will be rapid.

The Spicer company at the present time controls a large factory at that place and several hundred employes are traveling back and forth between this city and South Plainfield via the concern's auto bus. With the removal of the entire plant to the village and the prospects of steady work it is not unreasonable to believe that a majority of these employes will remove their families to a point nearer their work. The shutting down of the local factory will probably mean the discontinuance of the private bus being run for workmen and the changeable shifts which the men are now subjected to would be done away with.

South Plainfield is a village and is recognized as a flourishing portion of Piscataway township. With the expected influx of population and the continuance of the general civic advancement that has been so much in evidence of late, the people of the place are now beginning to look forward to the time when it will be known as a borough with its own governing body. A flourishing Board of Trade, organized about a year ago, is now doing splendid work for the municipality and much has been accomplished along the line of civic progress. There are a number of leaders in South Plainfield who have been actively engaged in advancing the civic welfare of the place and it is likely that some action will be taken in the very near future to gain recognition for the village as a borough. In that event the present active members in the Board of Trade will form a nucleus around which the borough's government may be moulded.

One South Plainfield taxpayer, this morning, contrasted the various elements in that place with those in Fanwood, the latter already having secured the right to style itself a borough. Although Fanwood has a population that is less than fifty per cent. of the South Plainfield total and its industries are not as numerous, it has its own governing body and is recognized as an independent municipality. South Plainfield is in Middlesex county and Fanwood is in Union county, the Lehigh Valley Railroad running through the former and the Central Railroad through the latter.

P. O. OF A. PICNIC TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY

Camp No. 1, P. O. S. of A. completed arrangements to hold its annual basket picnic Saturday at Wayside Park, Dunellen. The lodge has been conducting these picnics for a number of years, and they have always proved to be enjoyable occasions. Several events have been planned for the day, and there will be a good attendance should the weather be clear. The members of Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A., have been invited to attend the occasion as guests of the woman's lodge. Those attending should take the Main Line trolley leaving the Watchung avenue station at 10.30.

NEXT EXCURSION JULY 30.

The annual excursion of the Reformed churches of this city and Mt. Pleasant will go to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, Thursday, July 30. Trinity Reformed, Netherwood Reformed, Marconnier chapel and Mt Pleasant schools will be represented on this outing. There will be two sections to leave the North Avenue station at 8:15 a. m. On the return trip the first section will leave Asbury Park at 7:10 p. m., and the second section immediately afterward.

Lake Hopatcong $1 Excursion

Every Sunday and holiday, until September 7, incl., via New Jersey Central, leaves Plainfield 9:10, Dunellen 9:15, Bound Brook 9:24, Somerville 9:32 a. m.—Adv. 7 23 2th-s

ARMY WORM HAS REACHED THIS CITY

Pests Have Been Found On Several Lawns But Extent of Damage Is Unknown.

FIGHT AGAINST SPREAD

Local Entomologists Advance Methods of Ridding City of Plant Life Destroying Animals — Plainfield Seminary Lawn Attacked.

Hordes of army worms have made their appearance on the Seminary lawn on West Seventh street, and considerable fear is entertained locally regarding the extent of the damage that the plant life destroying creatures will do. On good authority it was learned today that the army worm does not stay in one locality more than one or two days and its visitation here is supposed to be nearly over. Those interested in etomology in this city when interviewed on the subject today advanced the opinion that the worms could do a vast amount of damage in forty-eight hours and numerous ways of curtailing their ravages were suggested.

So far the parks and private lawns in this city have escaped remarkably well from the pests but there is still some danger of damage being wrought by the worms. One lawn on East Front street has been attacked by the pest and several methods of killing the vegetation destroyer have been tried.

The worm is dark in color with a light longitudinal stripe and varies in size from an eighth of an inch to an inch. The name army worm is bestowed on the pest because of the fact that they travel in millions and work with damaging effect on any lawn on which they appear. After an army of the worms has worked on a lawn the grass resemble a patch burned up by the rays of the sun and owners find it difficult to make the vegetation grow again in these places.

One of the greatest enemies of the worm is the ichneumon fly. This insect lights on the worm's back and deposits eggs which will kill it when the larvae has hatched. Local etomologists are watching the progress of the pestilence and everything is in readiness here to combat the worms if they appear ready for extensive ravaging.

It has been found that by sprinkling gasolene over hedges and sidewalks that a great majority of the worms can be exterminated before they become active. If a depression is made along the walk or between the slabs of flagging the worms will collect in large numbers where they will hide until afternoon. Sprinkling these crevices with gasolene will reveal a great many wriggling worms formerly invisible. A light application of gasolene is sufficient to causes many of the worms to die within five minutes. The gasolene should be used only along the edge of the grass as it is apt to kill the vegetation if sprinkled over it. As gasolene evaporates without leaving a stain it can be used with impunity on the sides of buildings and sidewalks. It is one of the most effective insecticides known.

M'NALLY-DEWOLF WEDDING NEWS SURPRISES STAGE FOLK

New Brunswick, July 23.—After the departure of Stephen McNally this week with the McNally acrobatic troupe for Toronto, the residents of Theatrical City, a colony of bungalow inhabitants along the Raritan River below this city, was surprised to learn that he took with him as his bride Miss Lanier Dewolf, an actress.

The couple were married "one Sunday afternoon" in New York, but no one at the colony knew it, not even the mother or sister of Miss Dewolf, until McNally told just prior to the departure of the troupe.

The actress became acquainted with McNally when in a burlesque company with him. Mrs. Dewolf is said to have had some opposition to her daughter being married. The couple were first married by a justice of the peace and then by the rector of Grace Episcopal church in New York.

HUERTA AND BLANQUET EXPECTED AT JAMAICA

Kingston, Jamaica, July 23—Former President Huerta and General Blanquet, with their families, are expected here late tonight or early tomorrow on the German cruiser Dresden, which sailed with the distinguished party from Puerto Mexico on Tuesday.

Several suites have been reserved for the party at the Myrtlebank Hotel. The local police will take full precautions against any attempt to harm or even annoy the former President or any of those who accompany him.

G. O. P. ANSWERS THE CLARION CALL

North Plainfield Township Republicans Attend a "Suggestion" Meeting.

ANDERSON ENDORSED

Aspirations of Several Other Prospective Candidates Are Approved —Dr. Richard Moldenke Presides at Meeting.

Answering the Clarion call of Dr. Richard Moldenke, a member of the county committee, a number of North Plainfield Township Republicans attended a "suggestion" meeting in the Township Improvement Hall, Watchung, last night, and discussed the political situation as presented by Dr. Moldenke, and incidentally several prospective candidates, including William de LaR. Anderson, who seeks the Congressional nomination, were endorsed.

The meeting adopted resolutions to the effect that inasmuch as Mr. Anderson is at present the best exponent of up-to-date Republicanism, that the township Republicans should endorse his candidacy. Among others who were endorsed were W. W. Smalley for State Senator; John Mooney, of Scotch Plains, and Dr. Charles Moldenke for members of the Township Committee to succeed Alex. Archibald; James Herrman and William E. Patte for assessor to succeed Francis E. Bodin, who will seek the Democratic nomination for Assembly.

There was an informal talk of Dr. Richard Moldenke being endorsed as a candidate for the Assembly. No one was suggested for township clerk, but it is likely that George Mobus, the present incumbent, a Democrat, will be put on the Republican ticket. Hippolyte Texier and Louis Snowden were endorsed for surveyors of highways.

Mr. Anderson in addressing the meeting, said that he felt sure that the Progressives would support the Republican candidates this year, provided that they were not of the old office-seeking, office-holding reactionary type of men. He added that it was important this year that the best men possible be nominated on the Republican ticket.

WILL GIVE A BENEFIT AT NETHERWOOD CHURCH

An entertainment will be given, this evening, in the Netherwood Reformed church for the benefit of one of its members, who has been ill for some time. Among those who will contribute to make the entertainment interesting and successful are some of his friends and business associates from New York, as well as prominent musicians and entertainers of Plainfield.

Those who will take part are: Soprano, Miss Etta Raybert; contralto, Mrs. F. M. Tomlinson; tenor, William A. Metcalf; baritone, Jules Dubarry; elocutionists, Miss Alice Stewart and Mrs. F. M. Tomlinson; pianists, Mrs. F. L. Mantell, Mrs. S. O. Rush and Julius VanSouthern; violin, Harry Thomae; 'cello, Theodore Wilkinson; accompanists, Mrs. William Hadley, Mrs. S. O. Rush and Julius VanSouthern.

EXCURSIONISTS HAD IDEAL OUTING AT ASBURY PARK

Twenty-four carloads of Plainfielders, numbering 1,200, enjoyed an ideal day's outing at Asbury Park, yesterday, under the auspices of the Methodist Sunday-schools of this city and Dunellen, the New Market Baptist, Evona chapel and the Wilson Memorial chapel of Watchung. Many took advantage of the warm water and indulged in their "annual" sea bath while others visited the popular resort's new amusements.

A number of baseball fans took a trip to the big athletic field and played the role of bleacherites during the ball game between Asbury Park and Paterson. While waiting for the return train at Asbury Park station, last night, the Plainfielders at the place witnessed an accident which happened to one of the women who was endeavoring to board the first train of the Flemington excursion. She had the misfortune to slip on the car step and sprained her ankle. Three excursions, of two sections each, visited the resort yesterday.

MATERIAL WITNESS OUT ON $300 BONDS

Story of the Capture of Mamie Booker, Accomplice In Alleged Crime.

Mamie Booker, colored, was held in bond of $300 as a material witness in the case of the State against Eleanor Hatchett, nineteen years old, when arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning. Owing to the fact that the defendant is at present in Muhlenberg Hospital the date for the trial was set for August 6.

The Booker woman, who is represented by Harry Runyon, as counsel, was apprehended by Sergeant Maurice Higgins Tuesday afternoon, after having made an attempt to dispose of the body of a new born baby by putting it down a toilet of a vacant house on East Third street.

She was noticed by a neighbor while acting suspiciously in the vicinity of the empty house shortly after noon and the latter furnished Sergeant Higgins with a minute description of the woman, after investigation had revealed the dead infant. The officer scoured the colored section of the city from Berckman street to Plainfield avenue for the woman and although he was directly in back of his quarry during his hour search she successfully eluded detection during that time. As a last resort Higgins walked along Plainfield avenue in the densely populated colored territory between West Second and West Fourth streets and came upon a colored woman answering the description sitting under a tree in the yard of the Rev. Alexander Trent, prophet of the Saints of God and Church of Christ.

Hiding near the girl for several minutes Higgins noted her strange actions and matched the height, dress and manner in which the hair was combed with the description and the details he had which tallied exactly. Confronted by Higgins with the mysterious circumstances surrounding the disposition of the child's body the woman admitted her culpability and was brought to headquarters. Examined by Chief Kiely she broke down and made a full confession and has been locked in the local jail for two days pending the arraignment which took place this morning.

Eleanor Hatchett, who is said to be the mother of the child, has been removed to the hospital following an examination by City Physician Norman W. Currie. As soon as her condition will warrant she will be brought to police court to plead to the charge against her. The child was born in the home of Prophet Trent, the uncle of the girl, and the father is supposed to be living in Virginia at this time.

STREET REPAIRS.

Considerable repairs are being made to the streets in the borough during the summer months. Included in these improvements, is the resurfacing of Somerset place, having several of the rough spots taken out by a new layer of crushed stone.

MANY SAID TO APPROVE MERGER

Boroughites, It Is Reported, Favor Consolidation With City.

PLAN MASS MEETINGS

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., Encouraged By the Apparent Strong Sentiment for the Proposition—Election September 24.

Interest in consolidation in North Plainfield has reached its zenith and ready response is being received by those favoring the proposition in that municipality. With the approach of the special election to be held on September 24, the sentiment for the merger increases and the issue is meeting with support among politicians and business men. Returns from the 110 invitations sent out by Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., to prominent boroughites for the expression of opinion on the subject have been most gratifying. Few have neglected to answer the communications and a large majority of those who have announced their views on the proposition have expressed themselves as being willing to serve on the committees working for the cause.

In order to familiarize the populace with the merits of consolidation the Mayor is planning to conduct a number of mass meetings in convenient sections of the municipality. These will be open for free discussion on the question and it is proposed to bring out all of the arguments for and against the matter and have them threshed out and answered by those who have made a careful study of the issue.

The meetings will be held in a short time and the various centers for the gatherings will be announced within a few days by the borough executive. An oral canvass made by a Daily Press reporter among the merchants on Somerset street, North Plainfield's principal business section, has brought out the fact that sentiment is strongly in favor of the proposition with an absence of adverse criticism. Already merchants and others are beginning to demand further knowledge of the plans for the proposed mass meetings and it seems advisable that some active steps be taken as soon as possible.

BOYS OFF TO CAMP.

The third section of boys to go to Camp Wawayanda this year, left this morning in charge of C. William Bingaman, boys secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. Those in the party were Walter Brown, Walter Penny, Seymour Cone, William Urch, Randolph Stahl, John Endress, Norman McGee, Warren Mumford, Wallace Wegleu and Gustav Wekleu. The party will be away two weeks. Seven of the boys of the second section returned this morning after two weeks at camp and report having had a good time.

MERCHANTS PRAISE DAILY PRESS "TRADE IN PLAINFIELD" CONTEST

The Daily Press contest that was launched yesterday and which is known as the "Trade-in-Plainfield" Contest, has created much interest among the merchants of the city. The tradesmen are well pleased with the movement and have stated that they think it will be the best thing for to stimulate summer business in Plainfield that has ever been done. Much interest has already been shown by the people of this city and many have decided to enter for the prizes.

In speaking of the matter to a Daily Press reporter Samuel Rothberg, a prominent local merchant, praised the movement most highly and said he had no doubt as to the success of the contest and the good effect it will have on Plainfield as a whole.

Henry Rosenbaum was also greatly pleased with the contest and thinks that it will do wonders in boosting the business of this city. He says that this is just what the city needs and has no question as to its success.

Mr. Tepper, of Tepper Brothers, was interviewed on the subject and had formed the same opinions as the other merchants. He also believes it to be the best of its kind ever held and has no doubt as to the successful outcome.

The A. E. Force Company and several other firms were interviewed this morning and were all very much in favor of the movement to further the business interests of Plainfield.

Isaac Schwed, of Schwed Brothers, the Front street clothiers, read the advertisement, and after commending the idea, immediately prepared a special series of arguments to be used by that firm in their adv. tomorrow night as to why it pays to buy in Plainfield.

When A. E. Force was seen he gave his enthusiastic approval to the plan. "I wish the Daily Press would let me offer another prize of $10, so that the Force store could be more closely identified with a movement to stimulate summer trade, such as this," said the president of the Business Men's Association. "It's a splendid scheme, and there is not a merchant who will not give his hearty approval."

As told in the Daily Press last night, and in the advertisement which appears elsewhere in today's paper, the Daily Press will offer four prizes to persons who write a letter of not more than 500 words, describing the advantage of buying in this city. The purchase must be described, but the amount has no effect upon the decision, the best written argument in favor of home trade being the main consideration. The Daily Press reserves the right to print all letters, whether they win prizes or not, and it is planned to publish all which describe an advantageous purchase made at a store which advertises in the Daily Press.

The first prize is $10 in gold; the second, a cash order on any Daily Press advertiser for $6.00; the third, a year's subscription to the Daily Press, and the fourth a cash order for $3 on any advertiser in the Press.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Evelyn Coote, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coote, of Greenbrower Farm, New Market, to George Vogt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Vogt, of Lincoln, on Saturday evening of last week. The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal church, Plainfield, by the Rev. C. M. Anderson, the pastor of the church. The couple were attended by Miss Beatrice Coote, a sister of the bride, and Martin Vogt, a brother of the groom. The pair enjoyed a short wedding trip to Camden, where they spent the week-end with Mrs. Edward Smith, another sister of the bride. They will reside temporarily with the bride's parents at Greenbrower Farm.

214 W. FRONT ST.

Right Next to Proctor's.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guyre, of Brooklyn, who have been visiting Mr. Guyre's parents since Friday of last week, return home tomorrow.

The Dunellen Home and Investment Company have sold a lot on Washington avenue near Culhane place, to Norman Vogt, of Walnut street, who will build shortly.

The Common Council has made arrangements with the Standard Oil Company and the Public Service Corporation to have North avenue oiled again.

Mrs. M. J. Whitford and daughters, the Misses Maud, Dora and Helen, departed this morning for Long Branch, where they will spend a week.

Edward Hannon, of Front street, has accepted a position with the Levgar Structural Company.

William W. Giddes, of Lincoln avenue, left this morning for Atlantic City, where he will enjoy himself for a week.

Arthur O'Leary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence O'Leary, of Whittier avenue, has accepted a position with the New York office of Levering & Garrigues, during his summer vacation.

Mrs. Arthur W. Giddes and children, of Port Richmond, S. I., who have been visiting Mrs. Giddes mother-in-law, Mrs. Joel C. Giddes, of Lincoln avenue, left for home today.

WILL PICNIC ON WEDNESDAY.

At the special meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church held in the Baraca Class rooms on Monday afternoon, the women decided to hold their twice-postponed annual picnic on Wednesday of next week, at Wayside Park, instead of Chimney Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Bogardus, of New Market road, depart tomorrow for Ocean Grove, where they will spend a week.

The foundation of the house that Walter J. Titus is erecting at the corner of Washington avenue and Culhane place, has been completed.

TENNIS CLUB DANCE.

The novelty dance of the Crescent Tennis Club was held last evening on their Madison avenue courts. From the Japanese lanterns that one could see from a distance approaching the courts to the picture made by the gentlemen arrayed in white trousers and blue coats as they swung their partners in the dim glow of the lanterns to the strains of the soft sweet music of a Victrola, the scene was a most attractive one. The two-step and the waltz were found to be the only difficult ones. Although the attendance was not, on account of the excursion to Ocean Grove, as large as was hoped, the affair from beginning to end was a success and will be repeated several times before the summer is over. Refreshments consisting of punch and cake were served.

Miss Iva Dayton, of New Market road, who has been ill for a week, is slowly recovering.

EXCURSION A SUCCESS.

The annual excursion of the Methodist Episcopal and Baptist Sunday schools to Ocean Grove yesterday undoubtedly took more people from Dunellen and New Market than any other excursion has ever done. Seven cars were reported to have been filled at this place, making a total of 420 excursionists. This record is accounted for by the fact that the Presbyterian excursion which is usually the large one, not only drew a cloudy and a threatening day, but the date of same, July 2, was too near the Fourth. No accidents were reported and everyone enjoyed an unmarred day. The water was fine.

Mrs. Lewis D. Walker, of New Market road, is slowly recovering.

Mrs. A. F. Samson, of New Market road, was a visitor in the city on Tuesday.

Allen Frederick, of Dunellen avenue, has been visiting relatives in Roselle.

Mrs. Edwin G. Lewis, who was stricken with the heat while at luncheon on Friday of last week, is considerably better at this writing.

Contractor J. N. Moynihan is laying concrete curbing along the New Market road frontage of the Mrs. C. A. Miles property.

Ruliff J. Fisher, of Buffalo, is making his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fisher, of Washington avenue, a short visit.

Miss Christine Maag, of Plainfield, is spending a few days with her niece, Mrs. Walter S. Craig, of New Market road.

C. Wesley Blaine, of Lincoln avenue, who has been confined to his home for the past six weeks as the result of pneumonia, was able to be out for the first time today.

Julius Margentino, Thomas Mohan, Frank Day and Sylvester Rinehart were visitors to South Beach yesterday afternoon, where they enjoyed a plunge in the surf.

Mrs. Roger L. Cooley, of Dunellen avenue, who has been in a critical condition for the past three days, passed a comfortable night. Her condition, however, remains unchanged.

PICNIC AT THE ROCK.

A picnic arranged by Miss Helen Swackhamer, of Dunellen avenue, in honor of Miss Lillian Martenis, of Asbury, who is visiting her this week, was held at Washington Rock today. The invited guests were Ruth and DeVural Apgar, Hazel and Gladys Marien, Amy Richards, Margaret Frederick, Edna Davenport, Maxwell Richards, Robert Stryker, Elmer and DeWitt Swackhamer.

The Past Councilors' Association of Middlesex county, Jr., O. U. A. M., will hold its next meeting with Eagle Council, No. 88, Jr. O. U. A. M., at Spotswood on Friday evening, August 7. The meeting has been designated as a musicale and the entertainment committee is planning to have some good talent on hand. On Wednesday, August 12, the association will gather at Seidler's Beach, where the third annual outing will be held, and this year's affair promises to outdo all previous attempts. Sports of all kinds, including a baseball game between the married and single men will be one of the features of the afternoon's sports and one of the players for the married men's team will be Rev. Leslie L. Hand, of Milltown, who is a good ball player as well as a loyal fan. The shore dinner is to be served at 7 o'clock this year, so as to give every one of the members an opportunity to get down and enjoy it.

Bound Brook.

Mrs. Charles W. Blaine, of Dunellen, was a visitor with relatives at Harris Lane, yesterday.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The Fanwood Township Board of Education will meet in regular session in School No. 1 tonight when it is expected some action will be taken to have the congested condition in the local schools relieved by the opening of the fall term. The building committee will make a report of its progress.

Eugene Lidgate, the local leaguer, is doing quite some moving around this year. He started the season as backstop for Baltimore, in the International League, and then went to the York team of the Tri-State league. On Monday he was released for striking with five other teammates for two weeks' back pay and has now joined a semi-professional team at Clarion, Pa.

The weekly prayer meeting will be held in the Methodist church tomorrow evening and in the absence of Dr. H. K. Carroll John Wade will be in charge.

The Rev. J. Madison Hare was in charge of the well-attended prayer meeting in the Baptist church last evening, taking as his subject, "Thy Word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against Thee."

August 4—County Board of Elections meets to organize.

August 15—Union County Republican outing.

August 19—Elizabeth Democratic City Committee outing.

August 28—Last day for filing county petitions.

September 2—Last day for filing petitions for local offices.

September 8—First registry day. Also last day for filing petitions to fill vacancies in all offices except Governor and Congress.

September 22—Primary election day and registration day for general election.

September 29—State convention of each party at Trenton and date on which county committees meet and organize.

October 20—Last registry day for municipalities over 5,000.

November 3—Election Day.

Charles W. Ennis has written the Union County Progressive Committee, declaring he is not and will not be a candidate for Congress from this district. Mr. Ennis said he received a letter from the Union committee a day or so ago stating that he was the unanimous choice of the committee for Congress. Mr. Ennis thanked the committee, but declined to run. Morris Progressives, although they would have liked to see Mr. Ennis run this year, have known that he was not a candidate and have not felt that it was fair to urge him to accept a nomination at this time. Many of the leaders in Morris have been looking to Union for a candidate selected from the available men here while others are backing Oscar F. G. Magie, of Boonton, who started a petition for his nomination ten days ago.

Ten Eyck R. Beardsley will not be a candidate for the Assembly this year on the Democratic ticket. When seen at his Fanwood home today he said that the pressure of other business would prevent him from accepting the nomination. Mr. Beardsley has been a candidate on two previous occasions.

Arthur E. Warner, of Elizabeth, who announced his candidacy for the general Assembly upon the Republican ticket, on the issues of law revision, local option and equal suffrage, today issued a statement in which he said: "I strongly favor the creation of a State Excise Commission, which shall have supervision of excise conditions, with powers to regulate the number of saloons in each city, borough or town, providing that the ratio of saloons shall at no time exceed one saloon to each five hundred inhabitants.

"This measure would contemplate the abolition of all local excise boards and the substitution therefore a single salaried commissioner, to be appointed by the State Excise Board upon the nomination of the Mayor, borough, or township or, in case that the municipality has no mayor upon the nomination of the government board of whatsoever name. This commissioner to be held responsible civilly and criminally for the non-enforcement of the law."

RECREATION NOTES

The Lincoln School will be opened tonight to the public as a recreation center, under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee, by request of many of the residents of this section. The school was opened for the first time last Thursday night but, owing to the weather conditions, there was a small attendance. Those in charge expect to have a large number out tonight and there will be all kinds of games and other things of amusement.

Some of the people of that section want to organize a dramatic club and if enough interest is shown this will be done. All those who are interested are urged to be present tonight to talked over the matter. Miss Constance Morris will have charge of the meeting tonight.

LODGE NOTES.

Lodges scheduled to meet tonight are as follows: Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., at Firemen's Hall; Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., at Junior Hall; United Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., at K. of P. Hall; Trafalgar Lodge, No. 506, O. S. of St. George, at Coward Hall, and Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, at the Babcock building.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Menzenback, 42 Harmony street.

Rev. Charles E. Moldenke, of Watchung, will have charge of the services at St. Peter's Lutheran church, Sunday.

CARDINAL GIBBONS IS 80 YEARS OLD

Venerable Catholic Is Quietly Observing Birthday Anniversary Today.

Baltimore, Md., July 23—Apparently in excellent health, though still suffering slightly from the fatigue of his recent journey to Rome, Cardinal Gibbons today reached his eightieth birthday anniversary. In accordance with the rules and traditions of the Roman Catholic hierarchy the anniversary was not made the occasion for any special celebration or observance of a public character, but the arrival of hundreds of letters and telegrams of congratulation bore witness to the fact that the venerable prelate has many friends and admirers throughout the world, who did not fail to remember this memorable day in the life of the Cardinal.

Some of the messages of felicitation received by the Cardinal came from fellow-members of the Sacred College. The Pope's greeting was included in the cablegrams, as were also congratulations from some of the rulers of Europe. His Baltimore friends also showered him with messages and many of them sent flowers.

As soon as warm weather has passed the Cardinal expects to resume the customary routine of his duties. It is expected that he will preach several times at the cathedral before Christmas. These sermons attract great crowds each month, and all who attend marvel at the aged prelate's strong voice and vigorous delivery.

Cardinal Gibbons was born in Baltimore of Irish parentage, on July 23, 1834. While he was still a boy he was taken to Ireland by his father, and there he received the elements of a liberal education. On his return to America he entered St. Charles' College, Maryland, from which he graduated in 1857. He then entered St. Mary's Seminary, in this city, and after the usual course of philosophy and theology was ordained a priest in 1861 by the late Archbishop Kendrick. He immediately entered upon the duties of his calling, serving first at assistant at St. Patrick's church and afterwards as the pastor of St. Bridget's church.

In 1868 he was named vicar apostolic of North Carolina. He remained four years in North Carolina and displayed such remarkable abilities that on the death of Bishop McGill he was transferred to Richmond, Va., where he was installed bishop by the late Archbishop Bailey in 1872.

Bishop Gibbons' administration in Richmond was marked by an almost immediate revival of religious interest and by practical results of the most important character. In the course of five years several new churches were erected, and academies and parochial schools were founded.

On May 20, 1877, Bishop Gibbons was appointed coadjutor with the right of succession to the late Archbishop Bayley, of Baltimore. He was installed archbishop at the cathedral February 10, 1878. On March 17, 1887, he received the red hat of the cardinalate from Pope Leo XIII., having been invested with the insignia of his office at the Baltimore cathedral. On May 25 of the same year, he took possession of his titular church in Rome and, when he returned from Rome, June 17, 1887, he was welcomed in Baltimore by one of the largest and most enthusiastic public demonstrations ever witnessed in this city.

Cardinal Gibbons was one of the founders of the Catholic University and for many years its chancellor. His influence at the Vatican has always been great and it is said that his representations were the cause of the late Pope's famous encyclicals on the labor question relative to popular government in the United States.

As an author Cardinal Gibbons holds high rank in the literature of his church, and his "Faith of Our Fathers" is regarded by eminent scholars and divines of every creed as a masterpiece of logic and literary attainment. With all his learning and attainments Cardinal Gibbons is one of the most modest and unassuming of men and dearly beloved not only by the priests in his charge, but by the people of all classes, who venerate him for his kindness, charity and truly democratic affability.

Few of those who meet the Cardinal casually realize that he has reached his eightieth milestone. His vitality has caused expressions of amazement many times and this vigor is attributed to his systematic method of living. Every hour of the day is regulated. His food is light but substantial and he takes his meals at regular hours. He strictly adheres to the old rule of early to bed and early to rise. Almost every day he has a walk for an hour or more.

DIFFERS FROM CHIEF.

Secretary Bryan seems to be just as firmly in favor of equal suffrage as his chief, President Wilson, is opposed to it. The Secretary of State is as sure that women ought to have the ballot as President Wilson is that they shouldn't. It is possible that the future will help to make up its estimate of the two men as much on this subject as on their public acts For in this problem of woman suffrage is interwoven the vital part of the principle of democracy so much that the very integrity of their intellectuality will be weighed in the answer.

While it is true the published reports of the interview with Secretary Bryan do not quote him as discussing the more serious feature of the suffrage problem, he freely talks about the thing itself and puts himself completely out in the open. In his broadness and desire to be fair it looks as if the Secretary of State presents a much bigger light than the President.

President Wilson, in fact, never looked quite so cramped as when he tried to dodge the issue with a committee of women and sidetrack them with a lot of political generalities. And he loked even smaller when the women backed him step by step to the wall and forced him to undignifiedly lost his temper and stalk from the room, the door of which he banged as he disappeared.

President Wilson may sincerely believe that he is offering himself as a picture of intellectual and political martyrdom in refusing to agree to a popular propaganda for woman suffrage, but Secretary Bryan in openly speaking for it is a picture the American people will like much better.

POPULAR EDUCATION.

This is the season of the summer Chautauqua, which has well earned its title as the popular educational movement in America. If you sit within the charmed circle of some one of these 2,930 Chautauquas this summer, think for a moment of the remarkable development of this now mammoth factor in our national education and marvel at the power of a movement not so many years old but vital, virile and quite wonderful.

Be reminded that the last twelve months have witnessed the greatest advance of the summer Chautauqua movement in its history; more than 800 new Chautauquas added to the list this year over that of 1913. The total number has reached 2,930 with an influence for good which cannot be estimated and an attendance which amounts into the millions. More than 2,200 of these factors in popular education are held in tents, made posible by the innovation in recent years of the traveling or circuit Chautauqua. No wonder the tented Chautauqua has been called "the last word in popular education."

Recall to mind that the first summer Chautauqua was held in a tent in the West; first in Minnesota, Missouri and Iowa, later spreading to the Middle West, the South and the East. In New York State alone there are 25 circuit Chautauquas this season. By all means, when you sit listening to the speakers and entertainers this summer, let your mind dwell for a moment on the great expanse of the movement of which you for the instant are a part.

In granting contracts for public work, whether it is for the construction of roads or the erection of school buildings, the authorities should in so far as the law allows, award the work to those contractors who employ local men. In order to be reasonably sure that local workingmen may be fairly well represented on contract jobs given out by either the Common Council or the Board of Education, these bodies should, if possible, include in their specifications that a certain percentage of the men to be employed on the work shall be Plainfielders. In this way, the taxes paid into the city treasury for school purposes, and to be expended for the erection of new schools, would be returned, to some degree, to the local workingman who in turn largely patronizes local merchants. Thus, not only the mechanics, but the business men of the city, as well, would derive benefit from these public works. Under this system, conditions would be no more than the citizens of the city have a right to expect.

Industrial conditions in some Plainfield shops seem to indicate that the corner of hard times has been passed, locally, at least. A local printing press concern recently received a large contract for new machines in spite of the recent reduction of the duty on this type of foreign manufacture. This might be taken as a compliment to both American workmanship and American products. Another local shop which changed hands, will, in all probability, increase the floor space, as well as their pay roll within the next twelve months to such an extent that a few of the knockers will sit up and take notice

What are the local members of the G. O. P. going to do this year to get August 15 off, in order that they may enjoy the Republican outing. Heretofore the Hope chapel excursion has been handy to take the wife and children to Asbury Park, while the men folks took to the steamboat, but not so this year. We cannot understand how the local members of the elephant clan allowed this error in dates to get by them.

An energetic, hardworking local official has prepared Saturday's editorial. He tells the public how it can co-operate with his department in order to increase the efficiency.

Two well-known stores in the business section of the city have joined the early closing movement for the summer months, at least. We extend our congratulations.

CRIMINAL ACTION AGAINST S. O. CO.

Charged With Violation of One of the "Seven Sisters" Acts.

Jersey City, July 23.—As the result of the rate cutting which has been going on for some time in this State, New York and also in other States between the Standard Oil Co. and several independent dealers, a criminal warrant has been issued against the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, charging violation of one of the "seven sisters" acts which were passed while Woodrow Wilson was governor. It was issued on application of the local manager of the Crew Levick Oil Co., which says that the Standard Oil Co. has been selling gasoline at a price which is intended to crowd out competitors. George Blakeslee, who represents the Mutual Oil Co. and who has oil stations at various points along automobile routes in Hudson county, is said to be selling gasoline at 10 cents per gallon, which is far below the price at which it has been selling for months.

The Standard Oil Co. deny that Blakeslee is an agent of that company but says he is only a customer, and being so has a right to sell gasoline at any figure he chooses. The rate war, it is explained, was started by Blakelee seeking to sell large quantities of gasoline at a small profit.

Under the act which made the issuance of the warrant possible all the directors of the Standard Oil Co. could be prosecuted, and if convicted might be sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

STATE BOARD DISMISSES SECRET LODGE APPEALS

Trenton, July 22.—Four appeals taken to the State Board for the Equalization of Taxes by lodges under the act of 1913 to have their real estate exempted from taxation, were dismissed by the Board today. The fraternal orders which filed the appeals were the Masonic Association of Passaic City; Paterson Lodge, No. 60, of the Order of Elks, of Paterson; American Star Lodge, No. 145, Odd Fellows of Atlantic City, and Washington Camp, No. 23, Patriotic Order Sons of America, of Palmyra Township, Burlington county.

FAMILY SATISFIED THAT FELMELY WAS A SUICIDE

High Bridge, July 23.—Inquiry made following the death by hanging last Thursday of George Felmely, sixty-four years old, formerly of Newark, has satisfied members of his family that he was a suicide. His funeral was held Tuesday.

Felmely was found by his two sons hanging in a barn near Wood Glen. He had been working on property about the barn, clearing it of debris for a man who had intended to start a farm there. When Felmely failed to return home for supper Thursday his sons set out to find him, and made the discovery.

Ropes found bound about the body caused the circulation of stories of possible foul play, but the Hunterdon county authorities failed to find sufcient basis for a formal investigation. One story had it that the family believed Felmely had been murdered, but his relatives are reported to have accepted the suicide theory, although no reason for such an act has been advanced.

Felmely came from Newark about a year ago and started a farm near Newport.

N. J. NAVAL RESERVES IN DRILLS AT PROVINCETOWN

Provincetown, Mass., July 23—After a sail from Portland, Me., the U. S. S. Adams, with the First Battalion Naval Reserve of New Jersey on board, arrived yesterday at this place. The run from Maine was the first in clear weather during the present cruise.

The day is being spent in exercising the men at the guns and having boat drill. It is expected that there will be four-inch target practice on the range here today. The Chicago is in the offing firing at targets.

Although the weather has been trying during the most of the cruise, the men are all looking well, and appear to be enjoying the trip.

The Adams left Bar Harbor, Me., Friday morning at 5:30 o'clock, in company with the Chicago and Gloucester, for Portland, where it was planned to land a force on Long Island, near the mouth of the harbor, which was to be resisted by the Maine Naval Militia. However, owing to a thick fog and strong breeze, which kicked up a heavy sea, the fleet became separated, and did not arrive at Portland on time for this maneuver to be carried out, much to the regret of all hands.

The Adams arrived at Portland on Saturday about noon, followed by the Gloucester late in the afternoon of the same day. The Chicago did not stop at Portland at all, but kept on for Provincetown. The Adams left Portland, Sunday.

EIGHT-YEAR ENIGMA CLEARED UP AT LAST

One of Fire Department's Feline Mascots Found Dead Today.

Excavation work in the interior of the fire headquarters on East Second street this morning brought to light the body of a dead cat remarkably well preserved. Veterans in the fire fighting service soon identified the feline as "Abbie," once the pet of the department which disappeared under mysterious circumstances eight years ago. An exhaustive search was conducted for the missing mascot at the time of its disappearance but advertising and other means of locating the lost animal proved futile. It was the supposition among the cat's friends that it had either fallen from the fire truck, on which it used to ride on all calls, and had been killed or had been kidnapped by one of its numerous admirers.

"Abbie" was recognized at once by the men who had cared for her eight years ago and the finding of the body has evoked considerable comment among the fire fighters. The cat was one of two which were once pets of the department and the mate "Ikie," died about two years ago of a broken heart. The remaining feline grieved considerably over the loss of its mate and this was assigned as the cause of its death.

The firemen took charge of the body of "Abbie" and buried it alongside the body of its mate in the department yard with fitting ceremonies this morning. Thus the mystery that has been bothering the fire laddies for eight years has been cleared up and "Abbie" has been resurrected from a grave beneath the engines on which it used to delight in riding.

GOVERNMENT FILES SUIT AGAINST THE NEW HAVEN

New York, July 23—Assistant United States Attorney General T. W. Gregory has filed the suit of the Government against the New Haven Railroad in the United States District Court. The bill sets forth that the New Haven Company has violated the Sherman act in various ways by restraining trade and commerce to, from and among New England States and has acquired monopolies of railroad and water transportation to, from and among those States, and of trolley transportation in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Southern and Central Massachusetts and the extreme southwestern portion of the State of New York, and of all three classes of such transportation within that territory.

NAME AUXILIARY RECEIVERS.

Trenton, July 23—Auxiliary receivers for the H. B. Claflin Company to take charge of the company's property in New Jersey, were appointed in the United States District Court today. John C. Eames, of New York, petitioned the court for the auxiliary receivers and Joseph B. Martindale and Frederick A. Juilliard, of New York, were appointed. The auxiliary receivers gave bond of $10,000 each. Judge Hand, in the United States District Court, of New York, this morning, appointed ex-Judge George C. Holt as special master in the receivership proceedings of the H. B. Claflin Company.

AWARDS WILL BE UPHELD.

Chicago, July 23.—At the meeting of the representatives of the employes of the Western roads and the managers, W. L. Chambers, commissioner of mediation, read a telegram from Washington, saying that arbitration awards made under the Newlands law would be upheld in the courts. A decision to that effect has been handed down by Judge W. B. Sheppard, of the U. S. Court, for Northern Florida. It was stated that the decision undoubtedly should have a favorable effect upon the situation.

MAKING A BIG GUN

One of the Amazing Conquests of Modern Engineering.

WEAPONS WITH SHORT LIVES.

The Monster Twelve Inch Rifles Are Useless After Firing a Hundred Rounds, and That In Actual Time of Shell Passage Means Three Seconds.

In the manufacture of big guns the engineer has certainly achieved some of his most daring conquests, for it is doubtful if there is anything more wonderfully fashioned or scientifically constructed than the monster weapons found on the latest battleships and in large forts.

From their muzzles they are capable of launching into space shells weighing as much as half a ton at a speed of thirty-five miles a minute, or 2,100 miles an hour. These death dealing missiles may be so designed as to burst after they have forced their way through a ship's side, or immediately they strike an object or at some point during their flight.

The big gun itself consists of several tubes, or cylinders, slipped over one another and named after the letters of the alphabet. "A" is inside and scorched by the powder gases "B" goes over "A," and so on, the outside tube of all being known as the jacket.

Each separate tube, or cylinder, is fashioned in much the same way. In the case of the "A" tube for a twelve inch gun a huge solid steel ingot is cast, weighing upward of thirty tons. The ends having been cut off, the ingot is mounted in a lathe, and a tube like "trepanning" borer removes a long core from the center. The ingot is then dismounted from the lathe and heated. A long, hollow bar somewhat smaller than the desired bore of the gun is passed through the central hole and the ingot is placed under a 2,500 ton forging press, which gradually thins and draws it out along the bar which is kept cool by water circulating through it. After being turned outside and bored inside the tube has to be tempered, and this is done by dipping it into a tank filled with thousands of gallons of cottonseed oil.

As it would be impossible to slip the "B" and "C" tubes over the "A" tube when cold, this difficulty is got over by heating them. The work, however, requires great care and constant attention. The heated cylinder, of course decreases in length as well as in diameter as it cools, and, unless great precautions are taken, it would naturally cool at the ends first, and cause the central part of the tube to cool in a state of dangerous tension. To avoid such a thing happening one part is cooled artificially by means of water jets, while the other portions are heated by gas flames.

We now come to the wiring process. Layers of ribbon-like steel wire are wound outside the innermost cylinder but one, as metal arranged in this manner withstands bursting strains better than anything yet devised. A twelve inch gun consumes no fewer than 120 miles of wire, one-quarter inch wide and one-sixteenth of an inch thick.

That the shell may travel "business end" foremost throughout its journey it must be given a twisting motion round its axis—in other words, be made to spin. This rotation prevents its turning head over heels, as it undoubtedly would do if not spinning, and makes it travel farther and more accurately. The spinning motion is brought about by rifling—the cutting of spiral grooves in the bore, or inside of the gun. This is done by a long, hollow steel rod, which carries three tools at the end and cuts three grooves at once.

As the rifling comes so near the end of the manufacture of a big gun it must be conducted with the greatest care, for a single badly cut groove would spoil the gun, now representing perhaps $50,000 in work and material. Indeed, extreme care and accuracy characterize every process in the making of heavy ordnance. The steel for the tubes is made carefully; the ingots are cast carefully and forged carefully. Every tube is bored and turned to the five-hundredth part of an inch. Though a twelve inch gun is nearly twenty inches thick over the powder chamber, each of its various jackets must have its proper tension in order to receive its fair share of the shock of explosion.

Finally, there is the breechblock—the door through which the shell is inserted. It moves on a hinge and is a very massive affair, weighing about half a ton. Thanks to the presence of certain levers and the perfection of the workmanship, any one who has the knack can move it quite easily. It can be slammed and locked in about five seconds. The door gives entrance to the twelve foot chamber where the shell is placed.

The active life of a gun is made up of the total of the very short periods occupied by the various shells passing through its bore. The bore of a twelve inch gun is about forty-five feet long, and the average rate at which the shell travels through it is halfway between no motion at all and the muzzle velocity of, say, 3,000 feet per second, or about 1,500 feet per second. The rifling of a big gun is worn out after 100 rounds have been fired, so that the total life is the time taken for a shell moving at 1,500 feet per second to travel 150,000 feet—that is, just three seconds!

HEART STRAIN.

Unusual Exertion May Cause It, and So May a Fit of Temper.

To keep your temper is rather a good idea, said Dr. Strickland Goodall in a lecture at the Institute of Hygiene. Every time the heart contracts, he said, its force would raise a weight of two pounds to the height of one foot, and it does this from 70 to 140 times every minute.

Acute heart strain was difficult to produce in a young, well nourished and healthy adult, but it was very easy to produce if the heart muscle was anæmic or poisoned or was the seat of degenerative disease.

Running to catch a train increased the heart's work by 228 foot pounds a minute. Ascending a staircase slowly increased the heart's work by 112 foot pounds; ascending quickly by 152 foot pounds.

The enormous amount of total extra work done by the heart was shown in the experiment of riding a bicycle up hill, the gradient of which was one in ten and the length 2,904 feet. The ride occupied three and one-half minutes, and the total extra work done by the heart was no less than one and one-eighth foot tons.

A rest of half an hour daily would save in a year 219,000 foot pounds of work on the heart.—London Chronicle.

OUR LOPSIDED BODIES.

Legs, Arms, Hands and Ears Are Rarely Perfectly Matched.

"I venture to assert that if you measure the legs of every one in this court you will not find a person who has a pair of equal length," said Dr. C. W. Cooke in giving evidence in a London court.

"The human body is not symmetrical, as is commonly believed," said a widely known doctor. "The legs vary in length and circumference, and the arms as well. The right hand is usually bigger than the left, because it is used more. The head is by no means regular in form—in fact, it is often as not lopsided.

"The left leg is generally a little longer than the right, presumably to counteract the overbalancing effect on the body of the right arm, which is usually somewhat heavier and longer than the left, since ninety-five out of every hundred people use their right arm more than their left. The eyes, too, are nearly always different, both in shape and strength, and through sleeping more on one side than another every man's ears are tilted at different angles. Feet, too, are nearly always unlike in shape, due frequently to the wearing of ill fitting boots.—London Mirror.

An Old English Custom.

In the northern counties of England there was practiced at Easter up to at least half a century ago the curious custom of "lifting." It may still exist. I have before me, writes a correspondent, a newspaper cutting of 1860, giving an account by an indignant commercial traveler of the ritual to which he was subjected on Easter Tuesday by the maids of a hotel at Crewe. He was placed in a chair, lifted three times and kissed by the merry revelers. It appeared that a like privilege might have been his for the exercising on Easter Monday—a privilege which absence made impossible. There is a remonstrance of a century earlier by a man who was treated by the maids of the Talbot inn, Shrewsbury, in a similar fashion, but who in addition had to pay a fee.—London Chronicle.

Worry and Selfishness.

Worry, when you come to analyze it, is not a social vice. We work chiefly over those things which concern the "me." Show me that what impends will leave my bank account intact, my health impaired, my friends and family out, and any further tormenting solicitude that I may feel is frankly academic. I may still take thought and use preventive measures, but I cease as if by magic to worry over the outcome. On the contrary, I can now work for the accomplishment of my object better than ever before, for most worry is not only an arch form of selfishness, but it is the great inhibitor of action. We say "I am worried;" we mean "I fear for myself."—Elliott Park Frost in Atlantic.

Scott and His Secretary.

Sir Walter Scott's amanuensis and much esteemed friend, Willy Laidlaw, often found it difficult to keep up with the rapidity of his dictation, though on one occasion, having to wait for a second or two, he said, "Come, get on," and was answered, "Oh, aye, it is very easy for you, Willy, to say 'Get on,' but you forget I have every word to spin out of my brain."—T. P.'s Weekly, London.

Knew More Than Pa.

"Say, pa, what was the longest day in Adam's life?"

"I am sure I don't know."

"But, pa, you are a minister."

"I can't answer any such"—

"I can. It was the day on which there was no Eve."—Grit.

NEW HAVEN SUIT TO BEGIN AT ONCE

Hustis, Head of Road, Denies Government's Charge.

CRIMINAL CASE IN FALL.

Directors Tell Stockholders They Still Hope to Dispose of Boston and Maine Stock—Senate Bills Give Interstate Commerce Board Power to Fix Price of New Securities.

New York, July 23.—As the new York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company issued a statement, in which it expressed hope that there still may be found a way to solve the difficulties with the government into which it has been plunged, there came from Washington the information that, whatever the outcome of the civil suit ordered by President Wilson, criminal prosecution of the men held responsible for the present plight of the road will not be stayed.

Those who have talked to the president and to Attorney General McReynolds since the publication of the New Haven correspondence are convinced no overtures affecting the criminal part of the program will be entertained.

To Start In New York.

A special venire for a federal grand jury to hear the testimony the government has in its possession will be called here early in August, it is understood. In this city therefore the greatest trust action into which the government has entered since the beef trust prosecutions will be staged.

The statement of the New Haven road, in which the entire ground of the present controversy is gone over, was issued by President J. H. Hustis, after an all day conference with the council and principal directors of the system.

It defends the action of the railroad, denies responsibility for overthrowing the dissolution agreement of March 21 last and closes with the "hope" that a way will be found after the suit is brought, through negotiations and action of the courts, to carry out the compromise agreement and thus achieve a result which all parties earnestly desire."

It was hinted by one in authority that somebody had bungled. Who this somebody was the informant would not state, but that there is not all the harmony in the present board of directors that statements would have the public believe is evident.

At the conferences J. H. Hustis, president of the road, was present with the regular lawyers of the New Haven road, E. C. Buckland and Moorfield Storey. An imposing array of counsel is being secured for the fight with the government. In the collection is John A. Garver of the firm of Sherman & Sterling.

E. D. Robbins, general counsel of the New Haven, and Walter D. Hines, special counsel, who are in Europe, have been called home.

Some of the officials of the road do not expect the civil suit against the road to be filed for some days yet, and it is said the trial of the criminal action will go over until fall.

FINAL STEPS IN CAPITAL.

Officials Preparing to Bring Suit Against New Haven.

Washington, July 23.—Preparations for the actual filing of the government's long delayed suit to dissolve the New Haven railroad system, in accordance with President Wilson's instructions, were being made by the department of justice. In a letter to Attorney General McReynolds the president not only directed that civil action be instituted against the New Haven, but ordered that the "criminal aspects of the case" be laid before a federal grand jury.

Decision to proceed against the New Haven ended the long continued efforts to solve the case without litigation. The president and his cabinet had discussed the case, and the course of the department of justice was approved.

Senator Norris introduced in the senate an amendment to the interstate commerce act to prevent or punish in the future railroad mismanagement such as that charged to the officials of the New Haven.

M'COMBS CONSULTS WILSON.

Trying to Settle Patronage Disputes In New York State.

Washington, July 23.—After a conference with President Wilson today, William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, announced he would leave for the Pacific coast to observe political conditions, stopping in Chicago, Kansas City, Denver, San Francisco and other cities.

Mr. McCombs discussed the New York political situation and after his call Postmaster General Burleson saw the president. As a result of the two visits it was expected at the White House that a number of vexing patronage questions in New York would be settled before the governorship fight begins.

Mr. McCombs said after leaving the White House that the New York contest was too confused at present to know definitely who the Democratic candidates for governor and United States senator will be.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Adv.

DIVERS PHOTOGRAPHED BENEATH OCEAN

Snapshots Taken Beneath Surface of Ocean in Bahama Islands, Showing Native Freeing Anchor From Coral Bottom at Depth of 35 Feet and Black Boys Diving For Pennies at Depth of 25 Feet. Coin is seen in Bottom Right Hand Corner.

Among the wonderful submarine photographs taken beneath the surface of the ocean in the waters of the Bahama Islands, near Nassau, by the expedition fitted out by Norfolk business men and using the Williamson Submarine Tube, none, perhaps, are more interesting than those showing the native black boys diving for coins. Nearly every visitor to the tropics has seen these chaps plunge from boats and go beneath the surface when passengers on the decks of liners throw pennies overboard. But no one, until now, has seen them getting the pennies beneath the water. These remarkable pictures are but a few of those embraced in the 20,000 feet of motion picture film that was taken under the sea at Nassau. Other features show the black boys stabbing eighteen-foot sharks, show the wrecks of old ships that have been out of man's sight for generations fifty feet or more beneath the waves and show the wonderful marine gardens, veritable subaqueous lands of Paradise, and the thousands of beautiful fish that abound in tropical waters. The film is considered by members of the Carnegie Institute to be the most remarkable in the history of photography, and it will soon be released throughout the country by the Submarine Film Corporation, that all may see the wonders and beauty of the vast territory of the earth that is covered by the sea.

HAYES WILL PITCH.

Jackie Hayes, the premier pitcher of the Consolidated Fruit Jar Company's team of the New Brunswick Factory League, will pitch for Tommy Mullin's Plainfield team on Sunday. They are to play the Flemington nine.

Hayes pitched for the Knights of St. Peter against Plainfield two weeks ago, and his work on the mound attracted the attention of Mullin. This week Mullin has a hard team in Flemington to play and Hayes has consented to play and help them out.

LOCAL ISAAC WALTONS LAND BIG CATCH OF FINNY PRIZES

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., William Whelan, James Manning and John Scheack, of this city, went on a fishing trip to Barnegat Bay last Tuesday and returned home this morning with good reports. On Tuesday they went out in a catboat to the Ridge, which is twenty-five miles off the coast at Barnegat.

The ocean was so rough that they could not do much fishing, but they managed to land several bonitas and two large tuna fish. The latter weighed forty and the former twenty-five pounds. During their stay they also landed about sixty weakfish which is a good return for an outing.

YALE NINE SWAMPED BY NO-HIT PITCHER

The Yale junior baseball team swamped the B. A. C., of the Parker Field League, this morning, by the score of 17 to 3. Rimmer, the Blues' pitcher, did not allow a single hit during the game and retired a number of his opponents via the strikeout route. He was effective at all times and was given great support. The Yale batters gathered fourteen swats off Leeks delivery and scored in every inning but two.

The B. A. C. team was shut out for the first seven innings and scored twice in the eighth and once in the last round. The Eli sluggers got to Leek in the initial round and scored twice. The second and eighth innings were the only ones in which they did not cross the plate. Keating's two baggers with the bases charged was the feature of the game.

VAN DEVENTER DUO CITY'S ONLY HOPE

Plainfield Boys Do Good Work In Westfield Tennis Tourney.

Five matches were played in the men's doubles tennis tournament at the Westfield Golf Club last night. The first and second rounds were finished and the semi-finals will be run off tonight. Plainfield was again represented by two teams last night, one being defeated while the other team took its match.

Philip and Ludlow VanDeventer, of this city, seem to be Plainfield's only hope in this event now as they are the only ones who have survived through the second round. Last night they easily defeated D. H. Throckmorton and K. F. Ballard in the second round in two straight sets 6-4, 6-4. They are now qualified for the semi-finals which they will play tonight. H. Pittinger and J. Cromwell, of the Plainfield Tennis Club, were defeated by H. P. Randall and H. Cowperthwaite, of the Westfield Golf Club, in two out of three sets, 8-6, 0-6, 6-3. This is the second local team that has been put out of the race, a Park Club team succumbing Tuesday.

The other results of the first round are as follows: Arthur Copeland and C. A. Brown, of the Rutherford Tennis Club, defeated Allan C. Blume and C. G. Culin, Jr., of the Cranford Casino, 6-3, 6-2. C. P. Throckmorton and T. Ernst, of the Sewaren Tennis Club, defeated C. G. Collier and C. H. Briggs, of Cranford, 6-2, 6-1. In the second round C. P. Throckmorton and C. A. Brown defeated Arthur Copeland and C. A. Brown, 6-2, 6-3. The finals will either be played off tomorrow night or Saturday night.

DUNELLEN CLUB HAS DECIDED TO DISBAND

Official Statement Issued By President Voehl Today to That Effect.

President George Voehl, of the Dunellen Baseball Club, made an official statement today that the Dunellen baseball team would disband for the rest of the season. This decision came after a long discussion with Manager Montross after last Saturday's game with Saurer. Financial trouble and lack of support at the home games are the causes of this action.

Early in the season several of the baseball fans of that place donated money for the support of the club and the management was able to put up a fast team. The team played to poor crowds at Maurer Field and the funds became low. The crowds became smaller every game until only a hard-full attended and the management went "into the hole" financially. All of the money that had been contributed by kind-hearted citizens was used up and the entire club became a losing proposition.

The officials of the club did not want to disband the organization in the middle of the season as it is likely to spoil the reputation of the town for coming years, but they kept up as long as possible and gave the people of that place the best team that could be secured for the kind of support they were receiving. Dunellen has always had a good representative baseball team in previous years and it was supported in fine style by large crowds who would turn out to see it defeat some of the fastest teams of this vicinity. That the team should stop playing now is a bad thing for Dunellen, but in the minds of the management this was the only thing to do.

ONE SURE WAY TO KILL THE ARMY WORM

A line of dust will stop the progress of an army worm, according to F. R. Stevens, agriculturist of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. In a letter to the farmers along the line of the railroad sent out today, they are told a mere furrow of earth will protect their fields effectively.

"To stop the army worm," he says, "a dust furrow is most satisfactory. It is the best way to protect all grass plots, too. Once the army worm has gotten started on a plot, however, here is a sure way to kill him:

"Mix fifty pounds of bran with two and a half pounds of Paris Green. To this add a solution made of five gallons of molasses and nine gallons of water to which has been added the juice of eight lemons together with their pulp and rind chopped fine. Spread this over your lawn when it is half dry."

HOLDS O'NEILL DECISION APPLIES TO FIRE CHIEF

Trenton, July 23.—That the chief of the fire department of East Orange is in the unclassified service of the civil service is the gist of an opinion given to the Civil Service Commission by Assistant Attorney-General Backes yesterday. In 1913, Mr. Backes continued, the question as to the status of the chief of police of East Orange was carried to the courts, and as a result of the decision in the case of William H. O'Neill who held the position, the Court of Errors and Appeals affirmed the judgment of the Supreme Court, holding that the question should be placed in the unclassified service.

The opinion pointed out that the chief of the fire department of East Orange holds office under an act of 1908, which provides specifically that he shall be head of the department, shall be responsible for its efficiency and shall hold office during good behavior. It was pointed out by Mr. Backes that the language of the act creating the position of chief of the fire department was identical with that creating the position of chief of police. Hence, Mr. Backes added, the opinion in the O'Neill case would control.

SIX MEN INJURED.

ELD BLAMELESS FOR COP'S DEATH

Burlington Man Likely to Be Released Today.

SHOOTING WAS A MISTAKE

Husband of Colonel Shinn's Daughter Killed Policeman In Supposed Defense of Wife—Thought Spouse Was Being Attacked by Burglars—Gave Himself Up After Shooting.

Burlington, N. J., July 23.—Three persons each doing their duty as they saw it are held equally blameless by county authorities who have investigated the tragedy in which Patrolman Thomas Rogan was killed in mistake for a burglar by Winfield Templeton, a respected young citizen.

The trio are Rogan, the dead policeman; Templeton, who is still in the city jail, but likely to be released by the coroner today, and Mrs. Laura Templeton, his young wife and daughter of the late Colonel John I. Shinn, whose effort to protect the home of neighbors from invasion by supposed robbers was the innocent cause of the pathetic accident.

Rogan was shot down in the street in front of the home of Clifford Shigler, 530 York street, and died in the Emergency hospital at city hall without regaining consciousness.

Templeton, who, with a smoking single barrel shotgun still in his hands, was found by Special Officer Smick bending over the body of the dying policeman and attempting to arouse him, admitted he had fired the shot from his own porch at 536 York street, mistaking the officer for a robber when Rogan accosted Mrs. Templeton as she was going toward the home of Edward Phillips, a grocer, to notify him of the suspicious actions of a man in the rear of the Phillips store.

Patrolman Rogan, watching from the shadow of a nearby doorstep for suspicious characters who had been alarming the neighborhood, saw the woman start past him with a pistol in her hand and immediately called to her to halt. She, thinking he was one of the robbers, as he had removed his uniform cap, screamed and started to run. Rogan started after her, and a moment later fell with a load of shot in his head and neck, fired by Templeton from his porch to save his wife from supposed attack.

MISS M'GILL FIRES DRIVER.

Cost Her $8,500 in Alienation Suit, Mayer Says Was Reason.

Jersey City, N. J., July 23.—That Miss Eleanor A. McGill of 16 Gifford avenue, this city, discharged her chauffeur, Walter G. Mayer, because he cost her $8,500 in an alienation suit became known when Mayer asked Vice Chancellor Lewis to reduce the alimony in the divorce proceedings. He said he ought not to be compelled to keep up his $7 weekly payments because he is out of work.

His wife sued Miss McGill for alienating her husband's affections and got a $6,500 verdict. Miss McGill was named also in a cross petition for divorce filed by Mrs. Mayer. Miss McGill offered to pay the $6,500 verdict and an additional $2,000 if Mrs. Mayer would withdraw the charge in the divorce suit. This was done.

SUICIDE BROODED OVER CRIME

Shoots Himself on Train—Chauffeur Ends Life With Poison.

Paterson, N. J., July 24.—A passenger on the Erie train No. 48, from Binghamton, shot and killed himself as the train was nearing this city. Several persons saw him draw a revolver, but he used it so quickly that there was no time to stop him.

A letter signed Michael Cusack, evidently the man's name, said that he had thought of killing a Binghamton farmer, but couldn't decide whether or not it would be worth while. He had $130, two gold watches and a diamond ring.

A little earlier in the day the body of Henry Whitney, thirty years old, a chauffeur of Totowa, was found with an empty bottle of carbolic acid lying by his side.

JOSEPH CAILLAUX.

Escapes From Mob Outside Court When Troops Arrive.

So intense are the political animosities provoked by Gaston Calmette's murder that they precipitated a riot on the Pont Neuf, outside the Palace of Justice, when the court trying Mme. Caillaux for killing the Figaro's editor adjourned. Fifty Royalists, armed with heavy ebony sticks, awaited Caillaux's departure from the court. Hating him as a Radical, they yearned to attack him. But before the former prisoner emerged from the court an excited sympathizer cried, "Vive Caillaux!" The spark set off a premature explosion. The heated Royalists attacked Caillaux's supporter. But scarcely had they raised their canes when a troop of cavalry hidden near by for just such an emergency dashed up. With naked swords the troops scattered the rioters, arresting four of them.

FOREIGNERS MENACED IN MEXICAN CAPITAL

City In Grave Danger of Invasion by Zapata.

Puerto Mexico, July 23.—The most alarming reports have been received in Puerto Mexico of the condition of affairs in the capital. These reports indicate that matters in Mexico City are becoming extremely critical and that such of the army as is left there is honeycombed with disloyalty.

It is stated by a man just from Mexico City that German sharpshooters are protecting the German embassy and German residents who have assembled there for safety.

Much terror has arisen over the threats of a Zapatista attack, and the foreign residents in the capital are arming themselves in anticipation of an assault upon the city by Zapata or to protect themselves in case of mob violence.

An officer of the military convoy of former President Huerta, together with a private individual, have just been arrested in Puerto Mexico on a charge of treason. They are declared to have attempted to arouse the presidential guard to an insurrection on last Sunday, previous to Huerta's sailing for Jamaica. They would have been executed here immediately only for the receipt of orders from the capital to send them there.

Situation Is Desperate.

Vera Cruz, July 23.—The situation in Mexico City is desperate. Huerta took away nearly all the real soldiers and the defense now rests with 2,200 police and about 1,000 soldiers, including volunteers. In the meantime the Zapatistas are attacking the suburbs with a strong force. They again attacked Xochimilco, and many wounded federals were brought into the city.

SLAYER ROBINSON A SUICIDE

Charged With Four Murders He Ends Career In His Cell.

Boston, July 23.—Suicide ended the adventurous career of Lawrence Robinson, who while posing as a gentleman was alleged to have committed four murders and an unknown number of jewelry robberies.

The body was found in the cell at the Charles street jail where he had been confined since June 19, when he shot and killed Police Inspector Thomas J. Norton while resisting arrest on a charge of murder and robbery preferred by the police of Grand Rapids, Mich.

He used a steel shank from one of his shoes with which to cut an artery and then slashed his throat with the same implement.

CAILLAUX TURNS TABLES ON FOES

JEERED, THEN IS CHEERED

Duel May Follow After Slur on His Wife by an Attorney—Bomb May Be Sprung Against Him to Substantiate the Treason Charge—He Seems to Direct Trial Himself.

Paris, July 23.—The proceedings in the trial of Mme. Henriette Caillaux, wife of a former premier and former finance minister, for the murder last March 16 of Gaston Calmette, the editor of the Figaro, seemed more like a trial of M. Caillaux than of his wife.

The public prosecutor in his answer to the demand of Maitre Labori, principal counsel for Mme. Caillaux, that the government state whether anything reflecting on M. Caillaux's honor exists in the letters given to President Poincare, declared that the documents were copies.

There is, however, a well defined report in various newspaper offices that two documents—the famous "yellow paper" and a green document found on the body of M. Calmette, which, it is alleged, will prove that Caillaux proposed to betray his country to Germany—will be read in court by a member of the Figaro staff.

Through witnesses called to the stand the celebrated Maitre Labori built up his defense for the wife of the former prime minister who shot Gaston Calmette to death. She was described as acting like a "hunted animal" a few hours before the shooting. Her nervous depression and agitation and the expression of her fears that Calmette would soon publish intimate personal letters Caillaux had written her before their marriage was told to the jury.

Pierre Mortier, editor of Gil Blas, testified that he was troubled over the state of mind of Mme. Caillaux because of her fear that other letters were to be published. He said he telephoned to her the day of the shooting asking her and her husband to dine with him.

"She accepted in principle," said Mortier, "reminding me that I was to dine with them the next day."

This was regarded as important in showing that the shooting of Calmette was not premeditated; that it was not in Mme. Caillaux's mind when Mortier called. Mortier also said that Auguste Avril, a Figaro reporter, told him, following the publication of the "Ton Jo" letter that "there are more to come; we have not finished."

Caillaux Minimizes Threat.

Avril admitted saying in Mortier's presence that the Figaro was not through with its campaign against Caillaux, but said he had no thought of the publication of private letters. As to Avril's statement regarding a possible challenge to Calmette, Caillaux has said it is not impossible that he joked with Avril in this manner, but he could not have been serious at the time, as Calmette's campaign had only begun.

Paul Painleve, member of the chamber of deputies, testified that he learned before the crime that Calmette was in possession of certain intimate letters of Caillaux and intended printing them. Other witnesses were called who gave testimony indicating that it was generally known in newspaper circles that Calmette held other personal letters written by Caillaux. Abel Bonnard read a letter written to him by Calmette tending to prove that the editor did not get the "Ton Jo" letter from Caillaux's divorced wife. Privat Deschanel gave corroborative testimony as to the burning of the letters by Caillaux and his first wife.

Veiled Threat to Duel.

To offset Caillaux's charge that Calmette was a Royalist and his paper subsidized by Germany, Le Figaro caused M. Prestat, its agent, to testify as to its funds and stockholders.

Commenting on M. Prestat's testimony, Maitre Chenu, who represents the Camette family, said: "It does not become M. Caillaux to come here and endeavor to soil the grave which his wife made."

This threw the courtroom into disorder, some of the spectators rising and shouting "Bravo!" and others hissing and making caustic remarks. Judge Albanel rapped for order and threatened to clear the court.

M. Caillaux was highly excited. He exclaimed: "Since I must take notice of what this lawyer has said, I will ask him if he will take personal responsibility for his words."

Another tumult followed and there were "Bravos!" for Caillaux. When quiet was restored M. Chenu arose and said:

"I assume the entire responsibility. You cannot menace me here. You doubtless do not know the temper of the man whom you address."

PREMIER ASQUITH.

Premier Asquith accepted full responsibility for the speech delivered by King George in addressing the opening conference of leaders of parliament called by him in an effort to reach an agreement as to the home rule amendment. A storm of protest followed the reference to the "cry of civil war" uttered by the king, it being accepted as an indication of his intention to support the Unionists and overstepping his bounds in taking sides on a political issue. In response to questions put to him in the house of commons the premier insisted that the king had acted strictly constitutionally in the entire proceeding.

FOUR DEAD, MANY HURT IN A TROLLEY CRASH

Bridgeport Picnickers' Car Is Telescoped.

South Norwalk, Conn., July 23.—Four people lost their lives here and at least thirty were injured, several of whom will probably die, when a trolley car loaded with Sunday school excursionists from Bridgeport ran head-on into the heavy freight car of the Connecticut express.

The accident happened at Nash's corner, in Westport, when both cars were going at tremendous speed. They were telescoped for four or five feet. Miss Mabel Cleveland, Raymond Fuller, fourteen, and Andrew Fisher, twelve, who were on the front seat of the picnic car were instantly killed. Frank Nagry, thirteen, another excursionist, died before the Norwalk hospital was reached, and Harold Nadin, motorman, is expected to die. A second car of excursionists following the wrecked one almost piled on to and nearly doubled the catastrophe.

The excursion was from the Washington Street M. E. church of Bridgeport, and they were on their way home from Roton Point picnic grove, where they had spent the day.

There is a steep grade and a bad turn where the accident occurred. It is a single track, and electric lights are located 400 feet either side of where the crash happened. The excursion cars were running off the regular schedule.

Others badly injured are Mrs. Ruth Jones, fracture and contusions; George East, 14 Meadow street, South Norwalk, fractures; Miss Mildred Smith, twenty, and brother, Clark Smith, eleven, 210 Pearl street, Bridgeport, fractures; Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Clayton, Bridgeport, contusions and lacerations; Mr. and Mrs. William Gillespie, 38 Sherman avenue, Bridgeport, fractured limbs.

CHAPTER XXV.

A Side Issue.

OVER the influence of a friendly drink the trio established a better understanding, and Closby, enjoying the chat with these men of a larger world, hinted as he refilled their glasses, "Of course they've been offering you all sorts of information."

"You go to Chicago every two weeks!" whispered Blackie hoarsely.

Closby threw back his head and laughed heartily, though he looked much concerned nevertheless. "Naturally they'd tell you that the first thing," he commented, but he did not explain it. "What else?"

"You buy a pound of orris root at a time," Blackie accused, "and you take a fresh poupd to Chicago with you! Listen! I know your secret! The water is hard in Spanglerville!"

"Good sleuthing!" approved Closby. "The city council would probably call me a sissy if they knew I took a bath every morning. While I'm at it I don't mind answering the rest of my crimes. What are they?"

"You dig holes in your back yard! You burn lights in your window till after midnight! Your suit case is yellow and your hand bag is brown! You ship wooden boxes to New York—and you go to Chicago!" rattled Blackie.

"Well, I'll be"—Closby began with a sudden burst of anger, which he as quickly checked.

"I've sold my store," he confided to them presently, "but if I could play a mean low down trick on Spanglerville before I go, I'd die happy."

"If we can help you saw anything off on the town let us know," offered Wallingford.

Closby shook his head. "I've done the worst possible, I guess," he declared. "I've made money in spite of them and without their knowledge," and his eyes rested upon a padlocked tin box standing on his safe. Presently he overcame a certain diffident hesitation, unlocked the box and drew from it a grotesque terra cotta cast. "Maybe you've seen these things," he remarked.

"The Lost Dog," exclaimed both Blackie and Wallingford with delight.

It was a weird little caricature, which at first made one want to laugh, but gradually it emanated in some subtle way all the pathetic wistfulness of a mislaid, half frightened, altogether hopeless, soft eyed friend of the family, and it made one eventually wish to go right out and adopt a stray cur. It had swept the country in its various forms of clay, plaster and bronze, and it was for sale in every shop window, from confectionery stores to cigar stands. Women and children demanded one at sight, and men of all degrees, cab drivers, lawyers and shoe clerks kept one close to their smoking materials.

"Are you interested in the marketing of it?" asked the commercial Wallingford.

"I made it," stated Closby, quite modestly enough and smiling affectionately upon his own handiwork. "I've modeled a lot of them out of the clay from my back yard, but this is the only one that has been largely successful."

"I'll have to hand it to you," admitted Wallingford heartily. "You've pounded them in the eye this time."

Before they went out to dinner Wallingford picked up a gorgeously inlaid checkerboard and "hefted" it in surprise. "I thought that was classic mosaic, but it's as light as wood," he exclaimed.

"Are you interested in the marketing of it?" asked the commercial Wallingford.

"Another little side issue of mine," said Closby carelessly. "It's a transparent mixture, something like celluloid, but is waterproof, fireproof and almost scratchproof. It's not inlay, though. The design is an ordinary printed affair underneath, but the material has a curious quality of refraction, which apparently brings the lines to the surface. I have a patent on the process."

"Have you done much with it?" inquired Wallingford, always awake to money making possibilities and he examined the checkerboard again with keen interest.

"Not a thing," returned Closby, with the carefree nonchalance of a man whose success in one line has made him kind to all his failures. "I shipped an assortment of the stuff to my New York agent and he could do nothing with it. I guess it's just as well, for I believe the success of the process is due to some peculiar quality in the city water, which I have not analyzed. I tried to prepare the material in Chicago and New York and had failures in both places."

Wallingford puzzled over that statement for a moment and then he chuckled.

"I see," he said. "If you had made a hit with it the city council would have declared it an official enterprise."

Blackie's whiskers arrived in a bulky package on the first mail Tuesday morning and Blackie, who had kept impatiently out of sight on Monday, insisted on wearing the red Galways and wig to breakfast, in spite of Wallingford's dismayed protest. J. Rufus positively refused to appear with him on the street in that make up, so Blackie went alone, made the round of the square and walking boldly into the general merchandise store, attended by a dozen small boys and Dummy Longshank, purchased from the amazed Closby himself a spool of black cotton thread No. 40, a dozen clothes pins and a cake of beeswax!

In the afternoon he added a luxuriant black goatee to his own pointed black mustache and, making motions like a Frenchman, infested the public places until he had a large enough following and entered Closby's store.

In the evening, as soon as it was properly dark, Blackie made him a mask out of some blue cambric, went back through the brickyard, climbed up on Closby's high board fence and sat there smoking through a hole in his mask, absolutely motionless otherwise, for a solid hour, while the populace quiveringly watched.

Blackie's actions were so openly mysterious that Mayor Sawberry himself came to Wallingford in protest on Wednesday morning.

"Your man, Holmes, is mighty careless about his disguises," he complained after having duly introduced himself. "Henry Closby's bound to know who he is and what he's hanging around for."

Wallingford, who was annoyed into an itching rash by this most absurd of all Blackie's many roles, was, however, prepared for this emergency.

"He is doing that to throw Mr. Closby off the track," he asserted. "He intends Closby to know who he is and to keep so much in his eyes that he will not think of me."

"But what good does it do?" persisted the mayor.

"Just this," said Wallingford impressively. "While my assistant has been attracting attention to himself I have been finding out things. For instance, Henry Closby is making a net profit of over $500 a week out of a product of this town about which you, Mr. Mayor, know nothing."

The mayor's chest sank in like a deflated balloon. "You don't mean it!" he gasped painfully.

"Look at this letter," insisted Wallingford calmly.

He handed Mayor Sawberry a letter bearing the business card of B. F. Tuttle and addressed to Henry Closby. With oily fingers the mayor opened that letter, with no more compunction than if it had been addressed to himself. He read as follows:

My Dear Mr. Closby—I take pleasure in calling your attention to the fact that your royalties are steadily increasing, being $2,223.50 for this month, an increase of nearly $150 over last month and of over $250 above the month previous. Your latest shipment looks very promising. By the way, I think you had better send me a sample of the Spanglerville city water for analysis.

The mayor laid down that letter on the table before him and viewed it with bulging eyes. "He's been using the city water!" he puffed.

"Exactly," agreed Wallingford, inspecting the absorbed mayor with scant liking. "Your city water possesses some delicate chemical property that makes it highly valuable to Mr. Closby in a secret process of art manufacture. This letter shows just how valuable."

The new letter was from a New York bank, and the mayor opened it with fingers that trembled from indignation. He read:

My Dear Mr. Closby—As per your request, we inclose herewith an itemized statement of the amounts deposited with us to your credit by your agent, Mr. Tuttle. We trust that by comparing this with your duplicate deposit slips you will be able to locate the slight discrepancy between your estimated balance and ours.

Within, on a long folded slip and compiled by an adding machine, was a statement of steadily growing monthly deposits extending back over three years and totaling to over $40,000, mostly invested in bonds.

To say that Mr. Sawberry was horrified is putting it mildly. "And we have trusted that man!" he declared in sorrowful anger. "What does he manufacture?"

Solemnly Wallingford produced from behind the bureau the illuminated checkerboard and placed it before the mayor. By its side he set an ebony box, its lid and sides apparently inlaid with glass in elaborate Louis Quinze decorations.

The mayor's sorrowful indignation increased. "And he never showed these things to Spanglerville!" he complained bitterly.

"Never once," agreed Wallingford. "Why, these things could have been made the city industry and a great attraction at your Saturday festivals. All your unemployed people could have become artists and the city council grown rich from their well paid labor on this beautiful glazed inlay."

"Glazed inlay," repeated the mayor. "Is that what he calls it?" And he once more inspected curiously the box and the checkerboard. "That man has held back the progress of his town," he concluded, with woeful grief that such things could be. "I reckon the city council 'll fix him. They're in session now. I'll take these things right over to them. By the way, you're not going to charge anything for the loan of them, are you?"

"Certainly not," Wallingford assured him. "I have brotherhood principles myself. I regard everybody's money as common property," and he smiled blandly.

Wallingford wrote an elaborate receipt for the mayor to sign. "Mr. Closby has a patent on the process," he stated, "and he has money to prosecute any infringement. Selfish of him to patent it, when the only infringement possible must come from Spanglerville, no other town having water like yours."

"That's the very point!" said the mayor excitedly. "The city water! I figured it all out while we were sitting here. The council will pass an ordinance this very morning placing a tax of a dollar a quart on all city water used for art manufacture."

The door opened, and a tall, thin man with gray sideburns and jet black hair and mustache entered on tiptoe. That man was Blackie Daw!

"Hist!" he said. "Henry Closby! This morning he expressed a bottle of Spanglerville's city water to New York. Hist! He prepaid it!"

Wallingford glanced at him wonderingly. "You see, Mr. Mayor," he resignedly explained. "If you attempt to tax Mr. Closby he can move away from Spanglerville. The only thing the city can do is to force Mr. Closby to sell you his patent secret process and good will at a fair figure," and he looked at his watch.

"I must hurry right over to the council meeting," the mayor observed.

Practical Fashion Hints

The bathing suit is quite as important to the wardrobe as any other garment and deserves as much attention. Satin is an excellent material if a good quality is chosen, otherwise it will prove entirely unsatisfactory. For the woman who swims flannel is a bit too heavy. The most practical material is a crave-netted poplin which sheds the water and will outwear the season. A light flannel is better for one who merely dips in the water with one hand on the rope, as a chill is very apt to result unless a wool material is worn. This design, No. 7839, has a blouse attached to a pair of dart fitted bloomers closing in the front, a slightly low round neck, and a vest in the front; short sleeves and a three-piece skirt with a gathered tunic closing in back complete the suit.

This garment may be made up in size 36, with 5¼ yards of 36-inch material.

The pattern comes in seven sizes, 32 to 44.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Some Cookery Suggestions

HOW TO USE MINT.

CUCUMBER salad or an apple and celery salad is improved by a sprinkle of fine chopped mint leaves.

Just a dash of mint with cooked peas or a cream of pea or potato soup is a great addition to a lamb or veal salad.

To Serve With Lamb.

Currant Mint Sauce. — Separate a glass of currant jelly into pieces, but do not break. Add two tablespoonfuls of fine chopped mint leaves and the shavings from the yellow rind of half an orange. Serve with lamb or mutton.

Mint Sauce.—Mint sauce is the usual accompaniment for roast lamb. For it fresh young mint leaves should be used. Pick out two tablespoonfuls of the best leaves and chop very fine on a plate. Mix with two and one-half tablespoonfuls of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of vinegar and a half teaspoonful of salt. Let this stand several hours before serving.

An Attractive Jelly.

Mint Jelly.—Pour a pint of boiling water over a bunch of fresh bruised mint leaves and simmer gently ten or fifteen minutes. Strain and to a pint of the hot liquid add half a package of gelatin soaked half an hour in cold water to dissolve. Add sugar to sweeten and lemon juice. Stir until thoroughly dissolved, then set away to cool. As it begins to stiffen stir in two tablespoonfuls of capers, pour into one good sized mold or tiny individual ones and set away to harden. When cold and firm turn out and garnish with tiny sprigs of fresh mint.

Fare For the Fastidious.

Mint Sherbet.—Bruise a heaping cup of mint leaves slightly, pour over them a pint of boiling water and steep, covered, for twenty minutes. Add a cupful of sugar and the grated yellow rind or juice of a lemon. Cover again and leave until cold. Strain and pour into the freezer can, pack with equal quantities of salt and ice and freeze to a mushlike consistency. Scrape off the sides and dasher and cover until ready to serve.

They All Hunted With Partners.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— The Brownies Give a Raspberry Hunt.

JACK and Evelyn had been picking raspberries all the afternoon, and they had had them for their supper. Not only that, but when daddy came up to tell them their story they had a nice saucer of them awaiting him, with delicious thick cream to put over them.

"These are wonderful," said daddy. "I don't know when I have had such good raspberries as these are."

"You certainly ought to have a saucer of them when Jack and I picked the very biggest ones, thinking how much you would enjoy them," said Evelyn.

"Yes," chimed in Jack; "we knew you were so fond of them."

"The brownies are very fond of them, too," said daddy.

"Are they really?" asked Evelyn.

"Indeed, they are!" continued daddy. "They had a raspberry hunt the other day and invited the elves to join. They hunted with partners.

"They offered a prize for the brownie and elf finding the greatest number of raspberries and also for the two who found the biggest and reddest raspberry, and yet another prize did they have for the pair who found both the greatest number as well as the largest sizes of white raspberries.

"You see, none of them were so fond of the white berries as they were of the red ones, and so they gave more prizes for the successful red raspberry hunters.

"And what do you suppose the prizes were?"

"We never could guess," said Evelyn.

"Well, let's try to guess," said Jack. "I guess that they gave queerly made stones."

Jack had been making a collection of all the queer stones he could find.

"Why, you're right," said daddy.

"They gave very strange looking stones which had fans drawn over them, and in the center of these stones were big hollows. In these hollows they put the raspberries, and then every one took the raspberries from these stones and had a most delicious supper.

"After they had eaten quite as many raspberries as they could they washed out the stones in the clear brook water, and then they each in turn drank from one of the prizes. And never, I can assure you, did water taste so refreshing.

"They hadn't eaten up all the raspberries they had found by any manner of means. So one of the brownies suggested that they should all set to work and make a basket of moss and send a present of the raspberries they had found to the fairy queen and all the fairies.

"They did this, and the fairy queen and the little fairies were much pleased with their appetizing present."

Interesting Methods Used in Conducting Department of English in the State Normal School at Montclair.

(Contributed by Dr. W. S. Monroe.)

Originality is a quality which pupils at the New Jersey State Normal School, Montclair, are given wide opportunity to cultivate and to display. Especially is this true of the English department.

Dr. Cornelia E. MacMullan, head of this department, decries the frequent use of the lecture method in classrooms, believing that the power of self-expression is essentially a part of the educational process and that this power is more developed through practice in speaking than in listening. Because of this belief, and as the result of constant study and observation both within and outside the classroom, she has evolved a method of subject presentation which is unique in many respects, and which meets with a ready response from the pupils.

A representative of the News visited two of Dr. MacMullen's classes recently during the story-telling and dramatization periods, and was impressed with the lack of restraining formality there and the real sense of joy in the work shared by teacher and pupils alike.

When Dr. MacMullan was spoken to about this, she said: "Class atmosphere is very important. A literature class must be happy and sympathetic, otherwise it has not the spirit of art. A good laugh in the class is an excellent thing." Good laughs apparently are not infrequent in Dr. MacMullan's classes. Even reproof, it was found, is tempered with good nature and elicits a smiling acknowledgment.

Although absolutely refusing to talk of herself, Dr. MacMullan was enthusiastic in telling of the work of her school and the possibilities of her course. When asked questions which bore a direct relation to her own efforts, she would deftly turn the attention of her inquirer to the composition books of her pupils, or to the ingenious device of some student who had anticipated a part in a classroom dramatization and had prepared headgear for the occasion. It may be said here, however, that Dr. MacMullan's reputation as a lecturer is widespread. More requests than she is able to meet are made of her to lecture, at vacation time, at teachers' institutes and various meetings. She has filled five lecture seasons in Indiana and two in Maryland, where she will go again this year.

Aim of a Literature Course.

Dr. MacMullan maintains that the aim of a literature course should be two-fold, practical and cultural; that the subject should be studied in its relation to life and as art. In this way, she believes, students are brought to an appreciation of the nature of literature and of its practical value, and become possessed of a discriminating sense of what will be the best literature for the elementary grades which they are to teach.

The value of vocal interpretation is emphasized, and sympathetic reading, rather than minute analysis, is required. Dr. MacMullan believes that enjoyment and appreciation of prose and poetry are often interfered with by detailed analysis. To enable others to visualize word pictures is the aim of each pupil when called upon to read before the class, or to tell a story.

Story-telling holds a place of prime importance in Dr. MacMullan's course. In this, the value of correct pronunciation is emphasized and special attention is given to the voice, that it may have the proper range and the right intonations, that it may be pleasant and indicative of personality. During the time that one of Dr. MacMullan's classes was visited, a pupil was called on to tell the story of a certain king. Taking her seat at the end of the aisle, and facing her classmates, she told in her own words, in simple, clear fashion, the story read, perhaps, several weeks previous. Criticism was then invited, first from two students designated, and then voluntary criticism from the class.

Speaking of this method of class conduct, Dr. MacMullan said:

"Class criticism is class judgment, not fault-finding. Success in after life depends upon ability to judge. Generally, after a pupil has told the story, she makes her personal criticism first and then calls on others. In making her own criticism, self-depreciation must be avoided, as must also be the use of the word 'mistake.' I try to impress upon the class that criticism is more salutary if constructive, and with this in mind the pupils soon form the habit of pointing out the best features in a narration before suggesting ways in which it could be improved."

The Give-and-take Spirit.

Dr. MacMullan went on to say that the "give-and-take spirit" is a characteristic of the class, and that the fact is always held up to the students that an honest criticism necessitates an impartial attitude. Sincerity in written work, it was stated, is a fundamental aim. Dr. MacMullan prohibits the reproduction of lectures in notebooks, and points with evident satisfaction to the composition books of her pupils containing original work throughout and embracing bibliographies, legends, limericks, book reviews and written dramatizations which are the result of impromptu classroom dramatizations. "I tell my pupils," she said, "that if they can write after each sentence, 'This is mine,' they are accomplishing a great deal, and making for their greater efficiency as teachers; and I also tell them if there is anything done in the class that has not a reason back of it they have a right to challenge me for it."

Classroom dramatizations are entered into with vim by the pupils who have the planning and carrying out of the whole production in their own hands. Here originality, and executive ability as well, are evidenced in the improvised dialogues, clever innovations and spontaneous activities of the players. On such occasions, Dr. MacMullan takes her seat among the pupils and becomes an interested spectator. At the close she commends, and, when necessary, suggests certain improvements.—The School News.

FASHION HINTS

By JUDIC CHOLLET

This model is a pretty one for the odd waist and also for the gown, and since the sleeves can be made in two lengths it becomes available for different occasions and different needs.

Crepe de chine is an unquestionable favorite for separate waists, but there are various linen and cotton materials also in use, and fine crape and handkerchief linen are especially attractive.

GATHERED BLOUSE.

In the back view the collar and sleeve trimming is made of plain handkerchief linen, while the blouse itself is white, and such combinations are fashionable.

On the figure the material is all white, but still another effect could be obtained by using color for the blouse and white for the collar and sleeve trimming. The laced closings make an especially attractive feature.

For the medium size the blouse will require three and three-fourth yards of material twenty-seven inches wide with one-half yard twenty-seven inches wide for the trimming shown in the view.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 40 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number and size, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.
